"We worked two hours to cut him out of there. He was yelling at us all the time to get him out of there. I guess he thought that the trailer was going to slip into the water.

"But when we got him out, he was okay. Standing there naked except for his shorts. Man, was he shivering.

"Then he saw his partner, and he just broke up.

Firemen Save Hound From Watery Grave

A co-operative effort on the part of Belleville firemen and two Rossmore families combined this morning to save the life of, a spotted hound which broke through thin ice on the Bay of Quinte.

Two city firemen worked their way out over the ice using the department emergency unit boat, hauled the submerged dog aboard and brought the shivering animal ashore.

The hound was taken to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. David McFarland where an hour later the still shivering dog was said to be "coming around."

Firemen Grant Parks and Bruce Diamond said the incident pointed up the danger of anyone venturing onto this Bay ice at this time of year.

A second smaller dog which also broke through the ice about 200 yards offshore was able to make his own way to safety.

Rossmore resident Mrs. June Orr spotted the two dogs in trouble about 8:00 a.m. and notified city firemen who answered the call with the department emergency truck.

"I'm so glad that the firemen were able to save the dog," Mrs. Orr said.

Firemen said they reached the stranded dog just in time. Seconds before they reached it the animal sand beneath the freezing water and had to be hauled back to the surface with a hooked pole.

Back From the Rescue

Using a boat as a sled, city firemen Grant Parks and Bruce Diamond work their way toward shore across thin ice after saving dog from the Bay of Quinte. Rescue has been effected and dog is lying in the bottom of the boat.

King Offered Throne

FROM AP - REUTERS

ATHENS (CP) — Greece's military dictatorship offered King Constantine the chance today to return to the throne he abandoned Wednesday after sailing his nation into a rebellion that never really got started.

The condition of return, diplomatic sources said, was that he live royally as a figurehead, with no powers."

The 27-year-old monarch was reported ready to refuse the terms, the Athens sources indicated, and was demanding instead that the government resign as a requirement for his coming back.

The junta's offer was carried to Constantine's exile headquarters in Rome by Archbishop Iakovgeorgeos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church, closest major figure in Greece, to the royal family, and once the king's personal confessor.

Without him, the United States has held up its recognition and Britain said it considered its diplomatic relations with Greece to have "ceased to exist."

Informed sources reported the American, British, French, Italian and West German ambassadors declined official invitations from Premier Col. George Papadopolos to be present at his swearing in ceremony, saying they had no instructions from their governments.

The regime's willingness in the Constantine crisis to back down was made known at an Athens press conference by Deputy Premier Brig. Stylianos Pattakos. He appeared to be giving the king as much leeway as possible in reaching a choice to return.

Referring to the king's appeal to the Greeks to revolt against the junta for democracy and freedom, Patakos said only he and Constantine were not responsible for his action from a constitutional point of view.

$240,000 Addition Will Be Added to St. Mary's School

TRENTON — An extension costing $240,000 will be added to St. Mary's school, Neil Robertson, chairman of the Trenton Separate School Board announced Friday. The additional facilities will be ready for occupancy when classes resume in September 1968.

The extension in the form of four hexagonal sections under one roof will contain six classrooms, a central library, washrooms, supply rooms, a principal's office, a nurse's office and the second reading clinic to be built in Ontario.

The design of the new addition is unique and in keeping with a "continuous progress" system in the separate school system. The architect, Kyyosmi J. Nowak, Ottawa, was allowed for a further size-room expansion when it is required.

One special feature included in the design allows for classrooms to be adjusted in size as numbers of pupils in attendance increase or diminish. The walls of the rooms will be movable, depending on demands for space.

St. Mary's school in September will eliminate Grades 1,2 and 3. Thereafter the children in these former grades will be known as primarias. If the new idea of teaching youngsters fails the program is designed so that reverting back to the old system would present no serious problem, a school official explained.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. JOSEPH WEYMARK

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Vesta Irene Weymark, 307 Charles Street, died Friday afternoon in Belleville General Hospital. She was in her 79th year.

Born in Thornbury, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alger Watson and lived in Belleville since 1913. She was a member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church and belonged to Minerva Chapter No. 138 of the Order of the Eastern Star, having acted as treasurer of the lodge for many years.

Pre-deceased by her husband, Joseph Weymark, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. James (Lois) Gill, five grandchildren, Mrs. Steven (Janie) Simmons, Judith Anne, Mrs. Audrey Elliott, Thomas Joseph, and Jeffrey Alger, and five great grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. E. V. Jones, and a brother Clifford Watson, also survive.

Two children, Audrey and Donald pre-deceased her.

The funeral will be held from the Grant Funeral Home on Monday afternoon with service in the chapel conducted by Archdeacon A. S. McConnell. Interment Belleville Cemetery.

McNALLY — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary McNally, who passed away Dec. 16, 1966.

Time may wear on and bring new years to you,
But it will not bring another mother like you.

STAPLES — In loving memory of Mrs. Ethel Staples, who passed away Dec. 16, 1966.

A wonderful mother gone to rest,
For all of us she did her best,
Her work on earth is done,
She has gone
Where the blest
Are gathered to the rest.

Sadly missed by Linda and Dan.

ARGENT — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frederick Argent, who died suddenly Dec. 17, 1966.

Whom God called home Dec. 17, 1966.

Sadly missed by his wife and family.

Remembrance is a gift to you,
For all of us the old love lost,
And memory is the key that holds the heart
In which the treasured,
Lost and gone but not forgotten
Are kept safe from pain and harm.
And locked away from sorrow,
Safe from tears.
Because we thought the world of them.

The dearly loved in our hearts
Are the dearly missed.
Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters, Brothers and Daughter.

Christmas Rush at Post Office--165 Temporary Workers Hired

The Pile Gets Higher

The pile-up of Christmas mail at the Belleville post-office gets higher and higher. Here Lester Wynne attempts to retrieve a parcel from the top of the huge pile. A post office spokesman claims the amount of mail this year is reaching record levels.

Mail Must Go Through

Ever wonder how the postman contends with the extra mail? For some it's an extra bag. Here postman A. J. Kelleher gets some aid from temporary employee Bob Snowdon.

A Trying Task

All together now . . . let's get that mail in the correct slot. These girls are part of the group of 165 people hired by the post office to sort and deliver the Christmas mail. A left-hander in the group can creat a problem — apparently the letters go into the slots upside down.

Truckloads of Christmas Trees on Market

Particularly around Christmas home baking is big business for a Brighton district woman at the Trenton market place. Mrs. Ethel Clinch of R. R. 2 Brighton who believes the public seeks quality and variety began selling home cooking in a modest way 20 years ago and now needs additional help to supply the demand. Shown with her are Betty Fulton and Mrs. Ruth Teal.

Turkeys, Geese in Quantity

Christmas tree competition dominates the market place at this time of year but there's no loss of Christmas spirit.

The good weather today brought truckloads of trees to the market and also allowed the buyers to take their time and look around. The large selection was composed almost entirely of Scotch Pines, Spruces and Balsam trees although there were a couple of blue spruce.

Prices didn't vary too much from one place to the other, fluctuating between $3 and $2 depending on size.

Other Christmas items also added to the seasonal atmosphere of today's market. Geese were selling very quickly at 45 cents a pound — numerous customers placed their orders for next Saturday so that they wouldn't have to freeze the bird.

Birch tree, decorations were also on display along with pine cone ornaments and ferns. They sold according to size up to $1.50.

There were still some apples, potatoes, squash and turnips on the market but with the exception of the apples nobody was really that interested in much besides the seasonal items.

The market will be open for the last time before Christmas next Saturday and most of the vendors are looking for the last minute rush. "The only trouble is," said one man, "we're supposed to have snow for Christmas and maybe it will be a little more uncomfortable outside for shopping."

Christmas Goodies Galore

TRENTON — A scene to test the strongest minded weight watcher has been appearing on Trenton farmers' market for the last 20 years.

And the tantalizing works of the culinary art produced by Mrs. Ethel Clinch of R. R. 2, Brighton stimulate appetites even more as she pampers her baking specialties for the Christmas trade.

Today for example the Clinch assortment included some 35 different varieties. Some of them looked too fancy for eating and would easily substitute for a colorful ornament to decorate a tree or another Christmas setting in the home.

Mrs. Clinch, a widow, started bringing home cooking to the Trenton market place while her husband was alive. Then a fire destroyed their home and Mr. Clinch died and she continued to earn a living by selling bakery items by that time very popular with the townspeople.

One eyewitness said a boat was passing under the bridge when it collapsed but its fate was not known.

Only its two concrete support piers near each bank and its end spans remained.

Ambulance crews stood by helplessly as hundreds of state and local police, firemen and civil defence workers searched the darkened waters for survivors, but found only a handful.

The coast guard closed the river to traffic. It is a major inland artery carrying Pennsylvania coal and Ohio oil and chemical products.

Early today the sluice gates of the Gallipoli rolling dam 15 miles south of the disaster were opened to lower the river level by 10 to 12 feet in an attempt to facilitate dragging operations.

HOW WOULD YOU CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM ?

The CARAT WEIGHT of these two diamonds is the same. Neither has visible imperfections . . . yet the actual value differs widely in each gem.

The degree of CLARITY is one of the qualities which determines the worth of any diamond. There are more than a dozen categories of perfection which separate the flawless, "perfect" diamond from the stone with inclusions — even if these are invisible to the naked eye.

CUTTING — its accuracy and style — controls the brilliance of a stone and greatly affects its value. The traditional color of a diamond is called white, or colorless. Tinges of brown or yellow, which deviate from this standard, decrease the worth of a stone.

COMPARE BEFORE YOU BUY

Come in and let us explain the difference, the time will be well spent if you are considering the purchase of a diamond. Terms of course.

Plenty of Time To Celebrate

The suspected problem of New Year's Day being on a Monday and as a result New Year's Eve on a Sunday will not materialize.

It was feared by many that because Dec. 31 falls on a Sunday this year there would be a slowdown in festive merry-making, or even a halt. But this year, as usual, the new year will be brought in with a bang.

The Lord's Day Act would have been the cause of any cessation in the activities that make up a New Year's celebration. It has been explained that under the liquor licence, establishments may serve liquor from 6.00 until 9.00 p.m.

The solution to this year's situation was an extension of the time from 9.00 until 1.00 in the morning which provides ample time for the new year to be ushered in.

According to Douglas Asselstine, President of the Musicians Union in Belleville most musical groups, will not be affected.

Some of the union groups are playing at the Air Force Base in Trenton and the Army Camp in Picton. Many private clubs are carrying on in the old musical tradition.

There is one catch, however, to the new extension. At one time during the seven hour period designated a meal must be served.

A minor condition, it seems that the choruses of Auld Lang Syne will ring out once more despite the day of rest as 1962 becomes the new year.

Tangible Gains

Any Opposition party may be regarded as biased and prejudiced from the word go.

In other words an Opposition party does not constitute an Opposition if it finds itself agreeing with Government policy. By the same token politics are not politics without friction, discord and party spokesmen calling each other "irresponsible", "extravagant," and the like.

Thus there are times when it is difficult to take Opposition spokesmen seriously because they are simply toeing the party line. True, there are measures in Finance Minister Sharp's budget that warrant criticism, but essentially this budget, like any other, is a fait accompli and anything that may be said about it by the Opposition can be regarded as so much baying at the moon.

Far better in these circumstances to turn one's attention to some of the positive things that come out of the Commons' deliberations. For instance in the fifth day of the budget debate during which the Government was branded as the last of the big-time spenders, there were fortunately, some other more tangible developments.

One was something we have become accustomed to — another big order for Canadian wheat from China. The Peking government is to take delivery of up to 78,400,000 bushels of top grade wheat in the first ten months of next year.

Also announced was a new tariff program for machinery that will permit importation of specialized foreign-made equipment free of duty, provided similar products are not available in Canada.

But by far the most interesting intelligence to come out of the budget debate was Northern Development Minister Arthur Laing's announcement that the Government has joined a consortium of 20 oil companies to explore for gas and oil in the Arctic islands.

As was revealed the other day, Panarctic Oils Ltd. plans to spend up to $30 million over the next three years investigating some 46 million acres, much of it regarded as potentially rich in oil and gas.

This is the sort of thing Canada needs if the second century of nationhood is to produce significant gains. Natural resources are the country's greatest asset.

Greek Monarchy

The role of the Monarchy on the continent of Europe has never been a particularly happy or secure one.

Deposed kings, queens and their families abound. In their place are regimes that in few cases are the product of popular support, but rather owe their being to military men who for good reasons or bad decide to establish a government of their own.

This pattern has evolved in several countries of Europe as well as Latin America and Africa. Monarchies have been involved in some cases, although not by any means in all.

The recent abortive revolt staged by the young King Constantine of Greece caused hardly a ripple in the ranks of the strongly-entrenched military junta in power since last April when it threw out the constitutional government.

The monarch's support appears to have been negligible and he was forced to flee the country. From a family point of view, as well as from the standpoint of history, Constantine's ouster has poignant overtones. The Greek monarchy had endured longer than most in Europe, and the king's marriage in 1964 to Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark had united two of the ruling Houses of Europe.

However, there is a hopeful note in the news that the military regime is taking a moderate view of the attempted coup, and that the King may even be invited to return to Athens .This is seen as a compromise solution that would help to restore stability in a country where political tensions have been running high lately.

Books for Patients

Full marks to the students of the Collegiate for their centennial year gift of books for young people who are patients in Belleville General Hospital.

Roughly hundred books were handed over to the hospital recently to establish libraries for its child and teenage patients. A school committee had raised funds through weekly collections, donations from school clubs and a rummage sale. A sum of $100 has also been set aside as a book replacement fund.

This was an excellent project. Concern and thoughtfulness for others are qualities not lacking among young people. It is particularly appropriate that the students should give thought to the needs of the small children who are patients at this time, as well as to those of their own age group.

Canada Has Enthusiastic Booster in Arthur Laing

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — With other federal cabinet ministers spelling out potential gloom and doom for Canada at home and abroad, it is nice to have at least one unabashed booster in the government — Northern Development minister Arthur Laing.

We hear from External Affairs minister Paul Martin about the terrible state of the world, the atomic peril, starvation in many countries, the threat of war and so on.

There are subdued words from Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp about how we must reduce spending and curb inflation.

Trade Minister Robert Winters consoles us to work harder so as to be more competitive in world markets.

And so it goes down the cabinet line until we get to Mr. Laing who is plainly an optimist and who thinks Canada has a wonderful future.

Anytime he makes a speech audiences come away with new hope and pride in their country and a curiosity and eagerness about the newer provinces and the great northern territories.

He does not even worry excessively about regionalism the problem that continually confronts Ottawa from all directions but mostly from Quebec.

"Regionalism we have with us," says Mr. Laing. "It is not my expectation that it will subside."

With this as an assessment of the situation he reports on some of the things that are going on in the west and in the north.

Remember all the pessimistic reports last spring about the wheat crop? Mr. Laing advises that it was just under 70 percent of the mammoth 700 million bushels produced in 1956.

And for comparison's sake, if anyone thinks that was bad, how about 1938 when Saskatchewan produced only 28 million bushels.

And it is not as though that province was almost totally dependent on grain anymore. This year she is supplying 27 percent of Canada's oil. And Saskatchewan is preparing to supply the world with potash from a resource that can handle world needs for 300 years.

What about Alberta? A mixed agriculture second only to the "magnificent farming enterprise of Ontario," Mr. Laing exclaims.

He can't resist recalling the Leduc oil fields, the exciting possibility of the tar sands "with over half the world's known oil resources."

Mr. Laing points to the Rainbow field which after two years of drilling is said to have 1.7 billion barrels in reserve.

But the northwest corner of Alberta is not Rainbow alone—within a radius of 30 miles, there is an abundance of coal, limestone, iron ore, sulphur, oil and gas," the Northern Development minister declares.

When Mr. Laing talks about his own British Columbia he positively exudes delight in the glories of that great province.

"Tumbling waters that could provide 100 million kilowatts of installed electric power — huge resources of wood products — mineral values of $250,000,000 — Vancouver, Canada's greatest seaport," the minister orates.

As Mr. Laing calculates: "Total production of metals from the two territories was $44 million two years ago; is $130 million this year; and by 1970 will be a quarter billion."

Now, if Mr. Laing would just say some nice things about Eastern Canada and the Maritimes, there is no telling how far he might go.

Mr. Pearson's Place in History

Montreal Le Devoir: Lester Pearson has made a wise choice in announcing his coming resignation. . . . Surely this is that Mr. Pearson often was a weak and indecisive prime minister, yet one highly gifted in handling certain delicate situations. In the fields of external affairs, relations between English-and French-Canadians and in the less spectacular but vital sector of social reform, Mr. Pearson has been . . . a constructive and gifted prime minister.

Montreal Matin: A wise decision, that of Mr. Pearson: It is a decision which is well in keeping with his character: why climb a mountain when you can walk around it? . . . Mr. Pearson is a brave man . . . who wanted to please everybody and often ended up pleasing no one. He is the kind of man who is abused the most. . . . It is certain that Mr. Pearson was not the enemy of French-Canadians . . . and he has rendered valuable service to his country. He must not be forgotten.

Mini Girl's Slip A Bloomer

Owen Sound Sun-Times

There was a time when if a lady's slip (or perhaps it was petticoat at that time) was showing it was a service to very quietly mention the fact.

The other day we were tempted to provide such a service for a young miss whose skirts were well up above the knee, yet those "under miniskirt" was on display, all lacy and white. But it wasn't the thing to do, had we done it.

In fact a little more contemplation of the whim lacy stuff, without, we hope, appearing too indiscreet, indicated it was not a slip at all, but bloomers, or pantaloons, in mini style. What a comparison they would make to the old fashioned garb of that name!

But anyway, gentlemen, restrain yourselves should you think something has slipped and feel inclined to mention the fact.

Twenty-Nine Communities Will House Two-Thirds of Population by Year 1980

Ottawa Journal

There is small comfort in statistics which show Canada has 30,000,000 rooms to house 30,500,000 people.

In 1980, according to the Prime Minister, two-thirds of all Canadians will be living in 29 major urban communities. That is where the housing agonies develop, not in the country districts or towns which have been vacated. And what is bad now will become worse unless governments find solutions.

This process of urbanization forces ever higher the cost of serviced land on which to build, a factor emphasized by Premier Robarts. Those who do manage to obtain land are discouraged from building the lowest — and accommodation by the desire that neighborhood standards be maintained, by the exacting of builders and real estate men, and by the modern trend against putting any small house with the intention of adding to them later, as grandfather did. In 1956, only 494 two-bedroom homes in Canada were financed under National Housing Act loans compared with 23,729 of three-bedroom size. Only four one-bedroom houses were financed. The housing act guarantees loans granted by private lenders who are apt to consider a three-bedroom house the best investment. To that extent the lenders discourages one-and two-bedroom houses.

The three-bedroom bungalow has become the commonest type of Canadian home and is usually considered to have the best resale value. In Toronto, the person proposing to build such a bungalow finds the average price of a lot around $10,000 which means that the modest home is to run higher than $30,000. Those with small or incomes have to abandon for an indefinite period any hope of starting to buy their own place.

Mr. Robarts called housing "a major social and economic bottleneck in Ontario." He said it inhibited economic growth and mobility and undermined the opportunities of the people. Ontario, along with the other provinces, has asked for federal money for housing, but Ottawa tells the conference it can't give as much as it did.

Chaotic Wage Structure and Not Strikes Are at Root of Britain's Economic Troubles

Bernard Hollowood in Punch Magazine

If there is anything seriously wrong with British Labor—and there is—it is not primarily its record in respect to strikes and production. Strikes are blown up by the press to represent a grave threat to our economic existence, when in fact our record in this ugly business is extremely creditable by international standards.

We lose fewer man-hours in days through strikes than most other countries, fewer than America, France, Japan and other industrial competitors.

We lose through strikes only one per cent of working time, 120 minutes of each worker's operational time per year. Two hours every year. Even when the magistrates and the press pundits moan about the production and trade lost by the bloody-minded activity of the British worker, we should remember that strikes cost us one-tenth of one per cent of our labor. I think that's worth repeating: one-tenth of one per cent.

What is wrong with our labor force is its chaotic system of remuneration. Wage and salaries in Britain bear absolutely no relation to (a) the quality of the work done; (b) the importance of the work done; (c) the needs of the worker; (d) the laws of supply and demand; (e) what the country can afford.

The only way to avoid strikes in the long run is to abandon it to get rid of the reasons for strikes and bloody — the circumstances which means getting rid of the sense of injustice under which a large part of our labor force labors. In other words, we have to evolve a wages structure that is patently fair, that irons out differentials for which there is no social justification. When we use the big stick of authority to make out a pattern of fair shares we shall automatically rid ourselves for ever of damaging disputes.

Pearson's Retirement Front-page News in Washington

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)-Prime Minister Pearson's decision to quit was anticipated in official circles here but comes a shade sooner than many Canada-watchers had expected.

It is regarded as the end of an era—the departure of a man with "old boy" status, better known to Americans than any other living Canadian politician.

Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker would be the runner-up, winning mixed emotions on the basis of his label, in general use here, as a prickly nationalist.

Whoever succeeds Pearson will be a virtual unknown to the U.S. public, as Robert Stanfield was when he took over leadership of the Progressive Conservative party. External Affairs Minister Paul Martin has had the most U.S. exposure, via the United Nations, of any of the likely contenders.

The image of Pearson—the man known as "Mike" to many U.S. officials—is based on his diplomatic career here, as minister in 1942-44 and as ambassador in 1945-46. Subsequently, in nine years as external affairs minister, he was exposed at the UN, in helping found NATO and, of course, as a Nobel Peace Prize winner in 1957 for his work in settling the Suez situation.

The fact he holds honorary degrees from at least 15 American universities—including Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Notre Dame—testifies to his niche in American regard.

Word he was resigning as Liberal leader, and stepping down later as Prime Minister, was front-page news in Washington's two afternoon newspapers.

There was no immediate comment from the White House or the state department.

American awareness of its northern neighbor has been growing in recent years and 1967 produced a record surge.

Expo 67 and other centennial projects played a major role. So did French President Charles de Gaulle. It seems fair to say that there developed a general mania-the-street assumption that Canada and the U.S. had something special in common over de Gaulle.

His references to Quebec replaced cold Canadian weather fronts as the standard chit-chat by Americans with Canadians.

This week, the Washington News said there is thunder in the north and "it is time we sat up and took notice." The magazine U.S. News and World Report said survival of the Canadian confederation is uncertain, and "the outcome will have a major impact on the U.S."

As for the country's image, the Gallup poll reports that Canada enjoys the rating of a highly-favored nation. Only 65 per cent of those polled in the U.S., compared with 36 per cent for Britain, 11 per cent for India, Canada's standing was 50 per cent last year.

Pearson and President Johnson have not always seen eye to eye. They argued in April, 1965, over Vietnam policy. Canada has strengthened calls for a bombing halt and shifted to the right support of seating China in the UN.

The over-all relationship between Canada and the U.S. still is good.

A Washington story, vouched for by reliable sources, illustrates this. It concerns President Johnson's snap visit to Expo and Ottawa May 25.

After the visit had been hastily set up the previous day, the story goes, the president advised Secretary of State George Christian early next day that he had changed his mind—he didn't like Christian, on the president's orders, told State Secretary Rusk about to tell Ottawa the trip was off.

But Rusk telephoned the president, the story goes, and insisted it go through on grounds that Canada was too essential an ally to treat that way and the president would have to go to Expo eventually anyway.

The president was convinced.

Retired Transport Department Expert Studies for Ministry

TORONTO (CP) — A desk-bound at 16, a ship commander in the Second World War, a transport department chief at 51, Capt. F. S. Slocombe might have been expected to begin thinking of retirement when he reached 64.

Instead he enrolled in divinity at the University of Toronto's Trinity College this fall. In two years he'll be ordained by the Anglican Church of Canada.

Born in Cardiff, Wales, Capt. Slocombe went to sea in 1919 and obtained his master's certificate by the age of 21. He came to Canada in 1930 and sailed the Great Lakes, spending six winters teaching nautical subjects in Owen Sound, Ont.

He joined the transport department as examiner of masters and mates in Toronto in 1937, served in the Second World War as commander of the Montcalm on the Halifax-Murmansk supply route and returned to the transport department, rising to the position of chief of the nautical division in 1954.

Abandoning such a career for theology may seem unusual but every year three or four men do much the same thing at Trinity. When they graduate they offer their first parishes something their younger classmates lack — a pyramid of experience in living.

Canon Howard W. Buchner, dean of divinity, says the church doesn't actively recruit this type of student; he's part of a trend toward more than one career.

"In their technological educations they may have felt a lack of self-fulfilment in human relationships. . . . They're attracted to the ministry because they have been involved, committed Christians. Once the men are financially secure and their families are under way, they can give themselves to the ministry."

The dean is obviously delighted with the extra wallop these mature students pack.

"They've been through death, sickness, families, wealth and poverty. It fascinates me that students today did not live through the war. They don't even know its history.

"Take a man of Capt. Slocombe's age who has been through two world wars and a depression. It's a very broad base to build on."

John Lawson, 41, a corporation lawyer and Queen's Counsel, wasn't even a regular churchgoer until five years ago. Then he became people's warden at St. Thomas Church and entered the ministry as a challenge.

He hopes to combine law and theology in somewhat the same way as a lawyer who studies forensic medicine. But he admits he hasn't had time to discuss this concept with his professors because of the heavy work load of studies.

Dr. Buchner said heavy courses aren't the only problems these mature students face—some have to contend with wives who didn't marry a parson and may have trouble adjusting.

But Keith Adams, a former technical engineer with the Bell Telephone Co., says his decision to enter the ministry was something he and his wife took together.

"If there are problems with the wife, there must be some lack of communication within the marriage."

Bethlehem Prepares For Influx of Pilgrims

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Bethlehem is preparing for a record influx of pilgrims for Christmas celebrations in the small Arabian town where Christ was born.

But several changes in the traditional celebrations will occur as a result of the Israeli capture of Bethlehem during the June Arab-Israeli war.

Israeli authorities have adopted measures for thousands of the expected 25,000 pilgrims to attend midnight mass outside the church of Saint Catherine in Mangor Square.

Inside the church there is barely room for 1,500 worshippers. The Latin patriarch of Jerusalem, Archbishop Alberto Gori, will hold the traditional Christmas service in the church.

Among the changes will be Israeli police replacing the Jordanian Lancers who since the 1920 partition of Palestine have mounded guard outside the church.

The Mandelbaum Gate, a landmark previously associated with Christmas celebrations, will have disappeared this year. The gate linked Jordanian and Israeli sectors of Jerusalem.

In the past, Christian Arabs from Israel, along with scores of tourists, were allowed to pass through the gate on Christmas Eve.

Now, all of the Holy Land is under Israeli control.

Any Jews from Israel intending to travel to Bethlehem to watch the Christmas celebrations in Bethlehem will be turned back by military authorities so that pilgrims and sightseers will not be hampered by curious crowds.

Caribbean Isle Faces Bleak Holiday Season

BASSETERRE, St. Kitts (AP) — It will be a bleak Christmas in St. Kitts this year. No street dancing.

Prices also are going up as a result of the recent devaluation of the British pound, and the government has told the 40,000 islanders that the current week of emergency will last six months more.

But Premier Robert Bradshaw says there will be prohibited this year under his special emergency powers.

Not everybody here believes there is justification for continuing the state of emergency, originally declared May 30. At that time the tiny island of Anguilla tried to secede from St. Kitts - Nevis - Anguilla in a dispute over whether it was receiving fair treatment from the Bradshaw government.

GROW YOUR MONEY AT HOME

RAISING CHINCHILLAS !

Because Chinchilla fur is the softest in the world the demand for good quality pelts is far greater than the supply.

added income — second income families produce most of the pelts sold to the market in their spare time and profits, too, can share in the millions of dollars being earned by these people throughout North America.

ownership — Many Chinchilla breeders began in the basement of their home or in their garage. Chinchillas are among the cleanest of animals, odor free, quiet and gentle.

investment — in our opinion, the Chinchilla business is one of the easiest, and most easily in which to get started. If you are seeking security, happiness, success and are fond of animals and are interested in making up to $2,000.00 per year in your spare time; then as little as $1,000.00 invested will completely equip you to start raising money-making Chinchillas.

care and feeding — Chinchillas are vegetarians, inexpensive to feed and require very little attention. Chinchillas generally average two litters per year, two animals per litter.

profit returns — with first quality pelts valued from $20.00 to $60.00 and dealing with one of Canada's largest Chinchilla ranchers (who began in his own basement) will help guarantee your success.

quality Chinchillas are assured — P and R Chinchilla Ranches are associated with five progressive ranches across Ontario who raise some 3,000 Chinchillas. A total of 50 years experience raising Chinchillas assures you quality Chinchillas backed by experienced and knowledgeable ranchers. All our associated Ranchers are members and active in the Canadian Chinchilla Association working together to produce a very luxurious fur for a lucrative market.

all stock is fully guaranteed — against loss for 1 year and guaranteed to reproduce within the first year.

Ranches in Sarnia, Leaden, Kitchener, Hamilton, Toronto and Echo Bay.

MARMORA C.W.I.

MARMORA — A short business meeting was held before the annual Christmas party of Marmora Council of the Catholic Women's League Sunday evening in Sacred Heart Parish Hall.

A letter was read from Commbermere Missions thanking members for donations sent in November. Mrs. Charles LaJoie, convener, told members that 60 boxes of used clothing had been packed for this mission centre, including four boxes of toys for needy children.

Baby blankets to new mothers and cards to the sick had been sent by Mrs. Leo Doyle and Mrs. Jim Hughes during the month. Visits to the sick and shut-ins in December will be made by Mrs. Arthur Sheridan and Mrs. Bill Monk.

Members indicated replies from members of parliament to letters sent objecting to proposed legislation liberalizing abortion laws. A further petition will be forwarded to the government with signatures of all members.

Mrs. Breen O'Connor was appointed as C.W.L. representative to the Women's Centennial Group to continue in 1968 to assist the village in certain projects. She described tentative arrangements for a Christmas carol singing program with donations by villagers to needy children in foreign countries. Presentation of a cheque to the Brother, Father T. G. Scanlan, to assist in parish work, was made by the president. Mrs. Charles scrap book was displayed by the convener Mrs. Tom Brady.

The program prepared by Miss Gertrude Maloney, included carols and harmonized singing by the Marmora quartet — Lynn Shannon, Sharon Bell, Celia and Catherine Murray; readings by Mrs. Bill Meehan Jr. and Mrs. Breen O'Connor; piano selection by Jone Monk; and mouth organ selection by Father Scanlan.

Gifts from the tree were given out by Santa Claus.

SACRED HEART OF MARY C.W.L.

MADOC — The Catholic Women's League of Sacred Heart of Mary Church Madoc, held its regular meeting and Christmas party Monday night at the home of Mrs. Leo Hachey, with the president, Mrs. Charles Mahoney, in charge.

The League is organizing a Christmas party for mental patients at Pine Trees Nursing Home. Carol practices will be held twice monthly beginning in January and a New Year's dance is to be held in the parish hall. The CWL will sponsor the March of Dimes campaign.

After the business meeting, Mrs. F. Bosio told of Christmas customs in Italy and Rev. F. J. O'Neill showed slides.

FILTER SMOKING

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Factories here are smoking less and Mexico City residents are enjoying it more, says the National Association of Industrialists. It announced that this year's end $24,000,000 will have been spent to put filters on chimneys of 1,500 factories in the city.

Horticulturists View Slides of Gardens

Winners of trillium awards for 1967 were guests of Belleville Horticultural Society at its annual meeting in the Sunday School auditorium of Tabernacle United Church.

Views of Kew Gardens and the Chelsea Flower Show were shown by Capt. J. A. Buchanan, who visited them last May. He was impressed with the size and beauty of the rhododendrons, especially the unusual yellow ones developed by Kew Gardens.

Door prizes were won by Enos David and Capt. Buchanan.

The Society is planning study groups for those interested in African violets or landscaping. Members wishing to participate are asked to contact Mrs. Ross Watson for African violets or Lawrence Johnson for landscaping.

Ann Landers: Marriage Not Always Most Desirable State

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 27, have a fascinating job, and am quite content. It so happens that I am not married and I might never meet a man I would want to spend the rest of my life with. So, does this make me a freak?

Yesterday I encountered a college chum whom I had not seen for several years. Her first question was, "Are you married?" When I replied, "No, I am not," she lowered her eyes and said, "Oh, I'm sorry," as if I had died her my mother.

Where do people get the idea that marriage is the desirable state for one and all? I'm amazed at the number of school mates (all under 30 years of age) who are divorced. Two of these girls have been divorced more than once. One girl has four children, and she is on her third marriage. What, please tell me, is so special about that?

I wish you'd inform your reading public that marriage is not for everyone and that some people are much better off, without it. — FLYING SOLO AND LIKING IT.

DEAR FLYING: The notion that any marriage is better than no marriage is strictly for the cuckoos. The saddest thing about people who should not be married is that they invariably find each other and learn too late that they both would have been better off single.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem has caused me many sleepless nights, I hope you can help.

I was married for the first time. Twice during that time I became pregnant and miscarried. Both times I avoided our family doctor because I didn't want my parents to know. Although we live in the same city, I had a doctor of my own and saw them once a week. When I went to the hospital with the miscarriages, I told my family I had a kidney problem. I'm sure they believed me.

John and I have now been married for two years, and I am pregnant again. I want to go to our family doctor but I am afraid to because of my previous history. I'm afraid the miscarriages it might appear on my medical record and on the new baby's certificate. Please tell me what to do.—HAUNTED BY THE PAST

* * *

DEAR HAUNTED: Go to your family doctor and tell him of your miscarriages. Such information can be vital to the health of your unborn child. A reputable physician is not interested in whether the miscarriages occurred before or after your marriage. He only wants the information will not appear on your child's birth certificate. Good luck to you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been keeping steady company with a fine man whose wife passed away two years ago.

At least 10 people have told me that I look very much like his deceased wife. (He has never mentioned it.) I always feel uncomfortable when someone brings up the subject. It puts me in the position of the substitute and I keep wondering if I'm making other comparisons in his mind.

The man wants to marry me, but these thoughts stand in my way. Do you think we could have a good marriage? — MIRROR IMAGE.

DEAR IMAGE: There are bound to be comparisons, either conscious or unconscious, even when no physical resemblance exists. Don't let this keep you from marrying a fine man. Say yes and send me a postcard from your honeymoon.

Mullin — Sweet

Mida Louise, daughter of Mrs. Freda Sweet and Norman Sweet, Belleville and Leo Jerome Mullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mullin, Belleville, were married by Rev. J. D. Sullivan, in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, Dec. 2, 1967, at 12 noon. Miss Dorothy Grace was organist and the soloist was Michael Reid.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie with a Chantilly lace bodice and detachable train. Her three-tier veil of tulle illusion was caught by a cluster of white carnations and an orchid.

Mrs. Sandra Dainard, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an A-line gown of red velvet with empire waist of white Italian lace and a matching headdress. Her flowers were white and red carnations. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Linda Boyle and Mrs. Monica Weagant, sister of the bridegroom, were identically attired, as was the flower girl, Miss Lisa Lee Fox, cousin of the bride.

To receive the guests at the reception at Club Quinte, the bride's mother wore a sheath dress of turquoise crepe with matching lace coat, brown accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. To assist, the bridegroom's mother wore an orange A-line dress of French crepe with brown accessories.

For her wedding trip to New York City, the bride chose a green wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of orchids. The couple will live in Belleville.

WEDDING

WHITE — SINE

On Saturday, Dec. 9, Rev. J. R. Walsh united in marriage Gwenyth Myrna Sine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Sine of Frankford and William Donald White, only son of Mrs. Donald White of Frankford, and the late Donald White, in Frankford Free Methodist Church in a candlelight ceremony.

Wedding music was played by Russell Twiddy of Frankford, and soloist was Eldon Kemp of Trenton.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Campbell of Frankford, sister of the bride and bridesmaids Miss Phyllis Tamlin of St. Thomas and Mrs. Jeanne Farr of Oshawa, sister of the bridegroom wore identical deep red velvet A line floor length gowns and carried nosegays of white mums and red carnations.

Groomsman was Mr. Bert Wagar of Napanee, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Ronald Sine of Frankford, brother of the bride and Ronald McDonnell of Perth, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in Wooler United Church hall, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a two-piece dark red metallic knit with black and deep pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a two-piece moss green double knit suit with gold and brown accessories and a corsage of gold mums.

On their return they will take up residence in Frankford.

Raggedy Ann, the stuffed doll has had so much publicity lately a new story about her seems has come to light. The original Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy were made shortly after the Civil War.

A young mother made them for her own daughter and a friend's little girl. The children grew up and eventually moved away. They lost contact with each other, and had families of their own.

Years later Raggedy Ann was found in an attic by her granddaughter, the daughter of Johny Gruelle, the illustrator. She loved the little stuffed doll. Her aunt restored the face, replaced the shoe button eyes, and inserted a candy heart. The doll inspired the books by John Gruelle.

After the books became part of the world of children a grandmother from Florida wrote to tell about Raggedy Andy. She was the neighbor child who had owned the original doll. Both Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy are now in a famous American museum.

Q. Some very old small eyeglasses were in an old trunk. The frames are made of a thin metal wire. The lenses are about the size of a quarter. I understand that the glasses were purchased at a store where the user tried many until he found one that improved his eyesight.

A. Spectacles or reading glasses were first described by Roger Bacon in a paper written in 1276. Some sources say that Bacon invented the reading glasses, but this is doubtful. The Chinese used the reading lenses by 1285 and Marco Polo described them when he returned from his trip about 1295.

The Chinese and European glasses were so different that many experts believe they were derived separately. Eyeglasses were in common use by the 15th century and guilds of eyeglass makers were formed.

The small metal wire and quarter size lenses were popular during the 18th century in America. They were used in Europe at an earlier date. Tradition says that Benjamin Franklin invented the bifocal glasses.

Teen-ager Wants to Share Joys of Christmas

Dear Doris: As the Christmas season roils around I take a look at what I've been blessed with: good home, parents that love me and would do without to make me satisfied, food, clothes, almost anything a 15-year-old could want.

It's lonely though. Only me, mother, father and older sister in a big house. At Christmas I feel I really want to please someone else. I guess I'm just too lucky, for most of the time I take things for granted. My friends have younger sisters or families and I thought that perhaps our family could "adopt" one or maybe two orphan children for the Christmas season and make a truly happy time for them and us.

Perhaps I'm all wrong and the children at the orphanage or wherever, are twice as content right where they are at Christmas. Anyway I would be able to tune me in to it all. — Happy Teen.

Dear Teen: Bless you for your warm heart! Children's homes are glad of friendly neighbors. Just how you can best help takes some exploring.

DORIS CLARK

Boys and girls do want to be among familiar faces for their happy times, usually, and "house mothers" often give up Christmas dinner with their own loved ones to keep their charges together in the place they know best.

But there are ways to get acquainted and things to do for displaced youngsters. Visit the institution near you; offer to take two little girls shopping or to see Santa; have a party in your home for them.

Above all, think of it as an on-going friendship. Christmas spirit that is any good at all lasts all year!

Dear Doris: I have a sister who lost her husband through polio about eight years ago. She now has met a man and they are going to be married in the spring.

Could you tell me if it would be proper to give her a shower? — Sister.

Dear Sister: One shower is fine for a second-time bride — but not given by you, or any family member.

Dear Doris: I received this letter (enclosed) from my 16-year-old cousin and I felt that you were better qualified to help him with his problems.

Bob is in grade ten at school and has a Saturday job at the drug store. He is the oldest and perhaps the shyest of four boys. I would greatly appreciate it if you would answer his letter. — Student Teacher.

Dear Teacher: Bob would be shyer than ever if he knew you had shown his letter to me — though I appreciate your confidence in me. One can feel pretty uncomfortable to think that a private confession has been sent by a strange pair of eyes.

Another thing: Humans have to pick their own counsellors. Only when a troubled person takes his own steps towards requesting help is he ready for the help there is.

(Privately I am sending you a suggestion or two about him — couldn't resist it!)

(Is it a point of etiquette that is troubling you? Doris can tell you how it's done in Canada.)

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Two Recipes Requested by Reader

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have a daughter of 18 years who "works about" in the kitchen making cocoa. I was wondering if you have a recipe for a "dry mix" that can be made ahead of time and just added to warm milk whenever she wants a cup . . . at a reception I tasted a good tidbit . . . squares of bread covered with cheese spread type-of-thing and baked in oven and served warm. — Mary C.

ANSWER: Your questions are dandies.

COCOA DRY MIX
(with directions for making cocoa beverage)

½ cup good quality cocoa
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt

Mix cocoa, sugar and salt together, dry, stirring out all cocoa lumps. Store in dry covered jar on cupboard shelf. When desired, to make two generous serving cups of cocoa measure into top of double boiler 1½ cups milk and heat covered. (Be sure to teach your daughter always to heat milk in double boiler to prevent "boiling over".) Measure out 2 measuring thsps. of cocoa-sugar mixture into a small bowl and add 2 thsps. warm water and stir well to make a smooth paste. Stir this into hot milk to heat through. Rinse out bowl with 2 or 3 thsps. hot cocoa and return to pot. Beat with rotary beater to mix well and make foamy and break down skin which tends to form on top of heated milk. (NOTE: This amount of Cocoa Dry Mix will make about 8 or 9 generous cups of cocoa when made according to above directions.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Farmers' Sausage Baked on Scalloped Potatoes; Spinach Souffle; Marinated Raw Button Mushrooms and Green Pepper Strips; Sour Cream Coffee Cake; Coffee.

CHEESE DREAMS

(4 or 7 one and one-half inch)

Cut unsliced bread into slices 1¼" thick. Remove crusts and cut each slice into four quarters. Beat together 1 large egg, ¼ cup grated old cheese, ½ tsp. paprika and ¼ tsp. salt. Holding a cube of bread in your hand with thumb on bottom and fingers on top, spread sides with cheese mixture, using narrow knife. Do not spread right down to bottom edge for cheese melts a little and flows down when broiled. Place on buttered foil on cookie sheet and spread top with cheese mixture. This covers 6 or 7 one and one-half inch bread cubes. Broil 6 inches from preheated broiler until golden. Serve warm.

2) If desired, Cheez Whiz alone may be used as the cheese spread. This is very commonly done, and good, but above recipe is the original method.

Points for Parents

Mother: "I don't really enjoy having the children help me in the kitchen. They just get in my way and slow me up."

Mother: "You girls can work over here and use the mixer to make a cake while I fix the vegetables for a stew. Then we won't get in each other's way."

Brown Fights Wilson in Bid to Sell Arms to South Africa

LONDON (AP) — Personal and political relations between Prime Minister Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown were reported at their lowest ebb today in a row over arms for South Africa.

Brown, looking weary, had dashed back from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels Friday to attend a special cabinet meeting on whether Britain should remove its three-year-old ban on arms shipments to South Africa.

Cabinet meetings are secret, but most British political correspondents said today that Brown who wants the ban lifted had won the first round by forcing a one-month delay on a final decision.

Brown was reported burning with resentment that Wilson, committed against any renewal of South African arms supplies, had made a statement to the House of Commons Thursday casting the absent foreign secretary as the villain of the piece.

Brown, backed by Defence Secretary Denis Healey, Home Secretary James Callaghan and Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins, claims that economically Britain is hardly in a position to turn down a £200,000,000 ($514,000,000) arms deal with South Africa.

Wilson has stuck by Brown in the past through numerous press attacks on the foreign secretary's public behavior.

Some opposition demands for Brown's dismissal arose last month after Brown lashed out at publisher Lord Thomson for allowing his newspapers to publicize the exploits of Kim Philby, a double agent who worked 30 years for Soviet intelligence even while masquerading as a British spy.

The Guardian's political writer, Philip Rawstorne, hinted that Wilson may see the South African rumpus as an excuse for shifting the foreign secretary to a new job.

"Mr. Brown's erratic behavior as foreign secretary is thought to have been causing the prime minister increasing anxiety and to have brought him to the point of deciding that Mr. Brown must be moved to another cabinet post," Rawstorne said.

"If Mr. Brown continues to appear publicly over the next few weeks as the main advocate of renewing the trade in arms with South Africa, then his removal is likely to become easier," Rawstorne said.

Brown, however, is reported determined to keep the debate going and there is no question of him resigning for the moment.

Indeed, Wilson's own authority is being undermined.

Harold Hutchinson, political correspondent of The Sun, said Wilson had lost the first big battle on the arms issue. He described Friday's cabinet meeting as "the toughest fight Wilson has ever faced."

Hutchinson said Wilson had no choice but to delay a decision on the issue and that he would inform Parliament of the deferred decision Monday.

"The cabinet did not go so far as to repudiate him, but they went very close and his position is seriously weakened," Hutchinson said.

Gordon Greig said in the Daily Mail: "It is the first time the (Wilson) has been on the losing side in a cabinet row since he became prime minister.

To cap it all, Wilson narrowly missed a serious accident Friday night when his car had to swerve to avoid another auto during a visit by the prime minister to his parliamentary constituents near Liverpool.

No one was hurt, but Wilson's press secretary said:

"It was a disturbing moment."

Billion-dollar Development Plan Draws Criticism of MacDonald, Nixon

TORONTO (CP)—Leaders of Ontario's two opposition parties Friday criticized Premier John Robarts proposed $1,000,000,000 development fund as impractical in the light of economic developments.

Mr. Robarts said Canada should borrow $1,000,000,000 and distribute the money through a development fund to increase prosperity in less-developed areas of the country.

Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, said the federal government would push up interest rates still further and bring the whole economy grinding to a halt if it borrowed the money now.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said it would be irresponsible to increase the national debt.

Mr. Robarts said he suggested the plan during the Confederation of Tomorrow conference last month and will put the proposal forward at the federal-provincial constitution conference in Ottawa in February.

He said the money the federal government borrowed would be administered by a board and distributed for development of natural resources. The funds would be loaned to private industry or provincial governments for resource development.

Mr. Robart refused later to elaborate on the plan or its fi

Separatists Want Real Estate--Kierans

TORONTO (CP) — Quebec separatists do not really want English-speaking Canadians to recognize the rights of French-Canadians—what they want is a small piece of North American real estate they can call their own, Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said Friday night.

He told the annual banquet of the Commercial Travellers' Association separatists feel that, if they make 1,000 mistakes, the weight of the errors will be borne not by themselves but by 30 per cent of the other French-speaking Canadians in the land.

He criticized Rene Levesque, former comptroller in the Jean Lesage Liberal government who has split from the Liberal party and calls for a sovereign state of Quebec.

He said he was delighted when Mr. Levesque called the recent report of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism a "snow job."

"Many English-Canadians thea said that if Levesque was against it there must be something in it," Mr. Kierans said.

Aviation Conference Concludes

MONTREAL (CP) — Delegates from more than 60 nations have just completed a month-long study which they said is expected to produce important changes in the equipment, procedures and planning methods used by civil aviation.

More than 100 recommendations were prepared and many of them were expected to be implemented within the next two years.

The delegates were taking part in the fifth air navigation conference of the International Civil Organization. The conference concluded Friday.

Walter A. Dwyer, president of the WMO commission for aeronautical meteorology, said a complete overhaul of international forecasting procedures will be needed to cope with the anticipated growth of air travel during the next decade.

Forecasting problems associated particularly with the operations of supersonic aircraft will require study, he told a press conference at the conclusion of the sessions.

Advance information about the prevalence of radiation from the flares should be made available to warn crews of supersonic aircraft, he said. Periodic exposure to the radiation at the high altitudes used by supersonic aircraft could be dangerous to humans. An accumulated dosage could be more dangerous.

LOVERS MOVED

FREDERICTON (CP) — City police had to disturb a young couple who had, perhaps, planned to do their courting in a setting that would have been familiar to their grandparents. The police asked the couple to move along to a less-fragile, less conspicuous location for their rendezvous. The two were settled comfortably in the Survey With the Fringe On Top, located in the museum area of the Officers' Square in downtown Fredericton.

SLICE SPORTS

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

(Extract from the December 7th edition of the New York Times).

"WANTED BY JETS: A MISSING BACK"

"The man in motion is Allen Smith, a swift halfback who started the year on the Jet taxi squad. The Jets wanted to give him game experience but they didn't think he was ready for the American football League so they had him sign with the Waterbury (Conn) Orbits, their farm team in the Atlantic Coast League.

"Smith became a star in Waterbury and led the league in scoring. The Jets watched him closely. When Matt Snell the Jet full-back underwent knee surgery, the Jets put Smith on their taxi squad and he worked out with them daily while playing for Waterbury.

"On November 18 the Orbits ended their playing season tangling with the Westchester Bulls. That week Billy Joe, one of Snell's replacements had bruised ribs and the Jets thought about activating Smith.

"Someone (Coach Web Ewbank of the Jets insisted it was no one on his staff) reminded Smith that an injury is a minor league game might send him his big chance. So in the middle of a workout the day before the Orbits — Bulls game he fell, clutched his back in apparent pain and skipped the Orbits game claiming a back injury.

"The Jets didn't activate Smith and he was disappointed. A few days later he told Ewbank his back had been seriously hurt in an auto accident in their home town of Toledo. Ewbank told Smith to go to Toledo but he told him to telephone him the next day.

"Smith didn't call. Ewbank tried to call him but there's no telephone in Smith's home. His grandmother lives across the street but phone calls have been unanswered.

"Ewbank telling the story said he had heard that Smith's mother was not in an accident. He said he had heard that Smith was working with the Detroit Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers, but both these National League teams denied that.

"According to Ewbank Smith's contract with Waterbury runs December 15 but it contains an option clause that give Waterbury control over him next year.

"Waterbury could sell him to any other team but that would be most unlikely unless the Jets approved and the Jets do not want to lose their grip on him.

"Whither Allen Smith? Who knows?"

* * *

"A 32-yard scoring play by newcomer Allen Smith was the only major score of the game (Hamilton 11 - Ottawa 2) in the first game of playoffs."

Earlier reports out of Hamilton stated that Allen Smith had been acquired from the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

What's in a name. Quien sabe

Nothing much perhaps but it does seem a remarkable coincidence that the Allen Smiths are hooked up in a football sequence of events.

Far be it from me to dare suggest that the Allen Smiths mentioned above are one and the same person. Heaven forbid.

But one must admit and I repeat, that it is a jolly ad bit of calculdance.

Or is it?

Mo-Hawks Had It; Used It; Won It

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

That's right. The Mo-Hawks had it — used it — and won it.

But it was close. They nipped the Barrie Flyers 4-3 in a senior "A" tilt last night but they had to play hockey in the third period to grab the victory.

And in the doing they piggybacked Orillia and took the first side on the upward climb.

They trek to Galt today to take on the pesky Hornets and if they can cop that one it looks like a half-merry Christmas.

If they de-sting the Hornets they will hop into third place from the cellar one point ahead of Woodstock.

The Mo-Hawks deserved the win and should have had a wider margin of victory, in a game that saw referees Gray with a couple of fights thrown in.

The teams battled through a scoreless first period with the Mo-Hawks flashing a lot of potential.

They took over in the first 12 minutes of the second period firing home three goals without a return.

Barrie raced back cutting the margin to 3-2 with a pair of 54-seconds quickies and some 700 paid pewsters started to visualize the old trend of blowing a lead.

But the Mo-Hawks raced back to the attack in the third period scoring a goal at 1:31 with the Flyers moaning in 23 seconds later to get it back.

After that it was a nip and tuck battle with both sides missing chances and the Mo-Hawks successfully holding their one-goal edge to grab the victory.

Barrie drew seven of the 11 penalties handed out by Referee Gordie Fevereaux, four of them majors.

Ralph Plaine took on Hicks and Stitt of the Flyers in a pair of fisticuff bouts drawing majors in each case as did the Flyer duo.—

The Mo-Hawks skated fast and hard with Davy Jones pasting the puck with a goal and an assist, Hec Lalande, Bob Taylor and George Godson got the others. Shaker Baker and Wiener Brown drew assists.

Adams was top dog for the Flyers coming up with a goal and two assists. Forbes and Weeks scored the other two with Vernett being credited with an assist.

The Mo-Hawks ripped into high gear in the first period outshooting the Flyers 16-9. Couch in the Barrie nets kicked out some hard drives as did Holmes in the Mo-Hawk cage.

Hicks got the gate early in the second period and Holmes stopped the Flyers' Robertson facing in alone.

Davy Jones broke the scoring egg after three minutes of the second period slapping in the puck from a goalmouth scramble.

Ralph Plaine and Hicks squared off and tossed punches both drawing majors. Midway through the bout Hec Lalande took a passout from Jones and Brown, his backhand driver putting the Mo-Hawks two up.

Two minutes later Bob Taylor flashed across the goalmouth to bat in Shaker Baker's pass from behind the net.

The Flyers raced to break the attack and cut the margin to 3-2 with goals from Forbes and Weeks within 54 seconds of each other.

Marchen, Holmes and Weeks drew sentences after the start of the third period and with the man advantage George Godson roared in alone on the Barrie net, deked Couch neatly and scored.

HEC LALONDE

The advantage was short-lived. Twenty-three seconds later Weeks banged home the puck for the final score of the game.

Chance For Title

Rams Point Favorite Over Colts!

LOS ANGELES (CP-AP) — Los Angeles Rams, enjoying their finest hours in a decade, remained a skimpy one-point favorite today as the eve of their struggle with the unbeaten Baltimore Colts.

At stake for the once-beaten Rams is a chance for the Western Conference championship of the National Football League. The winner will clinch the Coastal Division title and meet Green Bay Packers next Saturday for the Western Conference title.

Because of the Colts' 13-10 victory over the Packers Nov. 5 and the Rams' dramatic triumph over Green Bay on a blocked kick last Saturday, this rematch of the two Coastal Division contenders has captured the imagination of pro football fans.

Memorial Coliseum's 76,000 available seats have been sold out for more than two weeks for the television date on CBS with the kickoff set for 1:05 p.m. PST Sunday.

The weather man said there was a chance of showers today and, elements being what they are, it might come up damp at game time.

Johnny Unitas and the Colts could wrap it all up with just a tie and go on to meet Green Bay, the Central Division winners, in Milwaukee next Saturday.

The Rams must win. Baltimore is unbeaten but twice tied Los Angeles has a 10-1-2 record. When they met in Baltimore, Oct. 15, they played a 24-24 tie in a tense game that wound up with a disputed play involving a steal of the ball by defender Clancy Williams from flanker Willie Richardson on the Rams' 24 with eight seconds to go.

The week previously, Los Angeles lost its only game of the season to San Francisco 20-17.

Since each played tie games again Oct. 22, Baltimore with Minnesota and Los Angeles with Washington, the two have banged out seven straight victories apiece.

The Colts rank first in offence and have scored more touchdowns, 47, than any team in the league. With an 11-0-2, they could become the sixth NFL team to go through a season without defeat and the first since Chicago Bears were 11-0 in 1942.

The Colts have allowed the fewest points, 164, and the fewest touchdowns, 17.

Eye Hockey Franchise!

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cyrus H. McLean, president of Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League, announced Friday team owners have "merged their interests" with a group headed by Vancouver industrialist Frank McMahon in an effort to obtain a National Hockey League franchise.

McLean, in a press release, did not define "merged interests" but did say that a new board of directors will be elected in the near future.

When the NHL expanded to 12 teams, McLean and McMahon both applied for a Vancouver franchise but were turned down.

Believed included in the McMahon group are Max Bell of Calgary, chairman of FP Publications Ltd., and John Davidson, a former director of British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

Aussie Scores Upset!

ADELAIDE (AP) — Australian Judy Tegart caused a major upset by defeating Wimbledon champion Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 in the South Australian women's singles final today.

It is the second time in three encounters that Miss Tegart has defeated Mrs. King.

The match was marked by frequent outbursts of annoyance from Mrs. King, who at times shouted in frustration and held her head in her hands when she missed shots.

Jay Peterson of Australia probably lost the chance of playing in the Davis Cup final against Spain by losing his men's singles semi-final against Tony Roche 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

Seals Flip Bruins In 4-1 Upset; North Stars Surprise Kings

BERT OLMSTEAD

By DAVID MILLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The National Hockey League turned into a bookmaker's nightmare Friday as favorites were toppled.

Boston Bruins, leaders of the NHL's Eastern Division, went down to an ignominious 4-1 defeat at the hands of the lowly Oakland Seals and Los Angeles Kings, tied for first in the West with Philadelphia Flyers, were surprised 3-0 by Minnesota North Stars.

The Seals' victory, their seventh of the season, moved them into a fifth-place tie with St. Louis Blues and ended a two-game losing streak. They now have 19 points, 10 less than Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

The Minnesota win moved the North Stars past Pittsburgh Penguins into third place in the West with 26 points.

Goaltender Cesare Maniago continued to weave his brand of magic against the Kings for the second consecutive game. He made 23 saves in extending his scoreless string against Los Angeles to more than 150 minutes this season.

Ray Cullen scored two goals for Minnesota in the third period, including one into an open net with less than a minute to play. Defenceman Mike McMahon got his fourth goal of the season early in the first period and backed Maniago the rest of the way in the tight-checking contest.

Boston's high scoring line of Johnny McKenzie, Fred Stanfield and John Bucyk couldn't seem to get going Friday night. Tom Williams got the Bruins' only goal at 10:36 of the final period as Oakland built an early 3-0 lead.

The defeat extended the Bruins losing streak to three games. They are only one point ahead of the red-hot Chicago Black Hawks and three up on Toronto Maple Leafs.

A crowd of 6,095, one of the largest of the season in Oakland watched Wally Boyer score his first two goals of the season to lead the Seals.

Bill Hicke and Larry Popein accounted for the other Oakland scoring as the Seals got three goals in the second period. Popein, a veteran NHL performer, was purchased this week from Vancouver of the Western League where he had played several seasons.

Tonight, all six teams see action. Detroit Red Wings visit Montreal Canadiens, New York Rangers are in Toronto, Boston plays Los Angeles, Chicago meets Pittsburgh, Philadelphia is in St. Louis and Minnesota plays Oakland.

But Philadelphia will be without the services of two of their top scorers. Left winger Bill Sutherland, who leads the club with 10 goals, reinjured a groin muscle in practice Friday and centre Jed Hoekstra, with nine goals, hurt his ankle.

Elsewhere in the injury lists around the league, defenceman Ted Green returned to the Boston lineup after a six-day absence. He picked up a penalty and an assist Friday night—his first point since he stopped Frank Mahovlich's slapshot in Toronto last Saturday and bruised his knee.

Kings Sting Hornets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Friday night was a good night to be playing on home ice in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A loop. Home teams won all three games in league action.

Collingwood Kings beat Galt Hornets 7-4 and moved into a tie for second place with the Hornets. Both have 27 points, three behind Kingston.

In other action, Guelph Regals beat Woodstock Alcans 7-5 and Belleville Mo-Hawks won their first game in seven starts by edging Barrie Flyers 4-3.

In the Guelph game, Terry Oliver contributed three goals for the winners with other Guelph goals from Rick McCordick, Larry Jones, Bob Ertel and George Montague.

Four Tourneys Planned

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's minor hockey leagues will play in four tournaments planned by the Ontario Hockey Association between Christmas and New Year's.

The tournaments, sponsored by the-OHA and Ontario's tourist and information department, will start Dec. 27 in four centres with youths from all parts of the province competing for centennial medallions.

Bantam, peewee, midget and juvenile leagues will compete in four-day tournaments at Kapuskasing, Walkerton, Toronto and Nepean, a suburb of Ottawa, for the 16 silver medals that will be presented to the winners of each division.

Teams, as yet unnamed, will compete from the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, the Thunder Bay Hockey Association, the Toronto Hockey League, the Ottawa and District Hockey League and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association.

The elimination tournaments will be played in three days with six games a day scheduled. Semi-finals and finals will be played Sunday, Dec. 30.

Clarence Schmalz, organizer of the tournament, said the participating teams will be named Dec. 20.

Flyers Hammer Ottawa

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

League-leading Niagara Falls Flyers hammered last-place Ottawa 67s 7-1 Friday night to end a seven-game losing streak in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The win kept Flyers two points ahead of Kitchener Rangers, who defeated Peterborough Petes 7-1. In other games, London Nationals beat Montreal Junior Canadiens 5-3 and Toronto Marlboros edged Oshawa Generals 8-6.

Pete Laframboise scored Ottawa's goal.

Rick McLeish scored for the Petes.

Bobby Hull's World Of Hockey

Canadiens are always a championship threat because of their depth in good personnel — Ralph Backstrom, Jacques Laperriere, J. C. Tremblay, Gilles Tremblay, Bob Rousseau, and Ginny Wanless.

John Ferguson, a bully boy, runs around a lot, but he adds the muscles necessary to defending the finesse of the rest.

Yvan Cornoyer is one of those pinch-hitting types or was last year, when he came off the bench to score 17 power-play goals.

But the important Canadiens are big number 4, Jean Beliveau, and little number 16, Henri Richard. They are the men Montreal counts on in a crisis.

Beliveau takes charge in positive ways, a strong, graceful leader with his elbows up knocking you around. Gilles Tremblay, a sound left wing, is particularly effective with Jean tossing him the puck.

Richard is 36 years older than Beliveau but in the playoffs, he's the one who comes through for you.

Richard gets a team out of trouble because of his puck-carrying. He comes with it out of his own end, just daring you to take it away from him. He simply won't give it to anyone, even bigger guys in the league who are bouncing him around.

The odd thing about Richard is that he gets belted a lot and seldom says boo. He belongs with Stan Mikita and Dave Keon as the finest small centres in the modern game, which practically means the best centres, period.

In the last 10 seasons, the three of them have dominated the first and second team all-stars with Beliveau, who weighs 205 pounds and Norm Ullman, who goes 183. Keon, Mikita and Richard are all in the 160-165 pound class.

TODAY'S CUE FOR KIDS: When a 9 or 10-year-old starts working regularly on a team, the most important thing he can do is pick up is positional play. This means learning to play the ice by the best position, not only for yourself, but for your team. A wing man, when on the defensive, should try to keep the opposing winger between himself and the boards. This puts the defender in a better position to intercept a pass, or, if the rival winger breaks loose with the puck, to force him into a corner and mess up his shot on goal. If a defensive wing fails to backcheck in this way, he puts too much load on the defenseman. Remember — you're not playing this game alone.

Elbow Rink Twists Toronto Arm

TORONTO (CP) — A rink from Elbow, Sask., that came to an international curling tournament as a last-minute replacement, won the title early today.

But Doug Wankel's Westerners had to defeat the defending Canadian champion skipped by Alf Phillips Jr. of Toronto twice in six hours to win first prize in the eight-rink, double-knockout competition sponsored by the CBC.

Phillips was unbeaten going into the final Friday night and Wankel, with a loss Wednesday to Terry Braunstein of Winnipeg, had to topple the Toronto foursome twice. And he did it 9-8 in the first 10-end game and 7-6 in the final which went into an extra end.

Wankel's rink only made it to the tournament when the Pon Northcott-skipped rink of Calgary was unable to attend.

"We were in Edmonton last week," curling in the big car bonspiel, when we were asked to come to Toronto for this one," said second Ray Wankel.

But there was one fly in the ointment, Wankel's lead, Elmer Knutson, had decided to retire before the invitation arrived and had only curled 10 games this year.

"He was really weary out there after three straight games in less than 12 hours," said third Art Knutson.

Wankel and the Knutsons began the final day by defeating Hec Gervais of Edmonton 9-7 to reach the final.

Two OMHA teams face tough tests over the weekend.

Dick Elston's Kiwanis bantams trek to Peterborough on Sunday where they will take part in tournament play.

On Sunday Smith's Fuels will undergo a dress rehearsal in preparation for the upcoming Centennial Tournament scheduled for Christmas week

Included in the field will be set Park, Toronto club which will meet the Fuels in the tournament.

The Dorset Park team will be here tomorrow for a pre-tournament clash with Smith's Fuels the game starting at four o'clock.

"This will probably mean that we'll be suspended from curling in Ontario for at least this year," said Phillips.

Name Jenkins Male Athlete Of Year

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Fergie Jenkins, down there in Chicago, is shocked—but pleased—that somebody up here likes him.

The "somebodies" are the majority of the sports writers and broadcasters who named the Chatham, Ont., pitcher Canadian Male Athlete of 1967.

"I knew I was in the running for it," Jenkins said by telephone in Toronto.

"But I didn't think I had a chance. I know I had to get a lot of votes from a lot of sports writers across Canada—somebody up there must be following baseball pretty close, I'm very grateful."

Jenkins, rangy right-hander for Chicago Cubs of the National League, last season became the first Canadian in 50 years to win 20 games in the big leagues.

Fergie, who plays basketball and operates as an advance man for Harlem Globetrotters during the off-season, beat Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League in the Canadian Press year-end poll.

"I beat Bobby?" he asked. "That's amazing. He's idolized by th people down here.

It was a two-way battle between Hull, winner in 1965 and 1966, and Jenkins.

Jenkins says he is "just relaxing around Chicago" these days. He toured half-a-dozen Canadian cities with Harlem Globetrotters as a player and advance man for the basketball buffoons.

"I'm going out again with them on the 18th to do a few cities in the United States, then they want me to do another five after Christmas," he said.

The Jenkins-Hull race was close. Jenkins got 24 second choices and was third on 15 ballots; Hull was 40-11.

Gubb, who set a North American record earlier this year by riding seven consecutive winners on the same day, got two firsts, nine seconds and 46 thirds.

Auto Racing

Whew! This Was Close!

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — Dieter Quester of Austria, moving to the front with 20 miles to go, roared to victory Friday in the 100-mile Governor's Cup auto race—a thrilling event which almost saw a tragedy in front of the grandstands.

Only strong braking and skillful manoeuvring saved several drivers when a huge wrecker, going to the site of an accident, pulled into the narrow roadway in front of a pack of racers coming off a blind curve.

Switzerland's Werner Muller had the most miraculous escape. His red racer, with no place to go, wedged between the wrecker and a concrete curve. Several other drivers just managed to squeeze past the truck on the outside.

Muller came through shaken but uninjured.

Swedish driver Leif Hansen was seriously injured in an accident. He crashed into a flag station on a hairpin turn and was taken to hospital with several broken ribs and a broken jaw.

Two Canadians finished in the top 23—Gunther Decker, who came in 12th, and Wayne Kelly, who finished 14th. Both are from Toronto.

Halifax Whips St. Kitts

HALIFAX (CP) — Halifax Canadiens took an early lead and defeated St. Catharines Black Hawks 5-3 Friday in an exhibition hockey game marred by a first-period brawl.

The victory for the Canadiens, who do not play in a league, avenged a 4-3 loss Tuesday to the Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

McGrandle Fixes Mr. Fix

EDMONTON (CP) — Billy McGrandle of Edmonton again issued a challenge to Walter McGowan of Glasgow, Scotland, Friday after scoring an eighth-round knockout over Tommy Pix of Shelby, Ohio, in a featherweight boxing match before 1,800 fans.

McGrandle, the Canadian featherweight champion, whose title was not at stake, was never in trouble against his smaller opponent who is ranked sixth in the bantamweight division in the United States.

A Good Wine Taster Can Tell You if Grapes Grew in Sun

A professional taster should be able to tell how sweet a wine is by simply observing how it clings to the side of a crystal glass. By looking at a sample, a top expert sometimes could even identify the type of wine and even tell you in what part of a vineyard the sunny or shady section—the grapes were grown.

But usually the taster tastes.

"A morning's work could be sampling 200 different wines," says Colin MacKay, a full-time taster. "But of course a wine taster never swallows."

He adds that a more typical morning would start with trying about 30 wines to decide which are good enough to market—whether the right combination of sun and rain fell on the vineyards, whether the grapes were bruised, and whether the casks or bottles were properly prepared for aging.

Mr. MacKay spent most of his wine-tasting days as a representative of the Australian Wine Board, which exported 500,000 gallons of wine to Canada, last year, including more than 180,000 gallons to Quebec.

More than 3,000,000 gallons of wine were consumed in Quebec in 1966, about 35 per cent of the national volume.

A spokesman for the Quebec Liquor Commission says Quebecers can choose from about 1,200 French, German, Italian, domestic and other wines, compared with "an optimistic maximum" of 250 varieties available elsewhere in Canada.

One of the members compared wine tasting without food-tasting to sniffing world famous perfumes in bottles instead of on beautiful women.

Albert Schnell, haute-chef of one of the largest chains of gourmet restaurants in the world, says that since Expo Montreal has been recognized as a gourmet centre ranking with Paris, London and Rome. His restaurant's wine cellars are stocked with more than 22,000 bottles.

The nine restaurants, operated by the Hotel, serve more than 2,600 meals of from three to 1* courses each day.

The city of Montreal has issued permits to more than 4,000 wine-serving restaurants this year, and estimates are that more than 200 are in the "moderately expensive to very expensive" category.

The city-owned Helene de Champlain maintains what is believed to be one of the largest wine cellars in the world, with a base of more than 55,000 bottles.

One resident commented that Montreal is the only Canadian city where diners can enjoy choosing a restaurant as much as discussing the menu.

He says his 2,000 product lines from around the world include common items such as tinned pheasants in wine sauce, and such rarities as earlobes of Japanese frogs.

A spokesman for Anco Food Products Ltd., which sold some 450,000 tons of imported cheese across Canada last year, estimated that 75 per cent of total sales were in Quebec.

One local businessman said after a visit to Toronto: "Unfortunately Montreal is the only place in Canada where businessmen can close a multi-million dollar deal over a two hour lunch.

General Motors And UAW Settle

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union and the Big Three auto-makers today looked forward to what they hope will be three years of labor peace in the U.S. auto industry.

The union and General Motors Corp., completed on Friday writing their contract, the last but the biggest of the UAW's new three-year U.S. national contracts with the major car makers.

More than 100 of the 134 local plant agreements at GM are still unsettled, but many are expected to be worked out on the national contract has been put together.

The UAW's international executive board will meet Sunday to decide on a January strike deadline for local contracts to which supplement the national pact.

Bargainers for both sides emerged Friday after a 30-hour negotiating session, unusual because there was no immediate strike threat, and announced they had come to terms on a contract paralleling the record agreements won by the union at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

The Big Three contracts will give some 643,000 U.S. workers close to $1 an hour more in wages and fringe benefits over the next three years on top of the old Big three hourly level of $4.70.

The agreements will increase labor costs about six per cent a year.

The GM contract covers 380,000 workers. Its wage provision, retroactive to Oct. 16, provides a 30-cents-an-hour, across-the-board increase with an additional 30 cents hourly for skilled workers.

Employment News

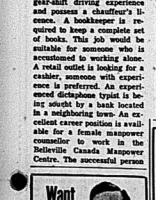
By J. R. STAVELEY,
Manpower Counsellor

The local labor demand for additional workers declined during the past week. This trend, which is normal at this time of the year, is based upon the local employment opportunities listed with the Canada Manpower Centre. It showed a particularly light need for women seeking local employment.

This is the time of year when persons working in the employment field endeavor to estimate the effect of possible seasonal winter unemployment.

It is encouraging to note the considerable amount of highway improvement work which has been scheduled for this community. One large highway improvement contract has already started south of Bancroft on Highway 62. This work will continue throughout the winter. Augmenting this type of construction work will be the various approved municipal winter incentive program projects previously planned and scheduled for the winter months.

The following employment opportunities are now available:



In the female division local fly an industrial plant is seeking the services of an experienced secretary who would be involved in work related to personnel and purchasing. A dry cleaning business operator is seeking a woman to drive a light delivery truck for three half-days per week. The successful person must have a gear-shift driving experience and possess a chauffeur's license. A bookkeeper is required to keep a complete set of books. This job would be suitable for someone who is accustomed to working alone. A retail outlet is looking for a cashier, someone with experience is preferred. An experienced dictaphone typist is being sought by a bank located in a neighboring town. An excellent career position is available for a female manpower counsellor to work in the Belleville Canada Manpower Centre. The successful person must be a university graduate with a five-year work background preferred.

In the male division locally still required by an industrial plant is a qualified patternmaker (minimum of at least three years of metal and moulding experience. Another industrial plant has an opening for a qualified and experienced machinist for permanent work. A qualified tailor who can work on his own is sought for the repair and alterations of men's clothing. As yet unfilled are positions calling for two licensed Class "A" automobile repair mechanics one with experience in truck repairs and the other experienced in automatic transmissions. There is an excellent Federal Public Service position available for someone who has at least a Grade 10 education and five years of general accounting experience. An industrial plant has a somewhat similar position, which demands that the accounting experience include completion of two years of the registered industrial accountant course.

There is an increasing number and a variety of employment opportunities ahead for professionally trained persons. These positions offer an excellent salary range, together with attractive fringe benefits. Qualified women can also apply for a number of these positions. In the same professional field there are a number of similar opportunities throughout Canada. Grant Armstrong, the Manpower Counsellor specifically responsible for this occupational field, would be pleased to discuss these positions with any interested qualified person.

If interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of reentering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 334 Church Street, Belleville.

New York Stock Exchange Accepts Canadian Firms

TORONTO (CP) — J. R. Kimber, president of the Toronto Stock Exchange, said Friday that a rule change by the New York Stock Exchange approving in principle membership of qualified Canadian brokerage firms was no surprise.

The decision had been expected for several months, he said in commenting on a report that the change had been made.

Despite Boom in Gold Stocks Stock Markets Show Declines

By FRITS ROOS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's major stock markets slipped in light to moderate activity this week despite a closing boom in gold stocks and a rally among base metals. Industrials and oils declined.

Major losers among Toronto's industrial groups were chemicals and textiles, followed by steels and papers.

Losses were cut by a strong advance in retail issues and fractional gains among the industrial mine, bank and oil refinery groups.

Chemcell fell 1 to 7¼ at the announcement of lower nine-month earnings. DuPont dropped 3¼ to 22. Dominion Textile 2¼ to 15 and Ulton, Class B 1 to 16¼.

Fraser Companies, up 4¼ last week, tumbled 3½ to 19¼ at the announcement that exploratory takeover talks with Continental Can were terminated without result.

Consolidated Bathurst declined 1¼ to 21¼, Great Lakes Paper 1¼ to 16¼ and Domtar ¼ to 9¼.

Corby voting shares dropped 4¼ to 28¼ when a company official told shareholders annual earnings will be lower than expected.

On the positive side, Hudson's Bay Co. was up 2¼ to 22¼ and Oshawa Wholesale A 1½ to 28½. CPR advanced 1¼ to 39¼. Falconbridge 2¼ to 89 and Noranda and Seagrams 1¼ each to 51½ and 29¾.

Golds, strong since the devaluation of the British pound, secured several post-war group records during the week which ended in a boom at the news of a new rush on gold in European markets.

The group index jumped 15.68 points to 202.72 after touching a high of 205.20 Friday afternoon. Most major issues sold at new highs.

Dome Mines soared 4¼ to 60¾, Campbell Red Lake 2¼ to 28¼, Giant Yellowknife 1.65 to 23.90, Sigma 1.55 to 6.30, Kerr Addison ¼ to 17¼, Dickenson 45 cents to 3.50 and Aunor 44 cents to 2.79.

Base metals rallied, especially uraniums. Denison advanced 4¾ to 79¾, Roman Corp., whose chief asset is uranium shares, 2¾ to 27¼ and Rio Algom ¾ to 23¾.

Hollinger picked up 1¼ to 27½ and Granisle 1¼ to 11¼.

On index, Toronto's industrials declined .76 to 160.98 and western oils 1.39 to 219.83. Base metals gained 2.43 to 104.50.

Tweed District News

Mrs. William Silverthorne, Bridge St. W., who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital for a few weeks, was able to return home Saturday.

A new low pressure boiler furnace is being installed in St. Carthagh's Separate School. The 250 pupils have enjoyed a three day holiday while Alfred Marsan, plumber, made the installation.

A Christmas concert will be held in the social room of Arden United Church Dec. 16.

Mrs. George England, Arden, was hostess for the Anglican Church Guild meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander, Arden, have left to spend the winter with their daughter in Toronto.

Mrs. William McClaren, Read, died recently at Belleville General Hospital. She had lived all her life in the Melrose community and is survived by her husband, her daughter, Mrs. C. Milligan, and two sons, Donald, Corbyville and James, Rochester.

Charles Hayes, Elm Tree, celebrated his 90th birthday recently at a surprise party given by friends and neighbors. There were and a daughter were among the 40 guests.

Jockey Joins "400"

Win Circle

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Alvaro Pineda, a 22-year-old Mexican, won his 401st race of the year Friday, then raised the figure to 404 with a consecutive triple in the final three at Bay Meadows.

He is the fourth jockey in history to ride 400 winners in one year, but he trails Panamanian Jorge Velasquez, who has virtually clinched this year's honors with 421, including three winners Friday at Tropical in Florida.

Bill Shoemaker, who holds the record, won 485 races in 1953 and Bill Hartack won 417 in 1955.

Win Ski Slaloms

— Australia's Karl Schranz won the special slalom at the Criterium of the First Snow ski meet Friday with a total time of 1:14.5 for the two legs of the 2,200-metre course. Florence Steurer of France won the women's giant slalom in 1:28.7.

Won't Defend Title!

TORONTO (CP) — Valerie Jones, Canada's reigning figure-skating queen, said Friday she will not defend her singles championship in Vancouver Jan. 9-14.

The move means that the 19-year-old, who has been internationally ranked since 1965, will not be available for Canada's Olympic team in Grenoble, France, in February nor for the team going to the world championships in Geneva after the Olympics.

"I'm married now—I'm Mrs. John Merrick—and I have decided I won't defend my title in Vancouver," Valerie said in an interview.

Valerie, who began skating at the age of six "just for fun," was third in the women's singles in the 1965 North American championships. She was fourth in the world in 1966.

BREAKS EVERY RULE

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Provincial Police Sergeant H. K. Still has been making violins for 13 years but he's broken every rule in the book since. It doesn't bother him that his violins may have oak fiddles instead of maple, or that the tailpieces are walnut not ebony, or even that he plays it close to his chest—the sound is still sweet.

Toxoid Prevents, Toxin Cures

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain the difference between tetanus toxoid and tetanus antitoxin, also any side effects possible, length of effectiveness, etc. Many of your readers have never known a real usefulness of these. — G.W.

The only way to appreciate the full usefulness is to see what lack of such protection means — what happens when a person gets tetanus infection, or lockjaw. The convulsions are never known to be seen even if the patient recovers.

Lockjaw used to be much more common. Now most schools and health departments insist on tetanus immunization, and everyone in military services receives similar protection.

The danger, however, recurs as immunity wanes, as it will over the years. The way to be safe is to have a booster every two to five years. But because so many people have not done this, it is a common thing when a person gets a booster when a person suffers a suspicious wound — one which is clogged with dirt, and more particularly a deep puncture, wound, as from a nail or long splinter. This is because the tetanus germ thrives in the absence of air. This vaccine against tetanus is "toxoid". Like any other vaccine, it causes the blood to form antibodies which will destroy tetanus germs if they appear.

Tetanus anti-toxin, or T.A.T. for short, is a quite different type of injection.

When a tetanus infection develops, and the germs multiply, they throw off highly poisonous by-products — the toxin. It is this by-product, rather than the germ itself, which does the damage.

T.A.T. is designed to combat this toxin rather than the germ itself. Thus it can be used after it is too late for toxoid.

Toxoid prevents the infection, but it must be given time in which to build up the preventive powers. T.A.T. is used to fight the infection once it has been introduced into the body. The patient, in such a case, has plenty of misery in store, but the urgency is to save his life.

Another problem is that T.A.T. has in the past been made from horse serum, and some people are highly sensitive to it, so dangereach allergic reactions can occur.

More recently an "immune" prepared from human blood instead of horse serum, but serving the same purpose as T.A.T.. With it, reactions, if any, are of far less serious proportions.

The thing to keep in mind is that toxoid, the "tetanus shot," is the important thing. It prevents. Reactions or side effects from it are as uncommon, as they are with any of the standard, frequently used immunizations.

But remember to have an occasional booster.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you believe my large toenails are greenish, or the skin under them is? — J. G.

Could be. Might be an incipient fungus infection. See a dermatologist. Could be dye velopes, and the germs multiply, they throw off highly poisonous by-products — the toxin. It is this by-product, rather than the germ itself, which does the damage.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would times a day over an extended period cause any growth changes in the body, such as hands, feet, etc? — L. F.

This would not cause any growth changes. It could cause water retention, however. This would make the extremities or other parts of the body swell, and thus feel "larger." It would not be actual growth; only the puffiness of accumulated fluid in the tissues.

Dr. Molner welcomes all taking hydrocortisone four reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Varsity Wallops Laval 12-2

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Blues fell behind twice in the first period before storming back to trounce Laval Rouge et Or 12-2 in an Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association hockey game Friday.

Brian Jones scored three goals for Toronto, Paul Laurence Murray Stroud and John Gordon picked up two each. Ward Pasut, Peter Street and Bob McClelland added the others.

Eagles To Europe

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — A relatively new team, with a new coach and a goaltender reinstated from professional ranks, Drummondville Eagles will leave Christmas night to represent Canada at Sweden's Aherane Trophy tournament.

The Eagles will take on five Swedish teams and a Russian club in Stockholm between Dec. 27 and Jan. 7 in the pre-Olympic tournament last won for Canada in 1963 by Sherbrooke Beavers.

Eagles won the right to represent Canada in the annual round-robin affair by knocking off Carl - Gustaf Spurs twice straight in the Allan-Cup final last spring.

Claude Cyr, who signed a professional contract with Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League's new expansion division, has been reinstated and will alternate with Yvan Houle in the Eagles' goal.

Rodriguez Verdicts Briscoe

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, a unanimous-decision winner over Bennie Briscoe Friday night, will be offered a Jan. 22 Madison Square Garden date with Don Fullmer for the right to meet middleweight champion Emile Griffith.

Although Griffith has a third match with Italy's Nino Benvenuti in his tentative schedule, it is expected that he will accommodate the Rodriguez-Fullmer winner in his next defence if he gets past the Italian. Emile, whose fight if the price is right, scored a sixth-round technical knockout Friday in Rome in a non-title fight.

Rodriguez, former welter champ, came out of the Briscoe bout with a cut on the side of the left eye. Angelo Dundee, who handles his business, said it was not serious and would not prevent a January bout.

POOR LISTENER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Twenty-five years ago man is the world's worst listener, says Curtis Rice, a British Columbia Telephone Co. communications expert. He said the husband who says "hmmm" and "yes dear" after stopping to listen to his wife is the biggest block to bridging the communications block.

Key Struggle

Jets Tackle Oakland Champs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East vs. West and Texas vs. Texas. Trouble for the slumping New York Jets, who tackle Oakland's Western Division champions Sunday in a key American Football League scrap.

The Jets started the weekend in a 7-4-1 deadlock for the Eastern Division lead with Houston Oilers, who entertained Kansas City Chiefs today in an all-Texas game.

Three weeks ago, New York appeared to have the inside track in its initial division duel. But successive setbacks to Western Division also-rans Denver Broncos and Kansas City Chiefs have left the Jets in a tight bind. Now they must complete their run on the West Coast—meeting San Diego a week from Sunday—where they have won only once in five years.

In Sunday's other AFL games, Kansas City is at Denver in the season finale for each club and Boston Patriots visit Miami Dolphins.

Oakland sailed the Western crown last week, but the Raiders have an incentive in Sunday's rematch. The Raiders suffered an early-season 27-14 loss to the Jets, their only setback in 12 starts.

Fans Wait Word

Bucs 'Mum' Over Deals

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh baseball fans played a guessing game today, waiting to learn who the Pirates traded to who from the world champions.

Pirate officials were publicity close-mouthed about the deal.

General-manager Joe L. Brown, who two weeks ago said he was working on what he termed a major trade, is vacationing in Mexico City and the trade announcement was to be made by Danny Murtaugh.

It's known Brown talked trade with Philadelphia during the winter meetings at Mexico City and among the names mentioned were pitchers Jim Bunning, Larry Jackson and Chris Short.

But the Phillies traded pitcher Dick Ellsworth to Boston Red Sox Friday, making it questionable whether they would deal with another pitcher, unless the price was unusually attractive.

It's generally conceded there will be no untouchable Pirates—particularly after the dismal flop to sixth place last year—with the likely exception of Roberto Clemente, Bill Mazeroski and Gene Alley.

First baseman Donn Clendenon, a .249 hitter in 1967, and third baseman Maury Wills, who batted .302 but carries a $70,000 salary, are regulars who figure to be expendable.

Denies Charge

Brundage; 'A Monstrous Lie'

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Friday it is "a monstrous lie" to call him anti-Semitic or anti-Negro.

He told an interviewer his long record as a sports official was the best reply to charges made against him by Black Power leaders in the United States.

"My record speaks for itself," he said.

The accusation against Brundage came from Dr. Harry Edwards, a San Jose State College professor and head of a boycott committee. He said Brundage owns and operates a country club in Santa Barbara, Calif., where no Negroes or Jews are allowed.

Brundage said he owns the Montecito Country Club, a golf club near Santa Barbara, but takes no part in running the club.

"The club is entirely run by the members and I have nothing whatever to do with its organization," he said.

Referring to a threat by some Negro athletes to boycott the U.S. Olympic team at next year's Mexico City Games, Brundage said many Negroes among the prospective team members had disavowed the threat.

Tennis Suspension

To Britain With Love!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The British decision to open Wimbledon to professional tennis players next year drew support from some important amateur players and a suspension from the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

In summer the British Lawn Tennis Association from the international body, Giorgio De Stefani of Italy said in Rome Friday that the British had put themselves "outside the law."

The British body will be suspended as of Jan. 1, De Stefani said, and the country will be banned from Davis Cup competition.

"It was an anti-democratic and illegal action," he said, because it went against international regulations.

But from various places came the support of top amateur players, who hailed the decision to allow open play at Wimbledon.

Billie Jean King, of Long Beach, Calif., the top-ranked woman player in the world, said in Australia where she is competing: "I favor open tennis and would be happy to play if the clubs in the United States want it."

John Newcombe, the Australian who is the top-rated men's player, said: "I'll have to weigh the pro and cons, but my feeling at the moment is that I'll play."

At West Point, N.Y., Arthur Ashe, the No. 2 American player who is serving a hitch in the army, said: "I'd play at Wimbledon if I can get leave. I'm sticking my neck out, but I favor professional open tennis and support any move by the amateurs."

KC Blues Close In On Tulsa

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kansas City Blues continued to close in on the Northern Division-leading Tulsa Oilers Friday night as they whipped Omaha Knights 4-3 in a Central Hockey League game.

The win gave the Blues 25 points in the Northern Division standings, only two points behind the Oilers.

George Guibault scored one goal and had four assists to spark Kansas City to its win over the Knights. Norm Beaudin had two for the Blues and Gary Monetto and Rejean Rieber one each. John Grawel and Bill Carter got the Omaha tallies.

Americans Win Ski Event

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont. (CP) — John Ehrenbeck completed a 10-mile course Friday in one hour and 58 seconds to lead three members of the United States National ski team to victory in the first event of the Canadian biathlon championships.

S.S. Basketball

Moira Downs Napanee

The Moira seniors took a 59.50 decision from Napanee in a Bay of Quinte basketball contest at Napanee last night, while Napanee won the junior contest.

Napanee's Gord Smith's bantam Trojans overpowered Napanee from the outset, and had raced up their 36-point lead by the half mark of the fourth quarter when Napanee coach Bailey disputed a decision with the officials, and decided to forfeit the game.

Don Hazelton was the leading scorer for Moira, with 16 points, with Jim Wiggin collected 13. Dave Roblin, with 6 points, and Dave Finley, with 5, scored all the Napanee points.

David Thompson was high man for Stu LeBarron's Trojans, collecting 8 points. Roland had 6 before he fouled out.

The third quarter was marked by sloppy shooting on both sides, with each team scoring only nine points. Napanee outscored Moira in the final quarter, but by then the Trojans were coasting, and the game was as good as won.

Bill Probert was the high scorer for Dan Lister's Trojans with an excellent 26 point effort. Gary Swan picked up a hot hand in the second half to finish with 14 points. Mick Chalmers scored 7 before fouling out in the final quarter.

The junior game was a sloppy affair, with a great many shots missed, and a high occurrence of fouls and violations, especially travelling. And the Trojans once again lost their high scorer, Rob Rolston, on fouls in the third quarter. The Napanee shooters began to click in the final minutes to salt away the win.

Six Player Deal

Mets Trade Tommy Davis!

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Mets have made their most radical move while seeking to erase their image as a sorts-comic baseball team by sacrificing Tommy Davis, their best hitter, in a six-player trade with Chicago White Sox.

Centre fielder Tommie Agee and infielder Al Weis, both exceptionally-fine fielders, were obtained from the White Sox for Davis, veteran starting pitcher Jack Fisher and two minor leaguers, pitcher Billy Wynne and catcher Dick (Buddy) Bosker.

The transaction was one of two completed Friday only a few hours before the midnight de-dline for inter-league trading. In the other one, Philadelphia Phillies sold pitcher Dick Ellsworth and catcher Gene Oliver to Boston Red Sox for catcher Mike Ryan plus an undisclosed amount of cash.

Pittsburgh Pirates, disappointed over their sixth-place finish last season, were scheduled to announce a major trade this afternoon. There were hints the deal would be with another National League team—perhaps Philadelphia.

"As long as an inter-league deal is announced before the midnight deadline and we are told about it, the trade can be announced at any time," explained a spokesman for baseball commissioner William D. Eckert.

Third baseman Maury Wills and first baseman Don Clendenon have been the Pirates most often mentioned in trade speculation.

The deal involving the light hitting White Sox and the poor fielding Mets had been rumored for a number of weeks.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

Duck season is over this Saturday and I have been out hunting only about half as many times this year, but have had the best hunting I have had in 20 years.

Canvas backs and Redheads made a real comeback. But this year around Prince Edward County Blacks, Mallards and Whistlers were scarce.

Geese were plentiful again in the Quinte area this year and it is quite possible they have chosen this section for a flyway to the south.

The numerous corn and grain fields have made a good feeding stop for these hunters and high water has also been helpful in keeping them around for a spell.

Ice fishermen have started fishing for perch and pickerel around the Quinte area but the mild weather earlier this week along with the high winds have made the ice unsafe for travel.

On Tuesday of this week a couple of local ice fishermen tried their luck on the Belleville harbor and caught over 100 nice ones in a little over two hours.

I must try and impress upon you to be very careful if you are fishing this year. The ice is very thin and unless you know a body of water, currents and springs, stay off the ice.

Trout fishing opens in Hastings County on January 1st, 1958, the earliest it has ever opened. The main reason, for just Hastings, are the lakes in and Addingtono and Frontenac, will be frozen over from tourist operators and local fish and game clubs to open the season earlier than usual. Apparently these other counties do not wish an early opening.

Quite a few lakes at this writing is unsafe. Do not venture out as yet. We need a few days of freezing weather to make at least 5 inches of clear ice. This amount will make for safe travelling on the lakes.

For trout or pickerel fishing through the ice minnows seem to be the best bait although worms if you can get them work quite as speckles. Warm books and clothing are a must. Any good strong line will be OK for fishing at this time although nicer to use is not necessary.

Tip-ups are also a good idea but a willow wand will serve just as well to hold your line and warn you of a fish taking. You may legally fish two lines while ice fishing and no more.

An ice auger or ice chisel is a must in order to cut your holes, while a hatchet will serve the purpose if you do not have very much ice.

Local pickerel fishing hotspots this winter should be as follows: East and West Lake, Consecon, Moira, Stoco and Crowe Lakes and Bay of Quinte.

Pike fishing should be good

Most MPs Back Easier Divorce

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition MPs criticized the government Friday for retaining the principle of matrimonial offences in its legislation widening the grounds for divorce.

But almost to a man, the MPs said they would support the bill since it would bring relief, in perhaps thousands of Canadians now trapped in unhappy marriages and illegal unions.

Under terms of the bill, divorces will be granted on grounds of physical or mental cruelty, sodomy, bestiality; adultery, homosexuality, bigamy and marriage breakdown. Grounds for divorce now are limited in general only to adultery.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Greenwood) said it is ridiculous for the government to say that public opinion is against the approach of using marriage breakdown as the sole grounds for divorce.

"The churches have been able to say, and nearly all of them have said, that when a marriage has broken down and there is no hope of reconciliation, the institution of marriage is more honored by declaring it at an end than it is in trying to maintain empty legal ties," said the Toronto lawyer.

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said the bill, in allowing marriage breakdown as a grounds for divorce, "will bring relief, help and assistance to the thousands of people who have waited so long for such a measure to be introduced."

But in bringing together the concepts of marriage breakdown and matrimonial offences, the bill is "a remarkable monstrous conglomeration of inconsistent and irreconcilable proposals which will never work," he said.

Under the provision of matrimonial offences, the government was continuing "the principle where one person must be the offender and the other must be innocent: one is black, one is white; one is guilty of a matrimonial offence and the other is innocent."

Harold Stafford (L—Elgin) said to confine divorce grounds to marriage breakdown would be difficult to carry out in practice.

"The law must have definite rules," he said. "Otherwise, the people affected will not know where they stand and the lawyers who advise them will not be in a position to give definite advice."

Gordon Aiken (PC—Parry Sound-Muskoka) said the Conservatives will propose amendments at a later stage of the bill's consideration, seeking to make marriage breakdown the sole grounds for divorce.

Truro Honors Two Native Sons

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — Two native sons, national Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield and Premier G. I. Smith of Nova Scotia, were honored at a public reception Friday night.

More than 12,000 paid tribute to Mr. Stanfield, the former provincial premier who was born here 54 years ago, and to Mr. Smith, a native of nearby Stewiacke.

The town council, which tendered the reception "to congratulate each on the fine leadership they have given the province," was pleased with its success. Close to 400 stopped on the way out to sign the guest book.

Many Christmas shoppers dropped in to shake hands with "Bob and Ike," while other guests came early, exchanged greetings and rushed away to other Christmas parties.

Dress was informal among a few who came to the reception directly from work or the farm in their work clothes.

After accepting a scroll "in recognition of and in gratitude for service to the citizens of Nova Scotia," Mr. Stanfield said he owed many things to this town.

"Truro has always been a steady town. Because I grew up here, I didn't have the same impression of difficulty during the depression, the 1920s, during my childhood.

"Perhaps this has tended to give me more confidence in the province than if I'd grown up in many other towns."

Hunting Mishaps Fewer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian woods were safer places to hunt game last year than in 1966, with Alberta the only province reporting an increased toll as the national count of hunting fatalities dropped to 45 from 78.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press up to December showed the improvement.

While Alberta, free of hunting deaths in 1966, reported four this year, two other provinces reported no deaths in the woods. Prince Edward Island had an unmarred season for the second year while Manitoba's toll was cut to nothing from four a year earlier.

Saskatchewan with five deaths and Ontario with 13 had the same records as in 1966, while all other provinces reported decreases.

Denis Found Guilty of Bribe, Sentence Maximum Two Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Raymond Denis, who plunged from trusted confidant of federal cabinet ministers to $50-a-week file clerk over the Lucien Rivard scandal, was convicted Friday of attempted obstruction of justice.

The 35-year-old Montreal lawyer was sentenced to the maximum two years in prison by Judge Bruce J. Macdonald of Windsor.

Taken pale and shaken from the Carleton County courtroom, he was lodged in a bare jail cell, pausing en route to make brief phone call, apparently to tell his wife, daughter and parents in Montreal of his fate.

Denis' trial was the latest and, as Judge Macdonald put it, "ingorious" chapter in a story that began three years or more ago when Denis was executive assistant to the federal immigration minister after a period in the same assistant's post to the justice minister.

A 12-man jury prooounced him guilty of offering $20,000 July 14, 1964, to Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne to persuade Mr. Lamontagne to agree to the release on bail of narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard.

In rejecting a defence plea for leniency, he said Denis endangered the purity of the judicial system and was guilty of a "most reprehensible" betrayal of the trust of his political superiors.

Of Mr. Lamontagne, Denis' friend and colleague in the Liberal party, Judge Macdonald said he was entitled to "praise and sympathy" for his actions. The case had been a tragedy for both men.

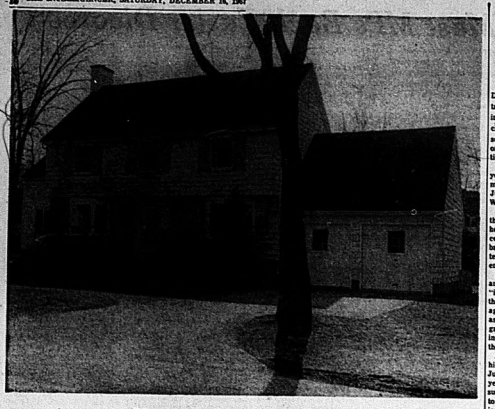
Defence Counsel Louis C. Assaly announced immediate steps to appeal on grounds of judicial error, saying the judge's three-hour charge to the jury was worded "so strongly against the accused that he, in effect, took the case away from the jury."

Crown Attorney John Cassells said he will seek instructions from the Ontario attorney-general's office about a second count against Denis of corruptly offering money to Mr. Lamontagne in the Rivard case.

At the time of the $20,000 offer, Mr. Lamontagne was lawyer for the United States government in legal hearings in Montreal to extradite Rivard for trial in Texas.

Rivard, now 52, made a daring escape over the wall of Bordeaux jail while a royal commission was investigating Mr. Lamontagne's allegations he was recaptured, extradited and now is serving a 30-year prison term in Atlanta, Ga.

Judge Macdonald delivered a three-hour charge to the jury before sending them to consider their verdict. But he called them back for another 20-minutes of instructions after defence and Crown objected to some of the things he said or the way he said them.



It took the jurors four hours and 22 minutes to reach their decision including their return to the courtroom for additional charges from the judge.

Denis bowed his head and frowned as foreman John Nixon, a farmer, pronounced him guilty. He seemed to be fighting back tears as he stared at their retreating backs when they left the courtroom before sentence was pronounced.

Mr. Assaly suggested a suspended sentence for Denis who had been unable to practise his profession since the summer of 1964 and now is making $50 a week in a Montreal law office.

Denis had gained notoriety and brought great shame and notoriety on himself, his family and his father who is a Montreal magistrate. He was certain to be disbarred.

Mr. Cassells called for a penalty that would demonstrate the gravity of the offence.

'Rose-covered Cottage'

This frame house at 541 Montague Place in the posh Ottawa suburb of Rockcliffe is where Prime Minister Pearson plans to live after his retirement. The Pearsons purchased it in April, 1966. # Pearson Says Canada Must Establish Wider Rights for Its Ethnic Groups

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Friday Canada must work to establish new and widened dimensions of human rights for ethnic groups as well as for individuals in the country.

Delivering his first public address since announcing Thursday his plans to retire next year, Mr. Pearson said that if the Canadian people cannot solve their problems "no other possible way is there for the world to solve its problems" without destroying itself in nuclear war.

Mr. Pearson made only passing and light-hearted reference to his retirement plans when he spoke at a luncheon marking 1968 as the United Nations-sponsored International Year for Human Rights.

"After the emotional experiences of yesterday, I had hoped to be able to lie around today and read my obituary notices," he said.

"But this is another day, a meeting of the Commons, a speech at lunch, and back to work. I expect it will continue that way for a few months, I hope so."

He delivered his speech in forceful terms, after having made extensive last-minute revisions of an earlier draft prepared for him before his retirement plans were announced.

"The year 1968 could scarcely be more timely for a renewed examination by Canadians of the human rights guaranteed by our independent nationhood," he said.

The federal - provincial conference to be held next February, to write a bill of rights into the constitution, offers "an unprecedented opportunity to establish new and widened dimensions of human rights within our country," he added.

"It could be—and I hope it will be—one of the most important events in our history, the beginning of the process of reshaping our constitution, and I am very happy indeed that I will be here to take part in that conference."

Seeking unity in the diversity of Canada had become so familiar a goal that its depth of meaning tended to be lost.

"What we are trying to achieve in Canada is a welding together in a new form of human harmony those opposing words, those opposing concepts of diversity and unity.

"To achieve this noble aspiration, we in Canada will have to extend the recognition of human rights far beyond their present limits."

The recent report of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism had pointed the way. Achieving an equal partnership of the two peoples who made Confederation "requires a recognition of rights that goes further than the usual understanding of individual equality."

"It is not enough for members of a minority cultural group to have access to the same activities, institutions and benefits as the members of the majority group. That simple requires an absence of discrimination against individuals as such.

"The unity which we must strive to achieve in Canada requires that a memoer of either of the two cultural and language groups . . . may participate in activities and institutions without having to renounce his own language and other cultural traits.

"He must be, and feel himself to be, a Canadian without having to make any such compromise or renunciation."

This was an ideal situation which could not be achieved easily or quickly. But it was a goal towards which steps must be taken now.

Mohawk Says Few Canadians Know or Understand Indians

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Gilbert C. Monture of Ottawa said Friday that few, if say, Canadians outside those associated with Indian administration know much about Canadian Indians.

"And they seem to care less," added Dr. Monture, a member of the Mohawk tribe, a distinguished mining engineer and a member of the board of governors of Trent University.

Dr. Monture, speaking to the Canadian Club, said he doubts whether today's school history courses picture Indians any differently than they did when he went to school 50 years ago.

"From that course we learned that the Indian people were a barbarous, inhuman group of men, dressed in skins and furs and feathers, who scalped their prisoners and burned them at the stake," said Dr. Monture.

He said all knowledge of Indians is largely confined to the writings of the early explorers and missionaries "who neglected to add that at that period in Europe, the witch tires and the fires of the inquisition burned brightly every day."

"I seriously doubt whether the fires of my people were any hotter or more excruciating than those of the Europeans."

Government policy on Indians has been to force them to forget their racial tradition, submerge their personalities and become not good Indians but poor white men.

Dr. Monture said he remains skeptical of federal government statements that Indians will be given more say over their lands and affairs until it is an accomplished fact.

"I sometimes think that these two dominant attitudes will never be understood by the non-Indian," said Dr. Monture.

But Dr. Monture warned that unless these atiitudes were adopted by all Canadians, ne saw little future for Canada in the next 150 years.

Laval Taxes Tenants

MONTREAL (CP) — A novel three-per-cent "rental tax," described as the first of its kind in Canada, has been imposed on suburban Laval's 18,000 tenants.

In the adoption of a record $29,828,000 budget for 1968, the government of the municipality of 200,000—Quebec's second largest city—also dropped the real estate tax to $1.34 for $100 valuation from $1.39.

Mayor Jacques Tetreault Friday described the rental tax as a municipal services tax, whereby all those who enjoy municipal services will be called upon to share the costs.

The new tax is expected to yield some $780,000, Laval council was told.

Meanwhile, some Laval residents protested the tenant tax.

Steve Bodi, president of the Laval Residents' Association, said the real problem is excessive spending.

"There are no apparent cuts on expenditures" revealed in the city budget, he said. "We feel that the mayor is attempting to put band-aids on the sore but ignoring the cause of the sore, which in the case of Laval is excessive spending."

Ex-Nazi Found Guilty Of Killing Rockwell

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — John Patler, kicked out of the American Nazi party last April, was convicted today of murdering the party's fuehrer, George Lincoln Rockwell.

Patler, 29, will be sentenced Monday. The prosecution had demanded the death penalty.

A jury of 10 men and two women brought in the verdict of first-degree murder as Patler watched ashen-faced. As deputies led him from the Arlington circuit court room he turned to his lawyers and said: "Thanks for a awful lot."

There was no immediate word on whether the conviction would be appealed.

Australian PM Holt Swallowed by Riptide

'Nothing Anyone Could Do'

PORTSEA, Australia (Reuters) — Prime Minister Harold Holt disappeared Sunday after a furiously boiling sea swept him out like a leaf, one of his friends said here today.

"There was nothing anyone could do even if we had lifesavers there," Mrs. Marjorie Gillespie said in a statement.

Mrs. Gillespie, whose husband has a weekend home near the Holts' beach house at this resort south of Melbourne, said the prime minister remarked to his companions, "I think I'll go for a paddle" and plunged into the sea.

There was a high tide with masses of floating wood.

She said: "I just watched for a moment and went up to where our things were and when I looked back I could see he was swimming in swirly sort of water.

"He seemed to be going out very rapidly as if he was still swimming rapidly."

Another member of the party, Alan Stewart, also entered the water "but Harold was getting farther and farther away," she said

"Suddenly I had the most terrible feeling that he was getting into some bother. I could see he was still swimming. Alan said: 'Does he usually stay in this long?'

"I knew it was not all right but there was nothing Alan or anybody could do at this stage because as we watched the waves became violent and boiled up, as it does when the tide is turning.

"It boiled up into a fury and we lost sight of Harold. I knew then there was nothing any one could do even if we had life savers there.

"It was like a leaf being taken out. So quick and final."

Deputy Named New Premier

MELBOURNE (CP) — Deputy Prime Minister John McEwen tonight was asked to assume the premiership following the presumed death Sunday of Prime Minister Harold Holt while swimming.

Governor-General Lord Casey asked McEwen to take over the office. The appointment was expected to be only temporary as McEwen is the leader of the coalition government's minority partner, the Country party.

In these circumstances, he had consulted his ministers and it was their opinion that it was necessary to appoint a successor, he said.

McEwen, 67, will be sworn in Tuesday, Lord Casey said.

The governor-general also announced that a memorial service for Holt would be held in St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, at noon Friday.

There was speculation here tonight that President Johnson would make every effort to be at the memorial service, but Lord Casey made no mention of this.

There was almost no hope that Holt could have survived the ripsides that swallowed him up. The tides off Portsea, 37 miles south of Melbourne, have claimed three other swimmers in the last 10 years without holding their bodies.

The appointment of McEwen as premier was expected to be only temporary because the major coalition partner, the Liberal party, was expected to appoint a new leader shortly to fill the premiership.

But observers in Canberra believed his election would drive the Country party out of the coalition because he and McEwen disagree on a number of key issues.

Holt, 59, was an excellent swimmer and skin-diver. He was wearing swim trunks and beach shoes as he walked from his maroon Pontiac to his favorite "rock plunge" at noon Sunday. An old friend, Alan Stewart, walked out into the surf a good distance behind Holt and watched him dive and disappear beneath the waves.

Arms Ban Continues

LONDON (AP) — The British government decided today to maintain its ban on the sale of arms to South Africa after a two-hour cabinet meeting.

Prime Minister Wilson will announce the decision in the House of Commons later today.

"Is Pearson with us or at?"

Ottawa Chosen Liberals Meet April 4 to 6

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party will hold its television spectacular to replace Prime Minister Pearson April 4-6 in the capital's newly-built midtown civic centre.

In the final stages of construction, $8,900,000 steel, glass and concrete structure should be finished two months before the start of the leadership convention.

The centre, which includes a 9,300-seat hockey rink, is part of the Lansdowne Park stadium, home of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League.

The Liberal federation's national executive set the date and site at a Sunday meeting here at the party's national headquarters. Calgary and Montreal bids for the big political show were rejected.

Senator John Nlesl, federation president, said later the overriding factor favoring Ottawa was that it had the Parliament Buildings. Members of Parliament need to be available for Commons duty.

He said the timing of the convention was partly affected by the fear of competing for the television audience with the Stanley Cup hockey play-offs. It was thought the early April date would predate the play-offs.

Neither would the chosen date conflict with university exams, which would start later in the month.

It was clear televisiou loomed large in the deliberations. One party official said the publicly-owned CBC plans equal or better coverage than for the Conservative leadership convention in September. In that one, massive live coverage pre-empted much other program time.

The executive made no decision on a cut-off date for leadership nominations. But Senator Nichol, the meeting chairman, said there is a good case for having the deadline during the convention.

Ford Using Baboons In Tests

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., despite a brewing controversy, will continue to sponsor tests using baboons as crash victims in experiments with new safety devices to cushion impact, a company spokesman said Sunday.

None of the tests, however, is conducted by Ford on Ford testing facilities, he added.

Tests have been conducted on nine baboons seated on impact sleds. It was discovered impact bars allowed the baboons to survive in 64-mile-an-hour crashes while baboons wearing seat belt restraints were killed in crashes at far lower speeds.

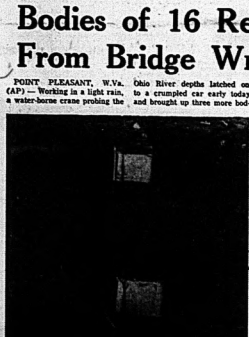
Bodies of 16 Retrieved From Bridge Wreckage

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — Working in a light rain, a water-borne crane probing the Ohio River depths latched on to a crumpled car early today and brought up three more bodies in the grim search for victims of Friday's bridge collapse.

They brought to 16 the number of known dead. There were 11 persons still reported missing.

The car was one of scores of vehicles that tumbled off the bridge when the suspension span collapsed into the swift-flowing river.



The bodies of two adults and a child pried out of the car's twisted metal remains were taken to a temporary morgue in a state armory.

They were not immediately identified.

Sifting on a barge in the river, the crane also pulled up on huge chunk of the bridge superstructure this morning. It was placed on the barge. It was believed that superstructure pieces were being hauled up in an effort to reach vehicles trapped under the debris.

The 1,500-foot-wide section of the river between Ohio and West Virginia yielded eight bodies from four cars and a truck when the derricks pulled them out Sunday. The other five bodies were recovered Friday, a few hours after the suspension bridge collapsed under the weight of rush hour and Christmas shopper's traffic.

Forecast of more than one inch of rain for the Point Pleasant area brought with it the fear that the river's level would rise and increase its current.

'Tis A Week Before Christmas And Yule Spirit Comes Late

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A week before Christmas and Canadians are just beginning to be caught up by the spirit of Christmas.

The average Canadians either obtained their Christmas tree during the weekend or will be getting it this week. If they live in a metropolitan area, they will pay between $1.50 and $8 at a corner lot.

Maritimers and British Columbians are likely to cut their own while people on the Prairies will discard their native species for one grown in either Ontario or B.C.

Canadians will travel more during Christmas and, if they are among the growing numbers heading south of the border, they are likely departing this week and will return the first week in January.

The weather in almost all of Canada has been relatively mild so far this year and in most areas there is little snow on the ground.

Thousands of Navajo Indians Marooned in Snow

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — The Navajo tribe, rocked by the worst winter storm in memory of old-timers, hoped for a break in the weather to reach thousands of persons marooned by snow up to four feet deep.

"The situation is pretty terrible," said Frank Chambers, Navajo tribal police assistant superintendent.

Officials of the bureau of Indian affairs estimated that Navajos are in varying degrees of distress from the storm that struck the reservation last Tuesday night.

Air force cargo planes and helicopters were prepared to drop food, shelter, clothes and medical supplies for the Indians. Doctors were to accompany the helicopters.

"We pray for no more snow," said the tribal police superintendent, V. Allen Adams. "The one thing we don't need is more snow. The old-timers say they have never seen anything like it."

At least one person is dead from the storm, a 60-year-old crippled shepherd found frozen to death near his flock. There were unconfirmed reports of five other deaths.

At Rough Rock a family of five, including three children, were extremely ill from exposure, police said.

Adams estimated 18,000 to 18,000 square miles of the 25,000-square-mile reservation, largest in the United States, was affected by the storm.

There were reports 150 to 200 persons might be marooned in the Pinon, Ariz., area in the northeast section of the reservation. A helicopter reported seeing mirrors on the ground in the region, signalling for assistance.

The sheep herder's death was one of several caused by the massive storm in the southwest during the weekend. Three soldiers died when a chartered bus carrying servicemen home on Christmas leave overturned on an icy highway east of El Paso, Tex.

The snow followed a weekend sleet storm that snapped power lines and trees and disrupted traffic in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

High winds in the area and in neighboring states swirled the snow across fields and highways, cutting visibility for motorists.

Iced Fish

For some one like 15-year-old Doug Rushlow, ice fishing is a simple matter. You just walk down to Belleville harbor on Sundays, break a small hole in the ice and drop a line. Within minutes the perch are pecking. But fishing wasn't the only activity in the harbor yesterday. See Page 3.

Entered by the Trenton Kiwanis Club "The Old Woman In The Shoe" was one of the most popular of the variety of items in the giant parade.

Great Reception Given Santa

TRENTON — The people of Trenton, the downtown merchants in particular, are still talking about the great reception given Santa Claus here on Saturday.

One community spirited citizen who has been involved in Santa's annual visit for 15 years said the public turnout was by far the largest and most exuberant ever.

In one place on Dundas street west of the old post office, the crowd jammed twelve deep to watch the colorful, orderly procession. All along the route from the Community Garden to St. Peter's school as many adults as children craned their necks showing appreciation. They either gave out with rounds of hand clapping or some vocal approval as each of the 30 entries passed their vantage point.

Parade judges mentioned three floats as outstanding efforts. In order of recognition they were: Girl Guide's Camp Fire by Trenton's 16th group; Mammoth Goose by the Trenton Rotary Club, and Sing a Song of Sixpence by the Trenton Public Works Department.

Honorable mention went to the Trenton Kiwanis Club for Old Lady in the Shoe float and Aircraft Maintenance Development Unit, CFB, Trenton for Snoopy and the Red Baron.

The parade judges were Mrs. Eileen Forchuk, Air Vice Marshal Chester Hull, Air Officer Commanding Transport Command and Group Captain A. J. Pudney, Commanding Officer Aircraft Maintenance Development Unit, Trenton.

Completion Date for New Wing Of Hospital Will Be Met

With finish details "coming along nicely", members of the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors are now quite confident that the April 30 completion date for the new eight million dollar hospital wing will be met.

However, "moving day" for the hospital is not expected to be until some time in June.

Hospital Administrator Philip Rickard said that before the move could be made into the new building staff would have to be trained and new supply techniques would have to be worked out.

The hospital laboratory department has been operating in the new wing for several months. The early move of the "lab" was necessary to allow for completion of the existing laboratory at the west end of the new structure so that construction details on the new building could be completed.

Hospital chairman Harleigh Hamilton said today that as parts of the new hospital are being completed, furniture is being moved in.

"We have some of the new pact already furnished," Mr. Hamilton said.

And scotching street rumors that the new hospital addition was costing considerably more than the contract price, Mr. Hamilton said the over-run to date amounts to only between $5,000 and $6,000.

"I feel that is not bad on a contract of several million dollars," he said.

MRS. ARTHUR DUNN
(Bowmanville)

Following a sickness of six months' duration the death occurred Dec. 7, at the Bowmanville Memorial Hospital, of Mrs. Arthur Dunn, 142 Third Street, Bowmanville. She was in her 74th year.

The former Christina Wilson, the deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson. Born at West Huntingdon, Hastings County, she was married in Oshawa in 1929, where she had lived for a number of years.

A resident of Bowmanville for 20 years, Mrs. Dunn had previously farmed with her husband in Hope Township for 17 years. She was a member of Trinity United Church and an active member of the United Church Women and the Friendship Club of the church. She was also a member of the Bowmanville Women's Institute and of the Senior Citizens' Club.

Predeceased by her husband in September, 1954, Mrs. Dunn is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jack King (Eleanor) of California; two sons, Calvin of Toronto and Murray of Bowmanville and six grandchildren. Also surviving are a sister Mrs. Frank (Mabel) Vice of Oshawa and a brother, Lorne Wilson of Belleville.

She was predeceased by two sisters, Mrs. Melville Reid (Lillian) and Mrs. Arthur Langdon (Stella) and a brother, Foster Wilson.

The funeral service was held at the Martin Funeral Chapel, Bowmanville, at 1.30 p.m. Dec. 9. Interment was in Welcome Cemetery. Rev. George Ward, minister of Trinity Church, conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Roswell Reid, Glen Wilson, Wilfred Langdon, James Reynolds, Ernest Bradley and I. G. Secord Smith.

Ore Shipping For Season Concluded

The stock pile was cleared away last weekend when the motor vessel "Wallenboat" picked up 26,334 tons for the Lackawanna mills in Buffalo.

The mine at Marmora continues to operate and pellets are brought to Picton where they are piled through winter months to await spring shipping. Carl Johnson, manager of the docks here, said: "We have shipped more than a half million tons of ore pellets this year. Although this is considered average we are pleased to reach our objective in spite of the delay in shipments due to the strike on lake freighters."

IN MEMORIAM

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear father, Charles Wilson, who passed away December 18th, 1962.

Sadly missed by daughter, Christina Wilson.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles Wilson, who passed away December 18th, 1962.

What we would give if we could

Hello, Dad, in the same old way.
Tea, Toast and Jam.

To sit with you and chat awhile,
To see you when I pass,
Cherish him with care,
For I am the nearest to the heart-

Tell you are his vacant chair.
—Sadly missed and remembered always by daughter Shirley, son-in-law Earl and family.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Mr. Ernest Wilson, who passed away, Dec. 18, 1957.

Only a memory we treasure,
Dear Heaven is richer,
God must have a beautiful garden,
As he's taking flowers there.
—Sadly missed by daughter, Beatrice, son-in-law Art and children.

WILSON — In loving memory of our dear father, Charles Ernest Wilson, who passed away December 18th, 1962.

No one knows the sad heartburns,
But those who have lost,
And think of you every good,
But none replaces you.
We miss you, dear Dad,
When we are all alone,
We miss you in every room.
The only we called our own.
—Sadly missed by daughter Helen and family.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles Wilson, who passed away December 18, 1962.

A sweet memory, December 18, 1962.
A beautiful gift from God,
To each of us he did his best,
To make our home blest.
He loved us dearly and always will.
Only God knows how lucky and grateful
—Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

Family Fun On a Frozen Harbor – But Mild Weather May End It All

Extra Contribution

Substantial Donation Made to Christmas Exchange

The hand of brotherhood was extended about as far as it can go yesterday in Belleville.

In a spontaneous gesture during their Chanukah service, members of the Sons of Jacob Synogogue here made a substantial donation to the Christmas Exchange. The money will be used to provide Christmas dinners and toys for families who would otherwise go without.

The ecumenical bridgehead was sparked by the Chanukah tradition of gift giving. The Jewish Festival of the Lights, to be observed Dec. 26 this year, is annually marked at the Sons of Jacob Synogogue with a candle-lighting ceremony and children's entertainment on the Sunday closest to the date.

It was during the family-centred Jewish observance that the decision was made to help less-fortunate Christian families enjoy their seasonal celebrations.

Sunday's contribution was in addition to an earlier cash donation given by the Sons of Jacob Ladies Auxiliary.

The list of families awaiting help was whittled down further Saturday by students at Quinte Secondary School.

amount raised during a blitz collection at the school Friday.

"A total of 402 families registered with us for hampers," Mrs. Selma Bochnek, exchange director, said today. "Seventy-five names remain, and I am determined to find donors to match every one of those families by the end of the week."

"An astonishing 27 percent duplication of aid turned up through registration. I think we have justified our original purpose, elimination of duplication, and at the same time have extended the available help to cover more families."

The Christmas Exchange is a central clearing house which matches donors with those needing help at Christmas. Anyone wishing to help can obtain the name of a family and a list of suggested groceries by telephoning 962-8097. Cost ranges from $10 for a family of four to $20 for a family of eight. The donor personally packs and delivers the hamper. Cash donations are passed along to assisting social agencies or distributed as food vouchers.

Beginning tonight, an emergency service will go into operation. Telephone Answering Service at 962-8097 will take calls offering assistance after 5 p.m. The service will also operate Dec. 23, 24 and 25, to make sure no assistance is overlooked and no needy family neglected.

Mrs. Bochnek, a member of the Jewish faith, does not ordinarily observe Christmas. This year, however, will be different. She will climax her six-week effort to ensure Christmas cheer for everyone in Belleville who needs a boost at the holiday season by wailing by her telephone to take emergency calls. By that time she hopes to have provided for the remaining 75 families on her list and have enough resources left to cope with a last-minute plea.

Check Parcels for Infected Meat

The current epidemic of foot and mouth disease in England which has resulted in thousands of head of cattle being destroyed in that country, is resulting in extra work for the health of animals branch at Belleville.

The extra work is of a strictly precautionary nature and involves the checking of hundreds of parcels which each week arrive at the local post office from the United Kingdom.

The parcel inspections are made on the possibility that the parcels may contain infected meat which could spread the disease into this country.

"We are doing everything we can to guard against that possibility," district veterinarian Dr. J. F. McCorquodale said today.

Most is not supposed to be shipped in parcel post packages, but Dr. McCorquodale says it does happen.

When meat is found the owner is given the option of returning the parcel or having the meat destroyed.

Dr. McCorquodale said the flood of parcels from the United Kingdom is now beginning to taper off, but in dale said today.

By process of elimination and so on, it is not necessary to check all parcels, but if there is any doubt the inspection is made.

"We just cannot take any chances," the health of animals branch officer said.

Museum Curator Honored

A large crowd gathered at Hastings County Museum Sunday afternoon to say good-bye to Mrs. J. W. Sargent, museum curator since opening day in 1961.

Mrs. Sargent, who is moving to Ottawa Jan. 1, was guest of honor at the historical society's annual Christmas open house.

In presenting Mrs. Sargent with gifts on behalf of the Society, the president, Edward J. Buckley, said: "Mrs. Sargent was not merely the curator; she and one or two others were 90 per cent responsible for the smooth functioning of the museum."

During a brief business meeting money was voted to buy display cases of 1908 vintage, formerly the property of a Front street merchant. The cases, of both practical and historical value, will be restored by Ross Irvin, a society member, who has volunteered his services.

The Society also decided to recommend to the Ontario government its position and support of restoration of the mill at L'Amable on the old Hastings Road.

As a tribute to the departing curator, Gerald E. Boyce, a past president, displayed some of museum activities and exhibits over the years.

At an executive meeting later, Mrs. Ralph Plumpton, author of The Rambling River, a history of Thurlow Township, was appointed curator to succeed Mrs. Sargent. She will assume her duties in January.

Two Ottawa Men Arrested After Police Enter Building

Two Ottawa men have been charged with breaking and entering and intent to commit robbery, a police spokesman said today.

According to the spokesman on the Belleville Police Department, a constable was checking properties when he found a door, apparently pried open.

With assistance from another officer, he entered the building, Bellevue Glass, on Pinnacle street. Two men were found working on the safe which was lying on its back.

Safe-cracking tools and one-half of a two-way radio were found in the possession of the two men.

Police suspect a third man was involved, the other half of the radio communication. They are presently searching for him.

Damage to Bellevue Glass was minor. The two Ottawa men were arrested Saturday about 9:00 p.m.

A few hours later about 12:30 a.m. a Rochester man, Richard Joseph Salvato, 18, was arrested and charged with possession of an offensive weapon, a CO2 pellet gun.

Indians and Christmas

At a time when people at large are engaged in a frenzied round of the stores, we are reminded in an oblique way of our Indian friends who have inhabited this continent for so long yet still do not have the freedom or stature or equality of opportunity enjoyed by Canadians as a whole.

The reminder comes from Dr. Gilbert Monture, a Mohawk and a distinguished mining-engineer and consultant. The nomadic life of the early Indians and the need to move from place to place, he said in a recent Ottawa interview, left Indians with a complete lack of acquisitiveness so important to non-Indians. Indians also inherited a tradition of sharing their goods with others less fortunate — as a good hunter shared the day's catch.

Generalities of course are not entirely unfamiliar with such characteristics. There is the United Appeal and an ever-increasing number of government social services which cater to people in various categories of need. The difference is that these are administered on an official administrative level rather than on a person-to-person family basis as the Indian of earlier times was accustomed.

Yet, what is done is done. Time white man long since has become the dominating force in the affairs of this continent, as he has in the world at large. For better or worse, society is motivated by materialism and the profit motive as well as cultural forces and an assortment of religious faiths. These to a large extent have left the Indian by the wayside, disturbed not only by the loss of his own identity but by the vast and largely uncaring society all around him.

In such a situation the future of the Indian is largely in his own hands. For the majority progress in the white man's world is a long and slow process of evolution, played out for the most part in the circumscribed and unproductive life of the reserve. For the individual Indian of ability, determination and courage, allied with modern educational facilities and racial harmony, the future nevertheless can be bright.

Family Planning

Dr. William B. Shockley's radical birth control plan — outlined in a Hamilton address the other day — which would result in babies being born only to parents who would want and could afford them is certain to arouse controversy.

The 1956 Nobel prizewinner in physics has devised a complex plan involving computation of population trends, control by a census bureau of the number of children a woman can bear, temporary sterilization and other items too involved to go into here.

Dr. Shockley seems to anticipate a strong reaction, for in his address in Hamilton he said: "After you have recovered from any emotion — provoking jar from this unfamiliar combination of words, do apply your brain to the time-capsule deci-child certificate proposal.

"What would be its consequence? Only people who want and can afford children will have them."

The deci-child certificate precept has to do with Dr. Stockley's population control theories. It all sounds like a chapter from George Orwell's book 1984.

Limiting of population is certainly necessary, but we hope the day is not coming when such a dramatic experience as childbirth is removed from the area of private decision among families and placed in the hands of bureaucrats.

Better perhaps that Dr. Stockley should stick to physics and leave the problems of eugenics alone. Meanwhile, contemporary family planning methods should be pursued while still leaving the decision making to the private citizen.

Integrated Classes

It is encouraging to learn of the success thus far of sending youngsters from the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve to Harry J. Clarke public school in Belleville.

Overcrowding in reserve schools led to the experiment and the young people are reported to be getting along very well. Fifty-one come in from the reserve by bus each day, with 34 attending grade 7 classes and 17 grade 8.

Not only are the Indian children settling down satisfactorily among the general student body, they are also benefitting from academic facilities unavailable in the reserve schools.

Principal M. M. Hackett of Harry J. Clarke suggests it may be early yet to judge, "but they are certainly fitting into our pattern of work." This in itself augurs well for the future of an educational system that will see greater acceptance of the principle of integration.

U.S. Assurances on Gold Price Fail to Halt Frantic Buying

LONDON (AP) — Renewed U.S. assurances on holding the price of gold at $35 an ounce failed to halt the gold rush in Europe—and the drain on the U.S. gold stock pile—when markets opened today.

Gold demand was heavy in the main European market in London. Dealers described it as "very large," although not as heavy as the demand for 36 tons at the opening of the market Friday. This would still be far above the normal demand on London of about five to 10 tons a day.

In Zurich, where banks funnel most of the buying orders to London, demand was steady. Bankers said the pressure was slightly weaker after the weekend joint announcement by the U.S. treasury and Federal Reserve Bank.

For the sixth time since the British pound was devalued a month ago, the United States during the weekend announced it would not raise the selling price of gold above $35 an ounce. It added that the operations of the London gold market would continue unchanged, despite widespread rumors that some form of restriction was being worked out to keep gold from filtering out of U.S. and European official reserves into the hands of private speculators.

The statement also may have taken some pressure off the Paris gold market. Six tons of gold were traded in Paris. This was about half of Friday's level, but still well above the normal turnover of only half a ton.

In Paris and Frankfurt, pressure came off the dollar and it steadied in currency markets.

U. S. officials had been hoping the weekend reaffirmation would calm the markets by frightening off speculators who are gambling on profiting by a rise in the price of gold. At the start of the week's business, the statement appeared to have had little effect.

One source in London said the dealers may have been reassured, but the buyers themselves were not — and they seemed to be in command of the market.

European financial opinion was hardening in favor of clear and determined action by the U.S. to reduce its balance - of-payments deficit. This is seen by European bankers and financial commentators as the key to waning confidence in the dollar. Because of the steady outflow of dollars in the last decade, foreigners now hold enough American currency to clean out the reserves at Fort Knox, Ky., in the unlikely event that they were to all demand gold in their dollars at the same time.

But no matter how unlikely this seems, gold speculators fear that U.S. reserves may soon be unable to bear the strain.

Gold holders had expected a weekend statement that the United States and European countries had agreed on firm methods to curb supplies through the seven - nation gold pool in London and stop speculation. When this did not come, it seemed that the United States was trying to reach such an agreement and had not succeeded. This simply confirmed fears that the gold rush was still on and could eventually force a rise in the price of gold.

During the last month, more than $1,000,000,000 worth of gold is believed to have been drained out of the reserves of the gold pool operating through London. The U.S. is committed to supply about 50 per cent of the pools requirements, or more than $600,000,000 worth in the current gold rush. The other pool members are Britain, The Netherlands, West Germany, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland.

Firmer Action Needed

LONDON (AP) — Financial experts in London are looking to the United States for measures to halt panic buying of gold, which is expected here to continue.

They say firmer action is needed than the Saturday statement by the U.S. treasury and Federal Reserve Board reaffirming American determination to maintain the present parity of gold at $35 a fine ounce. Swiss Bankers in Zurich welcomed the announcement, however.

Authoritative estimates put the amount of the metal that has moved out since then through the international gold pool in London at more than 1,000 tons, worth about $1,100,000,000 U.S.

Nearly 60 per cent of that gold came from the United States.

The experts explained the gold rush as a coincidence of widespread loss of faith in paper money as a result of the pound's devaluation, inflation in much of the world, and a broad belief held by international speculators that the price of gold must rise.

Canada Co-operates

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada moved Saturday to try and dampen speculation on the gold market.

A statement issued by Louis Rasminsky, governor of the central bank, called on Canadian banks and other financial institutions "to refrain from extending credit on gold, or on other security for the purchase of gold."

The statement said the bank "as a measure of international monetary co-operation" was requesting Canadian financial intermediaries not to facilitate forward purchases of gold.

The move by the Bank of Canada coincided with similar action in the United States and several European countries.

In the Commons Friday Finance Minister Sharp said Canada is not a member of the world gold pool, but is kept informed of decisions because the result is so important to Canada.

Gold shares rose to their highest in 30 years on the Toronto stock market Friday.

Provincial Police Constable Has to Take Anti-rabies Shot

A Belleville provincial police constable has been ordered to undergo the painful process of anti-rabies vaccination.

Const. Garnett Brown cut his finger on a cardboard barrel containing the carcasses of a fox and dog feared infected with the disease.

Police said he hit the cut with a jar of rum at R.R. 5 Trenton Friday night. Fearing rabies, the owner took both animals then requested the OPP at Belleville to deliver them to the federal veterinary service in the city.

The officer cut his finger while hoisting the barrel and was ordered by his family physician to take the necessary precautions.

This means 14 successive injections of anti rabies serum.

Dr. J. F. McCorquodale, district federal veterinarian, said his department usually picks up the carcasses of any animals feared rabid, although provincial police also are called at times.

After the accident involving Const. Brown, OPP sources today indicated future reluctance to deliver any animal carcasses for rabies testing.

Dr. McCorquodale said today that the incidence of rabies this year in Hastings county has been the highest in many years.

"There has been a high percentage of rabies all year, although not nearly as serious as the epidemic which swept through the area in the late 1950's" he said.

The rabies generally has been found south of No. 7 highway, although a few cases have also been reported in the north part of the county.

Foxes and skunks are generally the type of wild animals infected, but cattle, horses, pigs, dogs and cats have also been found to have rabies.

First Vehicle Produced at New Ford Plant

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP) — Ford's $65,000,000 assembly plant near here is scheduled to turn out its first automobile today.

Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. employs about 1,500 in the plant, which is expected to produce 64,000 cars in its first year of operation.

The company says the 35-acre building, a 712-acre site on Highway 4 about four miles northeast of here, is the most modern in the world.

The St. Thomas Times-Journal bought the first car, a Falcon station wagon. Seven Falcon models, including two-door sedans, four-door sedans and station wagons are being built at the plant.

Included in equipment not found in other automotive assembly plants is a 120-foot-high selectivity tower, which stores up the 40 partially-assembled cars until they are needed on the final assembly line.

Talks Between King and Junta Are Deadlocked

ATHENS (CP) — Negotiations between the Greek military junta and King Constantine over his return to the throne appeared deadlocked today after the Greek cabinet discussed the king's terms. There was no indication the military regime would accept them.

Informants said the 27-year-old king, who fled to Rome Thursday after unsuccessfully trying to start a counter-coup against the junta, demanded immediate free elections and a halt to revision of the constitution.

The military dictators want the king back to give them a facade of legitimacy. But their terms included continued exile from Constantine's mother, Queen Frederika, and puppet status for the king.

Greek Foreign Minister Panagiotis Pipinelis and the Orthodox primate Archbishop Jeronymous, conferred with Constantine at the Greek Embassy in Rome Saturday, and Pipinelis reported to Premier George Papadopoulos, the regime's strongest. Informed sources said the proposed document would pass immediately on his return.

Reuters news agency said the Greek military leaders were believed to be considering a second peace mission in two Constantine back from Rome.

Reliable sources said today the regime has retired five army generals, including the former defence minister, Gen. Gregory Spantidakis, and several other top officers accused of conspiring with the king. It was the second major purge in the armed forces since the April 21 coup in which a group of colonels overthrew the parliamentary government.

There has been speculation that the new constitution being prepared by the regime played a part in the king's coup attempt. Informed sources said the proposed document would ban Communists and political parties.

The cabinet also discussed the throne for an interim period to strip the king of his power to appoint premiers and ministers and strengthen the executive branch of government over the legislature.

The regime has said repeatedly it would restore democracy after a plebiscite on the new constitution. The 30-man committee of legal experts preparing the document has said it should be ready within a week, but no date has been set for elections.

Queen Frederika, a native of Germany, has been an issue in Greek politics for years. She was accused of exerting too much influence on her husband, the late King Paul and since his death her critics have charged that she is the power behind Constantine.

There was some talk that Princess Irene, the king's 25-year-old sister, might be put on as a compromise. But this sounded like a junta idea to which the royal family would never agree.

An Italian student who identified himself as secretary of the Young Socialist League was fined Sunday night for littering after he spread leaflets in front of the Greek embassy. The said:

The junta faced new quarrels with Turkey. Turkish Foreign Minister Ihsan Sabri Caglayangil accused the Greek regime of "threatening the existence of the Turkish minority of Greek Thrace" on Turkey's western frontier. He warned that if measures to "oppress and subdue" the Turkish minority were not stopped, Turkey might take retaliatory measures.

Top Officers Retired

ATHENS (CP) — The Greek military regime has retired five army generals and several other top officers alleged to have conspired with King Constantine to overthrow the ruling junta, reliable sources disclosed today.

The list included two chiefs of staff, four vice-admirals and one air marshal.

Spantidakis, who had left Greece to attend the NATO ministerial conference in Brussels a few days before the coup, was in Rome with the king.

Gen. George Grivas, former commander of the Cyprus armed forces, who was recalled to Greece, appeared not to have been affected by the purge so far.

Dimitrios Costakos was named new air force chief of staff with the rank of air marshal. Stavros Pervenas was appointed head of the navy with the rank of vice-admiral.

The decree also retired Admiral Spyridon Avghers, former chief of the national defence general staff, but no replacement was announced.

BC, Alaska at Odds

SEATTLE (AP) — Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska says relations between his state and the province of British Columbia are at an all-time low following a battle over ferry service along the West Coast.

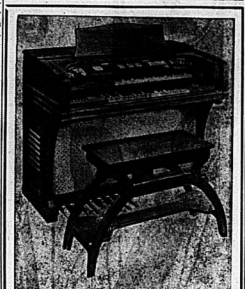
The governor made the comment in an interview Saturday during pre-sailing ceremonies for the return voyage to Ketchikan of the Alaska ferry Matanuska.

Alaska launched its own ferry service between Ketchikan and the U.S. mainland last week following Premier W. A. C. Bennett's announcement that B.C. won't resume its Vancouver-Island-Prince Rupert run until the spring.

Previously, Alaska ferries depended on the B.C. link for water transport north to Prince Rupert, where its state ferries picked up shipments and travellers bound for the northern state.

The B.C. ferry Queen of Prince Rupert went out of service on the Kelsey Bay-Prince Rupert run last August for repairs after running aground.

"Bennett didn't even answer my telegrams when I asked about resumption of the Kelsey Bay run," Gov. Hickel said.



"He answered me in the newspapers—nobody does this to me," he said. "The only communication I've got from Premier Bennett was a Christmas card."

Gov. Hickel said the new service his state is operating is already a financial success and "will more than pay for itself."

He said he is seeking funds from the U.S. government to build additional ferries so the state can keep the Ketchikan-Seattle run going this summer—after the Queen of Prince Rupert returns to regular service.

New Aussie PM Is Trade Expert

CANBERRA (Reuters) — John McEwen, immediate successor to Prime Minister Harold Holt who is feared to have drowned Sunday, is an expert at overseas bargaining and the architect of many of Australia's trade treaties.

McEwen, who has been deputy prime minister for nearly 10 years and has spent 30 years in government, is a 67-year-old Victoria state farmer nicknamed Black Jack because of his dark eyebrows and a mass of black hair.

Self-educated—he left school at 13—McEwen, as trade and industry minister, greatly influenced the cabinet's economic thinking.

He is leader of the minority Country party in the federal coalition and it is in the sphere of internal economics that its critics in the Labor opposition attack him most.

The foreign policy of the Country party is virtually identical to that of the government.

His creation of protective tariffs and subsidies for both primary and developing secondary industry have brought him under attack by elements of the coalition's majority Liberal party.

He has led his party in the federal parliament since 1958 after 15 years as deputy party leader.

McEwen was a Second World War member of the Australian War Advisory Council. He was external affairs minister in 1940 and interior minister for two years before the war.

Born March 29, 1900, McEwen served with the Australian infantry in the First World War. He entered the Australian political scene in 1934 when he was elected to the House of Representatives.

It was McEwen who strenuously expressed Australian objections when Britain made its first application to join the European Common Market.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG—Miss Dianne Canning, Tweed, showed colored slides of her trip to the United Nations at the meeting of Thomasburg IOOF Lodge Friday night. Miss Canning's trip was sponsored by the IOOF and Rebekah Lodges.

Members' wives were present for the program which featured duets by Miss Lois Morton and Miss Merle Morton, a reading by Mrs. Lillian McTaggart and instrumental selections by Mrs. Douglas Farrell.

Crescent Rebekah Lodge celebrated its 56th birthday at a party Monday. Joyce Fisher gave a history of the Lodge and Isobel Martin showed slides of the local centennial parade and celebration. Irene Coulter, a charter member was presented with a bouquet of mums and husbands of members joined their wives for refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, Belleville, formerly of Thomasburg, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Dec. 17.

Father Tries in Vain to Save Two Sons From Pack of Dogs

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A pack of German shepherd dogs attacked and killed two small boys Sunday while their father fought in vain to save them by clubbing the animals with a rake.

The attack, near a creek behind the victims' home in nearby Madison Heights, included two neighborhood dogs the boys apparently had played with before.

The victims were Gene Anthony Goodman, 4, and Kenneth Goodman, 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Goodman of Madison Heights.

Goodman and his wife are in Lynchburg General Hospital where they are being treated for shock.

Sheriff-elect Mahlon H. Bryant said Goodman, sobbing, told him that when he reached the snarling pack he beat at the frenzied animals with a rake, his shoes and anything else he could find to turn them away from his bloodied sons.

Two of the dogs were impounded by local authorities. A third was shot to death. Police were looking for a fourth dog but said there may have been only three in the attack.

Bryant said Mrs. Goodman was inside her home at about 1.30 p.m. with her other child, Cindy, 1, when she heard screams from the creek. She called to her husband then ran to a neighbor's house for help.

"I was lying in bed when she knocked on the door," said Morton P. Scott. "My wife let her in and she was crying said some dogs had her boys down by the creek.

"My daughter's a nurse and helped her back up to the house. I ran on over the hill and met Goodman coming up the hill all dazed. He was carrying one poor bloody little body and he said the dogs had the other boy down by the creek.

"I went down there and saw some dogs but I never did find the other boy."

Rescuers found the body later, Scott said, about 300 yards from the scene of the attack.

Bryant said the dogs that were impounded belong to Ernest Floyd, a Lynchburg man who owns property adjoining the Goodman land. The scene of the attack was approximately on the property line.

He said Floyd usually kept the dogs penned up but had let them run loose Sunday as he used occasionally in the past. Floyd also had given the Goodman children permission to play on his land and to play with the dogs, which they had many times before, Bryant said.

Washkansky Ill But Not Seriously

CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — Louis Washkansky, the world's first heart transplant patient, continues to make satisfactory progress from his attack of pneumonia, a spokesman at the Groote Schuur Hospital said today.

He added there were no signs that Washkansky's body has rejected the heart of a 25-year-old woman given to him two weeks ago, he added.

But despite the announcement of satisfactory progress, Dr. Chris Barnard, leader of the team which performed the heart transplant operation, has cancelled his visit to the United States this week to appear on a television program.

When he said this last week he added the proviso that he would only go if the condition of Washkansky, a 55-year-old grocer, permitted it.

At that time, Washkansky was progressing well, without any signs of rejection of the heart and with no complications.

But since then he has suffered mild pneumonia.

Tweed

TWEED—At the recent card party at St. Carthagh's Hall, sponsored by the CWL, prize winners were Mrs. Bernard Whalen, Vimont Cassidy, Mrs. Hyman Champagne, Mrs. Oscar Thurston and Lillie Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Lippa, Montreal, have moved into the home bought from Norris Burgess of Denbigh.

Unit one of the United Church Women of Arden held their Christmas tea and sale recently in the social room of the United Church.

The annual Christmas parade in Kaladar was well attended. It began at the Community Hall and proceeded to Hughes' Motel, then to the school yard where Santa Claus gave out treats to the children. Prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benns for Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Tryon for Cinderella, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Parks for a covered wagon. The event was sponsored by the Kaladar Community Club.

Seventeen men and women participated in the Christopher course which began in September in Tweed.

Tornado Injures 40

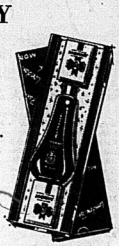
HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A tornado struck this northeast Alabama city early today, causing heavy damage and injuring an estimated 30 to 40 persons, the weather bureau said.



Officials said a number of the injured were believed to be in critical condition.

The tornado hit the city's south side shortly after 3:30 a.m., then skipped to the east, touched ground again briefly and whipped through a camp of house trailers, overturning a number of the mobile homes.

Some persons were reported missing in the trailer camp area, the weather bureau said.

Junior Horticulturists Visit Hastings Manor

Three months of planning was climaxed by a Christmas visit by members of the Belleville Junior Horticultural Society to Hastings County Manor.

Members sang Christmas carols in the corridors and presented 45 table centrepieces to Mrs. Kay Yorke. The centrepieces will be used on the dining room tables at the Manor.

The group returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gardiner for a Christmas party. Those taking part in the program were: Chris Bannon, tap dance; Joyce and Jill Gardiner, clarinet and piano duet; Valerie Watson, acrobatics; David Edwards, guitar solo; Cindy Ross, Janet Graham and Sherri Carr, vocal trio; Heather Patterson, tap dance; Janet, David and Mary Pope, violin trio; Cathy Smith, piano solo; Rhonda and Margot Chapman, Joanne and Jennifer Thompson, vocal quartet.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

16th BROWNIES

The 16th Belleville Brownie Pack which meets at Bayview School has concluded an active fall season.

The first fly-up service took pauy, St. Columba Church, place at 9th Girl Guide Company. Wings were presented to Cathy Graham, Patti Thompson, Dianna Tiernan and Christine Walton. Janis Pescod walked up to Guides. Each departing Brownie was presented with a Guide badge scarf from the pack.

The second fly-up took place at 13th Guide Company at Harry J. Clarke School. Lou Anne DeLong was presented with wings and Dudan Doherty walked up. They also received scarves.

The Pack donated $12 worth of merchandise to the Ontario Mental Health Association as a Christmas good turn. The Brownies also collected toys to be repaired by the Firemen.

At the final meeting of the season the Brownies made felt cake plate covers for their mothers and held a Christmas party.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Campbell, Belleville announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Marilyn Violet to Joseph Jack Theriault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Theriault, Belleville. Marriage will take place on Saturday, January 20, at 11 a.m., in St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Belleville.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, 155 Ann Street celebrated their 50th anniversary on Sunday.

• • •

A meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills, Hallowell, to plan a Sills reunion. Many descendants of the pioneer Loyalist settler, Conrad Sills (Von Selis) who emigrated from Germany to New York State in 1783, live in the Quinte district.

WEDDINGS

NICHOLSON — KEECH

TWEED — Miss Donna Keech and Robert Fred Nicholson, both of Kingston, were married earlier this month in Centreville United Church. Rev. Martin Rumscheidt of Toronto officiated at the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keech of Moscow, Ontario. The bridegroom is the son of Hamlet Nicholson of Barrie and Mrs. Margaret Nicholson of Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. James MacDonald of Kingston as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Reid of Belleville and Mrs. James Troyer of Collins Bay. The bride's niece, Carolyn Kennedy of Amherstview was flower girl.

Attending the bridegroom was Gordon Montgomery of Collins Bay and ushers were James Foster of Kingston and Larry Keech of Moscow. The bride's nephew, Douglas Weese of Centreville, was ring-bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will reside in Kingston.

VANDEPOL — WATSON

TWEED — Margaret Christine Rosanne Watson of Kingston and Bernard Walter Vandepol of Kingston were married recently in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston. Rev. Paul Jenson officiated at the ceremony. The bride's guardians are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Evason of London. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vandepol of Kingston.

Given in marriage by Mark Evason, the bride was attended by Mrs. Jeanette Verbeeck of Kingston. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary McKillen and Mrs. Ann Swann both of Kingston. Terry McKillen of Kingston was flower girl and Roger Vandepol of Galt was ring-bearer.

Attending the bridegroom was William Verbeck of Kingston and ushers were Arnold Jansen, Robert McKillen and Vern Ingram of Kingston and Ben Miedema of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandepol will reside in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Preston Mark Diamond Anniversary

"In the first place, mind your own business — and don't argue!"

It has apparently stood him in good stead for more than a half a century.

He was working in Manitoba when romance blossomed — on the way to an Orange Walk. He and his bride aboard train on their separate ways to a July 12th celebration in Brandon. They were married December 19, 1907 by Mrs. Preston's uncle, Rev. Walter Johnson.

After the wedding the young couple headed east, settling first at Roslin then in 1913 — moving to Thomasburg. It was at Thomasburg that the Preston's spent most of their long marriage. They moved to Belleville 20 years ago, when John retired from farming.

However, being retired doesn't mean being inactive, for either of the Prestons.

Especially for John, who at 86—he's nine years older than his wife—still makes a point of going out each day "unless it's icy".

"I'm going on my own power all the time," he asserts.

Latterly it's grown, though. It now includes three granddaughters and four great grandchildren.

Ready to Celebrate!

Mrs. Susan Preston gives cake the once-over while husband John lights candles at their Everett Street home yesterday. They had good reason for celebrating — they've been married 60 years.

DANISH WREATH or SPRITZ COOKIE - PRESS COOKIES

You backed me into a corner but I worked my way out.

Command repeats for Dark Blonde Florida Fruit Cake and the cookie-press cookies called "sprits" or "wreath" or "alphabet" kept appearing in the mail.

I thought I could devote this week to Christmas dinner preparations but in a way these two command items are.

Today's column is really a Readers' column. Tomorrow's (Tuesday) will be too when I will squeeze in a "repeat" of the everlasting favorite, Dark Blonde Florida Fruit Cake for "last-minuters".

DANISH ALMOND WREATH (or sprits or alphabet cookie press cookies)

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Italian Spaghetti with Meat Sauce; Grated Parmesan Cheese; Tossed Greens with Italian French Dressing; Lemon - Cake Pudding; Coffee.

(NOTES: 1) I had 9 dozen 1¾" to 2" cookies, plus seven 3" silver-studded initials for each of my grandchildren. 2) You must observe every exact measurement and step in this recipe for the dough to be correct texture to go through the cookie press.)

1 large egg
1 cup sugar
¼ cup ground blanched almonds (these may be buzzed in blender)
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ cups barely melted butter

Into beater bowl put eggs and sugar and beat for 5 minutes. Add ground almonds and vanilla and beat again. Add flour and butter alternately, beating until dough is smooth and blended. Do not chill but let it stand at room temperature about 15 minutes.

I used the six-pointed ¼-inch "star" plate of my "mirro" cookie-press for all cookies below.

Put ¼-inch "star" plate in place, fill cookie press with dough. Have cookie sheets at room temperature, not greased or buttered. Press dough through cookie press into 2-inch "wreaths" or 1¼-inch "buds" and 3" initials of your children, nieces, nephews and grandchildren. These cookies do not spread. Have at h nd "silvers" to decorate the initials and half of the wreaths and buds; also have a package of mixed fruit cake fruits. From this latter choose small red and green bits of peel or cherries to press side by side at top of wreaths. One piece of red or green is sufficient for entire top of buds. Be sure to press decorations in for they may fall off after baking if not imbedded in dough. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr, switching pans around. They require from 10 to 15 minutes depending on size and number of cookiespansful in oven at one time. Watch them and do not burn one. Cool on racks. Store between layers of wax paper in tightly covered cookie tins. These keep well.

Ann Landers

College Student Gets Pills From Mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 19-year-old girl who is away at college. This is my freshman year. Guess what I received this morning from my mother. Today is my birthday and I know she would not forget. When I opened the box I almost keeled over. Birth control pills!

ANN LANDERS

I am not only shocked but deeply hurt. What does my mother think I am doing here anyway? I have no use for these pills and, furthermore, I consider this gift a vote of no confidence.

Attached to the bottle was a note which read: "You may not need them, but here they are just in case."

What do you think of a mother who would send her daughter such a gift? Please give me your opinion because I am awfully upset. My first inclination was to send them back. Should I? — CLASS OF '71.

DEAR CLASS: Yes. Tell your mother you have no use for the pills and you're sorry she wasted her money.

As for what I think of a mother who would send her 18-year-old daughter such a gift — I'll say it in two words. Very little.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't you quit bidding the public? I am sick and tired of you newspaper columnists who insist on using pictures that are 20 years old. I happen to know that you have three grandchildren. So either come clean and let us see what you really look like or drop that mug shot altogether. — NEW YORK POST READER.

DEAR N.Y.: The picture that runs with my column was taken six months ago. I hope your retouch artists did not lift my sagging chin or remove the lines in my face. They are my credentials for living and I have earned them.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How do other wives deal with this problem, I can't be alone in this.

My husband and I go to a party — either a club or the home of friends or relatives. George says hello to everyone, heads for the liquor and holds down four martinis. He becomes loud, raucous and sometimes obscene — telling a couple of off-color jokes. Then he suddenly announces he is going into the other room because it's "too hot in here."

He then disappears and after awhile a friend goes to check on him. The report is that good old George is asleep on the bed or couch or the floor.

He refuses to eat before we leave the house because it "takes the edge off" and he doesn't want to "miss anything." Consequently, he makes out on everything. Occasionally one or two of the men in our social group gets tanked on New Year's Eve, but nobody we know gets dead drunk every time he goes to a party. What do you have to say about this? — ACCOMPANIED BUT ALONE.

DEAR A: Your husband's desire to get smashed as quickly as possible indicates he is uncomfortable with people and wishes to escape.

As for what you can do about it, the answer is — not a pea pickin' thing. Nobody ever solved a booze problem for a second party. Only when your husband realizes he has a problem can something be done about it. So, my dear, endure what you cannot cure.

Women's Insitutes

MARMORA WI

MARMORA — Marmora Women's Institute held its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Neal with Mrs. Warren Hill, district president in attendance. Mrs. Marie O'Neill, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Gifts were collected for mental patients and an exchange of gifts was held. Each member presented a Christmas verse or short story for the program, and Mrs. Hill outlined the high points of the Mary Stewart collect.

A report was given of the WI tea and bazaar held earlier in December in the Senior Citizens rooms of the Memorial Hall.

Got Lost Fast

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Kenneth Baumeister, 12, was due to have his tonsils out but when he saw one of his brothers after a similar operation, he got lost-fast. He dashed from the hospital — hospital gown flowing and bare-feet flashing — and hid in a thicket of bushes 1½ miles away. Ninety minutes later two neighbors found Kenneth and took him home. His mother agreed to surrender his tonsils at a later date.

Successful Living

Teener Can Earn Money in Various Ways

Dear Doris: I need money badly. I have three reasons: (1) Christmas shopping. (2) A club I have joined. (3) Weekend money (shows, etc.).

I baby sit and make about three dollars a week. Since I'm not old 16 I cannot easily raise money. — Need Money

Dear Need: If you were at my front door this morning I would pay you to sweep the snow off my steps. Turn up at a neighbor's door with a shovel, next time the snow falls, and see if you can add to the treasury.

Baby sitting still ranks at the top. Then there are such activities as errand running, floor polishing, car washing. With a little exploring you may find a gold mine of chores to do right around your neighborhood.

Carol singing is a questionable money-raiser — unless you have a little talent. Round about the third week in November I answered our door at nine a.m. to two lads of ten who forthwith broke into a cracked and feeble rendition of "Silver Bells."

They explained they needed money for Christmas presents. Perhaps the idea was to get paid to stop.

* * *

Dear Doris: I am a parent (male) of a 13-year-old girl who is well developed for her age. Her main problem at present is a sort of pimple rash on her forehead, lower neck and down to the shoulders.

In my opinion, the cause may be due to a nervous condition. Here's I would appreciate it if you would be good enough to select appropriate pamphlets that may help her to act more herself, relaxed and self-controlled.

The girl is a bit shy at times and perhaps on account of this tries too hard to be impressive. — Just Dad.

Dear Dad: Pimples at 13 spell adolescent acne to me. If her doctor agrees, there are things to be done about food and skin care that can help.

Nervous? Well, the glandular changes which go with adolescence don't make for poise, and that's for sure. I'm sending you material to help with the skin, the shyness and the general topic of growing up.

Her best asset is you — a father who cares enough to give his girl time and interest. Stay with her in reading the leaflets and books and help her talk things out.

* * *

Dear Doris: I read your column with interest, and was wondering if any of your readers could supply me with the words and author of a poem containing the words:

"Come, little leaves," said the wind one day,
"Put on your bonnets of gold and red, ..."

I am always reminded of this poem when the first leaves fall, with the wind dancing the n down the streets.

Autumn

Dear Autumn: Perhaps someone can produce it for you.

Is it better to put up with misunderstandings, or to begin talking things over? Let Doris help you see the light.

Church Groups

FREE METHODIST WMS

MARMORA — Service of the Women's Missionary Society held in the Free Methodist Church last week was conducted in Egyptian style with the women sitting on the left side of the church and the men on the right.

One of the recent projects of the Society has been to make a study of Egypt, its customs and missionary work.

Prophecies from the Bible were read by Rev. W. A. MacMillan, with associate members reading the fulfillment. The minister also translated various Scripture paragraphs given by Mrs. MacMillan in the Arabic language. A former teacher in Egypt, Mrs. MacMillan addressed the group, describing many interesting details of this country. Also an Egyptian custom, the singing of the first hymn, the service was by the men, with the women humming only.

During the program the missionary news by Mrs. Everett Barrons and Mrs. Ray Bonter was set up as a broadcast. Carols were sung and Mrs. Stewart Hardy, Mrs. Carl Bird, Mrs. Harry Mawer and Mrs. Ray Bonter presented a skit. Mrs. Ritchie Wells read a poem.

A hospitality hour, called girls in Egypt, similar to cinnamon tea, was served in demi-tasse cups and other Egyptian foods, dates, oranges and a type of shortbread were served.

ST. MARGARET'S EVENING GUILD

The December meeting of St. Margaret's Evening Guild took the form of a potluck supper and Christmas party with Mrs. R. Maki and her group as hostesses and Santa Claus centrepieces.

A letter read from a former member, Mrs. F. Standing, Scarborough. The Guild was invited to the rectory for the January meeting.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Daughter: "The girls at school are so mean to me. They don't like me. And they even invite me to her party."

Mother: "It's a shame they're all so mean. Is there anything to do with them if they can't be nice to you."

Too much sympathy may not help an unpopular child face the fact that her problems may be partly her own fault. A wise mother will help her see herself as her friends see her.

UN General Assembly Attempts to End Annual Session

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The UN General Assembly went on a three-day schedule today, with morning, afternoon and night meetings, in an attempt to end the 22nd annual session by midnight Tuesday night.

High on the assembly's program was the establishment of a 30-member special committee to try to draft a definition of aggression—something various UN bodies have been trying to do since 1950.

The main political committee, with two meetings lined up, drove toward a vote on eight resolutions on various aspects of disarmament.

Two of the resolutions were revised overnight in line with a weekend compromise agreement designed to prevent a 1968 conference of countries that have no nuclear weapons from interfering with the general negotiations on a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

One of these resolutions called on the Geneva disarmament committee to report by March 15. The assembly would resume its session soon after to take up the report.

The resolution was amended to say the committee should consider the views stated in the current assembly—including, by implication, the demand of some countries not having nuclear weapons that the nuclear powers should give them security guarantees in return for their accepting the treaty.

The other resolution had called for a Geneva conference of non-nuclear countries March 11-April 10. The date was changed to next August and September.

Another pending resolution called for Secretary - General U Thant concluding that no security is to be found in the possession of nuclear weapons.

Keeping Engine Tuned Will Control Exhaust

Recently there has been much written about the virtues of exhaust emission systems. It is now mandatory that all cars produced in the United States be equipped with a type of exhaust emission control.

Exhaust emission control can be accomplished by refining the ignition system and carburetion, modifying the combustion chamber, and, on heavier V-8's, with the use of an air pump that forces air into the exhaust manifold to ignite the unburned gases and burn them more completely before they leave the engine. Now the U.S. government will not tolerate more than 275 parts of hydrocarbons per million gross volume emitted from the tailpipe. In Ontario this ruling will not be mandatory until 1969.

However, it must be remembered that the majority of cars in use today are not current models and there is much the individual motorist can do to minimize deadly exhaust gases. The other morning I borrowed a neighbor's six-month-old car, and was shocked to find the automatic choke was sticking badly, resulting in an extremely rich mixture and clouds of black smoke from the tailpipe. I drove the car over a mile before the choke sluggishly opened. I would venture to say that 25 per cent of automatic chokes are not functioning properly, and apart from the wasted fuel, in heavy traffic this condition is playing havoc with the air which we are told is already polluted to the danger point. The mechanism that actuates the automatic choke is quite sensitive, and it takes only a few ounces of pressure one way or the other to open or close it. Misadjustment or the least bit of foreign matter on its linkage can drastically throw it out of kilter.

Surprisingly enough, many motorists who insist on a regular tune-up will ignore the carburetor and choke mechanism for years. Another important item to remember is that when the modern dry type air filter becomes clogged, fuel economy suffers — much as though the choke were in the "on" position at all times.

Keeping the engine in good tune, including cleanliness of the carburetor and air filter will go a long way toward controlling exhaust emission.

Sabotage Is Suspected In BC Railway Accident

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP) — Canadian National Railways investigators were trying Sunday to determine if two runaway locomotives that smashed head-on into a freight train in the Fraser Canyon Friday night had been tampered with prior to the accident.

The two locomotives rolled 8½ miles on a downhill grade south out of Boston Bar and hit an eastbound freight train inside a tunnel. Fireman David J. Lawson, 37, of Richmond, was killed and two other trainmen aboard the freight were trapped in wreckage for six hours.

A CNR spokesman said Sunday night the cause of the accident remains a mystery.

The spokesman said the CNR is investigating the possibility that the diesel engines may have been tampered with, but no evidence has been found so far indicating that this was the case.

The diesels were coupled together with brakes that would have had to have been released, a throttle button depressed and the throttle opened to set the big engines in motion.

Service along the line between Vancouver and Edmonton was restored soon after the tracks were cleared Sunday.

The two men trapped in the wreckage Friday—engineer J. Harold Brown, 47, of Vancouver, and trainman Arthur S. Hicks, 45, of New Westminster, B.C., were reported in good condition in hospital at nearby Hope.

Premier Assails War Hero

TEL AVIV (AP) — War hero Moshe Dayan, whose chance of becoming premier of Israel appeared to brighten last week, was assailed by Premier Levi Eshkol at a cabinet meeting in Jerusalem Sunday.

But Eshkol stopped short of calling for his defence minister's resignation.

Dayan last week called for Eshkol's resignation.

Eshkol told the cabinet he regretted Dayan's statement, but because of the current political crisis would not "draw, the consequences" from the attack, a communique said. Informants interpreted this to mean Eshkol would not demand that Dayan resign.

Dayan's chances of becoming leader of his country brightened considerably last week when his maverick Rafi party voted to rejoin the ruling Mapai party. But his call for the replacement of Eshkol and his finance minister rankled.

Dayan explained that his statement was not an attack on the new coalition but an exposition of Rafi party principles. This apparently helped cool cabinet tempers.

Thirteen Die In Quebec Fire

LA SARRE, Que. (CP) — A coroner's inquest into the deaths of 10 children, a baby sitter and two parents in a fire that raced through a wooden frame house has been adjourned pending the outcome of police investigation.

The Bouchard and Aubin families had been living in the three-storey building when the fire started Saturday. There were no survivors among the 13 occupants.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Guy Aubin were in Rouyn, Que., 45 miles south of here, taking part in a religious retreat when the fire started. Their only surviving child, one-month-old Linda, was staying the weekend with Mr. Aubin's sister.

The Bouchards lived on the top floor of the house and the Aubins on the ground floor. The middle floor was not occupied.

Const. Andre Grenier of the provincial police, who is in charge of the investigation into the cause of the fire, said that when he arrived at the scene a half-hour after the blaze started he could scarcely believe what he saw.

Firemen who had arrived only minutes after the alarm was raised were not able to get near the building because of the heat, Const. Grenier said. It will be difficult to pinpoint the cause of the fire because the building was destroyed, he appeared, however, that an oil-fed heater for the building's water tank had exploded, he said.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Bouchard, aged 46 and 30 respectively, their children Claudette, 12, Albert, 9, Sylvie, 6, Johanne, 5, and Suzie, 15 months.

The Aubin victims were Guy laine, 8, Marie, 6, Daniel, 5, and twins France and Francine, 3. The baby sitter who had been looking after the mews Jocelyne Paradis, 17.

A coroner's inquest into the deaths was formally opened Saturday, then postponed pending the outcome of the police investigation.

Halt, Not Mere Pause In Bombing Necessary

MONTREAL (CP) — Chester A. Ronning, Canadian envoy who has made peace missions to Vietnam, says peace talks cannot begin until there is a stop in the bombing of North Vietnam.

He says a complete cessation of aerial bombing and any military or naval action against North Vietnam is a key first step in any acceleration toward a lasting peace in Vietnam.

"It will not be easy to lower tensions to the level conductive to intelligence peace talks," he writes in a copyright article in The Star.

"It will take more time than provided by a brief pause in bombing North Vietnam.

"It may be that the time will not be ripe for useful talks before both sides have suffered enough from a war which is not achieving the desired aims of stopping 'aggression' from the other side or bringing the other side to its knees to the conference table.

"Both sides must be convinced that the war is stalemated and that there can be no victory for either side."

The 73-year-old former Canadian high commissioner to India, who also headed the Canadian delegations to the Geneva Conference of 1954 and 1961 on Vietnam, also suggests that once there is a cessation of bombing activities there could be an immediate start of preliminary peace talks between the two sides.

LCBO Studies Self-serve Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario liquor officials have strong reservations about opening super-market-style liquor stores in this province, says the general manager of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

The board is however, studying reports on the operation of such store in the United States, said Brig. J. G. Sprague.

A major drawback to super-market-style stores is the greater opportunity for theft, he said in an interview.

TO PURCHASE PICASSOS

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — Basel voters authorized their cantonal state government Sunday to purchase two famed Picasso paintings which the Swiss owner was planning to sell in the United States because of financial difficulties. In a weekend referendum, the voters approved 32,118 to 27,190 a 6,000,000-franc ($1,113,000) budget expenditure towards the purchase of The Two Brothers and a Sitting Harlequin.

North Vietnamese Down Two American Fighter Bombers

SAIGON (Reuters) — North Vietnamese MiGs downed two raiding American fighter-bombers near Hanoi Sunday, a U.S. spokesman said here today.

A third plane was downed by heavy anti-aircraft fire while attacking machine-gun emplacements just north of the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Vietnam, the spokesman added. One crew member was killed and the other is missing.

A Thunderchief fighter-bomber and a supersonic Phantom, were shot down by a MiG-21 and a MiG-17 in a massive dogfight over northwest Hanoi, the spokesman said. The crew members are missing.

The losses brought the total of American planes lost over North Vietnam, to 765, according to an unofficial count here. U.S. figures showed that American planes shot down 39 MiGs while the MiGs claimed 36 American raiders.

The MiGs challenged American planes as they bombed the biggest North Vietnamese MiG airfield at Phuc Yen, 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, and an airfield at Kep, 35 miles northeast of the capital.

North Vietnamese repair crews, working under cover of monsoon clouds which kept U.S. planes away for four weeks rebuilt the fields, the spokesman said, after heavy raids closed ther during October and November.

Radio Hanoi said nine American planes were shot down over the north Sunday, five by the North Vietnamese Air Force and the rest by ground fire.

A MiG downed an F-4 Phantom jet Saturday, a U.S. spokesman reported. He said the plane went down after six of the Russian-designed fighters swung into a dogfight with Phantoms escorting the planes doing the bombing.

Many of the MiG challenges are made in an attempt to force U.S. planes to jettison their bomb loads before reaching their targets in order to fight back, U.S. pilots have said. They report that the MiGs try to break contact after they achieve that goal.

SLICES SPORTS

By Geo. H. Carver

Not to be pussy, any athlete who can beat out Bobby Hull for the Male Athlete of the Year Award must have something on the ball.

And Ferguson Jenkins, the Chicago Cubs' crack pitcher out of Chatham, Ontario has it, any way you care to look at it.

It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

So say all of us. With an extra huzza for a chaser.

"Are you sure? Isn't that something. Gee that's a real great honor," said the 25-year-old hurler.

Jim points out — and rightly so — that the award is a real highlight in the life of the talented negro youngster.

He joins the distinguished company of many outstanding athletes, Sandy Somerville a Leaside, Ontario golfer, was the first winner back in 1922.

The "Knights" include, Bobby Hull, Gordie Howe, Maurice Richard, Jean Beliveau, Buddy O'Connor and Syl Apps of hockey fame; Bill Crothers, Bruce Kidd, Richie Ferguson, Gerard Cote, Phil Edwards, Scotty Rankine, Harold Webster and Dave Komosora of the track and field elite; Ron Stewart, Russ Jackson, Normie Kwong, Joe Krol, Tony Golab and Fritz Hansen of football fame and Doug Hepburn of weightlifting.

Ferguson Jenkins is the first pitcher hailing from east of the border in more than 50 years to win 20 games for a major league baseball club.

The honor did not affect his modesty. "I'm real pleased these people thought of me in such a way," he smiled. "I just hope I can live up to their confidence. My wife has a grin on her face a mile wide.

Nor did the fact he had edged another great star, one Robert Hull, also of the Chicago district for the 1967 award. Hull was the winner the past two years.

"Beating Bobby is something, too" said Jenkins. "He's a great man. I've met some of the Hawks but haven't had the honor of meeting Bobby."

The sportswriters and sportscasters who make the selection were impressed, it seems, with Jenkins accomplishments on the mound.

Jenkins, says MacKay, came out of nowhere to arrive as a major league mound star [and by winning 20 games helped to make the Cubs respectable for a change. Leo Durocher likely went into his customary war dance when he heard of the honors being awarded to his mound ace.

Jenkins like Hull does not attribute his success to his personal ability. He too was quick to give credit to his teammates of the Cubs.

"The whole team played well," he said, "when the fellows play good behind you, it makes things a lot easier for a pitcher."

Nods by the monthly bulletin of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that the Czechs are considering the idea of adopting the western rule of using three officials, instead of two has been the custom in Europe since the sports was adopted there.

That should be welcome news to Canadian and American teams as officialism over there has been constantly under fire by overseas teams.

During my junket over there, I was impressed by the inefficiency of the referees, some of whom had a lot to learn about the art of skating.

If the Europeans adopt the western style of officiating it will go a long way in preventing the hard feelings that inevitably crop up when western teams play the home town boys.

Bolt From The Blue Nips Mo-Hawks

GALT (Special) — A blue-line blast that eluded the glove and eyes of the goalie cost the Belleville Mo-Hawks another one-goal defeat here Saturday.

The 2-1 defeat did not affect the Mo-Hawks' standing since the Kingston Aces walloped Orillia 12-4 to keep them in the Senior "A" League cellar one point behind the Belleville club.

The two bottom teams battle it out in Orillia tomorrow night with the Mo-Hawks entertaining the strong Kings from Collingwood on Friday.

The injury-riddled Mo-Hawks and the Hornets battled it out to a 1-1 stalemate over regulation time.

They had played 6.16 of the sudden-death overtime period when the Hornets' Don Snider delivered the coup-de-grace.

It was literally a bolt-from-the-blue that swung the pendulum of victory the Hornets' way.

Snider swung in from his left wing to take Maxwell's pass and as the Mo-Hawk defence backed in to cover up, let go a high slanting drive from the blue-line that Junkin just failed to see. It went over his glowed hand.

At that the young Mo-Hawk goalie turned in a fine effort kicking out 29 Hornet drives.

Bob Taylor was the hero in a losing cause. He came up with an outstanding effort and a Hornet observer judged him the best player on the ice.

He scored the lone Mo-Hawk goal on a pass from Marchon late in the first period. Taylor with Baker and McConnell formed the best line the Mo-Hawks had out there.

Taylor's goal stood up until the late minutes of the second period when Snider scored his first goal on a play with Maxwell and Hall at 16.42.

The Hornets held a slight edge in the third frame with both clubs failing to score.

Snider finished it over halfway through the overtime and another one - goal defeat went into the Mo-Hawk archives.

Both teams paid attention to the puck rather than the player, the Hornets drawing four of the seven minors assessed, none of them costly.

Injuries didn't help the Mo-Hawks cause. George Godson played just one shift before leaving the game with a badly swollen elbow sustained in last Friday's game.

Larry Holmes also is out with a shoulder injury and may be sidelined for some time.

Snider was the Galt hero scoring both goals with linemate Maxwell picking up two assists. Hall also helped on one goal.

And Ralph Boomer in the Hornets' "nest" did not have a night off. He kicked out 27 of the 29 drives blasted his way from Mo-Hawk attacks.

Gabriel Trumpeted Rams' Charge In Decisive Win Over Colts

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Unitas spent an endless Sunday hurrying in the wrong direction . . . and watching Los Angeles turn the National Football League's Coastal showdown into a Roman carnival.

Roman Gabriel, the Rams' strong-armed quarterback, eclipsed superstar Unitas Sunday by firing three touchdown passes as Los Angeles drubbed the previously unbeaten Baltimore Colts 34-10 for the Coastal Division title.

While Gabriel connected on 18 of 22 passes for 257 yards—in the delight of 77,277 revelers in the Los Angeles Coliseum—the Ram defenders hurried Unitas into two costly interceptions and smothered the NFL's favorable Flayer seven times for losses totalling 49 yards.

"The crux of our defensive plan for this game," said LA Coach George Allen, "was not to allow Unitas enough time to throw the ball, because he can thread the needle in a crowd."

The Rams' Fearsome Foursome—Lamar Lundy, Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen and Roger Brown—followed Allen's plan to the letter.

In snapping Baltimore's 13-game unbeaten streak, the Rams extended their own winning string to eight games and advanced into next Saturday's Western Conference champion ship playoff against Green Bay's Central Division kings.

Los Angeles and Baltimore tied 24-24 in their first meeting and finished in an 11-1-2 deadlock. The Rams, however, got the title nod by virtue of their point edge in the two games against the Colts.

The Packers, who nailed the Central crown three weeks ago, were upset by Pittsburgh Steelers 24-17 Sunday. New York Giants pounded St. Louis Cardinals 37-14, New Orleans Saints stunned Washington Redskins 30-14, Philadelphia Eagles toppled Cleveland Browns 28-24, Chicago Bears beat Atlanta Falcons 23-14 and Detroit Lions trimmed Minnesota Vikings 14-3 in other games.

Dallas Cowboys Capital Division winners, who meet Cleveland of the Century Division for the Eastern Conference championship next Sunday, bowed to San Francisco 49ers 24-16 Saturday.

Trailing 7-3 early in the second quarter, the Rams took charge on Gabriel's 80-yard scoring strike to Jack Snow and 23-yard touchdown pass to Bernie Casey. The second score followed Ed Meador's interception of a Unitas pass, thrown while Jones was draped over the Colt quarterback's shoulders.

The Rams' final touchdown, scored by Dick Bass from two yards out, came after Unitas was dropped at his own fouryard line for an eight-yard loss on fourth down.

End Ben McGee rambled 71 yards with a deflected Green Bay pass for one touchdown and tackle Chuck Hinton plodded 37 yards with a recovered fumble for another score as Pittsburgh's defensive unit wrecked the Packers, who had moved freely in their final pre-playoff tune-up.

New York's Fran Tarkenton tossed four touchdown passes—two to Aaron Thomas—as the plagued St. Louis and captured second place in the Century race.

In other AFL games Sunday, Kansas City Chiefs trounced Denver Broncos 38-24 and Miami outlasted Boston Patriots 41-32.

The Jets' Joe Namath, who set an AFL season record of 3,650 yards passing, threw for 258 yards and three touchdowns but took a beating in the process—suffering a possible fracture of right cheek bone.

Namath, who was split in blood during the game, said he didn't know when or how the injury occurred and refused to say Oakland played rough. The Raiders twice were penalized for roughing the passer.

Fort Worth Wins Pair In Central

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fort Worth Wings boosted their lead in the Southern Division of the Central Hockey League Sunday night with a 7-2 win over Kansas City Blues.

The wi , coupled with another triumph over the Blues Saturday night, gave the Wings 36 points in the Southern Division, eight points ahead of second-place Oklahoma City Blazers who were edged 3-2 Sunday by Houston Apollos.

Raiders Stop Jets; Officials Scored

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Weeb Ewbank thinks New York Jets were at a disadvantage after the opening kickoff. Maybe. But one thing is certain—they are at a disadvantage now.

"This will probably cost me money, but I've got to say it," Ewbank fumed after Sunday's 38-29 loss to Oakland Raiders.

He ther scored the officials "for letting the game get out of hand. I don't know if the footing was poor. I feel we were at a disadvantage after the kickoff."

Ewbank criticism not only most likely will cost him money in the form of a league fine, the loss very likely will cost the Jets a shot at the American Football League title.

The Jets, 7-5-1, now trail Houston Oilers, 24-17 winner over San Diego Chiefs Saturday, by one game in the Eastern Division race. Houston can win the title and the right to meet Western Division champion Oakland, 12-1-0, for the league crown by beating Miami Dolphins next Saturday. The Jets play San Diego next Sunday.

Score Was 13-3

Nats Sawmp Finland

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's national hockey team, passing and shooting with rare precision, swamped Finland 13-3 Sunday in an exhibition match.

The Finns, who left some world-class personnel at home, couldn't handle the free-wheeling Canadians.

Gary Dineen, the centre from Toronto who has a handsome contract waiting for him with Minnesota North Stars of the expanded National Hockey League, was the main Canadian gunner.

Dineen scored two goals and laid down a series of clever passes to pick up four assists. Every Canadian player except goaltenders Ken Broderick and Wayne Stephenson collected at least one point before 2,181 fans.

Bill Goldsworthy scored three goals and Marshall Johnston and Steve Monteith added two each. Fran Huck, Gerry Pinder, Ray Cadieux and Herb Pinder contributed singles.

Three Blanks In Women's Hockey Games

Picton McFarlands blanked South Shore Rockets 5-0; Ellis Printers shut out Blinkey Lumber 1-0 and Pine Ridge defeated the Barriey Landscapers 8-0 in Women's Hockey League games on Sunday at Picton.

Cloyne Wins Pair In CHHL Hockey

Cloyne Blazers turned back the Foxboro Merchants 7-4 and the Frankford Shamrocks stopped the Thomasburg Thunderbirds 7-1 in Centre Hastings Hockey League games over the weekend.

Rod Gray, Clayton Whiteman and Norm Barrons each scored twice for the Blazers, Eldon Grant scoring the other and getting four assists.

Foxboro couldn't stand prosperity. In a lively first period drive they scored three goals in the first five minutes, and then the roof fell in.

Bob Clayton hit for three goals and two assists for the Shoemen with Jack Partington firing a pair. Bill Chesher had a goal and three assists. Glen Hidden scored the other.

Rick Shears got the Thomasburg counter.

In Madoc Saturday night the Cloyne Blazers romped over the Wallbridge Warriors 8-1, Norm Barrons leading the way with a pair of goals.

Oil Kings Beat Them 7-5

Picton String Clipped

The Belleville Oil Kings scored three goals in the first period, and two in each of the last two to hand Picton a 7-5 defeat in OHA Intermediate play in Tweed Sunday. It was Picton's first defeat in ten starts.

Woodcock scored twice for the Oil Kings in the first period, with Kellar getting the third Belleville marker of the period. Stacey scored for Picton.

In the final twenty minutes, R. Bonnehwer and Woodcock found the net for Belleville. Guernsey and Pero replied for Picton, but they came up two goals short at the final buzzer.

There was a long march to the penalty box, with Belleville collecting 11 penalties and Picton 8. Kellar got a determinder Moxom got into the act, coming up with not one, but two penalties. He had a four-job in the nets, however, as Picton outshot Belleville 33-27.

The Oil Kings play their next game in Tweed on Wednesday then they go on the road for games with Kingston on Thursday and Campbellford on Friday.

They are fifth in the standing at present with a record of four wins and six defeats and a tie.

In E.O.M.H.A. bantam play Sunday, the Belleville Kinsmen handed Kingston their first setback of the season by the score of 4-2.

Each team scored once in the first period, Danny Lupinetta scoring for Belleville, and MacGregor for Kingston. Neither team scored in the second period.

In the final twenty minutes, Mike Rollins put Belleville rolling with a goal. Lupenette followed with his second of the game, and Rick Meagher added the fourth Belleville goal. Treacy counted the lone Kingston marker of the third period.

Gump Humped; Storms Off Ice After First "Yank" In Career

ROD GILBERT

By DAVID MILLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

One thing about Gump Worsley, when he gets mad he doesn't fool around.

For the first time in 15 years of bouncing around the National Hockey League, the rotund goaltender was yanked from a game. Coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens pulled Worsley in the third period Sunday night in favor of Rogatien Vachon and Worsley was more than unhappy.

Gary Jarrett had just scored for Detroit to make the score 6-4 for the Red Wings and, at the whistle, Worsley skated out of the net in disgust and threw his gloves and stick at the Montreal bench and Blake.

The Wings went on to win the game 8-6—highest total NHL score of the season—and Worsley said it was the first time in his career had had ever been pulled. In his 15 seasons with New York Rangers and Montreal, Worsley has played 687 games and has had 2,058 goals scored against him.

In other games Sunday night, Chicago Black Hawks scored two third-period goals to blank Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0 and move into a tie with Boston Bruins for first place in the NHL's Eastern Division.

New York downed St. Louis Blues 5-3 and Philadelphia Flyers nipped Pittsburgh Penguins 2-1 in other action.

Saturday it was Montreal 4 Detroit 3, Toronto 4 New York 2, Chicago 1 Pittsburgh 1, Philadelphia 1 St. Louis 0, Minnesota North Stars 1 Oakland Seals 0 and Boston 5 Los Angeles Kings 2.

Chicago, hottest team in the league during the last two weeks, and Boston each have 36 points in the East followed by Toronto with 33, Detroit 32, New York 30 and Montreal 27.

Philadelphia's two weekend victories gave the Flyers a four-point bulge over Los Angeles in the West. Philadelphia has 23 points and Minnesota is in third with 28. Pittsburgh has 26 followed by St. Louis and Oakland with 19 each.

But the Montreal-Detroit game was the wildest in the league Sunday night. Norm Ullman got three goals for the Red Wings and Jarrett added two.

Rookie Gary Marsh, recently called up from Forth Worth of the Central Pro League, got one and Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio picked up a goal and an assist each.

Jean Ratleau scored three for the Canadiens and Henry Richard added two, but the Wings had the heavier fire-power and unleashed a 30-shot barrage on Worsley and Vachon. Jacques Laperriere completed the Montreal scoring with the last goal of the game.

In Chicago, Johnny Bower of Toronto and Denis DeJordy of the Hawks waged a goaltender's duel for two periods until Pit Martin cashed Chicago's first goal early in the third period. Doug Mohns scored into an empty net when Toronto coach Punch Imlach pulled Bower late in the period.

Stan Mikita, Chicago centre

who was injured in the Black Hawks' 1-1 tie with Pittsburgh, added an assist on Mohns' marker despite a cut on his left ear that required 17 stitches to close Saturday night.

Rod Gilbert scored three times for New York Sunday and broke a personal eight-game scoring drought. The victory maintained the Rangers' superiority over expansion teams. New York is 9-1 against the new division but only 13-13-4 over-all.

Rookie Tim Ecclestone scored twice for the Blues and Dickie Moore once. New York jumped into an early 3-0 lead. Phil Goyette and Reg Fleming got the other Rangers' goals.

In Philadelphia, Leon Rochefort's second-period goal stood up for the Flyers. Brit Selby opened the Philadelphia scoring at 1:14 of the first period, tvt Pittsburgh tied it at 11:38 when Leo Boivin's shot was deflected into the net by Paul Andrea.

Saturday, goaltender Cesare Maniago of Minnesota notched his third consecutive shutout as the North Stars blanked the last-place Seals.

In four previous NHL seasons with Toronto, Montreal and New York, Maniago managed only two shutouts. But this year he has been red hot. Wednesday and Friday he blanked Los Angeles and Saturday night he got help from Parker Macdonald who scored the winner late in the third period.

Elsewhere, Mikita set up Ken Wharram for Chicago's only goal and Art Stratton evened the game for Pittsburgh early in the final period before 9,174 hometown fans.

At Los Angeles, centre Fred S'anfield led Boston with two goals in the final period, his 10th and 11th of the year, as the Bruins broke a three-game losing streak.

Phil Esposito, Tom Williams and Eddie Shack scored earlier to give the Bruins a 3-0 lead midway through the second period. Howie Hughes and Real Lemieux scored for Los Angeles.

N.H.L. Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stan Mikita and his Chicago Black Hawks are moving at the same pace in the National Hockey League—full ahead.

Mikita picked up two assists during the weekend to move into a second-place tie in the NHL scoring race with Johnny Bucyk of Boston Bruins.

The Black Hawks, meanwhile, tied 1-1 with Pittsburgh Penguins Saturday and downed Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0 Sunday to move into a first-place tie with Boston in the NHL's Eastern Division.

Chicago's Bobby Hull, held scoreless during the weekend, still held onto first place in the scoring race with 25 goals and 13 assists for 38 points.

Mikita and Bucyk each have 26 points on identical records of 18 goals and 18 assists.

London Nationals lost a bus and a 6-0 decision Sunday.

The Nationals, seventh in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, arrived by taxi for a game with Oshawa Generals, but might just as well have stayed 10 miles outside the city where their bus lost a wheel.

Oshawa was paced by Ron Dunsiaume's two goals. Joe Robertson, Jerry Welsh, Chuck Gyles and Fred O'Donnell two.

Elaine Captures Three Events

MONTREAL (CP) — Elaine Tanner won three events and set a Canadian record Sunday at the centennial swim meet held at the Pointe Claire Aquatic Club.

Miss Tanner, who recently moved from Vancouver to Winnipeg, cut her own 100-metre backstroke Canadian record of 1:09.0 down to 1:07.1 during one of the heats.

Donna Ross of Montreal won the 100-metre breaststroke.

Four national records were set in age-class competitions Sunday.

South African Captures Grand Prix

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — Tony Jeffries of South Africa beat off the challenge of a pack of Australian aces Sunday and roared to victory in the 200-mile Grand Prix of Formula Five auto race.

Jeffries shot to the front when mechanical troubles began to plague Ryan. He clung grimly to his lead over the last 10 miles as the favored Australian, making their move in a bunch, pushed him to the limit.

Everyone knows who drinks Seagram's Mellow 83

Country bumpkins, that's who.

It's funny what you hear about Seagram's Mellow 83. Like, it's the whisky for old fogeys. Or, only country bumpkins drink 83. We know different. All kinds of people are drinking 83 these days—and for the best of all reasons. They like the mellow, mellow way it tastes. Who are these individuals? Well, they weren't born in 1883. And they certainly weren't born yesterday.

Manchester U. Stops Everton; Liverpool Ties

LONDON (CP) — Manchester United, strengthened by the return of Scottish international Denis Law after a six-week suspension, consolidated its position at the top of soccer's English League with a resounding 3-1 win over Everton Saturday.

While United was collecting two points, its nearest First Division rivals, Manchester City and Liverpool fought to a 1-1 tie.

United now has 30 points in 21 games and, with half its fixtures completed, is two points ahead of Liverpool and City. Law celebrated his return with a goal to supplement those scored by England International David Sadler and John Aston.

In the Scottish League, Glasgow Rangers, current First Division leaders, beat Raith Rovers 10-2, and European Cup winner Glasgow Celtic won 5-4 away to Dundee.

Partick Thistle lost its unbeaten record when it went down 4-0 to Dunfermline.

St. Mirren won 4-0 against Brechin City to keep its lead in the Second Division.

Tottenham Hotspur, following its mid-week exit from the European Cup Winners' Cup, lost its unbeaten home record in the English League after 29 games. Leicester City, which was in the bottom half of the standings, won 1-0 thanks to a first-half goal by Alan Tewley.

Chelsea slumped to a 3-0 defeat against West Bromwich Albion, which gained only its second away win of the season.

Coventry City moved off the bottom of the standings with a 3-1 win over Burnley, playing without its suspended captain, Gordon Harris. Sheffield United, beaten 1-0 at Nottingham Forest, now is in last place.

The promotion race in the Second Division warmed up with fifth-place Queens Park Rangers—they were in the Third Division last season—beating top-team Portsmouth 2-0. Rangers move into second place, one point behind Portsmouth.

Ipswich, regarded as promotion candidates from the Second Division, suffered a 3-1 upset at home to Middlesbrough.

Torquay, which played Friday night, conceded top place in the Third Division to Walsall which drained a 1-1 tie against Watford. Walsall tops the standings on goal average.

Chesterfield opened up a four-point lead in the Fourth Division with a 4-1 victory against Crewe Alexandra.

Minor Hockey Results

Six Pee-Wee games, all of them close, and five Bantam contests marked BMHA play on Saturday.

In Pee-Wee, the Uniroyal Indians shut out the Firsts, 1-0, behind the goaltending of K. Keetz, and a single marker by J. Minnes.

The Bisons and the Barons tied 2-2, Heist and Shy scoring for the Bisons, and C. Schwager getting a pair for the Barons.

The Leafs edged the Wings, 2-1, in another close one, J. Webster and R. Coulkin scoring for the winners, and R. Bilby for the losers.

A high-scoring tilt found the Hawks topping the Bruins, 7-5, behind a 4-goal performance by D. Hilborn, with D. Menard getting a pair of goals, and J. Muldoon one. S. Tracey and W. Gibson each collected a pair for the Bruins, and S. Cronkright scored the other.

There were a couple of close games in Bantam play, one of which found the Amerks and Hornets tying 5-5. J. Spreadbury picked up the hat trick for the Amerks, with D. Cheesman and C. Allen getting one goal apiece, while Graham scored a pair for Hornets, Howes, Gay and Gervin getting singles.

The Rangers edged the Canadiens 4-3 as White counted twice for the winners, and Cousins and Joudrey once each. D. Taylor, P. McSherry and C. Bourgeau scored for the losers.

Bears topped the Aces 6-4, paced by W. Leitch's hat trick. M. Graham, L. Wright and J. Luffman scored the other Bear goals. D. Nesbitt, S. McDonald, K. Hodgson and K. Taylor counted for the losers.

A high-scoring affair found the Leafs topping ANAP Dukes 9-5 behind a five-goal performance by W. Andrews, while S. Farrell collected three goals and D. Bamblin one for the winners. B. Duffy and P. Horwood each scored a pair for the Dukes, with P. Bamblin getting a single goal.

Finally, in Bantam, it was the Wings over the Bruins by 5-1. B. Menard and M. Sullivan each scored twice for the Wings, with T. Bond getting a single. T. Harrington scored for the Bruins.

Public School Volleyball Tournament

The Belleville Senior Public School Volleyball Tournament took place Saturday at Centennial Secondary School, with 16 teams from four schools playing a total of 28 games.

The competing schools were: Queen Alexandra, H. J. Clarke, King George and S. M. Bowell. Each school entered four teams in the tournament: junior girls'; junior boys'; senior girls,; and senior boys'.

Queen Alexandra swept three of the four awards given, taking junior boys and girls and senior girls. S. M. Bowell took senior boys. The winning coaches from Queen Alexandra were Miss Abrams, for junior and senior girls, and Mr. Gallepy, for junior boys. Mr. Marson, of S. M. Bowell, was the wining senior boys' coach.

The games and organization were developed by W. A. Cochrane, Physical Education Supervisor for Belleville Public Schools, who anticipates a basketball tournament in the near future.

North. Electric Hockey Loop

Crawfords Terrors defeated Crazy Legs 5-2 and the Bear Cats bowed to the Comets 5-1 in Northern Electric Hockey League action over the weekend.

Ed. Barrett scored twice for the Terrors, Randy Longhurst, Rick Rosebush and Glen Crawford notching singles.

Claude Carr and Kevin Allen each had two assists, Larry Hull, one.

Bobby Burling paced the Comets win, scoring three of the five goals and getting an assist. Allen Jones and Ted Ford also scored with Ron Hutchinson getting three helpers.

Nats Win 5-3

Rex Stops Russians

HULL, Que. (CP) — Bolstered by four players from Winnipeg, Canada's Eastern National team scored a 5-3 win over Moscow Selects in an exhibition hockey game here Saturday.

About 2,000 fans gave the Canadians a standing ovation at the final whistle. Selects dumped the Canadian team 9-3 in Moscow two weeks ago.

Right winger Ray Cadieux, one of the four players added to the Canadian lineup, got two goals to lead the way, playing with Winnipeg player, Jean Cusson also scored.

Other Canadian scorers were Bob Goring and Ken Allison.

While Canada enjoyed an edge in the play, it was the work of their goalie Steve Rexe, that turned the tide of the game. He turned aside 34 Russian shots compared to the 24 stopped in the other end of the ice.

There were 17 penalties called in the game, all of them minors. Canada was tagged with nine, the Russians eight.

AL Batting Honors

Red Sox Swept Slate

The official figures released Saturday by AL president Joe Cronin showed that Boston took team honors with a .255 batting average, 152 home runs, 666 runs batted in, 722 runs scored, 1,395 hits, and 2,162 total bases. They tied Minnesota Twins for the lead in doubles with 216.

The only major categories in which the Red Sox did not finish on top were triples and stolen bases, where the speed-minded Kansas City Athletics showed the way with 50 and 132, respectively.

The figures showed Yastrzemski dominating the individual statistics, The slugging outfielder won his second batting title with a .326 mark and also led in runs batted in with 121 while tying Minesota's Harmon Killebrew for the home run championship with 44 to win the Triple Crown honor.

In addition, Yaz topped the league in hits (189), total bases (360) and runs scored (112), while his 31 doubles put him second to Minnesota's Tony Oliva, who led with 34.

Cassius Hopes To Box Again

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Deposed heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay said Saturday he does not miss boxing as much as he had expected.

Clay, who prefers to use his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, was stripped of his title by the World Boxing Association after he refused to be inducted into the U.S. Army on the ground of religious beliefs.

"It's true I don't make as much money, but I have peace of mind and something to live and fight for," he told a reporter. "I would still like to box and when this draft thing is cleared up, I expect to box again."

Ontario Peewees Stay Out

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of 21 peewee hockey teams in Toronto met during the weekend and decided not to enter the Quebec International Peewee Tournament unless the tournament is sanctioned by the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

The meeting Saturday, called by George Legge, head of the Toronto Marlboro minor hockey chain, included representatives from nine teams in the Metropolitan Toronto Hockey League and six each from the East and West Metro leagues.

The OAHA has withheld sanction from Jacques Bolduc and other Winter Carnival sponsors of the Quebec City tournament, but has sanctioned another peewee tournament planned for Trois-Rivieres several weeks later.

Russians Reject Romney's Dollars

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan had to borrow the price of a meal on his way to Moscow because the Russians would not accept his U.S. dollars.

When the aspiring candidate for the U.S. republic presidential nomination arrived here today, an aide explained that only the bindhaerstaenes of a young English-speaking Pole saved the governor and his party from going hungry on the 20-hour train journey from Warsaw.

But after crossing the Soviet border, they found that they could not buy anything in the dining car unless they had rubles.

OPP Issues Warning to Drivers

NAPANEE — The News release of the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police issued last week makes emphatic statements on the dangers of drinking too much at too many holiday parties.

"The count down to Christmas has started," the reporting officer states. "How many motorists will see Christmas from a hospital bed, and how many will never see another Christmas? How many families will be without that familiar face at the Christmas dinner table?"

"Despite constant warnings and too many motorists will insist on some drink for the road when the first drink was one too many."

The police officer has visited five schools in the area with 1309 children in the 25 class rooms instructing them in safety. This year the Elmer safety program is being supplemented by a film, "Lucky You", and the children are being asked to draw characters from the film.

No Hike Expected In Tweed Hydro Rates

TWEED—Tweed Hydro users will be glad to know that the local Hydro Commission is not contemplating an increase in hydro rates at the present time.

In spite of the fact that Ontario Hydro recently announced an increase of approximately six per cent in the cost of power sold to the municipalities in 1968, the local commission feels that it is in a financial position to absorb the increased cost of power. Present rates will be adequate for 1968 at least.

The present hydro rates in Tweed have been in force for the past ten years, although most other products and services, have increased substantially during this period.

Town Council Entertains Fire Brigade

DESERONTO — The Deseronto firemen were recent guests of the town council. This is an annual event, a salute from the town to its active and efficient volunteer firemen.

The private dining room of Chapman's Restaurant was the scene of the events, with the mayor and all members of his council, all but one member of the Deseronto volunteer fire brigade, under Chief Al Fraser, and a number of guests, sitting down to a steak dinner.

Other guests for the occasion included: from Belleville, Fire Chief Ted Poste, who is also coordinator for the Hastings-Prince Edward Mutual Fire Fighters' Association; former Fire Chief Gerald Vance, and Clyde Pope of the fire marshal's office; the fire services' representative.

From Picton the guests were Fire Chief Rodney Foshay and Reeve Bernard (Barney) Hepburn; from Napanee, Donald Holmes, chairman of the fire, light and water committee, Malcolm Hodgins, reeve substituting for Fire Chief F. W. Patton who was out of town, and Fire Chief Hodgins, former chief of police in Deseronto, now a member of the Napanee police department; Joseph Reynolds, clerk-treasurer of Deseronto, and Mrs. Blanche Detlor, his assistant, were also guests for the occasion.

Mayor Gerald Lott 'thanked the firemen for their work and praised them for their efficiency, and a representative from each of the other towns gave informal speeches.

Car Damage In Accident Totals $1,500

TWEED — An accident last night around 9 p.m. five miles west of Actinolite near Black River resulted in $1,500 damage to a car owned and driven by Alexander David Rupert, 56, of Tweed.

It was a single car accident and there were no personal injuries.

Gore

GORE—A large crowd attended a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson, the former Patricia Townsend, Kitchener, Saturday night at Victoria Church. Roy Wetherall was chairman for the program, Mrs. Harmon Montgomery read the address and the couple was presented with gifts.

Mrs. Willie Fox is still a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Earl Hill New Chief At Reserve

TYENDINAGA RESERVE — For the first time since it has had an elected chief and council, the Tyendinaga Reserve has a woman councillor. In Saturday's election Mrs. Audrey Hill headed the polls with 153 votes.

The new chief is Earl Hill, who had 141 votes, while Melville Hill defeated with 120. A member of the present council, Mrs. Christine Maracle Tabb-R_Brant, who retired after two two-year terms as chief, Deseronto; former Reeve Glen Hill, Bennett Brant, Clifford Maracle and Willard Hill.

The election was closely contested, and as a result 204 of the possible 400 eligible voters turned out at the polls held in the Council House. As far as is known this reserve is unique in that a two-party system, Earl Hill headed The People's Party and John Melville Hill, the Mohawk Progressive Party.

Both, as he is concerned, there is only one party on the reserve now that the election is over, the new chief said Sunday. "I expect to be fair and square with everyone regardless of party. We are all just people, residents of the Tyendinaga Reserve. My council and I will work for the betterment of the Indian people."

To Your Good Health

Atomic Cocktail Proves Wonder-worker

By Dr. Joseph C. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your advice to Mrs. T. K. about the atomic cocktail. I was as skeptical as she seems to be, but took the "cocktail" in June. I did not begin to see any results until the latter part of August. Now I feel like a million dollars, better than I have in years.

My feet had been swollen to almost double size, I had a terrific fast heart beat, and was no longer able to go on. I went to the hospital expecting it would mean surgery. I spent 13 days there for tests etc.

There was no pain in taking the "cocktail" and I have resumed work. Print this if you like. Possibly it would help other people not to be so wer-ried as I was or Mrs. T.K. is. — Mrs. T. K.

• • •

The "atomic cocktail" is a measured amount of radioactive iodine and water. There is no reason to fear it, and in cases which require its use, it can bring gratifying results.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter is 16 and has protruding ears. She is very self-conscious and doesn't want to wear her hair short because of this. Is there any type of surgery for this?

I feel this situation could have been corrected had I watched how the slept when she was a baby. Is it possible that if she wears a band when she goes to bed it would straighten out her ears? — Mrs. A. H.

It's a good leal less expensive to adopt a hair-do which will conceal the protruding ears — and teen-agers sometimes are much more sensitive about such things than is really warranted.

If the protruding ears really seem to you to be a genuine problem, then consult a plastic surgeon for his opinion as to whether surgery is advisable. The angle of the ears can be altered by such an operation.

I doubt that her sleeping position as a baby had a thing at all to do with her ears and consequently would not expect a head band to accomplish anything.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me the booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder," for which I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope and if it does not explain papillomas of the gall bladder, would you discuss it? Does it turn to cancer? — Mrs. J. T

Papillomas of the gall bladder is a polyp-like growth in the wall of the gall bladder, and it is not common. It is detected either by X-ray or at the time of removal of the gall bladder.

It is not a common tumor, and it is not initially cancerous. There is a possibility of malignant changes eventually however, so if detected by X-ray it makes removal of the gall bladder advisable.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you give your opinion on taking douches? Some doctors say to douche each day or twice a week, and others say not to douche, it is harmful to the body.

I suppose they should get together. Still, we progress by differences of opinion, with the correct opinions eventually prevailing. We hope.

Most gynecologists, and they are the experts in this field, agree that routine douching is not necessary or useful; that the natural secretions of the body do all the cleaning and lubricating that is required. Frequent douching can, indeed, rinse away some of these secretions and result in irritation.

Taking my cue from these authorities, my advice is to douche a little only when your physician prescribes it for some specific purpose, as a medicated douche to cure some infection or other abnormal condition.

• • •

Dr. Molner welcomes all readers' mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Daniel Boone

Fess Parker Blossoms as Director

Parker's new career? Directing as well as starring in a segment of his Daniel Boone television series.

"I've been involving myself more and more in the writing and production and decided it was time to get my feet wet as a director," drawled television's one-time Davy Crockett.

Parker, now 43 and a millionaire businessman, is in his fourth year as Boone. Some stars of long-running series become bored. They "merely deliver the body and leave," he said.

"I'd like to continue as an actor the rest of my life, but I think these other things give me a better life than my craft."

Six-foot-six Fess Elisha Parker Jr. has been finding new vistas ever since he came out of the University of Texas to spark a fanatical hero worship among small fry in 1955-56 as Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier.

"When I finally matured in this business I realized I should maximize my wonderful opportunity."

The maximizer of new vistas is a songwriter and recording star who has written a movie script that three major studios are considering. His company, Fespar Enterprises, Inc., is developing three movie properties and has a TV series well along in the planning.

His television and off-screen images hardly could be different. After a 10- or 12-hour work day, Parker changes from buckskins and boots to sports clothes from a $8,000 wardrobe that includes $250-suits and $30-shirts.

A pilot licensed to fly multi-engine planes, Parker plans to commute 100 miles by helicopter to his $600,000-Spanish adobe he's building on 26 beach-front acres at Santa Barbara, Calif.

That city is where he owns a 238-unit mobile home park and plans to build another. He's on the board of regents of Santa Clara University. For relaxation he sails a 32-foot yacht and thumps a dreaming rosen piano.

"Each area you move into," remarked the many-faceted Parker, "takes you one step farther than the next."

Capote Story

Woman Searches for Husband - - in Cemetery

NEW YORK (AP)—Truman Capote's short story, Among the Paths of Eden, was translated Sunday night into a poignant, sometimes painful, television vignette. The subject was empty lives and loneliness.

It was the story of a middle-aged, plain spinster desperately trying to find a husband, and was beautifully acted by a pair of skilled, sensitive performers.

The woman's hunting ground was a cemetery, because one of her married friends had told her that there were "always widowers walking around."

The ABC story opened with the woman standing among mourners at an open grave, awkwardly making conversation with men. Soon she wandered on to find a man planting flowers at his dead wife's grave. After making some tentative advances, she learned he was on the verge of remarrying—and moved on quickly.

In the course of the conversation, with her desperate efforts to attract him, all of her lonely, barren life revealed itself and, more reluctantly, so did his.

There was one curious scene where, in her eagerness to impress him, she perched on a corner of his wife's tombstone and gave him her impression of Helen Morgan singing a blues song. At the end, he gently rebuffed her, and at the end, she was following another man, who might be a widower, to another part of the graveyard.

Maureen Stapleton played the drab, shy spinster with delight and with spurts of inept boldness that chilled the spectator. Martin Balsam, as the widower, brought to the role just the right touches of sympathy and gentleness, even when he was brushing her off.

Recommended tonight: At The Drop of Another Hat, CBS, 10-11 EST, with satirists Michael Flanders and Donald Swann in an adaptation of their Broadway hit.

Everyone joined in the celebrations at the Green Acres Nursing Home Saturday night. Food in abundance was enjoyed as much as a visit from Santa Claus and the gifts he left for all of them. The Canadian Mental Health Association with the sponsors hip of the Catholic Women's League of Belleville made it all possible.

Charged Under Liquor Act

Belleville Police Department officials have expressed concern with the number of minors who are breaking liquor laws.

Minors, generally in the 18-year-old age are being found throughout the city in an intoxicated state. Many have been found in and at the Belleville Shopping Plaza.

Several minors have been charged as the result of this weekend's "activity".

Attorney-General Rules Out Coroner's Inquest on Crash

The Attorney General of Ontario has ruled out any attempt by a Belleville coroner to inquire into a plane crash near Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

Dr. J. Russell Scott — now Belleville's say-nicest — will not hold the inquest he has been seeking for more than six months and which he called at a court action between the federal and provincial governments.

The inquest, into the crash of a Hercules transport plane which killed six airmen north of Bayside, April 27, was interrupted Sept. 24 by the federal government for security reasons.

Dr. Scott, invited to sit at the formal airforce inquiry into the crash, was warned that service personnel were barred from testifying for security reasons.

Sept. 21, when the inquest convened a second time, Belleville lawyer K. G. M. Ross — retained as federal counsel — showed up to inform the coroner the issue was being brought into the courts.

The action would have faced the federal and provincial governments against each other — had it ever been prosecuted before the Ontario Supreme Court.

However, a series of postponements resulted each time the issue was called in court.

Today, Mr. Ross revealed he had received a letter from the provincial Attorney-General's department that the inquest had been discontinued" and that "the coroner will discharge the jury."

Dr. Scott, however, said this afternoon he had no knowledge of the Attorney-General's action.

"I don't know anything about it" said the coroner, "I've nothing on paper yet."

Driver Suffers Skull Fracture

PICTON (Staff) — A one car accident — which occurred about 1.30 a.m. Saturday sent the driver, 29-year-old Charles Kleinsteuber of Cherry Valley to hospital with a fractured skull.

Kleinsteuber was driving to his home in Cherry Valley and was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

The accident occurred a few miles east of Cherry Valley village, the car ending up in a farmer's field some distance from the pavement. The vehicle was completely demolished.

Kleinsteuber was taken to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment and was shortly after, transferred to Kingston General Hospital. Kleinsteuber is the only father of two small children.

Found Injured

PICTON (Staff) — A 23-year-old Picton man, Robert Hudgin of 39 Washington Street, was found by two duck hunters shortly after 5 p.m. Saturday in his car in a boggy area of Salmon Point, injured and in a dazed condition. Hudgins had severe head injuries and a pistol was found in the car. Picton OPP, who are investigating the occurrence, said that the young man had been in the car some 24 hours before he was discovered.

Police say that Hudgin had lost a lot of blood from the head wound and the injured man was rushed to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment and then transferred to Kingston General Hospital. Hudgin, who is single and employed by a Kingston survey firm underwent surgery Sunday.

Santa Visits Nursing Home

The undertaking included the efforts of volunteer community leaders taking an interest in a program providing special care under the Canadian Mental Health Association, Belleville branch. The branch shepherds 15 nursing homes in the district with an enrollment of 350.

Behind the worthy project is the Catholic Women's League of St. Michael's church of Belleville. Mrs. Paul Kelly is chairman of the homes for special care committee and the social action committee which co - ordinated the arrangements here on Saturday is convened by Mrs. Son Ackerman.

The entertainment for the party was a family effort with Terry McCabe of Belleville playing Santa Claus distributing gifts, his wife Eileen helping as volunteer, and their son Peter providing piano music for the carol singing.

Nations Discuss British Entry to Common Market

BRUSSELS (AP) — Britain's friends in the European Common Market launched a two-day effort today to open negotiations on Britain's membership application. President de Gaulle was expected to balk them again.

Foreign ministers or their representatives from all the member countries—West Germany, Italy, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—assembled for the meeting of the Common Market Council. Britain was not invited.

Five of the six members want to start negotiations with Britain, the Republic of Ireland, Norway and Denmark, and the sooner the better. Only France is opposed. But de Gaulle has insisted on keeping a veto for such matters, and the others have failed to budge him.

The five say they want a clear answer by Tuesday from the French on whether negotiations can start so that everyone can see who is responsible.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany has threatened to hold up action on a matter of vital interest to France, Jean Rey, president of the market's executive commission, predicted Friday that any crisis must end in three or four months with a compromise on the prospective new members.

Well informed sources said he was working on a proposal. It could include the opening of talks without making clear if they were designed to lead to full membership for Britain or not.

Separatist Quebec--A Future Source of Uranium for de Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — To the question of why President de Gaulle has chosen to spoil good relations with Canada and work openly for the secession of Quebec, well-informed sources say the answer lies in rich uranium deposits recently discovered in the French-speaking province.

Access to a sure supply of uranium is essential for the development of France's nuclear force, the basis for de Gaulle's grand strategy.

France tried in 1966 to buy Canadian uranium. But when French negotiators refused to comply with Canadian conditions that the uranium be used for peaceful purposes and that its use be subject to safeguard inspection, the deal collapsed.

At the time, it was believed that Canada's major uranium area were in Ontario and Saskatchewan, both English-speaking provinces. Now it has been learned that a discovery of a large uranium deposit was made in Quebec within the last 12 months.

The discovery was in the Mistanki district northeast of Chibougamau, about 325 miles north of Montreal.

In Montreal on July, de Gaulle gave what was regarded as a boost to Quebec's separatists when he shouted "Vive le Quebec libre"—Long live free Quebec.

Immediately afterward, members of de Gaulle's entourage attempted to diminish the significance of de Gaulle's cry, saying the president was praising the almost-existing freedom of French-speaking Canadians in Quebec.

However, at his Nov. 27 press conference, de Gaulle dispelled any doubts about what he had meant. He said separatist sentiment, which he tried to aid, "will lead inevitably to Quebec's accession to the rank of a sovereign state."

A sovereign Quebec could establish its own regulations about furnishing strategic materials to other countries and would be free from the authority of Canada's five-man Atomic Energy Control Board, which acts as a watchdog for uranium exports.

Observers saw significance in the visit to Quebec City last September of French Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte.

At the end of his visit, Peyrefitte signed with Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson an agreement promising French cultural and economic aid to the province, and both parties agreed to "concerted studies and research in the domain of nuclear energy . . . in the region of northern Quebec."

Up to then, there was no confirmation that any uranium was to be had in Quebec. In its 1966 report on world uranium and thorium resources, the Organization for Economic Co-operation said:

"Reserves in the Blind River-Elliot Lake area of Ontario constitute 75 per cent of the total in Canada. The reserves . . . in the Beaver Lodge area of Saskatchewan comprise six per cent and the . . . deposits in the Bancroft area of Ontario make up about one per cent."

The exact site of the Mistanki deposit was not known here. It is said to be in a geological setting similar to the Elliot Lake deposits, which are the richest in the world.

Arms for South Africa

Wilson Challenged by Cabinet Revolt

LONDON (AP) — A cabinet revolt arising from a ban on shipment of arms to South Africa challenged Prime Minister Wilson in his role as leader.

Never before have a group of the men Wilson picked for leading posts taken sides against him. A majority of the cabinet, say reliable reports, wants the arms ban—a protest against South African apartheid policies —eased in 1968.

Wilson had intended making a clear restatement in the House of Commons today of the government positions against shipping arms. But after a stormy cabinet session Friday it is doubted he will do more than pledge there will be no immediate change of policy.

Wilson's setback at the hands of his own ministers means he now has something less than firm backing for the stand he took in November, 1964, when the arms ban was imposed.

The solid group ranged against him is said to be headed by Fo-reign Secretary George Brown and to include Home Secretary James Callaghan, Defence Minister Denis Healey, Labo. Minister Ray Gunter, and perhaps Roy Jenkins, the new chancellor of the exchequer.

Some political commentators saw this impressive lineup against the prime minister as a potential threat to the government's very existence.

The row will stem this week from the cabinet room at 10 Downing Street to the floor of the House of Commons and to a meeting of the Labor party's national executive committee, scheduled for Wednesday.

The tone and temper of the executive committee is recognized as decidedly left-wing. That means support for Wilson in his stand is long the ban.

Much of the pressure for reversing shipment of arms to South Africa comes from businessmen, who fear the consequences to their own trade if it becomes South Africa's policy to turn elsewhere—say to France—for imports.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

THE "NEW LOOK" IN BOY SCOUT TRAINING

Long range plans are being made for the "New Look" in Boy Scout training which will become effective with September 1968. The program is being completely updated to meet the needs of modern youth and is adaptable to the needs and interests of the boys. Greater participation of parents and friends on a part time basis will be one of the main features of interest to adults.

At the last meeting of the Belleville District Council reports indicated that the quality of Scouting in the district has generally improved. The training and public relations committees are formulating plans to acquaint parents and friends as well as the public generally through literature, talks and training. In co-operation with the District Commissioner and staff, their year in the saw schemes. At the last census there were 1200 boys, 115 leaders and some 200 members of Group Committees, Auxiliaries and the District Council supporting the boys.

The District Commissioner and his staff have been working diligently reorganizing Groups and getting prepared for the advent of the new program.

A good report of the many activities of the District Ladies' Auxiliaries was given. During the year 16 pounds of used postage stamps were collected and sent to Ottawa to be sold for the Support of International Scouting for the Handicapped. This far exceeded the quota set of 100,000 stamps for the District for Centennial Year. It was also announced that the District Centennial Songbook, another Centennial project of the ladies, too would be available.

The Health and Safety Committee reported that an average of 35 Scouts were participating in the swimming and lifesaving training at the YMCA on Saturday mornings.

Tentative plans were made to send 16 Scouts and one leader to the First Ontario Jamboree for Boy Scouts to be held near Minico, Ont. next August. Consideration was also given to sending a representative to the Arctic Jamboree.

Reports from Groups indicate that the general Scouting in Belleville is in a healthy condition and receiving greater support from sponsors and group committees.

Tattered Pearson Photograph Holds Memories for Friend

TORONTO (CP) — A tattered photograph of a youthful Lester Pearson holds many memories for Dr. William Dafoe, a personal friend of the prime minister for more than 30 years.

Mr. Dafoe, a retired obstetrician who delivered Mr. Pearson's eldest son Geoffrey, tells the story of an ordinary young man from a strict Methodist background who became prime minister of Canada.

Mr. Pearson and Dr. Dafoe started university together in the fall of 1913—Dr. Dafoe in medicine and Mr. Pearson in history at Victoria College, University of Toronto.

"He was a bright boy," Dr. Dafoe said in an interview. "He could play tennis all afternoon then sit down and write a history essay without a moment's hesitation. He could marshall his thoughts so well."

When the First World War broke out, both men took officer training on campus and in 1915 boarded a troopship bound for Europe with a hospital unit —as privates.

"When we landed in England, Lester got a taste of war's unpleasantness when he was made night orderly, shifting bedpans and that sort of thing," Dr. Dafoe said.

Three times their unit was equipped and put aboard ship, only to disembark again at the last moment because of a change of plans. When they were finally on their way to the Mediterranean, the Canadian troops were ordered to have a bath by being hosed down in a tarpaulin.

Dr. Dafoe and Mr. Pearson stood dripping and nude on the deck as British sailors made jokes about 'dirty Canucks.'

The two men shared the same tent for two years after landing in Salonica in northern Greece.

Dr. Dafoe laughs at Mr. Pearson to play lacrosse and years later the future prime minister toured Canada and the United States with an Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team.

Soon afterwards, the war took them in different directions—Dr. Dafoe went into the Royal Navy and Mr. Pearson into the Royal Flying Corps. They didn't meet again until 1918 when they were both back at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Dafoe thinks the prime minister's resignation may have been deliberately timed.

"He may want to approach this constitutional conference in February without his hands tied by the party, he said.

"Perhaps it will has the greatest achievement ahead of him."

Edmonton Publisher Dies in Toronto Hotel

TORONTO (CP) — Basil Dean, vice president and publisher of the Edmonton Journal, died in his sleep in a hotel here Saturday, his wife said.

Mr. Dean arrived in Toronto Thursday for a meeting Friday of the executive committee of Southam Press Ltd.

He attended the meeting, then returned to his room, where he was found dead Saturday. A coroner said death was due to a coronary attack.

Mr. Dean was appointed to his position with the Edmonton Journal Feb. 1, 1962. He became a director of Southam Press Ltd. at the same time and was appointed to the executive committee in April, 1963.

He was a former vice - president and publisher of the Calgary Herald, former president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Press Institute and director of The Canadian Press.

Born in Newbury, England, 56 miles west of London, Mr. Dean was the Harmsworth Gold Medal as top journalism graduate at the University of London in 1963.

He worked for the London Daily Herald for two years before coming to Canada under a journalists' exchange program. He went first to the Hamilton Spectator for four months, then to the Edmonton Journal for three.

He returned to The Spectator as a member of the permanent staff in Jan., 1939, and three months later, as war loomed in Europe, was assigned to the military beat.

Commissioned press liaison officer with the Royal Canadian Air Force in October, 1941, he married a Spectator reporter, Miss Muriel Lorraine Dean Brown of Hamilton, on embarkation leave Christmas Day, then left for 2½ years' duty in London.

He returned to Edmonton in 1944 as public relations officer at Northwest Air Command and, after discharge with the rank of squadron leader, went back to London as assistant in the Southam News Services bureau there.

Mr. Dean returned to Canada as associate editor of the Calgary Herald in 1948, and was appointed vice-president and publisher of The Herald in 1953.

Canada Cement to Close Point Anne Plant for Two Months

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Canada Cement Company will temporarily close down production at its Point Anne plant—as 1966 begins.

Starting Jan. 1, the company will cease production for "approximately" two months, company officials announced yesterday.

The shutdown was expected and the estimated 120 production workers, affected will still receive about 80 per cent of take-home pay under their current labor contract. The Point Anne operation employs about 200 salaried and hourly-paid workers.

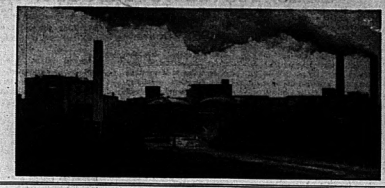
The company called in employees yesterday afternoon to make the announcement. It confirmed earlier rumors, and a warning some weeks ago from company officials that market conditions would force a lay-off at the plant.

Plant superintendent J. M. Legate firmly denied that the shutdown would be permanent.

The company's packing and shipping facilities will continue to operate as usual during the layoff.

A slump in Toronto-area markets — where the Point Anne plant's production is channelled —is the main reason given by Canada Cement for the layoff.

Said the formal announcement: "Although it's customary to curtail production at the company plants during the winter months, the present shutdown is due to the slower pace in the construction industry in the markets served . . ."



"The employees of the plant will be recalled just as soon as the demand for cement necessitates resumption — which we anticipate will be around March 1."

While the blow was expected, its impact also was cushioned by a benefit clause in the workers' current two-year contract, signed earlier this year with the Canada Cement company.

Added to unemployment insurance, the idled workers should receive up to 80 per cent of their take-home pay "in most cases", said Mr. Legate.

Canada Cement has been a unit of long standing in the Quinte economy. It has been in operation for more than a half-century.

Hit-run Driver Kills Louise Austin, 9

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

A hit-and-run accident last evening claimed the life of nine-year-old Mary Elizabeth Louise Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Austin of 373 Sidney Street in Belleville. Six hours later Bernard Ingram, age 33, of Redneersville was arrested and charged with failing to remain at the scene of the accident. Ingram this morning was remanded until Friday and bail was set at $5,000.

The accident occurred around 5.30 p.m. on Sidney Street just south of its intersection with Graham Street. The young girl was returning home from a Brownie meeting at Our Lady of Fatima separate school. She was accompanied by her eight-year-old sister, Theresa.

It was the third fatal accident in Belleville during the past month.

There were no witnesses to the accident. Theresa had already crossed the road and when she turned around for her sister she could not see anything. Theresa ran home to tell her father. In the meantime, Jim Patterson of Patterson Motors passed by and saw the little girl on the side of the road. He stopped and ran into Parsons' Cleaners, where Bruce Parsons placed a call to the police.

The ambulance had already taken the child to Belleville General Hospital when Mr. Austin arrived at the scene. The area of Sidney Street where the accident occurred is very dark, Mr. Patterson said. "I just barely saw her out of the corner of my eye."

The girl had been knocked out of her boots and carried 90 feet by the impact. According to Inspector Ralph Blatchford "the child was most probably killed instantly." An unopened candy cane on the road emphasized the untimely tragedy.

No indication of what kind of car had been involved in the accident could be found at the scene. "There was no broken glass or anything," said one officer. However an anonymous phone call to the police early in the evening led police to make a careful examination of Bernard Ingram's car. He was then placed under arrest and charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

She is resting at the O'Brien Rutledge Funeral Residence from where the funeral will be held Thursday to St. Michael's Church for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be in St. James' Cemetery.

Heart Transplant Patient In Very Serious Condition

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Heart transplant patient Louis Washkansky is "in a very serious condition," his doctors said today, but they added they have not given up hope for him.

Dr. Jo. H. Wolfaardt, pathologist for the operation, said there had been "a very dramatic decrease" in Washkansky's white corpuscles count in the last 24 hours and a transfusion was planned.

The doctors Monday night reported a deterioration in the condition of the 55-year-old wholesale grocer, who developed lung complications Saturday.

"While still considering the various possible explanation for the decrease in the patient's white cell count, it seems likely a process of rejection is taking place," Dr. Botha said.

"This rejection may be affecting his own tissues in the lungs and circulating white blood cells," he added.

It was decided to transfuse Washkansky "vigorously" with white blood cells from normal people, Dr. Botha said. The transfusion would be carried out in a matter of hours, he added.

The effect of this form of treatment was quite remarkable on occasions, he said.

Ever since the operation, Washkansky's doctors had believed the greatest danger to him lay in the body's normal tendency to reject organs and other foreign bodies implanted in it. To curb this rejection, he had been given various drugs but they in turn tended to lower his body's normal resistance to infection.

Washkansky also is a diabetic, more susceptible to infection than normal people.

Navajos Ask Help

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Navajo reservation officials are appealing for federal and state help as severe weather conditions continued today in Southwestern areas blanketed by six days of snow.

Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai, in asking President Johnson to declare the 16,000,000-acre reservation a disaster area, said the situation was the most critical in the modern-day history of the Navajo nation.

Three persons were known dead on the reservation as a result of back-to-back winter storms which in the last week had claimed at least 32 lives in Arizona, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico.

And the end was not in sight.

Heavy snow warnings were posted today for mountain areas of California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and southern Idaho.

Scouts Bearing Gifts

Three Boy Scouts, members of the 1st. Belleville Troop, mount the stairs at Fire Hall No. 1 —carrying gifts that the troops collected to be distributed by the firemen to needy children. The Scouts are Glen Sine, 12, Richard Fort, 16, and David Yaeger, 14.

Levesque Gets Chance to 'Sell' Plan to Labor

QUEBEC (CP) — The province's two biggest labor organizations announced Monday night that they are meeting with Rene Levesque to discuss his proposal to establish a sovereign Quebec state within a Canadian common market.

The announcement was made at a press conference following a high-level meeting between the Quebec Labor Federation and the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

Mr. Levesque, former cabinet minister in the 1960-66 Liberal government, quit the Liberal party earlier this year to advocate a "sovereign state" theory which the Liberals labelled as separatist.

President Louis Laberge of the 300,000-member labor federation, Quebec branch of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Mr. Levesque will be invited to explain his thesis before a joint meeting of Quebec labor leaders.

Also to be invited to the meeting are the Quebec Teachers' Corporation which represents about 60,000 teachers and the Catholic Farmers' Union whose membership is estimated at about 50,000.

The QLF, the CFU and the CNTU backed federalism with special status for Quebec in a joint brief to the legislature's constitutional committee in 1966, making organized labor one of the province's biggest anti-separatist forces.

Summit Meeting On War Is Likely

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A summit meeting on Vietnam is likely here Thursday when leaders of the nations fighting the Viet Cong assemble to pay tribute to the late Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt.

A speech today by interim Prime Minister John McEwen supports" forecasts that a summit meeting is imminent, but there was no official announcement.

Leaders expected to attend the memorial service for Holt are President Johnson, South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu, South Korean President Chung Hee Park, Thailand Premier Thanom Kittikachorn, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines and McEwen.

McEwen, who will be host to overseas representatives at the memorial service in Melbourne Friday, said today that he expects to have discussions of mutual interest with them.

CNR Plan Encourages Staff to Retire Early

MONTREAL (CP) — An early - retirement incentive program for CNR employees aged between 60 and 65 was announced today by W. T. Wilson, vice-president for personnel and labor relations.

He said the company is offering to pay employees between 60 and 65 the amount of pension they would forfeit by early retirement, plus an additional "dislocation" bonus of from $500 to $2,000.

Mr. Wilson said the plan, which is being instituted on a trial basis, should increase early retirement from the present level of about 300 persons to about 800 persons a year.

The move should tighten CNR's work force and minimize layoffs of younger men.

Before introduction of the system, a 60-year-old employee making $500 a month would have been eligible for a pension of $198.25 a month. If he waited until the age of 65 his pension would have increased to $225 a month.

Under the new system, if the employee decided to retire at age 60, CNR would pay the difference between $198.25 and $225 for each month his pension is in force, plus the additional dislocation allowance at the time of retirement.

Ellis Reviews Record in Parting Salute to Council

The session was one of the shortest of the year, and recorded a parting salute from Mayor Jack Ellis who is bowing out of municipal life after four years as city council head.

Last night's wrap - up also saw city appointments made to the enlarged Bay of Quinte District High School Board.

Four of the five aldermen - elect newcomers, Mrs. Robin Jeffrey, Gerald Joyce, Paul Russell and Richard Ellis, sat in on the session as observers.

Mayor Ellis in his parting salute to council charted the course which he said the city ship of state has been heading, noting that the course had not been set erratically, nor by any one person, but rather by the total effort of the council body.

He said the plans were complete for the new community centre.

Also plans were complete and all approvals were in for the Dundas Street bridge project.

Tied in closely with the Dundas Street bridge project according to Mayor Ellis is the downtown redbuilding and urban renewal studies of the central business district and the Foster Ward area which are now well into the planning stages.

The city's official plan, which Mayor Ellis said was "one of my few disappointments because it is not complete," will be ready for publication next year.

Plans are complete and contracts awarded for the servicing of the Foster Ward and Hillcrest areas.

Plans are well underway for the industrial area in northwest Belleville and the Industrial Commission itself is now beginning to make a mark on industrial development in the city.

These, the mayor said, must be proceeded with at once if the city was to continue any form of industrial development.

Loyalist College, so important to the economy of the city and the whole Quinte district has now proceeded to the point where it can be considered a fact.

In a review of his municipal career, Mayor Ellis said that no one likes to lose an election "especially an aggressive individual like myself."

"To all those who have remained so faithful and loyal over the years, I extend my deepest and most heartfelt thanks. Nor do I hold any reproach for those very few who changed their mind this year."

"This," he said, "is the very heart of our democratic system and I would have it no other way."

He congratulated the new council and wished them success in the years to come.

Mayor Ellis said no one should try to take credit for all the accomplishments of a body such as city council, but he felt the results and achievements must in some manner be a reflection of the leadership given.

He noted that when he came to council in 1957, the city had a population of 21,077, an assessment of $20,423,421 and a budget of $2,064,781. There were seven public schools, two high schools and four separate schools and all sewers dumped directly into the Bay of Quinte.

This year the city population was 32,230; the assessment was $108,202,550, and the year's budget $6,175,781. There are 13 public schools, four high schools, seven separate schools, and water pollution control is a fact.

Mayor Ellis expressed appreciation to the many people who he said had contributed so much to the development of the city. Naming only a few he referred to ex-mayor A. McLean Haig, and to city hall department heads and staff who together were quite "one of the finest civic civil service groups in the province."

Mayor Ellis also strongly commended the Quinte Arts Council which he said had the ability to contribute much to the community. He said the Salvation Army building purchased this year would provide a wonderful meeting place for young people — young people who with a little encouragement and help will always make their own way.

The county welfare unit needed only a formality to complete and city relations with the county were said to be at an all-time high.

In a brief review of the city's financial position, Mayor Ellis said the total estimated debt at December 31 this year, was $12,253,752.

Of this amount $12,386,540 was debentured, while assets approved but not yet debentured totalled $1,009,968.

Also included in the total estimated debt was an O.H.-S.C. hospital loan of $367,250.

Debenture charges in 1968 would cost the city a total of $891,275, or 8.1 mills. This is an increase of 1.1 mills over the 1967 levy for debenture charges. If a debenture of $1,000,000 is sold early in the new year there would be an increase of approximately $25,000 which would increase the 1968 debenture levy by a further .2 mills, bringing the 1968 levy for this purpose to 8.3 mills.

In conclusion, Mayor Ellis again congratulated the incoming council and offered his services to them.

"In any event I shall be on hand January 7th to receive my plaque with other retiring members and I shall always watch with interest the affairs of this city which my wife and I have adopted as our home and which we have come to love."

Hospital Board Planning Addition--New Administration Office

Even before the new seven and a half million dollar addition to the Belleville General Hospital is completed, members of the hospital board of governors are planning more construction.

Alderman Jack Deacon, one of city council's representatives on the hospital board member-elect on the city public utilities commission, told council last night that a new building to house administration offices and a medical records department was being planned.

Alderman Deacon said the Ontario Hospital Services Commission was reluctant to have the old 19th century wing used as a temporary administration area as had been intended and plans for the new building were now underway.

He said the board expected to negotiate the cost of the new building through the OHSC without recourse to either city or county council.

As the scheme developed, the alderman said council would be kept informed.

Mayor Jack Ellis in his parting remarks to yesterday's final session of council, also referred to the new construction plans at the hospital.

"At the risk of releasing secrets, I can tell you that the removal of the old wings of the hospital and the building of a new administration wing, laundry room, etc., is now possible at no cost to the taxpayers of Belleville," he said.

In a review of hospital affairs over the past year, Alderman Deacon said the expansion of hospital facilities seemed to be progressing favorably although the contractor was eight to 10 weeks behind schedule.

However, he did not expect complete occupancy until late spring as food service, supply distribution and furnishings — to say nothing of personnel — must all be co-ordinated.

Alderman Deacon commended the new hospital administrator, Mr. Philip Rickard, who, he said, was giving professional leadership in a most capable way. The Board was said extremely gratified with Mr. Rickard's accomplishments to date.

Appreciation was also expressed to board chairman Harleigh Hamilton, who, Ald. Deacon said, had devoted considerable time and tact to the position during the past year.

United Community Services Want $5,000 to Pay Expenses

The Belleville United Community Services is asking for another $5,000 from city council to help pay its 1967 operating expenses.

Early this year the community services organization requested $10,000 from the city but the amount was cut in half with $5,000 being provided in the year's budget.

Yesterday, Mr. Maurice Stotesbury, acting as spokesman for a delegation of more than a dozen United Community Services representatives, said the $5,000 received was not sufficient to pay operating expenses. He asked that council reconsider and make another $5,000 available for 1967.

But Mayor Jack Ellis said that council at this time of year could not spend money which had not been budgeted for.

Even if the city had a surplus at the end of the year, volunteer unbudgeted money would be illegal, he said.

Alderman Enos David said the obvious solution was for the Community Services to carry its deficit over into the next year and return to council with the request in 1968.

On motion of Alderman Keenath Soden the request for the additional $5,000 was tabled for consideration by the 1968 council.

$100,450 Donated to United Fund

George Dalnard, campaign chairman, announced Friday that the Fund had reached $100,420 or 86 per cent of its goal. Although last year's campaign went over the top to reach the unprecedented sum of $110,200, this year's effort paralleled the 1965 drive.

The only campaign division to surpass last year's record was the Federal Service division headed by H. W. "Pete" Karn of Canada Manpower.

"Of course," Mr. Dalnard pointed out, "there will be more money coming in, even though the campaign is over. We expect to receive about a thousand dollars from 34 in-house campaigns in the commercial division which have been completed but have not reported or returned."

Response through direct mail had been overwhelming. "We received $11,000 by this means," said Mr. Dalnard. The direct mail system was new this year and was instituted by Bob Porter, executive director of UCS.

The 1968 chairman is expected to be announced shortly but work on the 1968 campaign actually began several weeks ago.

New Arena Will Be Issue In Council Early in Year

Construction of the long-proposed and much debated arena at the Belleville Fairgrounds will again be before city council early in the New Year.

This was made clear yesterday at the final session of the 1967 city council when Alderman Kenneth Soden said that early in January he would recommend that a levy of two-thirds of a mill be included in next year's tax rate and again in 1969 to provide a fund to get the arena underway.

He felt certain that considerable additional money could be raised through private subscriptions and said the balance of the arena cost could be debentured.

He said if council tackled the arena question early in the New Year, construction could be started and we won't be discussing it for the next 24 months.

Alderman Soden said he had run for re-election on the arena ticket and felt his re-election was a plebescite for the arena.

"I feel that my re-election means the people want a modern arena," he said.

Alderman Soden said the election mandate given arena supporters indicated that today's electorate had new ideas calling for progress.

The idea of 20 years ago entertained by older members of council were now out of date, he suggested.

Alderman Jack Allin, who went down to defeat in the municipal election, said he had been in public life since 1932.

He said he had always stood on the principle of the taxpayer having the right to vote on expenditures in the magnitude of a million dollars.

"And I still feel they should have that right," he said.

Alderman Enos David suggested that sometimes the "old" men had more progressive ideas than the younger men.

And Alderman Arthur Keenan hoped he was not too old to serve the citizens. He said he stood for election on a specific program and assured he would try not to let the electors down.

$24,000 Invested in New Arena

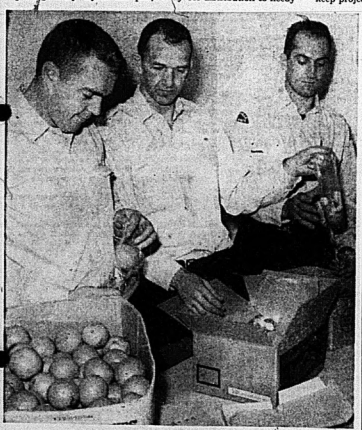
Whether or not the proposed community centre and arena for the Belleville fairgrounds goes ahead next year, the city already has approximately $24,000 invested in the project.

This is the amount in architects' and consultant's fees which have been approved for payment by city council.

Yesterday as part of the year-end accounts, council approved payment of $16,748 to local architects Watson and Wiegand for drawing of plans. Earlier, council approved payment of close to $7,000 to the same firm.

Alderman Donald Williams told council yesterday that final plans and specifications for the community centre were now completed in readiness for a tender call.



In addition to the fees paid Watson and Wiegand an amount of $1,000 had been paid to consulting engineers Procter and Redfern who at the outset had been retained to prepare preliminary drawings.

However, arena committee members decided that a local architect should draw the plans and the Belleville firm was retained.

Happiness Is A Pile-up of Presents!

Firefighters began tackling this mammoth mound of Christmas gifts this morning. In the next two days they must package every toy in the pile, ready for distribution to needy city families. The firemen figure they'll be giving gifts to about 1,000 children this year, after a successful appeal for funds to keep project going.

Thousands of Sweet Teeth

Firemen Package Gifts for Needy

The monster pile of toys, books, games, candies and fruit at the West Moira Street firehall, also marks the happy end to a once-serious quest.

Just two weeks ago the firemen declared a state of emergency for the Christmas project — which has been operating without a break for about 30 years.

For the first time in three decades, funds were negligible. The money is needed to supplement the toys donated and repaired by local service organizations.

An appeal was issued and the response rallied the funds sufficiently to guarantee the project another Christmas of life.

Today the last donations were expected and the firefighters set to work wrapping up their mammoth gift-giving for another year.

Trenton Youth Charged With Theft of Car

TRENTON — A Trenton youth was hailed into magistrate's court here today after the early morning crash of a brand-new high-powered automobile.

Edward Lyle Burke, 19, of 37 McGill Street, was taken before Magistrate R. C. Jackson charged with theft of the car after it crashed on a county road near Smithfield.

Police said the vehicle — a 1968 Oldsmobile — was stolen during the night from Weese Motors sales lot.

Damage to the registily-delivered car was estimated at $2,000.

Police said a girl, Joan Blakely, 17, of Trenton, suffered head and face injuries in the mishap.

She was admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital but was not considered in serious condition.

Council Names Members to H.S. Board

City appointments to the 1968 Bay of Quinte District High School Board were made yesterday by Belleville city council.

Announcer Stanley Burke Gloats Over CBC News Survey

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — The poor old Canadian Broadcasting Corporation which has been getting its lumps from Judy LaMarsh and the House of Commons at last has something nice to talk about.

It appears that a survey organized by the Television Bureau of Advertising has concluded that some Canadians like television news better than newspapers.

Moreover, this poll concludes that these particular citizens are more inclined to believe television news than newspaper reports.

The CBC greeted these claims with great joy and in short order the news was being purveyed to the nation at the national television network level.

And he did this dead on the prestigious 11 o'clock TV news.

Mr. Burke appeared to relate the happy tidings about television with considerable relish. He smiled winningly and even twinkled his eyes a wee bit.

It seems that a long time ago now that Stanley used to be a newspaper reporter, pure and simple, earning his living by writing despatches for Vancouver.

That is all over now — Stanley has gone over to the other side.

To give him credit, there is a suggestion that on this particular newscast he mentioned something about the survey having been commissioned by the CBC. But he rather mumbled a bit and this particular intelligence may not have been accurately heard.

Nonetheless the burden of his message was clear — television is oh so much better than newspaper and radio.

Subsequently some of the statistics of the survey were reprinted by Dennis Braithwaite in the Globe and Mail. Some 1,295 Canadians were polled and 45 percent said TV was their main source of news. Another 42 percent named newspapers and 30 percent opted for radio.

The arithmetic here is interesting but let's not fuss about it — there is worse to come for the daily press.

The poll also advised that when the 1,295 Canadians were asked which news media they were most inclined to believe, 43 percent picked TV, 22 percent the newspapers, and 21 percent radio. The other 14 percent? — oh well.

It would be interesting to know just where this survey was conducted and precisely what questions were asked and in what manner.

And why 1,295 Canadians?

The boldest of the allegations of this extraordinary poll is that most Canadians place their trust in the news conveyed by television.

Well, where does the CBC get its news?

The corporation may have some mysterious sources that haven't yet come to light but the fact is that most of its news comes from the Canadian Press.

And the Canadian Press is the co-operative newsgathering agency of Canadian newspapers.

So when the CBC presents its television and radio newscasts it is relying primarily on CP and newspapers across Canada.

The corporation of course has its own correspondents in Canada and abroad and most of them are good reporters who do a fine job for the CBC.

But it would be silly for the CBC to claim that it provides most of its own news. The material it is presenting over the airwaves is predominantly that which is provided in the newspapers.

The shortcoming of the CBC newscasts is that naturally the films cannot have the depth and length of those carried in the press.

It may be that what the survey was trying to convey was the attachment television viewers can develop for the men who read the news.

The former CBC national news announcer, Earl Cameron, presented a hitherto unused, solid, responsible and obviously a man you could trust to bring you the plain, unvarnished facts.

People identify with their newscasters. They feel they know the man and they develop an acceptance of what he says.

And as long as the main announcers stick to Canadian Press and newspaper copy, they won't go far wrong.

Immigration Pattern

Following the Sues crisis of 1956 there was a big surge in emigration to Canada by Britons dissatisfied with their country's political and economic fortunes.

Many came only to return at the first opportunity. They had been attracted by overenthusiastic and often misleading advice given by Canadian immigration authorities in Britain.

In many instances jobs the immigration counsellors said would be easily obtained turned out to be figments of their imagination. Alternatively, a job might be available only for the applicant to discover his training was inadequate for the work involved.

Today all that is changed. Immigration procedures and standards have been placed on a firm basis. Immigration is related more to manpower skills and job availability and the possibility of a Britisher drifting like those described above are more remote.

However, there is an echo of those days of a decade ago in an unusual court action in Winnipeg. There a British structural engineer who says he found Canada a land of false promise is suing the Canadian government for $5,867.

The applicant claims the amount on grounds that nobody warned him his professional credentials were not transferable. He has no university degree but advanced through training on the job. In 1956 he was admitted to the Institute of Structural Engineers. Canadian officials in Britain had told him, "we just can't get enough people with your experience. You'll be able to double your salary in 12 months. But Frederick Blake, 52, says he is making only $7,500 in Winnipeg compared with the sterling equivalent of $9,000 he earned in Britain.

Whatever the outcome of Mr. Blake's petition to the Exchequer Court the circumstances are of interest. They illustrate what today is an outworn system of educational standards. There was a time when a year's job training, apprenticeship or probationary period was the path to progress in business. Nowadays job training, and even retraining, are still given, but the main emphasis is on university education and the degree status that they offer.

The same situation is seen in the nursing profession. Nurses who are very highly qualified though long experience of caring for the sick today can find their hard-won professional status less valued than that of younger people entering the profession with university training.

Drug Trafficking

Canada in recent years has been the scene not only of a number of celebrated spy investigations but has also achieved notoriety as a centre of drug trafficking.

Occasionally the two are linked, although it will take a great deal more probing to determine the motives behind recent large shipments of heroin seized at Dorval airport in Montreal. Likely as not it is simply those members of the underworld specializing in drug trafficking who will be hurt most by the seizure of heroin valued at a total of $25,000,000 on the illegal market.

The shipments were uncovered in travellers' baggage on successive days at Dorval. The largest haul of nearly 43 pounds worth $20 million was taken from a passenger arriving from the Argentine. Police anticipate more arrests in this latest incident in the constant battle against drug trafficking.

That the investigation is reported to involve one of the biggest drug rings in recent memory is indicative of the formidable task facing law enforcement authorities in this sphere. For the uninitiated, at Dorval it was quite a day. One officer, Noel Gauthier, played a major role in both seizures. In one instance he found the heroin in a false-bottomed suitcase.

Harold Holt

Choppy seas and strong tides are not unknown even in the Australian summer and it is this lethal combination that has cost the life of Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt.

There is both irony and poignancy in the circumstances of Mr. Holt's last brush with the ocean he loved. Despite the onerous nature of his duties he still found time to go swimming and skin diving.

The prime minister's interest in sport and fitness was symbolic of the youthfulness and vigor that characterize the Australian nation.

In UK It's OK to Cuss the Boss

Windsor Star

Britain has been the country in which the greatest importance has been attached to the freedom of the individual. Sometimes it is carried to extraordinary lengths. For instance, a Manchester court has ruled that swearing at the boss is not a serious industrial misconduct and that his employer, who fired him, had to take him back.

This will bring cheers to millions of the workers of the world — or those parts in which this British ruling may be accepted. We doubt if it will be similarly acclaimed by the bosses.

In the bad old days it was the prerogative of bosses to cuss lazy, indifferent or stupid workers—or perhaps for no good reason at all except that the boss was in an ornery mood. But heaven forbid his being cussed back; that would mean a quick sack.

Actually, it was never as unequal as all that. The workers could, and often did, cuss the boss out but not always—he did it under his breath. This lacked something in the way of satisfaction, but did allow a worker with a wide choice of cuss words considerable pleasure. We know what he thought of the boss, even if the boss did not.

In this more enlightened age there should be much less reason for bosses cursing their workers, or vice versa. But, if that Manchester ruling be widely accepted, it inaugurates a new era in industrial relations. It won't be more placid but will be more colorful.

But, be careful. Some bosses may be adept at circumventing this court decision.

Now—A Cure For Hiccups!

Hamilton Spectator

People with very serious hiccup problems will be tickled to learn that some Chicago medical researchers believe they have found a remedy for the irritating malady. It consists of inserting a tube into a nostril and stimulating the nerves in the back of the mouth where nasal passages join the throat.

Those of us with tiny hiccup problems will be dismayed, however. Who wants one's larynx jostled merely because of a stray hiccup or two? Far better the run and treacle treatment. You know, head well back, mouth wide open, and then—glug. Delicious. And it paralyzes the pharynx nine times out of ten.

Water—Too Many Agencies

Ottawa Journal

Water supplies have become such an urgent and complex problem that North American governments are embarrassed. Suddenly, pollution and conservation demand united action to preserve a vital resource and the response is uncoordinated.

A temptation in both Washington and Ottawa is to seek an "authority" to which the politicians can pass the water pall. This body would take responsibility and make decisions and get water worries out of legislatures.

A. D. P. Heeney, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, shoots down this idea so far as it applies to IJC in a booklet he has written for the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

His marksmanship is to be praised.

Heeney writes, that the suggestion — "which has gained some recent currency" — would endow IJC with power to manage boundary waters, apparently with power to license and enforce regulations. He adds:

"This idea appears to derive partly from the 'multiplicity' of agencies now dealing with water problems in Canada and the United States which now have responsibility over water and its uses and the desirability of greater coordination of authority. It also originates in understandable impatience with what are regarded as the slow and complicated procedures and the absence of any mandatory character in the commission's conclusions."

Heeney explains that the whole philosophy on which the IJC is based is "quite opposed to the concept of an international body with administrative or even lesser enforcement authority or functions."

He points that Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, a former Canadian section chairman, said the reason the commission was not given policing powers was to prevent it becoming a super-power with authority beyond that of national governments. What it recommends has to be adopted and carried out by other bodies.

That is the way it should be; any idea that there can be a...elected authority to which governments can pass all water responsibility is both unrealistic and dangerous.

Whites Superior?

IQ and Environment Issue

Peterborough Examiner

Dr. William Shockley, the university physicisteum - genius, has run afoul of the federal Labor Department with his claim that the average intelligence of Negroes is less than that of whites. George Blackburn, director of the Fair Employment Practices Branch, states emphatically that such is not the case — and adds that social environments always have a profound effect on a person's intelligence.

Mr. Blackburn is hardly being consistent. If, as he contends perhaps correctly, tests have shown there is no difference in whites and Negroes so far as basic intelligence is concerned, then why point to environment as a causative factor? If environment does play a part, then one would expect the average intelligence of the ghetto - raised Negro to be less than that of the average white. Just what is Mr. Blackburn trying to say?

For his part Dr. Shockley contributes nothing of value in maintaining the mental superiority of the white race. Whether he is right or wrong, it has long been established that a high intelligence quotient is no guarantee of success any more than a low IQ is a sure sign of basic inferiority.

Medicare Could Effect Saving of $500 Million in Improved Public Health

Toronto Star

The basic question about a national health insurance program is not—as medicare opponents would have us believe—whether Canada can afford it.

When the Hall Royal Commission on Health Services looked at the price the Canadian economy was paying in lost production and lost wages because of illness, it concluded in its 1964 report that health care must be given a high priority in the investment of our tax resources.

The commission, which spent nearly three years examining every aspect of health services in Canada, noted there was a high correlation between the number of days an individual is disabled and the size of his income.

It estimated that loss of productivity from non-disabling illness among those normally employed amounted to about $200 million a year.

When the productivity loss from short-term disability—disabled and the mentally ill were added, Canada was losing nearly $1,000 million a year as a direct result of illness.

This is equivalent to 3.8 per cent of our gross national product—the total value of all the goods and services we produce—and 6.4 per cent of the total civilian payroll.

These men and women, the commission said, were the "richest unemployed" and constituted an enormous drain on our economy.

"If lost productivity from illness could be reduced by even one half—say $500 million a year, this would be a sizable contribution to the maintenance of taxes that must be maintained anyway if health and welfare considerations are not to be pushed into the background," the commission concluded.

Increased productivity — and purchasing power — means better living for all of us—is not, of course, the sole economic benefit to be derived from a healthier population.

A public investment in medicare is an investment in one of the most important capital assets of any nation—its people. We need a healthy population to take advantage of educational opportunities, to contribute their talents to society to the longest period possible and to add their taxable incomes to our financial resources.

In economic terms, the commission says, "there is a growing body of opinion in support of the belief that investment in human capital yields returns comparable to investment in fixed capital."

What the potential saving of $500 million resulting from increased productivity by a healthier population is set against the estimated $820 million required for national medicare, the question of cost becomes less significant.

Indeed, the saving far exceeds the country's cost, by bulge by Health Minister Allan MacEachen's analysis. Mr. MacEachen estimates that Canada spends $720 million a year on health care and making medical insurance available to everyone regardless of age, health or income would add only another $100 million.

When the indirect benefits of good health are added, it becomes obvious—even in simple economic terms—that Canada cannot afford to be without a national health insurance program.

Northern Development

Federal Government Feels $20,000,000 for Exploration Justified

EDMONTON (CP) — Northern Development Minister Laing announced last week in the Commons that the federal government would join 30 companies in a three-year, $20,000,000 oil exploration program in the Arctic Archipelago.

That's a lot of money to pour into a northern exploration program, but the participants feel the potential is worth the risk.

C. R. T. Bingley also believes northern development, despite its hazards, is worth the investment.

As manager of the Edmonton branch of the Industrial Development Bank, Mr. Bingley deals with businessmen in Northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories.

"We don't believe northern borrowers provide a greater risk than anyone else in Canada," he said.

"A loan application from a northern businessman is given the same consideration as anyone that goes to our offices elsewhere in the country. Like loan applicants elsewhere, northern businessmen must satisfy us of their need for a loan and meet a few conditions."

The IDB, set up in 1944, is a subsidiary of The Bank of Canada and makes loans to new or existing businesses when money is not available from other lenders.

The IDB's statement of accounts for fiscal 1967 shows 21 N.W.T. businesses had $928,000 in outstanding loans at Sept. 30, compared with 34 loans worth $2,879,000 since Nov. 1, 1944. Average amount of each new loan was $8,000 in 1967 and 1968 compared with $3,000 in 1965 and 1966. Interest rates on new loans follow closely the general current level in the country.

"We can make loans to almost any type of business existing or new," Mr. Bingley said.

"Among the exceptions are daily newspapers and businesses that make most of their money selling alcoholic beverages."

Northerners face a universal bank requirement: they must satisfy officials they will be able to repay the debt and manage the business soundly.

Another factor is that the IDB must be reasonably satisfied the business has increased profit potential.

"Sometimes a loan is like a shot in the arm and can actually increase a businessman's profits," Mr. Bingley said.

The IDB does not have "risk capital" to offer.

Mr. Bingley said a person cannot expect the bank to lend money backed only by the borrower's faith in his idea. He also must put up money.

"The amount we will lend depends somewhat, but not altogether, on the amount the businessman himself has invested. E.ch application is treated on its own merits."

Employee Honored By City

City hall last night honored a long time employee of the city public works department who was forced to retire because of ill health.

At the commencement of yesterday's final council session of the year, Mayor Jack Ellis presented George E. Storms with a plaque in recognition of his many years' service with the city.

Mr. Storms had been with the works department continously for the past 23 years and all told was with the city for 28 years.

Another long time city employee, Charles Thorn, city animal protection officer, has been forced to give up his job because of ill health. Mr. Thorn has been with the city for the past 17 years.

With Mr. Thorn's health unlikely to allow him to return to work, the position of animal protection officer has been advertised by the city.

Music Teachers Hold Christmas Party

The December meeting of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers Association, Belleville branch, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bonnie.

As has become the custom, the members of the Bay of Quinte Centre of the Royal Canadian College of Organists were in attendance and supplied entertainment and refreshments.

Miss Lorraine Wardhaugh and Mrs. Julia Van Ochten opened the program with a piano duet, playing the first movement of Beethoven's 5th symphony, and a piano and organ arrangement of a Bach cantata.

National Secretary Addresses Conservative Women's Group

At the annual meeting of the Belleville Women's Conservative Association, Mrs. Joyce Rendall was elected president, replacing Mrs. Dorothy Howell. Newly elected vice-presidents are Mrs. Doreen Fox, Mrs. Norman Haggerty, and Mrs. Ruth Bateman.

The meeting took the form of a potluck supper with some 100 members and guests in attendance. Dr. R. T. Potter, M.L.A. Quinte, and Gerald Joyce, president of the men's P.C. Association spoke briefly. Fire Chief Ted Poole expressed the appreciation of the Fire Department for the 400 dolls and toys which have been made available for the needy families of Belleville.

The guest speaker of the evening was Miss Flora MacDonald, National Secretary of the Progressive Conservative Party. Miss MacDonald is now the administrative assistant, Department of Political Science, Queen's University, Kingston.

The speaker chose as her topic "The man I know — Robert Stanfield". Having worked on behalf of Mr. Stanfield since he first entered Nova Scotian politics in 1948, the speaker has had a very close personal relationship with the P.C. leader through out his entire career.

He was described as being one who jealously guards his privacy and elects to live quietly with his family in Halifax. When being drafted for leadership Mr. Stanfield agreed to let his name stand when he had not only a deep desire to be instrumental in leading his party to solidarity and unity, but also particularly interested in unifying his country.

In making the statement that "No Stanfield has ever lost an election" Miss MacDonald described his wide ranging ability as one that "avoids partisan excess".

Having previously served as executive assistant to the national director of the Conservative Party at national headquarters in Ottawa, Miss MacDonald felt she had gained some valued experiences in observing leadership ability. Miss MacDonald assured her audience that, "People believe in this man so thoroughly they can do nothing else but vote for him . . . and elect him the next Prime Minister of Canada".

The acting chairman, Mrs. Maude Rollins, paid tribute to the immediate past president Mrs. Dorothy Howell, who was unable to attend due to illness. Mrs. Rollins reported the Association membership now at a record 400 and gave much credit to Mrs. Howell for her leadership during her term of office.

ST. ANDREW'S UCW

MARMORA — St. Andrew's United Church Women held their annual Christmas party Tuesday evening and had as their guests 37 members of the junior choir who entertained following supper. Those taking solo parts were Lisa Maynes, Judy Williams, Cindy Smith, Evelyn Kotulski, and Linda Sweet. They were under the direction of their choir leader, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, with Mrs. Eldon Killian at the piano. Mrs. Harry Mawer showed slides of recent trip to the Yukon.

The devotional and business part of the meeting took place in the ladies' parlor with the president, Mrs. Allan Wells, in charge. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Garnet Howden and Mrs. Ed Post and two appropriate readings were given by Mrs. F. Rodhermel.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $650, of which $500 will be turned over to the church board. An allocation of $475 was set for 1968.

Chairman of the ladies' centennial committee, Mrs. G. J. Meiklejohn announced there would be a carol service on the evening of December 20 with all church music directors taking part. This will take place at the tall lighted Christmas tree that Marmoraton Mine has erected and Santa Claus will be present near his black iron kettle to receive white gifts.

Mrs. Leith Stetson brought in the slate of officers for 1968-69. Officers are: past president, Mrs. Allan Wells; president, Mrs. Borden Bell; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Tom Neal; recording and corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Tinsdill; treasurer, Mrs. George Kerr; Christian and missionary education, Mrs. Evelyn Murphy; leadership development and spiritual life, Mrs. G. J. Meiklejohn; literature and communication, Mrs. Sid Underwood; membership, Mrs. Maurice Fenton; nominations, Mrs. Allan Wells; press and publicity, Mrs. Jack Golden; social functions, Mrs. R. McGarvey and Mrs. Art Nobes; Korean boy, Mrs. Vaughn Glover; memorium, Mrs. Eldon Killian; visiting, Mrs. F. Rodhermel; stewardship and recruiting, Mrs. Doug Vineff; supply and welfare, Mrs. Roy Smith.

It was decided to return to the unit arrangement and to invest in the bonus as an effort to raise the membership.

Mrs. Douglas Miller, the minister's wife was presented with a gift in recognition of her assistance during the year.

VICTORIA UCW

GORE — Mrs. Smith Brown was hostess for the Christmas meeting of Victoria United Church Women Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Robert Townsend presented a program of carols and readings, concluding with a game.

The name of the organization in 1968 will be Victoria Willing Workers. Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse presented the slate of officers for next year. They are: president, Mrs. Roy Wetherall; 1st vice-president, Miss Audra Brickman; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Clifford Calnan; secretary, Mrs. Harry Knox; treasurer, Mrs. Hubert Townsend; assistants, Mrs. Harmon Montgomery and Mrs. Hubert Townsend; social convener, Mrs. Harmon Montgomery; auditors, Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse and Mrs. Melvin Pullver.

A large number of gifts was collected for the Picton Children's Aid and the Picton Salvation Army welfare work.

TESTS 'UNFAIR'

SASKATOON (CP) — A Saskatoon teacher says "the same test for all students is unfair competition." In Helen Bumphrey's second-year ungraded class, the six-and seven-year-olds are rated individually according to her expectations of them, not against their classmates or a fixed standard.

OES Chapter Holds Annual Yule Party

The annual Christmas party for Belleville Chapter No. 53, Order of The Eastern Star, took place recently when a large gathering of members and visitors were present for the enjoyable event.

At the close a bountiful potluck dinner was held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple. The tables were attractively set with white linen cloths, beautiful Christmas decorations, lighted candles and laden with an abundance and variety of food. Grace was said by the chaplain, Miss Frieda Matthews. All were then welcomed and wished a merry Christmas and happy and prosperous New Year, by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Lois Chaplin, and the Worthy Patron, Mr. George Brickwood.

After dinner Rex Chaplin introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Harry M. Davis of Bridge Street United Church, who gave an inspiring and amusing reading appropriate to Christmas.

The speaker was thanked by Mr. Orley Glass, Associate Patron. Christmas carols were sung, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Cleia Elliott. Santa Claus arrived with Mrs. Santa Claus, and after greeting everyone, and wishing all a Merry Christmas, they distributed gifts from a large and gaily decorated tree.

The Worthy Matron expressed thanks to all who had so generously given of their time and talents to make the party such a success.

Travelling Not New for Miss Canada

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I. (CP) — Winnipeg Miss Canada Pageant means a lot of travel for Carol Madeline MacKinnon but that will be nothing new for the pretty brown-eyed brunette from Prince Edward Island.

In her 19 years she has travelled more than most other persons do in a lifetime, all because her father is an air force sergeant who has served in various parts of Eastern Canada and Europe.

"Although air force kids have no place they call home, I enjoyed the diversity and education of travel. Many opinions were formed by the environment and cultures of Europe and it required an adjustment here. Now I find it hard to settle down in one spot, though I was quite pleased when Dad bought this home."

Born in Montague, P.E.I., Carol began school at Greenwood, N.S., and four moves later, in 1962, went to Baden-Sollingen, Germany. Her teenage years were spent travelling through France, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Switzerland and Austria.

"I sort of grew up in Germany and made a lot of friends there."

The MacKinnons returned to P.E.I. in 1966 and Carol completed high school here last spring. She began training as a student nurse last fall.

But before that a local service club sponsored her entry in a beauty pageant and her victory was followed by a number in the Miss Prince Edward Island competition in August.

"They're all over the country now and this has been a great way of letting them know where I am."

The pageant sponsors presented her with a car which she gave to her father because she lacks a license although she knows how to drive. She plans to get one after Christmas.

As Miss Canada she will put in a demanding year that will include three cross-country tours. Then she would like to return to nursing.

The engagement is announced of Miss Judith Ann Wilson, Reg. N., youngest daughter of Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Belleville and the late S. H. Wilson, to Henry Alfred Rasanen, B.Sc., P.Eng., Kingston, son of Mrs. Karin Rungulis, Wainfleet, and the late H. Rasanen. The wedding will take place January 20, 1968, at 12:30 p.m. in Christ Church, Belleville.

WEDDINGS

BAKER — STEWART

Christ Church (Anglican) Belleville was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, December 16, 1967 at 2.30 p.m., when Audrey Joyce Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stewart, Belleville was united in marriage to Frank A. (Bill) Baker, Oshawa, son of the late Richard Baker, Canterbury of Port Perry, Canon R. B. Dellbridge officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was rendered by church organist John Wilson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white crepe while sheer crepe delaine featuring a jewel neckline, long sleeves and highlighted with floating back panels extending from the yoke of the dress. She wore a matching feathered headband and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mrs. B. H. (Dorothy) Ingledew of Scarborough, sister of the bride as matron of honor wore an A-line street length dress of copper wool crepe with light beige feather headband and she carried a bouquet of yellow and copper 'mums. Mrs. Glenn D. Stewart, sister-in-law of the bride was bridesmaid and wore a green Empire styled wool jersey dress with light beige feather headband and carried a bouquet of yellow and copper 'mums.

Philip Orde of Port Perry was groomsman and the ushers were Glenn D. Stewart of Don Mills and Philip P. Stewart of Woodbridge, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 311 Charles Street, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a fuchsia dress and lace ensemble of mate lasne with gold brocade hat and a corsage of white roses.

Upon return the couple will take up residence at Apt. 1002, Rossliyn Apartments, Stephenson Rd. N. Oshawa.

WEBBER — BROWN

MARMORA — The wedding was solemnized in Marmora United Church recently when Marion June, daughter of Mrs. Jean Brown, Marmora and the late Harry Brown, became the bride of Cecil Robert Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webber of R. R. 3, Havelock.

Rev. Douglas Miller performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Eldon Killian was organist and accompanist and soloist, Mrs. J. Beatty.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Donald Brown, the bride wore a three - quarter length gown of chiffon over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a sculptured neckline. Her shoulder length veil hung from a matching headdress and she carried a cascade of pink and red roses.

Discipline for Dog Mistaken for Cruelty

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other day I went to the basement to get the cleaning of the line. I discovered that Pal had pulled all the clothes down and I was furious. Pal knew he was in trouble because when I went upstairs to get him and never him what he had done, he was cowering in the corner and refused to budge. He has done this before and I've been trying to break him of the habit, but I haven't had any luck.

I was determined to get Pal downstairs and spank him but he was just as determined not to go. Pal is an 85-pound German shepherd, and you might as well try to pick up a grand piano. So I took the broom and began to sweep down the stairs.

ANN LANDERS

At that moment two teen-age girls were passing the house. Our side door was open and they saw me prodding Pal with the broom. They yelled for me to stop beating the dog. One girl said I was cruel and inhuman and that she was going to report me to the S.P.C.A. Both girls were on the verge of tears. I tried to explain but they refused to hear my side of it. So, Ann, I want this pitch to know I was not beating the dog merely trying to discipline him. If the S.P.C.A. comes to our house, I'll die of embarrassment. Thank you very much. — ANIMAL LOVER.

DEAR LOVER: Here's your letter and I hope the girls see it. I also hope your husband buys you a clothes dryer for Christmas.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print my response to the lucky widow who signed herself "Discouraged." She wanted to know where all the eligible men are hiding.

Dear Discouraged: I am not hiding. I am resting. I'm a professional man with no money problems, a widower in my early 30's. I have a son I'm proud of. I'm resting because I am tired of matchmakers who have tried for three years to pawn off every available old maid, career girl, widow and divorcee they know.

I'm tired of being told I should get married because my son needs a mother; I have. But I also need a wife. Most of all, I'm tired of being told there are no available gentlemen over 30 in this world.

I have run into two major problems. (1) Women who are not ladies. (When will marriage-minded females learn that no lasting friendship ever started in bed?) (2) Ladies who are not women. (Being soft, looking pretty and smelling nice does not add up to honesty, good morals or that vital spark that makes a man want to see a woman again and again.)

So, Honey, if you qualify, don't sit around and wait for me to find you. Join clubs, even if the people seem seedy. A jewel will sparkle anywhere. Go on dates, even if you have to use judo to defend yourself once in a while. To put it bluntly, stay circulated. If you sit home I'll never find you. — STILL LOOKING.

DEAR STILL: When you're through resting, you'd better go into hiding. You sound too good to be true.

Successful Living

Student Has Lost Faith in Ability at School

Dear Doris: I don't seem to have faith in myself. For instance, I am entering grade 11 now; well, in grade eight everything came so easily, with little studying the night before exams, and I made an 81 percent.

In grade nine I averaged 77 percent, and in grade ten it was 66 percent. As you see, I am constantly de - grading. What's wrong? Am I getting stupid? —Kooky or Dumb?

Dear K. or D.: You aren't the first to sail through elementary school, then find the going hard in secondary. It isn't stupidity; the work is more demanding.

Sometimes I think it is an unmixed blessing for the early years to be such a breeze. It makes a student think she doesn't need to learn any regular study habits.

High school puts her on her own more; and if she still doesn't know how to settle down and concentrate a half year long, she has two strikes against her when (and if) she enters college.

All of this can happen, and does, to many a high IQ. (Want my two-cent leaflet on How to Study?)

Dear Doris: Many times in my 56 years of life I have found that I would have a feeling of something I would hope or fear, and think it was only a feeling. Yet as time went on I was right and my fears had good grounds.

Why so, dear Doris? Is there an answer or does it work so with some? — Unexplained Feelings

Dear Unexplained: To believe in precognition (knowing something before it happens), clairvoyance, mental telepathy is beginning to be respectable in some quarters; especially since students of parapsychology have recorded a good deal of proof that such things happen. Explaining them scientifically is something different again. Thirty universities around the world are now working on it.

It seems to work with some more than others.

* * *

Dear Doris: When you go to visit a friend and bring her a cake, what is proper for her to do? Should she serve it when she serves her lunch to me? — Not Sure

Dear Not Sure: What if she has just iced her own prize cake in your honor?

To bake and bring a cake is generous and thoughtful; but you don't owe your hostess had no dessert planned. On the other hand, if her pudding is or fruit blows up well with your cake, serving it could be the answer.

Otherwise, she admires it, thanks you, and says she will just love having it to serve to the family later.

Recipe for Florida Fruit Cake

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I think it was 1963 when you first gave us the Dark Blonde Florida Fruit Cake. It made 5 pounds a n d my husband wants only it now. I loaned my recipe to a friend who has moved. . . Sara B.

QUESTION: Are you going to give us Blond Fruit Cake with pecans again? I need it adine P.

ANSWER: You all win. Here it is but for goodnes' sake file it now and paste it in your cookbook.

prepared fruits and nuts which have been mixed together. Sprinkle remaining flour mixture over first creamed mixture and stir until blended. Stir in vanilla and lemon extract or lemon juice. Add floured fruits and nuts and stir well. Turn into two loaf pans (8½" x 4½" x 2½") lined with three thicknesses of wax paper, brushing top one generously with butter. Do not pat down. Put waterpan below cakes. (Three-quarters fill broiler pan with boiling water after it is in position in oven.) Turn on oven to—250 deg. Fahr. (to "bake" not "preheat"—which means only bottom burner is on.) Bake about 4 hrs. or until top feels firm to touch. Cool in pans on cake rack. This cake is moist enough that it slices perfectly within 24 hrs.

QUESTION: My children like the sugar and honey-coated puffed wheat and o a t s flakes. I find these are expensive with five cereal eaters. Could I possibly do this at home myself? The large bulk bags of puffed wheat, etc. are so reasonable in comparison. I am sure there are a lot of budget - minded mothers who would find this helpful.—Mrs. K. M.

ANSWER: Highly improbable. The machinery and process is massive and highly technical. Sorry.

How to make a good wine?

Grapes. Time. Money. Grapes.

Since 1934 Brights has invested more than two million dollars in a vast program of viniciultural improvement. In this program we have imported more than 120 varieties of grapes from almost every wine-growing country in the world. Out of these, 20 great varieties have been proven in the Niagara Peninsula from which we are now producing outstanding Canadian wines. Below are six of them.

President Champagne • Canada's prize Champagne.
President Burgundy • A great dry red table wine.
President Sauterne • A delicate light white wine.
President Sherry • Ideal before lunch or dinner.
President Extra Dry • A dry white wine of quality.
President Port • A distinguished dessert wine.

A "cellar" of these President wines will be a most welcome gift. The cost is as modest as the thanks will be extravagant.

POINT ANNE CWL

St. Anne's Catholic Women's League held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed Walsh, with Msgr. J. A. Carley present. Mrs. Agnes Whalen, president, conducted the meeting.

Plans were made for the children's candy and novelty sale at the school and the Christmas party for the children. Artificial Christmas trees will be bought for each classroom. Plants are to be sent to two patients in Kingston Hospitals and a basket of groceries will be packed for a needy family at Christmas.

Msgr. Carley spoke on the mystical meaning of Christmas and lives of family and friends expressed at this season.

Euchre was played following the meeting and Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Commons Gives OK to Easier Divorce

OTTAWA (CP) — A government bill widening the grounds for divorce won approval in principle in the Commons Monday night without a recorded vote.

However, the House was unable to complete clause-by-clause study of the legislation despite extending its sitting an hour.

During debate at this stage, which continues today, the Commons thrned back two Conservative attempts to give county and district courts jurisdiction over divorces.

Gordon Aiken (PC — Parry Sound-Muskoka) said hearings in the high provincial courts are much more expensive than in the lower courts. His amendment was beaten 67 to 46.

Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) said the high courts will be getting too many divorce cases to handle. He estimated that the present rate of 9,000 cases a year will be d o u b l e d. His amendment was beaten 66 to 48.

Richard A. Bell (PC — Carleton) then tried an amendment that would allow the federal cabinet to give county courts jurisdiction in divorce cases at the request of provincial gov ernments or territorial councils. It was rejected 63 to 30.

The bill would permit divorces for physical or mental cruelty, sodomy, bestiality, rape, homosexuality, bigamy and permanent marriage breakdown as well as adultery.

The marriage-breakdown clause co.ers desertion, imprisonment of a spouse, addiction to drugs or alcohol and failure to consummate the marriage.

Justice Minister Trudeau said the government wanted to take action now to improve the divorce law. He defended the bill as the most that could be done within the sphere of federal jurisdiction.

He said he was not trying to minimize the importance of federal-provincial consultations. But if they had been launched 10 or 15 years ago, there might now exist a system of marriage courts in which the marriage-breakdown theory could be applied.

Grace MacInnis (NDP — Vancouver Kingsway), one of the most ardent advocates of the marriage-breakdown theory, said this approach would eliminate the necessity of one spouse having to prove that the other is in the wrong.

What was needed was the one ground that would allow a court "to decide whether a human relationship has failed beyond the hope of repair."

Mr. Trudeau said this concept "presupposes a complete change in our conception of courts and justice."

Instead of the adversary system in which the judge was the arbiter between the two quarrelling parties, the judge would have to be a kind of inquest into the state of the marriage. Instead of relying on the parties to produce all the evidence, the court might have to seek out evidence of its own.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) said the bill will lead to "a u n i t e d p o l y g a m y." The country did not have the means to carry out compulsion measures and the abolience of marriage failure is simply be the testimony of the parties themselves.

He did not agree with "the galloping permissive morality" that says "as long as you want to do something, go ahead."

"There are norms to which society must conform."

Keeping Leadership Rivals Home Working PM's Problem

OTTAWA (CP) — How do you keep cabinet ministers at the government grindstone when the Liberal leadership campaign trail beckons?

Prime Minister Pearson is said to be worried about the problem and the cabinet discussed it Monday, apparently without coming to any definite conclusions on ground rules for the campaign which will end in the April 4-6 leadership convention here.

One way to keep cabinet ministers on the job would be to keep the Commons in session throughout most of the campaign period.

Mr. Pearson is believed to be in favor of such a move, allowing the new leader to begin a new session of Parliament with his own throne speech, which is an outline of government policy.

The prime minister said last Thursday when he announced that he will retire in the spring that he expects cabinet ministers to put their government and parliamentary duties ahead of leadership campaigning.

It is understood that a proposal has been put to the cabinet that leadership hopefuls in the government limit their out-of-town campaigning to weekends if the Commons is in session and to three days a week if the House is not sitting.

One informant said the government's list of necessary parliamentary business now includes 69 pieces of legislation, large and small.

Some Liberals say they fear, for instance, that some cabinet ministers seeking the leadership might promise to go ahead with medical care i n s u r a n c e as scheduled while others might seek to kill it.

This kind of dispute might not only split the government and the Liberal party but give the opposition, especially the Conservatives, the gleeful opportunity of pointing out repeatedly such a division.

A proposed ground rule for the campaign would have all ministerial candidates support any government policy decision already made.

A highly-placed Liberal party source said that if such ground rules are not agreed upon, the campaign will quickly deteriorate into internal cabinet strife which could burst into public view at any moment.

If Mr. Pearson can get agreement on campaign ground rules, he may announce them publicly to offset chances of any backsliding when the c a m p a i g n heats up.

Model Suburb Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal and Ontario governments have agreed to go ahead on joint planning of a model suburban community near Toronto, Labor Minister Nicholson said Monday.

He was replying to a Commons question from Andrew Brewin (NDP — Toronto Greenwood), who said a tract of land owned by the two governments at Malvern could accommodate a satellite town of 30,000.

Mr. Nicholson said a federal-Ontario meeting last week agreed on appointment of a community planner and an engi- nee- to "move ahead" with the project.

UN Plans to Adjourn

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The UN General A s s e m b l y pressed on toward adjournment today after agreeing to meet again in the spring if a treaty to ch.ck the spread of nuclear weapons is ready then.

The assembly hoped to finish its business tonight. It was expected to push through a 15-country proposal calling on the Geneva disarmament committee to complete the nuclear non-proliferation t r e a t y by March 15. The assembly then would reconvene as soon as possible to take final action on the draft.

The non-proliferation treaty has been under discussion in Geneva since 1959. The United States and Russia have agreed on all articles but the one dealing with inspection procedures.

Secretary-General U Thant stressed the dangers of spreading war in a holiday message to members of his staff. He said that in the past year "I have seen more cries and greater international tension than I can recall at any time during the 11 years I have spent with the United Nations."

Thant touched on the Vietnam war and the Middle East crisis but expressed certainty that the crisis of confidence in the United Nations "can and must be overcome."

"There is no other alternative to the ever looming danger of nuclear catastrope," he said.

Also before the assembly were:

—A 32-nation resolution urging all nuclear powers to suspend nuclear tests of all kinds and calling on the Geneva group to get busy on a comprehensive test ban treaty.

—A three-nation draft asking the Geneva troup to resume debate on the elimination of foreign military bases in Asia, Africa and Latin America and report back to the next assembly session.

—A 32-nation resolution asking the disarmament committee to resume consideration "at the earliest possible date" of a treaty on general disarmament.

—A proposal by 21 smaller nations for an international conference of the non-nuclear nations starting next August.

All the resolutions were overwhelmingly approved Monday by the assembly's main political committee, assuring their adoption by the assembly.

Two other resolutions dealing with the 1925 Geneva Protocol on chemical and bacteriological warfare were withdrawn by their s p o n s o r s, Malta and Hungary.

Malta had called for re-examination of the protocol with a view to changing it in the light of present-day relations between n a t i o n s. Hungary contended that the assembly should reaffirm the protocol and demand anew that all nations accede to it. The Communist bloc has asailed the United States repeatedly for not having ratified the 1925 protocol.

New Members Greeted at County Council

PICTON (Staff) — Farewell speeches and season's greetings wound up the final session for 1967 of Prince Edward County Council last week. They included a number of thoughts and comments including a suggestion that members consider a county fire department. The pattern was set by Warden Robert Boyce in his opening remarks

Warden Boyce said that he has been looking forward to this meeting all year. "Now that it's here," he said, "I'm having second thoughts. I have had a wonderful year. It has been busy being our centennial year but I've had wonderful co-operation from every member. The year has seen many new developments but I expect next year to see even more."

Present at the meeting were two of the new members entering county council next y e a r, Allan Anderson, Reeve-elect of Bloomfield and Roy Thompson, Deputy Reeve of Sophiasburgh Township. Both were introduced by their incumbent counterparts Henry Leavens and George Foster.

Research Firm Backs Patents

OTTAWA (CP) — Virtual abolition of patent protection for drugs amounts to discrimination, confiscation of property without compensation, says a brief to the Economic Council of Canada.

Presented by Connaught Medical Research Laborstories of the Univ rsity of Toronto, the brief says all drugs in Canada are not over-priced and the number that are over-priced at the retail level may be very small.

The council was asked more than a year ago by the scientific secretariat in the prime minister's office to study and advise on monopolies, patents, trade marks and copyrights.

Blair Liked Cesare; He Should, He Played With The "Macs"

CESARE MANIAGO

MONTREAL (CP) — Cesare Maniago, a journeyman goaltender with a dozen teams in five different professional leagues since the 1960-61 hockey season, has pushed the top scorers in the National Hockey League from the limelight.

Maniago, picked up by Minnesota North Stars of the expansion West Division of the NHL from New York Rangers, last week registered the longest consecutive shutout streak in 12 years.

The lanky native of Trail, B.C., who had recorded only two shutouts in 51 1-3 NHL games prior to this season, chalked up three.

The last netminder to get three straight shutouts was Glenn Hall when he was with Detroit Red Wings in the 1955-56 season.

Maniago leads the league in shutouts with three and his performance enabled Minnesota goaltenders—Garry Bauman is the other—to move to fourth place in the list of goaltending averages. Last week they ranked seventh.

The Philadelphia combination of Bernie Parent and Doug Favell are tops with a 2.11 goals-against average—slightly better than the 2.14 registered by Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto Maple Leafs. Bower has the best individual average with a 1.99 mark.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks leads the scorers with 25 goals and 13 assists for 38 points and 21 games, but team mate Stan Mikita is making the thunder for the advancing Hawks.

Mikita, centre on the Hawks famed scooter line, extended his current point-scoring streak to 12 straight games. In that time he has picked up 25 points, including 19 goals.

His surge moved him from fifth in the individual race to a second-place tie with left-winger John Bucyk of Boston Bruins. Each is two points behind Hull with 36. However, Hull's 25 goals still is tops.

Bucyk's linemates—centre Fred Stanfield and right-winger John McKenzie—are fourth and fifth respectively. Stanfield has a league-leading 36 assists to go with his 11 goals for 35 points, while McKenzie has 11 goals and 22 assists.

Detroit veterans—centre Alex Delvecchio and right-winger Gordie Howe—are sixth and seventh. Delvecchio has eight goals and 22 assists for 30 points. Howe has scored 15 goals and assisted in 14 others for 29.

So Says The 'Cat'

The Blues Like The Reds!

NEW YORK (CP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League have made several attempts to entice players from Communist countries, Emile Francis, the club's coach and general manager, disclosed Monday.

"The trouble is, their coaches want them for the Olympics," Francis told a hockey writers' association luncheon.

"Once they play for us, they're no longer amateurs," he added.

"We've got as far as the embassies of Czechoslovakia, Poland and the Soviet Union," said Lynn Patrick, general manager of St. Louis Blues.

The Rangers' main effort was directed at Vaclav Nedomansky, a 6-foot-2 200-pound Czech centre. When he was in the United States two years ago touring with the Czech national team, Francis dispatched his top aide, Jackie Gordon, to a tournament in Colorado Springs. But when the Czechs heard Gordon was around, they put Nedomansky under wraps.

Later, when the Czechs were playing an exhibition game at Kitchener, Ont., scout Steve Brklacich set out to try to get Nedomansky to defect, Gordon intimated.

"But he had a family back home," Gordon said. "Anyway, Brklacich knew this old friend of Nedomansky's who had defected and was living in Guelph (Ont.). We had this friend talk to Nedomansky, but it was no good."

The U.S. has failed almost completely to produce NHL-calibre skaters, which Patrick blamed on the American school and college rules. The rules prohibit body contact in offensive zones by the attacking team.

"It's like a boy who plays touch football and then tries to break into the National Football League," he said. "It can't be done."

Leafs Interred

No Pall Bearers!

About 100 bidders listened in gloomy, foggy weather as auctioneer Norman Jacobs officially laid to rest the International League team. Office and concession equipment sold well and sets of uniforms went to recreation officials of Campbellville, Ont.

The Toronto Old Timers Baseball Association paid $1.15 each for 100 bats, to be distributed to playground teams. It also bought about 40 batting-practice baseballs at 30 cents each.

Trans-Canada Liquidations Ltd., which ran the sale, declined to estimate how much the auction realized. Equipment and inventory had been valued at $5,336.

Toronto joined the International League in 1886, dropped out in 1890, and rejoined in 1894.

May Sell Team!

ZURICH, Switzerland (CP) — The International Football Federation's emergency committee Monday recommended its members grant provisional recognition to the Soccer Football League of North America, a federation spokesman said.

The new league is scheduled to be launched next year following the planned merger of the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association.

Toronto had teams in both the NPSL and USA while Vancouver was represented by a team in the USA during the last season.

Under the merger—agreed upon in principle—the owners of the Toronto USA team will sell their franchise to the league, leaving only the NPSL team operating out of Toronto.

SLICES SPORTS

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The Junior "B's" are going to step into a different rule tonight in their Eastern Junior "B" Christmas week hassle with the Cobourg Cougars.

They hope — and they sweas — and they've got all fingers crossed they're going to step into a Christmas character and give their general manager one James "Sniper" Matthews the best present he has received this season.

Hockey-wise, they claim, they're going to don the raiment of Santa Claus and dump the first victory of the year into the gaping hungry stocking of M'lles Matthews.

"They've promised me," said the "Sniper." "They've told me they're going to go all out to bring home the first win bacon of the season. It will be the best Christmas present I can get."

"They're even bringing in the walking wounded. Doug Potts and Doug Green have been racked up with a few others for minor hurts. But they'll be out at full strength tonight to hang up that first win" he said.

"And if they do I'll have a big surprise for them," he added.

There will be a special Christmas turkey draw for the fans and Matthews is looking for a bigger than usual crowd of fans to help the youngsters keep warm.

Wiskens in 14 starts the Junior B's deserve a lot of credit for sticking in there and not giving the officials the chance to lose faith in them.

Every beginning has an end and Messrs. Matthews and Mavety, Smitty and the gang are hoping tonight sees the clipping of a long string of disappointing setbacks.

* * *

The No-Hawks trekked to Orillia today where they take on the senior league cellar dwellers in a battle of the underdogs.

The injury gremlin has hopped aboard the No-Hawk handwagon again, and they missed three of their key players the other night in Galt.

Ralph Plane who has been one of the club's both-way workers missed the Saturday tilt. He "spirang" something in a hand during a bout of fisticuffs against Barrie last Friday and up to yesterday could not close his hand.

George Godson and Bernie Gould are going around swathed on body and shoulder bandages that would do credit to an Egyptian mummy. Larry Holmes is out indefinitely with a banged-up shoulder.

Crashing the win column against Barrie last Friday didn't do the No-Hawks any harm. They went to Galt and, neutral observers tell me, came up with a team effort that should have had a different ending.

Hampered as they were with hurts, they took the powerful Hornets into overtime after a 1-1 struggle and but for a quirk of the luck could have come home a winner.

Injuries notwithstanding they'll have to call on all of their reserve power if they want to start that climb up the ladder.

A win tonight will help no end and another on Friday against the visiting Collingwood Kings would make them feel its beginning to look a bit like Christmas.

After Friday's game with the Kings they can rest up and nurse the wounded until Friday, December 29th when they host the Oakville Oaks.

They should be rounded into fairly good shape by that time if the injury jinx decides to spend the holiday in Florida.

Everything Was Just Fine

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran defenceman John Brophy of Long Island Ducks has been indefinitely suspended and fined $100 for striking referee Bill Pringle during Sunday night's game against New Haven, Tom Lockhart, president of the Eastern Hockey League, announced Monday.

The league president also disclosed that Gene Achtymichuk, general manager-coach of the Ducks, had been fined $100 for attempting to influence the referee when the latter made out his written post game report on the incident.

Nancy, Woman Athlete Of The Year, Eyes Olympics Honors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nancy Greene, slated over her specialties as Canada's woman athlete of the year, had her sights set today abroad—the 23-year-old skier at Grenoble, France.

The 26-year-old Rossland, B.C., native, who won the award announced today in a poll of 124 sports writers and broadcasters, said she hopes to upstay Canada by winning a gold medal in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble Feb. 6-18.

A student at Notre Dame University at Nelson, B.C., she won the World Cup for women skiers last year by defeating France's Marielle Goitschel by 7-3000ths of a second in the final cup competition despite missing several European races in that event.

Runner-up in the Canadian Press year-end sports poll for two years, Miss Greene won the accolade over world champion swimmer Elaine Tanner of Vancouver and Winnipeg.

Susan McDonnell of Toronto, gold medal gymnast in the Pan-Am Games, was third with 94 points.

Miss Greene polled 49 first place ballots to 41 for Miss Tanner and three for Miss McDonnell.

Three points were awarded for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Leading in World Cup competition, she decided to enter an international meet in Canada because she felt ski enthusiasts at home should see their top competitors in action.

By winning four Cup events, she dropped to point standings to third place behind Miss Goitschel and Annie Famose, also of France.

But Miss Greene, who attacks a slalom course wearing a white helmet with the word "Tiger" emblazoned on it, came on strong in the last event of the season at Jackson Hole, Wyo.

Her narrow victory over Miss Goitschel gave her enough points to standings to win the Cup. She had 174 points and Miss Goitschel 170.

Miss Greene and other members of the national team leave for Europe Dec. 28 and the start of international competition.

"I can't really predict how we'll do, but this year we have a very strong team, both men's and women's," she says.

She says her attitude competition is younger skiers on French, Austrian and American teams—"their younger skiers have really been coming along."

Miss Tanner, dubbed Mighty Mouse, swept the Jamaica British Empire Games in 1966, taking four golds and three second-place silver medals.

At the Winnipeg Pan-Am last summer she took two golds and three silvers. She holds world records in the 100- and 200-metre backstrokes and was on the team that set the 440-yard freestyle relay record in Jamaica.

Coaches; Rams, Colts Split Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach George Allen of Los Angeles Rams thought it would be a shame for either team to lose in the showdown between his Rams and Baltimore Colts.

One team, of course, lost, but neither of the coaches did.

Instead Allen and Don Shula of the Colts were co-named National Football League Coach of the Year Monday in the voting by Associated Press panel of football writers and broadcasters.

"I assume the vote was taken before Sunday's game," Shula said wryly, referring to the fact that the Colts lost both the Rams—34-10—and the Coastal Division title Sunday.

Shula was right. The vote was taken before the game, and Allen and he each received 16 votes of the 46 cast.

Vince Lombardi of Green Bay Packers got six votes, New York Giants' Allie Sherman three, George Halas of Chicago Bears and Blanton Collier of Cleveland Browns two each and Tom Fears of New Orleans Saints one.

Allen, who resigned as one of Halas' assistant coaches to go west, started out with a last place team, took the Rams to an 8-6 won-lost record last year and a brilliant 11-1-2 won-lost-tie mark this season.

Much of his success stems from the numerous trades he has made.

In his two years in Los Angeles, he has obtained from other teams such standouts as tackle Roger Brown, linebackers Maxie Vaughan and Myron Pottios, ends Bernie Casey and Jack Snow and defensive backs Irv Cross and Claude Crabb.

The high points of the Rams' season came within eight days —their last-minute 27-24 victory over Green Bay and 34-19 triumph over Baltimore.

"There's no way to measure success in victory," Allen said. "We've achieved something this year that we had set our sights on, and that's success."

Shula and the Colts had a tremendous season until the Ram game.

Shula was named his second conference crown in his five years in Baltimore. The Colts won the eastern title in 1964 but lost the championship game to Cleveland.

Generals Suffer Hurts

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series announced Monday night that Dale Tallon and Fred O'Donnell will be out of their lineup for three to four weeks.

Centre Tallon, injured Friday against Toronto Marlboros, has a bruised shoulder and winger O'Donnell, the team's top scorer with 17 goals, suffered a hip injury in Sunday's 6-2 victory over London Nationals.

Aaron Named MVP

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hank Aaron, who led the National League in home runs and total bases and batted .307, today was named the Braves' Most Valuable Player in 1967 by the Atlanta chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

"It gives me a thrill, no matter how many trophies I win," Aaron said of his selection.

Aaron was the only Brave to hit more than .300. He led the league for the fourth time in home runs with 39, drove in 109 runs, scored 113 and for the seventh time paced the league in total bases with 343 on his homers, 37 doubles and three triples.

Runner-up to Aaron in voting was Cleto Boyer, third baseman who bolstered the Braves' defence and slammed 26 home runs, in addition to driving in 96 runs.

World Figure Skating

"Irish Eyes Are Smilin"

NEW YORK (AP)—Peggy Fleming became the world's best woman figure skater because she was a little devil as a child, her mother acknowledged today.

"Peggy always had a lot of Mick in her—that's Irish for devilment," said the plump and pleasant Mrs. Doris Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo.

"When she was about nine, she was so full of mischief that she always was doing things to rouse her three sisters—Janice, who was a year older, Maxine and Cathy, who were younger.

"When I got to them, Peggy was always sitting to one side like a perfect angel and the other three were pulling each other's hair. It took me a long time to find out that Peggy was really back of all of it."

"We figured—as Dad would, Albert, and I—that the best thing to do was keep Peggy so busy that she would be too tired to cook up any mischief," Mrs. Fleming said. "It worked, but none of us realized what we were in for."

At 15, she won the first of her five national championships. Meanwhile, her family moved from Cleveland to Pasadena, Calif., to Colorado Springs.

Now Peggy is the darling of the U.S. Olympic team preparing for the Winter Games at Grenoble, France, Oct. 6-18. She figures to be in much to win America's first gold medal in the event since Carol Heiss triumphed at Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960.

It hasn't been easy, said the mother, now a widow with a big family to raise.

"It's been difficult but very rewarding," Mrs. Fleming said at a Winter Olympics press preview staged here Monday.

Nancy's father, a press man, died two years ago, leaving Mrs. Fleming with four daughters—Janice, now 20; Peggy, 19; Maxine, 17, and Cathy, 13. Janice is a nurse. The others are in school.

'Pretty Boy' Knocks Out Policeman

Felstein, 207, is rated the top contender for Chuvalo's title, but Merv MacKenzie, commissioner of the Ontario Athletic Association, said recently he would hesitate to sanction a Felstein-Chuvalo bout for the title.

"Now, maybe McKenzie will sanction a shot at Chuvalo," said Felstein's manager, Vic Zapatto. "He'll better."

"I hit him a few good shots," Wipperman said. "I thought he was running out of steam. Then I got hit. . . . Believe me, I don't think he's in Chuvalo's class."

Varsity Fattens Record

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — University o' Toronto players continued to fatten their scoring records last week as the Blues won two more games to remain undefeated in Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association hockey.

The defending champion Blues, who have won six games while averaging more than 10 goals a game, have six players at the top of the league-scoring race.

Second place belongs to Murray Sirrod who has collected 13 assists and four goals. He leads in assists.

Toronto also has the leading goaltender, John Wrigley, who has permitted 13 goals in six games.

Namath Eyes Record!

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Jet Joe Namath will learn today whether he has a fractured cheek bone, but he's a cinch to play for New York against San Diego Chargers Sunday.

Namath is within 53 yards of the all-pro total yardage record and won't let a minor injury interfere. He set the American Football League mark Sunday at 3,656 as he threw for 370.

Sonny Jorgenson of Washington Redskins raised the National League and all-pro records to 3,747 as he ended his season Sunday.

Namath and all other Jets were excused after Sunday's game until today at noon when they reported to Coach Weeb Ewbank at Escondido, near San Diego, to prep for Sunday's regular season finale.

Then Namath had his swollen jaw x-rayed. It was injured as his Jets lost to Oakland Raiders Sunday.

Kinsmen Blank Picton

After a scoreless first period, Belleville broke through in the second, with John Malvehill scoring. In the third, Doug James and Danny Lupenette added Belleville goals for the icing on the cake.

Herb Pointer recorded the shutout in the Kinsmen goal, although it was an easy one, as Belleville outshot Picton 38-9.

Scooters Scoot - - So Do Hawks!

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When their Scooter Line functions, so do Chicago Black Hawks—and they're proving it.

The defending National Hockey League champions, who lost to Toronto Maple Leafs in the Stanley Cup semi-finals last spring, today lumps from everybody early in the 1967-68 schedule.

Although Bobby Hull, a 50-

KENNY WHARRAM

plus goal scorer last season, was off to one of his best starts ever, the Hawks were a motley crew that didn't win until their eighth start this season.

That was about the time the Scooter Line of Stan Mikita, Doug Mohns and Ken Wharram began functioning after a series of training-camp injuries.

But with injuries to these two finally healing, hockey observers predicted a more formidable Chicago assault force. They haven't been disappointed.

The Black Hawk offense with the Scooter line intact has been impressive to say the least. Their recent upswing has carried Chicago to a first-place tie in the NHL's East Division with the slumping Boston Bruins.

Mikita has been most spectacular, moving into a second-place tie among league scorers with John Bucyk of Boston—each with 18 goals and 18 assists and 36 points. Close trail Hull (25 goals and 13 assists) by two points.

During the last 14 days, Mikita has scored nine goals and as many assists. Hull has scored six goals and picked up two assists in the same period.

Of the 30 goals scored so far by Chicago, 49 have gone to Mikita, Wharram and Mohns and another 25 to Hull—more than two-thirds of the team's scoring punch.

Mohns and Mikita both got back on stride about the same time, making it difficult to assess which is the key to the line's strength.

Mikita is the playmaker of the trio while Mohns—the biggest at six-feet and 180 pounds—is the workhorse who charges into the corners and is the back checker on the line.

Wharram, the little man of the high-powered trio but a speedster with lightning wrist reflexes, also was hampered by early-season inactivity due to salary negotiations. This left him at about the same conditioning phase as linemates Mikita and Mohns.

All three now are among the top 20 scorers in the league, Wharram with 10 goals and 17 assists and Mohns with 12 goals and a like number of assists.

The only other line among the leaders is the Bruins' unit of Bucyk, Fred Stanfield, and John McKenzie. Stanfield is a point behind Mikita and Bucyk while McKenzie is fifth, two points behind Stanfield.

But Wednesday it's a head-on collision for first place in the Eastern Division with the Bruins at Chicago while Toronto is in Montreal against the Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings play the Rangers in New York.

St. Louis Blues are in Oakland the same night.

Thursday night action is all in the Western Division with Minnesota North Stars against the division-leading Flyers in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Penguins at Los Angeles.

The Flyers, hottest team in the west, will be going against the hottest goalie in the division Thursday in Cesare Maniago, who has shutout the opposition in his last three games.

Rocky Rocks Jack!

MIAMI (AP) — Rocky Marciano, retired undefeated heavyweight boxing champion, buoyed Jack Dempsey Monday night in the 13th round of a computer's version of what might have been if the ring titans had met.

The match was the finale of a 25-week "all-time heavyweight tournament" created by a Miami producing company and syndicated widely by radio stations.

Marciano, programmed at his best fighting weight of 184 pounds, decked the 191-pound Dempsey five times before Dempsey took the count at 2:29 of the 13th round.

Melrose Juveniles Win 6-2

In BMHA juvenile play yesterday, Melrose defeated OSD 6-2 and Amodeo's Aces and Tigers tied 2-2.

In the Melrose-OSD clash, B. Pascoe led the winners with a pair of goals. A. C. Pascoe, G. Hopkins, B. Belnap and D. Hicks scored the other Melrose goals. R. Long and C. Mankelow connected for OSD.

In the Aces-Tigers duel, D. Edgar, J. Mulvihill and D. Agostifreddo scored for the Amodeo's crew, while D. Deveau, W. Garland and T. Ford potted goals for the Tigers.

McCann Tops CPL Scoring

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rick McCann returned to Fort Worth Wings this week and in three games picked up four points to regain the top spot in the Central Professional Hockey League scoring parade.

The 21-year-old centre from Stratford, Ont. who played for Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League earlier this week, boosted his output in the Central League to 10 goals and 29 assists for 39 points.

Brian McDonald, 22-year-old pivot man of Dallas Black Hawks and a native of Toronto, is in the runner-up spot, one point off the pace with 10 goals and 29 assists.

Jim Peters of Fort Worth, son of former NHL star Jimmy Peters, holds down third place with 10 goals and 18 assists for 28 points.

"There, There, Baby"

Despite appearances, that's a word of congratulation Jacques Laperierre (2) is having with Montreal Canadiens' goaltender Gump Worsley after the Canadiens downed Detroit Red Wings 4-3, staving off a last-minute push by the Wings in a National Hockey League Saturday night game at Montreal.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Richie Bayes played only two games in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series last week, but the Toronto Marlboro winger was busy.

He scored five goals and three assists to open a five-point lead in the series scoring race. Bayes has 22 goals and 29 assists for 52 points, five more than Don Webster of Niagara Falls Flyers.

Another Toronto winger, Terry Caffery, is third with 19 goals and 27 assists for 46 points. Garry Swain of the Flyers moved into fourth during the week with 40 points, one more than team-mate Steve Atkinson.

Frazier Wins By KO

Exit Mr. Conner!

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Frazier's 13th straight professional victory was as easy and knockout as expected, but he says the main reason was the willingness of outweighed and outclassed Marion Conner to make a fight of it.

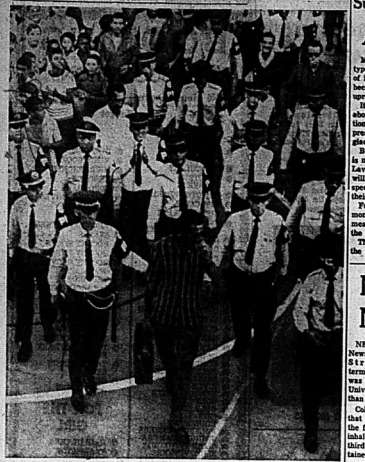
"He could probably have just stayed longer if he tried to move," the unbeaten heavyweight contender said Monday night after putting Conner away at 1:40 of the third round. "But he came to work and to fight, just like I did."

Frazier, 210, of Philadelphia, concentrated on the body in the first two rounds, then switched his attack to the head in the third. He staggered the 180-pound Conner several times, finally catching him flush with a tremendous left hook to record his 17th knockout.

Conner went down, and although he struggled to his feet quickly, referee Billy Connolly decided he had had enough punishment and stopped the fight.

The 30-pound weight difference was obviously too much for Conner, a journeyman boxer who has campaigned quite a bit in New England although he hails his home from Canton, Ohio. Really no more than an overstuffed light heavyweight, he couldn't cope with Frazier and never landed a telling punch.

The punch that ended it was a testimonial to Frazier's quick reflexes.



"I threw one left hook and missed him clean," he explained, "but I saw an opening and came right back with another that got him."

Referee Gets Protection

A small army of policemen escorted referee Jose Aldo Pereira, foreground, safely out of Gavea Stadium in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, after a soccer game between Campo Grande and Flamengo. The fans blamed Pereira for Campo Grande's rally from a 0-3 deficit to the Flamengo and the police moved in to make sure the ref wasn't attacked by the crowd after the game last week. (AP Photo)

Suburban Laval

Montrealers in Uproar Over Rent Tax

MONTREAL (CP) —A new type of tax, said to be the first of its kind in Canada, has Quebec's second-largest city in an uproar.

It's a New Year present to about half of the 200,000 population of suburban Laval—a present many say they would gladly hand back.

But Mayor Jacques Tetreault is no fun-griver, as the 18,000 Laval families that pay rent will from Jan. 1 be assessed a special tax of three per cent of their annual rent.

For a family paying $100 a month or $1,200 a year it would mean a $36 payment, on top of the standard $48 water tax.

There was a sicer present for the remainder of Laval's 45,000 families—the landlords.

They will pay in 1968 a real estate tax of $1.34 per $100 evaluation, down from the 1967 figure of $1.37.

One woman tenant who faces an annual $72 hike—$6 monthly rent is $200—said of the three-per-cent tax:

"It's absolutely ridiculous to have to be taxed in addition to the amount already included in our rents."

She was referring to the council's stated reason for the tax, which is that tenants should help pay costs of municipal services they use instead of all direct payments being made only by property-owners.

"Everybody knows that when there's a real estate tax increase levied on the proprietors, the landlords automatically pass it on to us," the woman said.

Steve Bodi, president of the Laval Residents' Association, sees the new tax as a reversal of "the burden of the tax from the bungalow owner to the tenant."

He says the reason for the new tax is over-spending by the council and says he and opposition council members have received a "flood" of telephone calls from angry rent-payers.

One drawback to the new tax —which Mr. Tetreault hopes will bring in $780,000 annually—is its possible effect on business. Rented business premises will be liable as well as industrial plants whose property is leased.

Basically regarded for years as a dormitory area for Montreal, Laval now feels the fair wind of industrial financial participation.

Industrial Commissioner Real Gariepy says:

"We have an industrial park 40,000,000 square feet in area that has 87 firms on it with a total investment of $40,000,000. Five years ago it was an open field.

"When all the firms are in production about 3,000 jobs will be available."

Mr. Gariepy thinks "about 10 or 12%" of these firms could be affected "to some extent" by the three-per-cent tax but he is very cheerful about another council decision.

The council last week repealed a bylaw which taxed industrial firms on their fixed machin ery.

Y. M. Kaplansky, an opposition councillor, thinks the rental tax could "hamper much needed new apartment-block construction."

One annoyed rent-payer, who has asked his lawyer if the new tax can be opposed in court, said:

"It looks as if Laval will be a nice place in which to live in future—if you are a home-owning dis-stamp machine."

New Cigarette Filter May Not Prove 'Revolutionary'

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News said Monday night the Strickman cigarette filter, farmed "revolutionary" when it was announced by Columbia University, may be no better than any filter now in use.

Columbia announced July 13 that it had acquired rights to the filter, which it said reduces inhaled tar and nicotine to one-third or less of the levels attained by conventional filters.

"A testing program now is being conducted by Columbia in its own laboratories," NBC said. "The testing is nearing completion, and indications are that the filter has not lived up to the promise of the July 13 announcement, that it cannot be considered revolutionary, that it is, in fact, not significantly better than any conventional filter now in use."

A Columbia University spokesman stated that he was unaware of the contents of the news report. He said the university's position has been that it is unable to make any statement because it has a commitment to report findings to the U.S. Senate.

The filter is named for its inventor, Robert Strickman of Hillsdale, N.J., an industrial and consulting chemist. He could not be reached immediately for comment.

Julie Andrews Tops

NEW YORK (Reuters) — Julie Andrews was voted Monday the top box office star in Canada and the United States for the second year in a row.

The 35-year-old British actress starred in The Sound of Music, Hawaii and Thoroughly Modern Millie.

She was rated tops by a poll carried out by the monthly movie industry magazine Motion Picture Herald, based on a star's individual power to attract moviegoers.

Second was American actor Lee Marvin. Paul Newman, Dean Martin and Sean Connery came third, fourth and fifth and Elizabeth Taylor, the only other woman in the top 10, was sixth.

Sidney Poitier, Richard Burton, John Wayne and Steve McQueen completed the top 10.

Innocent Victim

Baby-rationing Doctor in Centre of Controversy

Dr. William Bradford Shockley said today a baby-rationing plan he outlined in a recent speech in Canada has made him the innocent centre of a furor.

Many indignant persons, he said, got the impression that he had urged the sterilization of American women as a population-control measure and the curtailment of welfare and school improvement programs for slum Negroes.

Shockley said he didn't urge any such thing.

The controversy arose from a lecture the Stanford University physicist gave last week at McMaster University in Hamilton.

Shockley, who shared the Nobel Prize in 1956 as co-inventor of the transistor, told the audience he personally had "no eugenics recommendations save that as a nation we start to explore publicly possible solutions to human quality problems."

But he went on to discuss what he called a "thinking exercise" — a combination of two birth-control proposals, one by Dr. Kenneth Boulding of the Institute of Behavioral Science at the University of Colorado and the other by the Population Council.

As modified and offered to the audience by Shockley this is how the plan would work:

The public would vote on what rate of population growth it wants. This would let the census bureau determine how many children each couple would have and still keep within the prescribed national growth rate. Certificates would be issued to all married couples.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted to have a child, the contraceptive would be removed and they would have to turn in a certificate.

After the child was born, the contraceptive would be reinserted. Couples not wishing to have children or not wanting as many as the law allowed could sell their certificates on the open market.

"After you have recovered from any emotion-provoking jar from this unfamiliar combination of concepts," Shockley told his McMaster listeners, "do apply your brain to the time-capsule child-certificate proposal."

"What would be its consequence? Only people who want and can afford children will have them."

Turning to the problem of large families in Negro areas, he said, "I approve of anti-poverty programs in general" but added:

"Unrealistic hope for speeding the Negro's struggle for equality before the real causes of his disadvantages are known may unwittingly inflict untold human suffering on the Negroes themselves."

Five Deaths

Captain Termed Incompetent

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — A marine court of inquiry ruled Monday that the grounding of the yacht Ramona off Bermuda Dec. 2, which resulted in five deaths, was due to "the incompetence and misconduct of master Capt. William Ross MacKay" of Picton, N.S.

But the court did not conclude that He ruling rendered MacKay liable to criminal prosecution.

The court cancelled MacKay's master's certificate.

It did not hold the yacht's owners, Vagabond Cruises Inc., a firm headed by Walter Boudreau of Sydney, N.S. and the Caribbean island of St. Lucia, responsible in hiring MacKay.

The court did not support allegations of drunkenness which had been made against MacKay by three of the five survivors of the grounding on a reef seven miles off Bermuda.

MacKay had denied in testimony last Thursday that he was either drunk or incompetent when the yacht piled up on the reef.

Dr. Kenneth McIntyre of Montague, P.E.I., and four St. Lucian crew members died in the grounding.

The court ruled that Dr. McIntyre died of accidental drowning. A survivor had said the doctor had thought the distance to shore was 200 yards, rather than the actual seven miles.

The court ruled that the deaths of two others resulted from fatigue and exposure. It reached no conclusion on why the remaining two drowned.

16,000 Per Day

GO Transit Successful

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government's $15,000,000 experiment in commuter train service along the Lake Ontario shoreline has proven such a success the government has made a first move toward expanding the pilot program to serve other parts of the metropolitan area.

Transit experts who planned the 60-mile GO transit—for Government of Ontario—route between Hamilton and Pickering via Toronto's Union Station rejected a long-term passenger load of 15,000 a day once the areas served became fully urbanized.

But with the service less than seven months old, patronage has already reached the 16,000 mark and one day last week passed 18,500.

The increase in passengers has prompted the provincial cabinet to order GO transit officials to bring up to date a survey of other potential commuter lines in the Toronto area.

The GO transit manager, W. T. Howard, said in an interview Monday the report will be ready for Highways Minister George Gomme sometime in January and may provide the basis for early expansion of the service to one or more lines.

"he decision will be difficult, since the first experiment has demonstrated that the simple announcement of plans for a new commuter line will push up land value: in the affected areas.

Some observers have suggested one of the new routes will be in the shape of a U, serving Brampton and Georgetown in the northwest and Agincourt to the northeast.

One of the benefits of such a line would be its ability to service the satellite city of Brampton near Brampton and interveloped parts of the borough of Scarborough where the government's Ontario Housing Corp. is deeply involved in housing programs.

Robin Russel Named to Post

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Nixon Monday announced the appointment of Clifford Brown, 47, as research director for the Liberal caucus in the Ontario legislature.

Mr. Brown, a former producer-director of public affairs and education programs for CFTO-TV, Montreal, has been with the educational television branch of the Ontario education department.

He is currently attending Atkinson College, York University, to complete a degree in computer science.

Mr. Nixon also announced the appointment of two research assistants, Wendy Hansen and Robin Russell. Miss Hansen, 26, worked for the Liberals during the Oct. 17 provincial election race and Mr. Russell, also 26, was unsuccessful Liberal candidate in Northumberland.

Six Dead, Nine Missing as Jet Hits Supermarket in Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A U.S. Air Force jet crashed into a crowded supermarket and burst into flame Monday night, leaving at least six dead. But the toll was expected to be much higher.

Firemen recovered six bodies from the supermarket and nearby homes to which the blaze spread. They said nine persons are missing. Twelve persons were injured.

The flames destroyed the supermarket where more than 50 persons were shopping and heavily damaged two adjoining businesses and three homes.

"I looked up and saw this huge ball of fire at the rear of the store," he said. "I grabbed my wife and child and ran for the front. Someone ran out with us."

One of the dead was identified as Sherry Tilton, 19, who lived in a house behind the market.

Firemen said the girl was trapped in a back bedroom of the home, when the roof fell in on her.

Hamilton and Hughes jumped from the plane seconds after takeoff on a routine training mission from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, about two miles away. The two men are stationed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

The air force gave no reason as to why the men had to bail out.

Witnesses said the jet flew on a direct course into the back of the store. Roswell Burk, 15, one of those near the scene, said it looked as if one of the wings hit the corner of the building first.

"I had been expecting this," said Fred Cirillo, 38, operator of a service station across the street from the market.

"In the last two weeks I have had nine windows knocked out of my station because of the low-flying planes."

One of the first to hurry into the store and lead victims out was Ernest Sanchez, 26.

"I believe I saw the bodies of two children, three women and a man," he said.

Sanchez said he was able to aid several of the panic-stricken persons inside. "I was just inside the store when a woman ran in from outside. I think she had a child in the rear of the store. There was nothing but flames there. I grabbed her. When she struggled to get free I pushed her out of the store."

Painting Together

NEW YORK (AP) — For 25 years Dr. Otto Kallir has been searching for the second part of an early painting that Grandma Moses—in a burst of what she called "Scotch thrift"—had sliced in halves to sell as two pictures.

Recently a man carried a painting into Kallir's Galeria St. Etienne to see if it was a real Grandma Moses or a fake as some friends said. He had inherited it from his mother.

"I recognized it at once as the half I had been looking for," explains Kallir, who handled Grandma's work from the beginning.

"The two parts of The Shenandoah Valley were shown in her first exhibition at his gallery in October, 1940. One was later sold and the other remained in my possession," says Kallir.

It came about this way, she said: One day in 1939 Louis J. Caldor of New York, engineer and art collector was acquainted with discovering Grandma Moses—who began painting when she was 80, saw some of her paintings in a store in Hoosick Falls and went to buy what she had on hand at her farm in Eagle Bridge. Grandma wasn't home and her daughter-in-law, Dorothy Moses, told him there were 10 paintings available if he wanted to come back to pick them up from Grandma the next day.

Grandma Divided After 25-year Hunt

Grandma worried all night because she only had nine. She got up at dawn, cut the biggest picture in two, added some details of mountains and trees to the left half and then signed it—moses, with the S's typically backward.

When Caldor arrived, she had 10 pictures waiting for him.

"I did it so it wouldn't get Dorothy in the doghouse," Kallir said Grandma told him.

After one part was sold at the 1943 exhibition Kallir tried to locate the right half to reunite the pictures, but the purchaser had remarried and moved, and he could never find her.

"It's one of her very early ones and she probably copied it somewhere," Kallir said. "It's not from her memory—which are her great pictures."

$100,000 Bribe Said Offered

MONTREAL (CP) — A police officer testified Monday that St. Michel alderman Maurice Constantineau was willing to pay him up to $100,000 to prevent him from appearing in court against him.

The evidence came from Const. Jean-Claude Gascon, 31, who told Judge Paul Hurteau he got into the St. Michel police department earlier this year after he paid the alderman $1,000 in cash.

He was testifying at the preliminary hearing of Mr. Constantineau on a charge of bribery.

Const. Gascon—who resigned from the Montreal police department last fall after 12 years of service—said he joined the force in the Montreal suburb June 15 of this year, two days after he paid the money to the alderman at the St. Michel city hall.

Bay Ice Thinned by Thaw

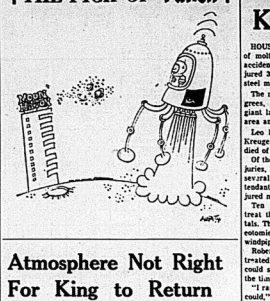
Bellevillians took to the ice by the score yesterday — but mild weather today is threatening to sink any puck played on the city harbor.

The winter freeze - up which has turned the harbor area into the city's biggest sport centre, now is being thinned by thawing temperatures.

Yesterday, the area was a hive of activity with entire families out skating, hustling hockey sticks and ice - fishing.



Today, the weatherman predicted mild weather for the rest of the week.

High temperatures will average up to 33 degrees with little precipitation on the horizon, says the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

About a half - inch of snow or rain is predicted on Wednesday and Saturday.

However, it's too early to pattern the weather outlook for Christmas Day.

THE PICK OF Punch

Atmosphere Not Right For King to Return

ATHENS (CP) —The Greek deputy prime minister, Brig Stylianos Patakos, said Monday night the atmosphere is not right at present for King Constantine to return to the throne in the next few days ago.

He said the Greek government believes there must be a cooling-off period before the king can return from Rome and that a suitable climate should be created.

He did not say how long he felt the cooling-off period should last but reiterated to a press conference that the 27-year-old monarch could reclaim his throne if he chose.

The military government tightened its trip on the armed forces and on the country. It dropped 12 top army, navy and air force officers and continued a selective purge of potential political opponents, solidifying its position whether the king returns or not.

It leaked word that it considered its position solid. Sources claiming to be close to the junta said military leaders feel they hold most of the cards.

The government showed no disposition to accept—or even acknowledge—the king's demands that it resign, declared free elections and restore him to full power.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An earthquake rumbled for 150 miles along California's famous San Andreas fault Monday, causing widespread alarm but only minor damage. Buildings swayed and creaked and ornaments jingled on shaking Christmas trees.

Pig Iron Dumped by Accident Kills Two, Injures 30 Texans

The metal, heated to 2,800 degrees, spilled 60 feet from a giant ladle into an open hearth area and splattered 220 feet.

Leo Bell, 53, and Houston H. Kreuger, 55, both of Houston, died of burns.

Of the 30 workers suffering injuries, 18 remained in hospitals, several in critical condition. Attendants said some of the injured may be added.

Ten doctors were called to treat the victims at two hospitals. They performed five tracheotomies—incision into the windpipe to permit breathing.

Robert Green, 43, who was treated and dismissed, said he could see "nothing but fire" at the time of the accident.

"I ran out of there as fast as I could," he added, still visibly shaken several hours later.

Mrs. Billie Griggs, a receptionist, said: "Our whole building shook. It sounded as if someone had dropped a big piece of furniture."

Burke Huber, plant assistant safety supervisor, said most of the injuries resulted from clothes set afire by the metal.

Officials said about 440 persons were at the mill but did not say how many were present at the time of the accident.

Spokesmen unofficially blamed the accident on a bent mechanical arm that held the bowl-shaped ladle in place.

Plant Manager, W. M. Rankin, said an overhead electric crane supported the ladle that carried 30 tons of molten iron from special rail cars to the hearth. The crane lifts the ladle to the second-floor level, 40 feet off the ground.

The Houston mill is Armco's second largest steel-making plant. The spokesman said plant operations would not be affected.

thank you
isn't easy

My family and I want to say thank you to everyone in Belleville for so many things. We must say a sincere thanks for the honor you have given us by allowing me to serve as Mayor of this wonderful community for the past four years. To perform this function, as we felt you would want it, has not been easy for us as a family. The consideration and kindness shown to each of us has made it a worthwhile experience for us all.

To those who cast their ballots in my favor in the recent election campaign, my sincere thanks. We are indebted to you for your support. To the many, many persons who worked tirelessly in the campaign, we are particularly indebted for it is your personal endorsement of my four years as Mayor which means so much to me.

With our thanks, we extend to every citizen of Belleville our best wishes for the holiday season.

Demand For Gold Declines

LONDON (AP) — Demand for gold suddenly dropped back to normal at the London gold market today, indicating the cold rush in Europe may be ending.
The price dropped in Hong Kong, and market specialists said the rush appeared ended there also. Hong Kong speculators were reported captured by the U.S. government's pledge during the weekend that the hands of gold they picked up would be the price of gold at $35 an ounce.
London dealers in London reported turnover today ranging from moderate down to practically normal.
"Sellers started out of the market, however, holding onto the hands of gold they picked up during the last month of uncertainty over the stability of the dollar following devaluation of the pound.

Mites Sometimes Bother Some People

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Some little times ago in reply to a letter about a woman who had a sensation of insects crawling on her skin, I suggested that if (as was reported to me) no one else in the family could detect the presence of insects, psychiatric treatment might be in order. Emotional disturbances can make some people feel as though they are covered with insects.

Quite a lot of readers, however, wrote in their experiences with insects that were hard to detect unless the search was very careful, and an entomologist — one who studies insects — added some practical advice on how to keep insects away.

L. M., in Indiana, thought she was pestered by invisible insects until finally, under a strong light, she discovered mites hardly bigger than a pinpoint.

Mrs. E. W. in Pennsylvania reported that she and her son both were bothered by similar mites, and by spiders of pinhead size, although neither else else in the family was bothered.

Mrs. M. B. in North Dakota said insect sprays didn't help her until she finally used a wasp and hornet spray. A. R. J., in Michigan, was the only one of four people in her household to be bothered, and her children looked at her she said, "with pity" and her doctor attributed it to nerves until she found that rubbing herself with alcohol killed the tiny pests and she had evidence that it wasn't nerves or imagination. And there were others.

The entomologist, who wrote to me offered his suggestions.

Mites which feed on the blood of sparrows "often come into the house and attack individuals," he wrote, after the mites have been left in an abandoned nest. "They cause an intense crawling sensation on the skin and can cause a momentary but intense itching," he writes.

Removing nests in the eaves or other crannies of the house, and spraying of the nesting area, will get rid of bird mites, he advises.

Mites and fleas from rats or other rodents can be similarly annoying, he says, and so can cat fleas—he suggests according or similar methods to prevent cats from crawling under a house.

Insect sprays, he warns, may not end troubles with mites because they kill only mites present at the time. If old nests or other sources let more mites invade the house, the trouble goes on.

"If these sources are checked out," he says lastly, "and the 'buggy' sensation still occurs, then and only then can the victim be considered hungry enough for the head-doctor. I hope in fairness to people who are attacked by such pests that you will find room in your column to print portions of this letter."

Gladly I do so.

Dear D. Molner: I am troubled with arthritis. We are very fond of applesauce and was surprised yesterday when a neighbor told me applesauce was bad for arthritis. Also coffee.Is there anything else it would be best to eliminate from my diet?—S. P.

Neither applesauce nor coffee has any bearing on arthritis. No special diet is necessary or helpful; just eat a normal, well-balanced diet and that it will be either necessary or helpful as far as arthritis is concerned.

Country Party Head Now PM

CANBERRA (CP) — Country party Leader John McEwen was sworn in today as interim prime minister of Australia and made it clear that he took the post only on a caretaker basis while a leadership struggle in the ruling coalition is resolved.

The Liberal party, major partner in the Liberal-Country party coalition that has ruled since 1949, was thrown into a leadership crisis following the presumed death of Prime Minister Harold Holt, 59, who disappeared while swimming in the surf off Portsea Sunday.

Senator John Grey Gorton, 56, minister of education and science, emerged as the likely compromise successor to Holt. The Liberals will elect a new party leader and prime minister at a meeting Jan. 9.

McEwen, 67-year-old deputy prime minister, said Carl Casey will swear in all present ministers Wednesday.

Holt is to be memorialized at a service in Melbourne Friday attended by President Johnson. The president's decision to make the 10,175-mile flight from Washington was an unusual gesture of respect for his staunch ally in the Vietnam war.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam and President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines, who also has troops in Vietnam, announced that they would attend the Melbourne service also.

Informed sources in London said British Prime Minister Wilson also might fly to Australia.

The Canadian Commons devoted the opening of its sitting to an all-party tribute to Holt.

Prime Minister Pearson called Holt a good friend of Canada who had wanted to develop and deepen relations between the two countries. His death caused shock and grief to Canadians, he said.

McEwen refused to be interviewed after the swearing-in ceremony at Government House and would not comment on reports of a rift between him and Federal Treasurer William McMahon.

Secondly McMahon, the deputy leader of the Liberals, would succeed Holt. But McEwen made it clear to the Liberals that his party would withdraw from the coalition if McMahon was chosen, leaving the government three votes short of a majority.

Sources said McMahon intended to contest the leadership decide McEwen's threat to take the Country party out of the coalition.

Other possible contenders for the leadership were External Affairs Minister Paul Hasluck and Defence Minister Allen Fairhall.

Rough seas and a strong undertow hampered the search today for the body of Holt, who disappeared off Portsea, about 37 miles south of Melbourne.

Holt's wife remained at the family's weekend home at Portsea with her three stepsons and their wives. The national radio network played music all the start of its programs, followed by the reading of messages of sympathy to Australian government and Mrs. Holt.

A senior police official said: "It would be highly disrespectful and disgraceful for demonstrators to make capital from Mr. Johnson's arrival."

Greek Junta Turns Civilian

Involved were the premier and defence minister, Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the junta that seized power in the April 12 coup; the deputy premier and interior minister, Brig. Stylianos Patakos and the minister of economic co-ordination, Col. Nicholas Makarezos.

Thieu Will Not See Viet Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the war in Vietnam "could be stopped in a matter of days" if South Viet Nam's president, Nguyen Van Thieu, talks informally with the Viet Cong and wins their agreement to abide by the Geneva accords.

But in Saigon, Thieu, reacting to Johnson's interview, told reporters he would talk to leaders of the NLF only if they defected and gave their allegiance to Saigon.

"We would accept any representative of the Front who comes back to us as a returnee," Thieu said, adding he meant by "returnee" any defector from the Viet Cong. Later, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said there was "no difference" between the South Vietnamese and U.S. positions when asked about Thieu's comments.

As for curing violence at home, President Johnson says either private business will create jobs for 500,000 hard-core unemployed or the government will—"as expensive as it is."

Johnson spoke hopefully of "good results" through Saigon talks with members of the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong political arm, during a wide-ranging pre-taped television interview broadcast Tuesday night as he flew to Australia for memorial services for Prime Minister Harold Holt, who was drowned while swimming.

Administration sources said the president may stress this point privately with Thieu, who also is headed for the Melbourne service for Holt.

Johnson outlined five peace conditions based on existing U.S. demands that North Vietnam leave its neighbor alone.

They included an end to Hanoi infiltration through Laos and the demilitarized zone separating Vietnam in accord with the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements; one man-one vote government in the South and peaceful negotiations for North-South reunification.

Johnson also made these observations:

—"I don't know what the effect of the Kennedy-McCarthy movement is having in the country" but "I do know it is the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them—see that reflected from time to time."

Washkansky Improves, Is Expected to Recover

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Louis Washkansky, the world's first heart transplant patient, has shown signs of improvement in the last 36 hours and his chances of recovery are good, the leader of the transplant team of doctors said today.

Dr. Chris Barnard, who headed the team that performed the operation Dec. 3, said the transplanted heart is functioning normally and there are no signs of the body rejecting it.

"His condition is improving and his heart is not being rejected," Dr. Barnard said.

A new threat to Washkansky's life—his lung infection—was at least temporarily countered, Dr. Barnard said.

Groote Schuur Hospital earlier issued a bulletin saying there was no change in Washkansky's condition and that he remained "seriously ill."

Dr. Barnard gave the news of Washkansky's improved condition in an interview broadcast by the South African Broadcasting Corp. It was the first heartening news since it was announced three days ago that the fun-loving Washkansky contracted pneumonia.

"His lungs are responding to treatment," the 44-year-old Dr. Barnard said. "The heart is functioning normally and there are no signs of body rejecting it."

Surgeons at first took the pneumonia as a sign that the 55-year-old wholesale grocer's body might be rejecting the new heart, taken from a 25-year-old woman killed in a car crash.

Then came an added complication. Doctors reported Washkansky's white blood cell count had fallen dangerously low and Tuesday gave him heavy transfusions of white blood cells to make up the deficiency.

Today the hospital's hematology department head, Dr. R. S. Mibashan, said: "There has been no new significant increase in his white cell count. But these cells could have been used by the body in serving a useful purpose."

Doctors continued tests to discover whether the white cell count is increasing.

For the last two days the doctors have been working on the theory that the immunological rejection by which the body tends to reject any foreign tissue placed in it has been acting against Washkansky's own tissue—his lungs and white blood cells.

Dr. M. B. Bennett, acting head of the radiotherapy department, said no further cobalt treatment is planned for Washkansky at this stage. He will not be fit enough for further treatment until he is over his present complications, Dr. Bennett said.

The doctors in the heart transplant team again showed signs of weariness and strain. Eyes were lined and drawn.

Pearson Urges War Pause

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Tuesday suggested the United States call a halt to all fighting in Vietnam as a dramatic gesture to obtain peace in Southeast Asia.

Mr. Pearson made the suggestion during the taping of a CTV television interview to be broadcast New Year's Day, added "it is time the U.S. take some risk for peace—some dramatic action to see what the other side would do."

He said cessation of the bombing as a gesture of goodwill is no longer enough because it only encourages the North Vietnamese to escalate their conditions for talking peace.

"One thing the U.S. might do it just stop fighting and tell the North Vietnamese they will meet them in Geneva in two weeks," Mr. Pearson said.

"But the fighting broke out again, it would then be the fault of the North Vietnamese."

He said his proposal might be difficult for President Johnson to carry out in a presidential election year.

Kingston Banker Captures Robber

KINGSTON (CP) — The tables were turned Tuesday when a bank manager pulled a gun on a would-be bank robber and held him at gunpoint until police arrived.

Edward A. K. Mundy, manager of a downtown branch of the Toronto - Dominion Bank, said the robber entered his office shortly after the bank opened and handed him a note.

Mr. Mundy said the note warned him: "We are holding your wife as hostage. You will never see her alive again unless you give us all your money."

He said, he reached into a desk drawer and pulled out a gun and held the man at gunpoint until another bank employee called police.

Gary Lorne Winters, 20, of Prescott, Ont., was today remanded without plea on a charge of attempted robbery.

Mr. Mundy admitted that he was frightened, but he said a quick telephone call home after the incident proved his wife was not in any danger.

Nothing New Declares Tass

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Russian news agency Tass today said the endorsement by President Johnson of talks between the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong is nothing new.

Tass said in a dispatch from Washington that Johnson is in fact maintaining the old U.S. position on Vietnam because he made it clear in a recorded television interview Tuesday that the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, would not be recognized.

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — The United Nations General Assembly Tuesday repudiated a September referendum in which Gibraltar chose to remain a British colony. The assembly declared that the referendum violated UN recommendations that Spain and Britain continue negotiations "with a view to putting an end to the colonial situation" in Gibraltar.

Quebec Plans Immigration Policy of Own

QUEBEC (CP) — Yves Gabias, provincial secretary, said Tuesday the Quebec government has developed an immigration policy of its own and plans to apply it early in 1968 in co-operation with the federal government.

In a telephone interview, Mr. Gabias said a program aimed primarily at attracting French-speaking immigrants to the province has been evolved and will be applied in stages over a five-year period.

The carrying out of the comprehensive immigration program hinged on an agreement between the Quebec and federal governments on their respective spheres of influence in the matter of immigration and accords with the governments of foreign countries where Quebec immigration offices would be established.

Smythes Must Pay $260,000 in Taxes

TORONTO (CP) — Three Toronto businessmen lost an appeal Tuesday against an assessment of nearly $500,000 on their income tax returns.

The assessment, claimed by the national revenue department, involved proceeds from the sale of a gravel pit in which Con Smythe, founder of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, his son Stafford and Clarence Day were principal shareholders.

Mr. Justice H. F. Gibson of the Exchequer Court of Canada upheld the claim of the department for $220,054 additional income tax from Con Smythe, founder of the Maple Leafs; $123,084 from his son Stafford, president of the Leafs, and $53,043 from former coach Clarence (Hap) Day.

The government said the money the three men received for their shares in a gravel company was income, not capital gain.

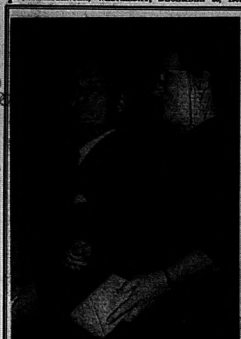
UN Passes Pact to Return Stranded Foreign Astronauts

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The UN General Assembly recessed until today for about three months after a session overshadowed by two crises it never came to grips with—the Middle East and Vietnam.

The 123-nation assembly also failed to conclude a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons because the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva couldn't nail down all points at issue.

The final day was highlighted by a brisk note. The assembly gave unanimous approval to a treaty providing for the rescue and safe return of astronauts forced to land on foreign soil.

The treaty, which had full support in Canada, will take effect when ratified by Russia, the United States and say two other countries.



D. M. Miller of the legal division of the Canadian external affairs department said his delegation was "particularly pleased" with the draft agreement which "we sincerely hope that . . . our attention now can be concentrated on obtaining similar agreements on a draft on liability for damage caused by the launching of objects into outer space."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg called the vote "an historic action" and one of the major achievements of the assembly. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko said the agreement would "have great importance in connection with speedy

Union Charges Discrimination

TRENTON — A recently established Trenton industry has been cited before the Ontario Labor Relations Board for allegedly discriminating against union activities.

The complaint has been registered against Fabricon Manufactured by United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Rose Russell, the union's national organizer said in Toronto today, the labor group had received a complaint from five Fabricon employees that they had been fired after attempting to organize a union local in the plant.

He said the OLB will hold a hearing on the charge at a date yet to be set.

A woman was among the five worker complainants, said Mr. Russell.

He identified them as Mrs. Linda Forbes, William Houghton, John Saave, Harold Anderson and John Needham.

Fabricon, said the union official, is a subsidiary of General Wire and Cable at Cobourg.

It recently established in the former Downs-Coulter plant here for the manufacture of copper wire, and is still in the process of gearing for full production.

COULTER — In loving memory of Lucinda Coulter who passed away December 20th, 1963.
He bade no one his last farewell,
He took no one his last farewell,
His farewell was given to all.
The heavenly gates were opened,
Lord Jesus, he entered in,
He left behind a world of sorrow,
But heaven was free from sin.
Still missed, loved, still mine,
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by husband Ernest, daughter-in-law, Mary Ellen.

MORRISON — In memory of Mrs. Charles Morrison, who passed away Dec. 20, 1963.
This month we think with regret,
It brings back a day we shall never forget.
Time fell on memories,
But the memory of you shall never die.
Looking back with memories,
Upon the path you trod,
We know the years we had with you,
Were the best to God.
Leave the rest to God.
—Always remembered by husband Charles, daughter Myrtle, Douglas, Bruce and families.

Land Acquisition

Change in Conservation Authority Suggested

The Moira River Conservation Authority may change its present policy of acquiring isolated lots of sub-marginal land for reforestation purposes and instead confine its operations to blocks of 200 acres or more.

This was suggested at yesterday's fall authority meeting at Camilton by forestry advisory board chairman Kenneth Holland, who said that the department of Lands and Forests feeling was that if they were to be of any value reforestation plots should be located in areas a minimum of 200 acres.

The policy of the Moira Authority has been to buy sub-marginal land where it was available. Mr. Holland suggested that consideration be given to selling isolated lots now owned by the Authority.

Mr. Holland's report showed the Authority now owned a total of 15,529 acres of reforestation property with another 1,340 acres of water control, wildlife and conservation area property for a total of 16,869 acres.

During the year 61,250 trees had been planted on Authority properties bringing the total of Authority owned trees to 2,426,625.

Other reports heard yesterday included the education - extension advisory board given by Harry Corliss.

Mr. Coulter commented on the one day conservation schools attended by grade six pupils and said it was hoped that all schools in the Authority would participate next year.

Belleville School principal Bert Frink said that a second visit by school children to the Vanderwater Park in the fall would be beneficial. "This would allow the pupils to view seasonal changes," he said.

Another new venture planned by the committee is a maple syrup production project which would be operated with the co-operation of a Moira area farmer.

School children would visit the sugar bush to see the syrup making operation while the general public would be invited on weekends.

Wild-life advisory board chairman W. Armstrong questioned the policy of the Authority purchasing blocks of low lying reforestation area and then allowing it to be flooded by construction of beaver dams.

He urged the opening up of more lakes as tourist attractions claiming that beavers would accrue to area residents.

Fish and Wildlife officer W. Chesher of Tweed said there were development possibilities in the upper reaches of Partridge Creek north of Flinton. He said there were several possible locations for low cost water control dams.

Conservation areas advisory board chairman Bruce Smith said there was increased use of all Authority parks during the past summer.

The O'Hara Mill northwest of Madoc had been a "huge success" with beaver rainfall providing a good water supply for regular weekend operation of the century old sawmill. He said the time was coming when an admission charge to this park would have to be made.

Development of the Price Park at Actinolite as a trailer camp area was recommended by Mr. Smith but the idea was turned down by Authority members.

Graham Bell, water control advisory board chairman said for a while this year it appeared there would be little for him to report.

However, in the fall ARDA approval had been received for control dams on the two branches of the Moira River below Stoco Lake and also for the proposed dam on Partridge Creek below Deercock Lake.

Grants in the amount of 90 per cent on the estimated $250,000 total costs of the two projects had been approved.

Mr. Bell said that high water had prevented construction of the Stoco Lake dams this fall as had been intended. The total cost of the Deercock Lake dams would be over $20,-000. As the benefiting municipalities Hungerford would pay about. $1,344 and Tweed village about $3,145. The Authority share would be about $276.

Mr. Bell said the Deercock Lake project would be proceeded with as quickly as possible. Access roads have been constructed and clearing of the area to be flooded would be commenced this winter.

The dam itself may not be constructed for two or three years, it was stated.

To provide money for the authority's share of proposed dam construction, a special meeting upped the local levy from the proposed 1968 budget to $25,000 from the $18,000 levied last year.

Authority chairman Gerald O. Irvine, reported on a tour which he and three other executive members had taken last summer to Western Canada. Among the spots visited was the huge new Gardiner dam forming a lake 140 miles long, and the Weiterton Lakes dam and reservoir in Alberta.

A one minute silence was observed in memory of the late Clarence T. Graham of Tweed, a long time member of the Moira Authority.

Two NE Executives Honored For Engineering Work

DR. A. BREWER HUNT

ROBERT TANNER

Dr. A. Brewer Hunt, retired Northern Electric vice-president of Research and Development and now chairman of an industrial sub-group at the Science Secretariat has been named a Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. Dr. Hunt's elevation to the Grade of Fellow, the highest international honor the New York-based IEEE can bestow, becomes effective January 1.

Dr. Hunt is cited "for contributions to the application of communications research and development."

This recent honor is one of several conferred on Dr. Hunt this year. In April, Carleton University awarded him the honorary degree of Docdor of Engineering. Shortly thereafter, he was named a Fellow of the 19,000 member Engineering Institute of Canada.

The IEEE explains the Grade of Fellow as one of unusual professional distinction. It is conferred only by invitation of the board of directors upon a person of outstanding and extraordinary qualifications and experience in the field of electrical engineering, electronics, radio, allied branches of engineering or the related arts and sciences. Dr. Hunt is one of four Canadians to be named to the Grade of Fellow of the IEEE in 1968.

Dr. Hunt resided in Belleville as manager of the N. E. plant when it was established in 1947.

OTTAWA — A former resident of Belleville achieved distinction in two different fields recently. Robert Tanner, P.Eng. has been elected Canadian Director of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), the largest technical society in the world, and is also editor and chairman of the editorial board of TELESIS, Northern Electric's new technical journal. This publication is directed towards the engineering staffs of communications companies both at home and overseas, to university faculties and libraries and many others involved in communications throughout the world.

Mr. Tanner's election as regional director for IEEE, will take effect on January 1st. for a two-year term, and in this capacity he will serve on the New York-based Institute's board of directors, representing some 7,000 Canadian members, grouped into 17 sections across the continent. In addition he will travel widely attending various sectional functions in major cities as well as meeting electrical and electronics engineers from all walks of life.

The Tanner family lived in Belleville from 1947 to 1960 and will be remembered among other things as supporters of the Theatre Guild and the National Ballet. In addition, ever since the inception of the Stratford Festival, Robert Tanner has taken time out from his busy schedule to go to the plays, and review them for The Intelligencer.

Annexation Bid to Be Re-opened

PICTON — A special meeting of town council has authorized a re-presentation of its unsuccessful annexation bid against Hallowell Township.

Reginald Nourse, QC, town solicitor and spokesman for town council, said in view of the results of the recent annexation hearing, the town will try for a completely new presentation of the evidence before the Ontario Municipal Board, "as if there had been no hearing at all," Mr. Nourse explained.

The OMB rejected the town's bid for 772 township acres and said Picton failed to prove a need for additional land. The annexation bid is reported to have cost the town $50,000.

The same evidence will be used, Mr. Nourse continued, making use of the original consultants and starting from the beginning again.

Contributions Get Fund Out Of Hot Water

It seems that the Merry Christmas for needy children this year is no longer a hope on the horizon, but a fact.

Although earlier reports indicated that the needy children Christmas toy collection by the firemen was in trouble, the situation has improved. "Everything is going to be fine," Fire Chief Ted Poste stated today.

It appears that contributions from organizations got the fund out of hot water. Gifts from the Boy Scouts and the Quinte Twirlers, the Belleville Square-dancing Club, helped to save the day.

Chief Poste explained that there were plenty of toys and that over $570 had been collected.

"I'm quite sure that there will be a sufficient amount for the children."

The United Church Women of Thomasburg United Church are finishing up their centennial project in a nick of time. The quilt has the insignia of each province as well as the embroidered signatures of all the provincial prime ministers.

Women Complete Centennial Quilt

Centennial year in Canada is just about over and the United Church Women of Thomasburg United Church are going to finish their project just in time.

The "Centennial Quilt" that they have been working on consists of the emblems of each province with the signature of their premiers embroidered below. The blocks were sent away to the premiers who all returned them signed for the ladies to embroider.

They expect to have the quilt finished by tomorrow. In addition to the provincial insignias and signatures the quilt will also have the embroidered signatures of all of the former and present ministers of Canada as well as a centennial map of Canada in the centre.

The quilt has already been sold but the money will go for work in the church.

Busy Time for Shoplifters

"There is an extra problem of shoplifting at this time of year, the problem of the professional," says Robert Diamond, manager of Towers of Belleville.

A police spokesman echoes the same statement. "This is the time of the year when shoplifters prey on businessmen when they're busy."

According to the police, every Christmas, professionals "work the circuits."

Mr. Diamond explained the "M.O." of some of the shoplifters. People enter the store and steal merchandise and give it to someone else. That person then tries to get a refund on the "purchase."

False cheques are usually another method of getting merchandise out of the store. Then the attempted refund occurs once more.

Mr. Diamond explained that the Towers company policy states that all shoplifters are charged. "We press charges in every case."

Bruce Mossit, manager of Walkers Ltd. in Belleville would not comment on any Christmas rush of shoplifting. He did say, however, that his employees patrol the floors to discourage them.

He stated that Walkers lays charges when shoplifters are caught.

Douglas Thompson of Simpsons Sears said that he didn't have any trouble with shoplifters. "We watch them and there isn't any trouble."

It was suggested by Mr. Diamond that the mass merchandise type of store suffers more than more successful than the behind-the-counter type of business.

Office Supply Scheme Needs Investigation

The Business Consumer Protective Bureau has received several calls regarding a suspicious office supply scheme.

Numerous larger firms in town have received phone calls and letters originating from Montreal and signed by persons using the title "Dr." and other aliases.

The persons indicate that they are friends or relatives of some officer or director of a large corporation and that due to the death of a relative they have been forced to liquidate a stationery business and thus offer office supplies at presumable low prices.

In checking with officers of the named corporation it is revealed that they have no knowledge of such a doctor or stationery business.

Firms in Belleville have already been contacted and the Chamber of Commerce strongly recommends a thorough investigation before an order is placed.

WILSON RACKED

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Wilson won parliamentary endorsement Tuesday of his ban on the sale of arms to South Africa. Britain imposed the ban because of the South African white government's racial-separation policy.

Authority Vetoes Trailer Camp

Has the Moira River Conservation Authority any right to get into the trailer camp business in competition with private operators?

A heavy majority of Authority executive officers feel it hasn't and yesterday lopped $25,000 off the proposed 1968 budget which would have gone to provide modern trailer camp facilities at the Price picnic area at Actinolite on No. 7 highway.

Authority executive member Bill Armstrong questioned the proposed trailer camp item claiming there was no reason why the Authority should spend $25,000 to get into an operation in direct competition to private enterprise.

Following a lengthy discussion the trailer camp item was removed from the budget, resulting in the local levy for the proposed 1968 budget being reduced by $6,000 to $25,065.

Seventy-five percent of the proposed expenditure for the trailer camp could have been covered by provincial grants.

Bruce Smith, chairman of the Authority Conservation Areas committee, felt that the trailer camp at Price's Park was needed. He said there was no other such facility on No. 7 highway for more than 100 miles.

He didn't take the view that the proposed trailer camp would effect other operators in the area. He said he had two brothers in motel business in the Tweed-Madoc area and both supported the Authority trailer camp idea.

But other members disagreed, claiming that it was difficult for private enterprise to compete against government operated facilities.

Authority field officer Sandy Griswold told the meeting that conservation authority bodies in the past few years had branched out to provide a greater variety of recreational facilities. The question with respect to the proposed trailer camp was one of cost versus benefit, he said.

Tweed area forestry official C. J. Heney felt the question was whether the Authority was providing a service to the public. He did not feel that a small trailer park would be a paying proposition.

He said the experience of the Lands and Forests Department which operates such facilities was that small trailer camps "lose their shirts" although this was impossible to a great extent on location.

Education and Environment

Ever stop to think of the significance of the word "mainland?" People who inhabit such regions, rather than outlying islands or territories, have all the advantages of mainland life — including the best in education.

That is why many parents in regions like the Caribbean, South America and farther afield send their children to schools in Canada, the United States and Britain. Not that the schools serving the remoter regions are lacking in any way in their high standards but are equal to if not higher than on this continent — but generally mainland establishments have the edge.

One outer area which has not suffered from its comparative remoteness is Bermuda. If we are to judge from the impressions of a 15-year-old American who is the youngest student at the University of Manitoba. Ethan Taylor was in Grade 4 when his father was transferred by the U.S. immigration department to Bermuda from California.

The young student, says a Winnipeg report, credits his four years in the vacation paradise, where shades are based on strict British standards, for his rapid progress since.

This raises the point; would students not be better off studying in say Bermuda where not only is the disciplinary factor more apparent, but the emphasis is placed on the additional advantage of a near-perfect climate allied with unmatched recreational facilities?

To have the open air, beaches and leafy lanes from which leaves are shed at hand is a balm to the spirit that those living perpetually on mainland campuses and exposed to mainland neuroses cannot match. In other words mainland disadvantages in many ways outweigh the advantages of a climate from virtually unlimited facilities and top quality teachers and equipment. In climates and environments like Bermuda the immature exults of the LSD and marijuana set have little opportunity to flourish.

In mainland America it is a different story. The seeds of trouble can take hold in the schools — in for example the State of Texas where US-style stress and strain are constant companions of citizens seeking identity and meaning in an essentially violent society.

Note this statement: "We're making more nervous wrecks out of our school children than we've ever done before." The words were spoken by E. A. Wells, State chairman of audio-visual services to a conference of parents and teachers in Fort Worth.

Mr. Wells says that teachers are assigning more homework than pupils can do, especially the average pupil who has to work much harder to keep up with the gifted child."

Canadian high school students are not infrequently in this situation, particularly those in their final year. What is the remedy? The educational system, while maintaining a high academic standard should introduce more balancing factors in the students' lives. A little less gravity perhaps, a little more levity are needed. More smiling faces and music and fresh air and exercise. Schools should be striving to produce human beings, not automotons.

White Christmas

Belleville this winter has had relatively few really cold days. More often than not the area generally has been living up to its "banana belt" reputation.

Not so picturesque, however, are the bleak days without any sun. It is then that we envy people who live in more exotic climates.

In any event, for those found may be wondering if it will be a white Christmas it is worth recalling that virtually the first snow of any consequence during the past two winters fell on Christmas Eve.

It seems incongruous, but Arizona and New Mexico are the places that have the snow just now.

Soap—Not Heroin

Some at least of the errors of judgment and interpretation made by the United States and its allies have their comic aspects.

Recently small packets found on the bodies of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers were reported to contain heroin. A U.S. army spokesman went so far as to say the communists, terrified, would go into action uncaring of the consequences. He said in effect they would not know what had hit them.

Now a spokesman for the U.S. Ist Infantry Division is quoted as saying the packets contained not heroin, but disinfectants, fungicides and soap. Somehow "Charlie," as the Americans dub the Viet Cong, seems a lot more human now that this little libel has been cleared up!

LOOKING BACKWARDS

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
December 20, 1947

The regular monthly meeting and Christmas gathering of members of the Bay of Quinte Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants was held at the Bay-Rd restaurant. Col. A. B. Hunt, Belleville manager of the Northern Electric Co., was the guest speaker.

A delightful party is being planned by the Hospital Auxiliary for Boxing Day at Albert College. Accommodation is limited to 200 couples and close to that number have already made their reservations. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. E. M. MacDonald, Mrs. J. R. Scott, Mrs. F. H. Deacon, Mrs. R. D. Boyce and Mrs. J. P. Howe.

30 YEARS AGO

Potatoes Versus Rice

Halifax - Chronicle Herald

While it may never reach the dimensions of advertising combat shared by the nation's two leading car rental agencies, the potato-rice battle is growing somewhat bitter in the United States. It is a struggle which, humorous as it may seem, will be followed with interest by Canada's great potato growing provinces, notably New Brunswick, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Quebec, all of which export to the U.S.

The feud started when the Rice Council for Marketing Development suggested in a national magazine that Americans go the rice route in place of the stodgy old spud.

The National Potato Council did not react, however, until the rice growers, taking their cue from the cigarette-makers of the 1930s, hit below the belt: "Bury it in butter or add pots of gravy," they advised. "Rice fills you the long way, not the round way."

Screaming "Foul," the potato interests, led by Idaho and Maine, complained to the Federal Trade Commission. Now the matter is being investigated by the deceptive practices division of that body. Meanwhile, the Potato Council, not without difficulty, has extracted a statement from the U.S. department of agriculture saying that a gram of rice actually contains more calories than a similar measure of spuds.

Letter to the Editor

City Council and Mayor Ellis' Service

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Tonight's City Council meeting was edifying.

Among the loud protestations of undying appreciation to the electorate as was voiced by certain re-elected aldermen, not so much as a word of recognition or thank you for four years of leadership was extended to Mayor Jack Ellis.

The perfunctory, half-hearted applause granted to the Mayor's brief but masterly farewell address to the final 1967 Council Meeting was as offensive to the 5,300 Bellevillians who signified their appreciation of a job well done.

Mere common courtesy should have evoked some expression of gratitude.

Irish Unite Against Disease Threat

John Monahan
The Windsor Star

Where is that fine old Irish tradition of hospitality? Here is Mother Erin begging her exiled sons and daughters not to come home for Christmas. Aer Lingus, that ambitious little airline, has gone so far as to withdraw all its advertising from the British papers—and it has announced that it won't put any extra flights on for Christmas. Even the tourist board is getting rid of its hundred thousand welcome mats. What has come over this island? Your men in the North are as bad as us down here. Ireland has wrapped a Green Curtain around itself—and even the Orangemen are as tightly wound into it as the Republicans.

The common enemy which has united this naturally disunited island is tiny—namely, the virus of foot and mouth disease, now raging in Britain. The disease poses a terrifying serious problem for Ireland, North and South—and we heavily dependent on farming, mainly livestock farming. The Republic has an increasing export of beef and pig meat to the States. This would be cut off immediately if an outbreak occurred and the market might remain closed for years.

Britain is committed to a "slaughter" rather than inoculation policy of control. So Ireland must conform, otherwise we would lose the right to send live cattle to Britain without quarantine. That means that if the virus reaches Ireland it will be necessary to slaughter all cases and all contacts — and the farmers must be compensated. Ireland is almost as heavily stocked as Britain but there is no industrial sector to finance the payment of huge compensation.

The measures taken by the Department of Agriculture in the south and the Ministry for Agriculture in the North appear illogical. Yet the farming organizations, for once, are unanimous. They demand a complete stoppage in all traffic between Britain and Ireland for the duration of the emergency.

Within Ireland all race-meetings are forbidden. Angling along rivers and lakes is now illegal, and so are shooting and beagling.

The surviving "fairs" have been forbidden but so far cattle auction marts have been permitted to continue.

Travellers arriving in Ireland have to fill up forms stating where they have come from and if they have been in contact with animals.

A Bad Day at Rocky Mountain

Washington Publishers' Aus.

Sadly, the Rocky Mountain News in Denver, Col., reported in a recent issue, everyone is aware that newspapers make occasional mistakes in classified ads.

"With the terrific volume that Rocky Mountain News handles," the metropolitan daily said, "this amazing there aren't more errors made," and continued:

"Thankfully, we haven't yet had a string of errors like the one recently reported made by a small daily newspaper in the south.

"FOR SALE: R. D. Jones has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 958 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him cheap.

"On Tuesday:

NOTICE: We regret having erred in R. D. Jones' ad yesterday. It should have read: One sewing machine for sale. Cheap Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p.m.

On Wednesday —

R. D. Jones has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of the error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected as follows: FOR SALE: R. D. Jones has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who loves with him.

"Finally on Thursday —

NOTICE I, R. D. Jones, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958 as the telephone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday she was my housekeeper, but she quit."

Teenage Drug Experimenters Are Only A Tiny Minority Among Suburban Americans

Christian Science Monitor

Middle-class, suburban America is finally waking up to the fact that some of its teen-agers are experimenting with drugs, that a few are getting "hooked" physically or psychologically, and that preventive and corrective action needs to be taken without delay.

The drug experimenters are a tiny minority. Not, many teenagers in middle-class America, or Britain, have succumbed to such a desperately habit-forming drug as heroin. Not all of the experimenters or users are hippies, and not all hippies are drug takers. The most widely used narcotic is marijuana. Some even smit airplane glue. Others gravitate to "speed," a delusions - of - power amphetamine, or try a psychedelic trip on LSD. Except in these mental outlook is eroded by this repeated degradation may gradute to heroin or other rigorously addictive drugs.

Drugs, probably marijuana, are discovered in a locker at Wellesley High School. Students are arrested on drug charges in other Massachusetts towns. In suburban Washington, D. C., a record store is tagged as a haunt for marijuana peddlers. Drug contagion is not confined to the ghettos and slums.

Alarmed suburban communities are mapping educational campaigns to bring a halt to teen-age drug use. Says Dr. Thayer Wade, school superintendent in Wakefield, Mass.: "Any community that doesn't recognize that young people are debating with themselves today has a real drug problem on its hands."

There are many ways in which communities can act. In Massachusetts local educational programs are being organized by school, police and public health authorities. Former drug addicts will be invited as guest speakers to dramatize the perils of "getting hooked." High school radio stations can carry discussion panels. Recently a major television network featured a graphic presentation of today's drug in-roads on youth. Parents can learn whether their education and care begin in the home. Many a youngster has turned to drugs in despair at a broken home situation. Others have been rendered careless, risk-seeking and unmotivated by overpermissiveness and hurry. A parent's behavior to this newspaper remarks that "overpermissive parents have to learn that discipline in the human family is only a form of love."

Parents can also learn from that young people need enthusiasms, challenge, commitments adventure. In the turmoil the world there are plenty of commitments — in extending the helping hand, and teenagers do this naturally, gracefully, and effectively.

The immediate point is to recognize that there is a condition of fear of the unapproachable that does need prayerful handling.

"LSD" Is Currency In Britain

Portland Oregonian

The British pound, which has been in the news lately, got its name some 1,200 years ago when a Saxon silver coin called a sterling, or penny, was minted. A pound of silver made 240 sterlings.

Later, the pound also was divided into 20 shillings. Symbols for the various British coins were obtained from the Latin words by which the pound, shilling and penny were known in the official records. The pound was the "libra," the shilling was the "solidus," and the penny the "denarius."

Thus the coinage in sometimes called the LSD system, from the initials of the Latin names. A libra, who of course is familiar with the same league might say the pound took a bad trip recently.

Arctic Rock Is Target of Oil Research

Peterborough Examiner

The sedimentary rock formation of the Arctic Islands is, according to geologists, the most promising untapped exploration area in the world and it is larger than the entire oil basins of the provinces of Alberta. Further data has been on a strong possibility of an oil strike although it would require a considerable amount of crude oil to be found to make it economically feasible due to the exploration costs and transportation problems.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 20, 1967

English-speaking Americans settlers in Texas declared their independence 132 years ago today—in 1835 —defying the Spanish government of Mexico, traditional rulers of the land. An army under Santa Anna set out to overthrow the Americans. After inflicting heavy losses against the outnumbered settlers, at the Alamo and the Massacre of Goliad, the Mexicans were conclusively defeated in the Battle of San Jacinto. Texas remained in independence, with Sam Houston as president, for nine years before joining the United States.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—Prime Minister Lloyd George of Britain in a Christmas peace aims; the French repulsed heavy German attacks north of Verdun in Lorraine; French sank two submarines in the Gulf of Taranto; German East Africa was defeated in Australia.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today — in 1942 — Japanese units fired into the city in war on Calcutta with light casualties and little damage; British Army advance units engaged rearguards of retreating Axis forces at Sabisa, 140 miles west of El Agheila; French troops reoccupied Pichon, 93 miles south of Medjez El-Bab, Tunisia.

Alaskans and Radio Moscow Give Territories Listeners Better Service Than CBC

A Letter in the News of the North Yellowknife, NWT

Not very long ago, in an editorial you mentioned the fact that the people of Yellowknife seem to have very little hope of an extended television service in the immediate future. Without wishing to enumerate from may I draw to the attention of your many readers the fact that in today's Canada several thousand Northerners are denied even a reliable radio service. In Coppermine for example, long wave stations have had a very poor reception this fall and even the CBC special Northern Broadcast on short wave more often fails to get through in an intelligible manner.

In view of this the residents of Coppermine wrote to the CBC requesting that a Low Power Relay Transmitter be installed here so that we could get a guaranteed good reception from CFYK Yellowknife, our Capital, and thus get us into the mainstream of Canadian listening. We have been politely told that nothing could be done and can be done in the foreseeable future and with these words we Canadian Northerners have been dismissed with the assumption, we presume, that we shall take our isolation and radio "exile" quietly.

Well, we are not entirely without friends. We are flanked by them and each day, without a miss, they talk to us from the west and from the east. The western sounds from Fairbanks, Alaska, rarely miss an opportunity to tell us just where to lay the best hamburgers in all Alaska besides many other entertaining features. The eastern sounds, also American, tell us the wind phases at the airbase at Thule and also when the PX is open.

Then judging from the number of places we can find him on the radio band, there is the best friend of all; we affection stely know him as "Big Brother." He talks to us incessantly over the North Pole from Radio Moscow. Yet, he even talks to us in Coppermine and keeps us informed on the Canadian scene. We may not know the meanings in all cases, yet, but most of us are perfectly aware that if Ivor Malinovsky had opened with his English instead of his Queen's Pavn at the Leningrad Streetcar Conductors' Annual Chess Tournament last Friday, he would have won the game after the thirty-second move. These radio broadcasts tell us everything, it seems from the number of balls earings produced at the banquet at Kiev to the tang-factor in this year's production of Siberian salt.

Governors and patrons of the CBC take heart! Every third hourly, daily, weekly, monthly and yearly bombardment of propaganda is really affecting us. No, Comrades, far from it. We know that a part of your austerity program is the economic consequence in our bourgeois society when elements of television and radio entertainment creep into government departments. This may be incidental but the fact remains that proletariat is a concept which gives us hope.

Well, I must close now, in five minutes there is another newscast in the Aleut and in a report from a Smolensk textile worker who recently spent a government holiday in Sunday near the Black Sea; I wouldn't like to miss it. But if the CBC ever do decide to set up with this comparatively cheap Low Power Relay Transmitter just for us Northerners, we will present monumental disgrace of Canada's broadcasting during this centennial year — then would they make their opening number the gallant "Red Army" all the way through. The school children here have got the words written down but it is a bit of a strain for them to keep on singing them to the tune of the "Volga Boatman."

Securities Legislation Moves Toward Tighter Market Regulation

TORONTO (CP) — Since new securities legislation took effect in Ontario last year securities officials have moved toward tighter regulation of the market than ever before.

But the questions of how much protection the public needs from speculation, and what happens to investors who buy before the regulatory body steps into the market still trouble those who deal in stocks in the province.

Meta shares jumped to 37 cents from 12 cents on the Toronto Stock Exchange during November. About 2,000,000 shares changed hands, compared with a normal turnover o a few hundred.

The company is not a producer and has done no drilling since 1956. President Evan Donaldson says the shares have a book value of about 10 cents apiece and he sees no reason for them to be worth more.

Much of the November buying came from Europe. The commission was told a German tout sheet promoted the company as an active gold and uranium producer whose shares would be worth $10 apiece by 1970.

The exchange halted trading Dec. 1 and the commission issued an order, later extended for two months, prohibiting Ontario brokers from trading in Meta shares.

But it leaves unanswered the question of what happens to people who buy while the price is rising and then cannot dispose of their holdings.

These include individual investors as well as brokers who sold short—sold shares they did not own hoping they could buy them a short time later at a lower price.

"Our actions have had the effect of slowing, if not preventing, what could have been a serious fraud on investors in Europe," the commission wrote. "It allowed to go unchecked, increases in price and volume might have drawn in Canadian investors."

But Mr. Donaldson, asking that trade be resumed, suggested that Meta's Canadian shareholders were not being considered.

"You've done everything possible to tell people the facts," he told the hearing. "Now open it up and let the water go where it may."

Commission counsel C. J. Stiles admits the commission order "locks in" people who paid an excessive price for the stock.

"But if we allow trading on the over-the-counter market how do we know new people won't buy at the inflated price?" he asked. "Who should be protected?"

The exchange says it does not try to curb speculation as such, only to ensure that trading takes place in an atmosphere of full disclosure of pertinent information to the public.

J. L. Lyndon, head of the exchanges market surveillance department, says Meta is the first case since disclosure regulations took effect two years ago where release of corporate information has not stabilized trading.

"We turned the case over to he says.

H. E. Langford, commission chairman, says he hopes the commission will not have to use hi dishalt power to her trading again.

"But we wouldn't hesitate to if circumstances warranted."

To pay 30 cents for a 10-cent stock is "sheer gambling," he says. "Everyone who does it will get hurt, because when the dust settles you will only have a 10-cent piece."

British Entry to Market

'Friendly Five' Lose to France

BRUSSELS (AP) — Five European Common Market countries bowed to the will of President de Gaulle Tuesday and decided not to open negotiations for British entry. France prevailed by insisting on its right to veto the start of negotiations.

The "friendly five" — Britain's edged French domination by veto and lost their fight to open discussions of British membership.

West German Economic Minister Karl Schiller was chosen to give Britain the bad news. The British were not invited to the two-day meeting that ended when the six could not agree on how to proceed on the British effort to talk her way into the Common Market.

The six foreign ministers decided they would continue talks about the issue, but little progress was expected. Schiller, who presided, insisted, "The door is not closed."

But de Gaulle, who vetoed Britain's entry into the Common Market nearly five years ago, had again blocked more toward British membership.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France told the council of ministers that Britain is not in a position to carry out the obligations of membership.

In a summary, the ministers said five members adopted the stand of the Common Market commission that negotiations should start. They were not named, but obviously are West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The summary said one member, again not named but obviously France, felt enlarging the Common Market would change its nature and working methods.

LONDON (AP) — Britain stood by its application to join the European Common Market despite a Common Market decision in Brussels not to open negotiations on the British bid.

A foreign office statement said: "There is no question of withdrawing Britain's application."

It added that Britain will be consulting with friends in Europe on the situation.

Awarded Centennial Medal

A Stirling man, Mr. Joseph Irish, who has devoted many years in the interest of scouting in the Centre Hastings area, has been the recipient of a Centennial Medal.

The medal, presented in "recognition of valuable service to the nation," was received last Friday by registered mail from Ottawa.

The accompanying note with the medal didn't spell out the reason for the presentation, but Mr. Irish says it could only be for his Scouting activities.

Down through the years he has served as cub master, scout master, rover leader, district scout master for the Trent Valley District and for the past six years has been district commissioner for the Moira Valley district, taking in the area from Stirling to Cloyne to the north to Marmora and Madoc.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Banks led a lower industrial list in light mid-morning trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Bank of Nova Scotia lost ¼ to 14, trading 7,600 shares by 11 a.m. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce dropped ¼ to 13¾ on 6,300 shares and Royal Bank ¼ to 15¾.

In other industrial issues, Bell Telephone and Seagrams were off ¼ each to 44 and 29 and Falconbridge and Oshawa A ¼ each to 90¼ and 21¼. Moore Corp. declined ¼ to 28.

Scurry-Rainbow paced a declining western oils group, losing 1¼ to 20¼. Home A fell ¼ to 25¼ and Central-Del Rio and Pacific Petroleum ¼ each to 24¾ and 23¾.

Losses were fractional in base metals, with Northgate off ¼ to 8¾ and Aiglon and Opemiska down ¼ each to 21¾ and 20¼. Lake Dufault dropped 30 cents to 8.30.

Dome was down ¼ to 53¼ in golds and Campbell Red Lake ¼ to 26¼.

On index, industrials dropped .23 to 159.82, golds .77 to 136.17, base metals .23 to 102.83 and western oils 1.49 to 219.38.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 587,000 shares compared with 618,000 traded at the same time Tuesday.

The 80-stock industrial index sank 1.22 to 160.15. CPR fell 1 to 59, Walkers ¼ to 31¼ and Imperial and Moore Corp. ¼ each to 12714 and 28¾.

Teenager Receives Award

A Belleville-area teenager has received an unexpected $100 bonus for Christmas.

On Oct. 29 Rodger Thompson, R.R. 7, Belleville, was driving on West Bridge when he witnessed a rear-end accident.

An automobile struck a car owned by Mrs. Barbara Newman, 429 Dundas Street West. The Newman vehicle was slammed against a second automobile and wrecked.

RODGER THOMPSON

The culprit driver took off from the scene, but was later arrested and convicted following information from the Thompson youth.

Mrs. Newman is a member of the Ontario Automobile Association which posts a standard $100 reward in such cases.

"The apprehension of the hit-and-run driver was all due to Mr. Thompson," noted association regional supervisor Ray D. Pruscio last night as he called on the youth with the reward.

Energy of the Future

Nuclear Outlook

Demand for nuclear energy by the end of this century will rise 18 per cent from its minisized portion of today's market. Coal's share will drop to 20 per cent from its present 40 per cent. These are estimates contained in a study prepared for the Royal Dutch - Shell Group. It concludes that the world will be using at least four times as much energy in the year 2000 as it does today.

Bus Travel At All-time High This Year

At the regular meeting of the Belleville Transit Commission on Thursday, December 14th, it was noted that the number of passengers carried in November 1967 was an all time high for that month. This fact was very encouraging for the Commission as it was an indication that the public had accepted the fare increases. Reports on hand also indicate that passengers carried during the year 1967 will be an all time high. The Commission is confident that the deficit forecast at the first of the year will not be exceeded.

Take it easy.

As it happens, we can't. Making whisky that goes down this easy is a difficult job. It means selecting whiskies from our five distilleries across Canada (only Seagram's has five, by the way). Then blending and re-blending them to get 5 Star's easy taste.
How can you find out if the taste is worth all the trouble? That's easy, too.

Wife Wants Formula for Rating with In-laws

Dear Doris: How do I make myself recognized in the eyes of my elders? How can I converse with them and my in-laws? — Peace

Dear Peace: How, indeed?

Your question will find an echo in many another new bride's heart.

Older in-laws may be silent through shyness or criticism or some secret worry. Communication does not come easily between generations. If they act superior or dictatorial this is a sign they themselves worry about making the grade — with you!

So what do you do? For one thing, you give credit, where credit if due. If Granny or Aunt Martha bakes the best bread you husband ever tasted, ask for the recipe. You'll have made a friend.

Second Step: Have your own specialty. If it's a sponge cake, a fruit cake, apple strudel or tarts and share it. No one can resist thoughtfulness fabulously.

Third: Talk to an oldster as if he were a person. The result might surprise you.

Dear Doris: (1) After the children are grown up and gone, must a wife stick with her husband even if he abuses her mentally, just to make it look good?

(2) I find mine a poor mental companion; interested too much in drinking, while I'm being denied meeting people of higher intellectual level. I believe there is more to a woman's life than being a mere housekeeper. — Frustrated

Dear Frustrated: (1) No.

(2) Indeed there is; even for those who don't consider housekeeping cults as "mere" a calling. But would you rather live alone and talk to yourself?

Separation is the answer for some; for others the live-alone-and-like-it idea is intolerable. Now is the time for expert counselling on your own particular dilemmas.

* * *

Do you wonder why the people you care about act as they do? Let Doris shed light on your particular human problem. And remember that stamped envelope!

FLAGS DOWN HELP

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Several Arkansas agencies are facing financial difficulties, but none has received more attention in recent weeks than the welfare department. Apparently, someone in the welfare department is trying to help. Workers on the Capitol grounds were startled to see an international distress signal — the American flag flying upside down — atop the welfare building.

Ann Landers

Reader Recommends Writing More Letters

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter is for the thousands, maybe, millions of people in the country who should sit down and write to a mother, father, sister, brother, grandmother or good friend. Yet they have put it off because they think they have nothing of interest to say.

Modern life pulls families apart. It also makes heavy demands on our time and energy. We all know it is not easy to write a page of a letter. Moreover, when most of us receive the week's activities they seem too dull to recount. Please take my word for it, friends, they won't be dull to the person you are writing to. Just receiving a letter gives most folks a lift. Almost anything you say in a letter will be of interest if the person cares about you.

So don't wait for something spectacular to happen. Sit down today and write that letter you've been putting off. You'll feel good about it and you will make someone awfully happy. T.M.M.

DEAR T.M.M.: We all need an occasional nudge to do the things we know we should do. Thank you for this gentle prodding.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: An aunt and uncle who raised my brother and me announced at dinner last night that they have purchased 12 burial plots "so we can rest together." The plots are for my aunt and uncle, myself, my husband, our two children, my brother, his wife and their two children, and my grandparents whose remains my aunt and uncle plan to have moved.

I said nothing when the announcement was made but later my husband and I talked it over and decided we don't want to obligate ourselves in this way. First of all, we feel that Aunt and Uncle should not have made such far-reaching plans for our children who are teen-agers. They may want to be buried with their mates (assuming they marry) or they may want to be cremated and not buried at all. Furthermore, my brother's wife's family might have some objections. I did not discuss this with her, but I could see from the expression on her face that she wasn't too pleased with the idea either.

Aunt and Uncle have been wonderful to us and we don't want to hurt their feelings. Please tell us what to do. — TOO MUCH TOGETHERNESS.

DEAR TOO MUCH: It was presumptuous of Aunt and Uncle to expect you to accept their ground rules, if you will pardon the expression. The children should be buried by the predecease you, in which case you have plenty of time to decide what you want to do. In the meantime, say "Thank you" and make no commitments.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a young girl with terrible looking legs. It's not that they are fat or too thin; they are shaped rather well. The problem is that my legs are all blotchy from poison ivy and poison oak. I also have an ugly scar where I cut myself on a milk bottle when I was very young. The textured stockings and high boots are a blessing, but eventually they will go out of style and then what will I do? Do you know of a solution? — LOOKING AHEAD AND DREADING IT.

DEAR LOOKING: If your legs are as unsightly as you say, you should see a physician about a procedure called abrasive planing. The outer layer of the skin can be removed by a sanding process. This operation has proven highly successful in a great many cases.

Club Activities

MARMORA

SENIOR CITIZENS

During the summer the rooms were furnished with folding chairs, card tables, draperies, cups and saucers, electric kettle and coffee maker, range, refrigerator and piano. Merchants of the village donated the heavier items.

Quilting and card parties are enjoyed by the members. A Christmas party was held Dec. 13. James Black gave humorous readings, Mrs. Rose Brawley and Mrs. Florence Fluhs put on a skit and carol singing was accompanied by Mrs. Mary A. Jones and Mrs. Fluhs.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Why don't you go out in the yard and make a snowman, too? I finish making the Christmas cookies. I'll never get finished if you've all underfoot here in the kitchen."

Mother: "I'll mix up the dough and roll it out and you can cut out the Christmas cookies and decorate them. I think we should make six dozens of the sugar cookies."

The work of Christmas can be fun for everyone, even though it may take a little longer if the children help.

Albert College Guild Lists New Officers

Christmas was in the air when the Albert College Women's Guild met at the Manor inn Thursday, with festive decorations, candles, and glowing fire in the fireplace and the mood for an enjoyable Christmas program.

The highlight of the afternoon was the reading of "The Littlest Angel" by Miss Jessie B. Tuite.

During the devotional period, which carried out the Christmas theme, Mrs. E. A. Fleming read a Christmas story and a poem.

Mrs. C. W. Smith, retiring president, conducted the short business meeting and called on Mrs. F. Davidson for the report of the nominating committee.

Officers are as follows: honorary president, Mrs. H. B. Simpson; past president, Mrs. C. W. Smith; president, Mrs. H. McKay; 1st vice president, Mrs. E. A. Fleming; 2nd vice president, Mrs. C. Barlow; cor. sec. and press, Miss L. Young; treasurer, Mrs. E. Denyes; pianist, Mrs. T. E. Franklin and assist. pianist, Mrs. K. Bird.

Various committees are: maintenance committee, Mrs. W. H. Hicks, Mrs. T. C. McMullen, Mrs. Sprague; social convener, Mrs. Georgs Dimont; program committee, Miss Helen Sulman, Mrs. F. Davidson, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mrs. T. Franklin, Mrs. Georgs Moore, Miss F. A. Young, Mrs. F. Wilson, Mrs. E. Hicker; planning, Mrs. L. G. Hudgins; nominating committee, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mrs. N. McFie, Mrs. N. Brown.

Before the refreshments were served, Mrs. Davidson, on behalf of the Guild presented Mrs. Smith with a gift in appreciation of her work during the past two years.

Halloway UCW

HALLOWAY — The December meeting of Halloway UCW was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Soldier Wednesday night.

Christmas was the theme of the worship led by Mrs. Embury Hough and the Scripture, read by Mrs. Fred Soldier. Carol numbers gave Christmas readings.

Following the meeting Christmas home fruit was packed for elderly people in the community. A dessert party closed the meeting.

Church Groups

MISSION CIRCLE

Members of the Vota Vita Mission Circle recently held their Christmas meeting at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. At the closing of the Centennial Year, the room was set as an old-fashioned "parlor" complete with coal oil lamps, and a number of women dressed in costumes of the past.

The Christmas story was read from the Scripture by Miss E. Sprackett. Two groups led by Mrs. R. Gallupe and Mrs. H. Hall were in charge of the meeting. History and background information was given on each of seven traditional Christmas carols, while Miss M. Hales sang a number and Mrs. W. Dempsey and Mrs. W. Soble sang a duet. Mrs. R. Gallupe and Mrs. R. Burr lit candles for missions in India, Bolivia, Africa and at home, and offered prayers for missionaries at these centres.

A business meeting was conducted by president Nora Hales. Mrs. F. Travis' Light House News included an interesting narrative on the popular King James Version of the Holy Bible.

In a lighter vein, a Christmas word contest created much excitement, ending with Mrs. E. Burr the winner. The circle was divided into several groups, each group in turn sang a carol.

Lunch was served, after which Mrs. W. Hales carried out Santa's duties during an exchange of gifts.

SOCIALS

Mrs. George Hammett, 37 North Front St., is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Christmas Dinner Menu

By MARY MOORE

To help you decide and make your grocery list my suggestions follow for your

CHRISTMAS DINNER MENU

Seafood or Oyster Cocktail or Mushroom Cream Soup, Roast Stuffed Turkey (see below), Turkey Giblet Gravy (see below), Candied Sweet Potatoes or Yams, (see Thurs.), Cauliflower and Broccoli in Mild Curry Sauce (see Thurs.), Cranberry Souffle Ring (see Fri.) Steamed Pudding (see Dec. 13), Hard Sauce (see Dec. 13), Mints and Salted Nuts, Coffee.

ROAST STUFFED TURKEY

(11 to 16 lbs.)

(low - slow method)

NOTE: If turkey is frozen thaw in the storage part of refrigerator 24 hr. on 15-16 lb. oven-ready turkey.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Chicken Stew with Parsley; Dumplings; Kernel Corn; Green Beans; Shredded Spinach and Cauliflower Salad with Herb French Dressing; Canned Canadian Peaches; Danish Almond Wreaths (see Monday); Coffee.

TURKEY GRAVY

1 cup makes 4 or 5 servings. Make 3 cups to serve 12. Measure 6 tbsp. pan drippings (fat and brown sediment) into saucepan. Add 6 tbsp. flour and stir over medium heat until smooth and blended. Add 3 cups liquid stirring. This should be broth in which giblets were simmered, plus enough boiling water to make 3 cups. Stir until thick; Add salt and pepper to taste. Chopped giblets may be added if desired. If gravy is not a rich brown, add 1 or 2 chicken bouillon cubes and a little "gravy browner."

STUFFING:

2-3 cup butter

1 cup chopped Spanish or other mild onion

12 cups soft fresh bread-crumbs (not packed — about 18 slices — see below)

2 tsps. salt

6 tbsps. chopped parsley (or bottled flakes)

¼ tsp. (be more) rosemary

2 cups either canned drained chopped Chinese bamboo shoots or water chestnuts or washed chopped raw mushrooms or celery

NOTES: 1) For a lovely and convenient change try bamboo shoots or water chestnuts.

2) If you have a blender be sure to use it to crumb the bread.

In an outside frying pan or saucepan gently melt the butter and in it sauté the onion until soaked with butter but not one bit brown. Add the crumbs, mix well and let stand over very low heat about 1 or 5 min. until butter just begins to crispen them. Remove at once and add all remaining ingredients. Stuff into oven-ready turkey but do not pack. Close opening with skewers and tie wings and legs to body of bird. Brush with melted butter. Cover with a tent of wide heavy duty foil and put on trivet in roaster in oven at 7 or 8 a.m. on Christmas morning at 325 deg. Fahr. It should roast 13 hours in all but 2 hrs. before dinner time raise temperature to 300 deg. Fahr. to brown it. Remove foil if it is not browning quickly enough. The skin is lovely and tender and the meat is moist and tender but the bird does not fall apart. I think the stuffing is terrific.

TURKEY GRAVY

1 cup makes 4 or 5 servings. Make 3 cups to serve 12. Measure 6 tbsps. pan drippings (fat and brown sediment) into saucepan. Add 6 tbsps. flour and stir over medium heat until smooth and blended. Add 3 cups liquid stirring. This should be broth in which giblets were simmered, plus enough boiling water to make 3 cups. Stir until thick; Add salt and pepper to taste. Chopped giblets may be added if desired. If gravy is not a rich brown, add 1 or 2 chicken bouillon cubes and a little "gravy browner."

POPULATION FIGURES

Estimated population of the U.S.S.R. is 240,000,000; mainland China 720,000,000 and India about 519,000,000 in comparison to the United States' 30,000,000.

WHA Receives Substantial Cheque From Opportunity Shop

The December 19th meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary took the form of a dessert party. Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Reilly, the meeting was also favored with Christmas songs sung by the nurses' choir. Mrs. W. S. Greene and committee arranged the attractive dessert table and individual tables set up for the occasion on the theme of Christmas.

New auxiliary guests were extended a warm welcome by the president, Mrs. W. G. Harvey. Membership for 1963 is 267, as reported by Mrs. Herbert Brown.

A round of applause greeted the announcement that a cheque for $4,500 was being presented from the Opportunity Shop to the Auxiliary. This cheque represents a tremendous amount of work that is expended in the shop.

Mrs. Harvey reported for the volunteer chairman by stating that the visiting of long term patients is in effect also play therapy in paediatrics. It is hoped that the library service will be in operation by mid-January.

A cheque for $285. was turned over from the Cradle Picture project, which is conveyed by Mrs. Angus Duffy.

Mrs. W. D. Leslie thanked all those who made gifts to be presented to patients in the hospital at Christmas. Due to a need for toys in paediatrics, Mrs. Herbert Brown reported that she had purchased suitable toys, which had been distributed.

On Thursday, December 21, the Christmas party in paediatrics will be held. Mrs. J. E. Nolles has purchased toys for this occasion, on behalf of the Auxiliary, which promises to be a happy one for the little patients.

Mrs. H. E. Burley, chairman of elections took over the chair. She called on Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, who headed the nominating committee of Mrs. Fred Beeby and Mrs. William Dallas.

The slate of officers for 1963 is as follows: past president, Mrs. William Dallas; president, Mrs. W. G. Harvey; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Herbert Brown; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. James E. Nelles; treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Black; assist. recording secretary, Mrs. E. S. Fairman; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. E. Moore.

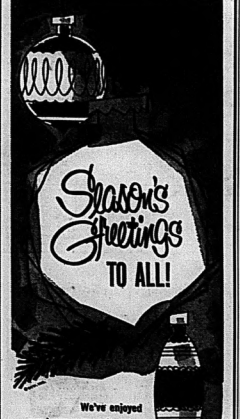
Mrs. W. G. Harvey announced that the annual luncheon would be held January 16 at 1.15 p.m. The speaker is from the Quo Vadis School of Nursing.

Family Honors Couple On 50th Anniversary

MARMORA — To mark the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scott of 53 Forsyth Street, Marmora, a reception was held by the family at Havelock Hotel on Sunday.

Over 200 guests called to congratulate them during the afternoon and among the out-of-town messages received were those from government officials and from Rev. Robert Stewart, formerly of Marmora.

Of much interest to the guests was the December 20th, 1917, issue of the Havelock Standard giving an account of their wedding, and their marriage certificate, both kept by Mrs. Scott.



Hostesses for the "at home" were the honored couple's daughters, Mrs. William Scott (Jewel) of Peterborough, and Mrs. Orville Thaks (Dorothea) of Westport.

A three-tier anniversary cake was served with refreshments. Pouring tea were Mrs. William Anderson, Havelock and Mrs. William Carty of Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott were married December 17th, 1917, by the late Rev. Charles Adams at what was known then as the Methodist Church in Havelock. They were the second couple to be married in that church. Moving to Marmora seven years ago, Mr. Scott was in business about 30 years in Havelock. He owned the Havelock Hotel, was in the restaurant business, operated a livery, as well as farming.

They had three children; died in 1959.

Present for the family dinner later in the afternoon were their daughters and husbands, nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren, as well as Mr. Scott's sister, Mrs. Harry Pollock of Havelock, who was bridesmaid at the wedding.

We've enjoyed serving you, our patrons . . . we hope to serve you again!

Divorce Bill Passes Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP) — A government bill that extends the grounds for divorce in Canada went through the Commons virtually unchanged Thursday night.

The major social legislation is expected to come before the Senate today. It has powerful supporters there, notably Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario), co-chairman of the special committee that did the spade-work behind it.

Senate passage before Christmas probably will mean the bill will become law by spring.

A three-month waiting period after proclamation is built into the legislation to allow judicial and federal-provincial adjustment to its sweeping changes.

Present divorce law in some cases pre-dates Confederation and in the main allows only adultery as a grounds.

The new law adds bigamy, physical or mental cruelty, rape, homosexuality, sodomy, bestiality and a comprehensive new ground called marriage breakdown which covers everything from cases of insanity or desertion to failure to consummate a marriage.

The Commons gave third reading to the bill after detailed study of its 37 clauses. Only one minor amendment resulted, though a number were proposed.

The House extended its Tuesday sitting by an hour to 11 p.m. to begin detailed study of the revised Broadcasting Act, another major bill.

Meanwhile, an interim report from the Commons health committee recommended that abortion be allowed "under appropriate medical safeguards" where pregnancy seriously endangers the life or health of a mother.

The committee report also recommends that ambiguities in the criminal code be erased to open the way for therapeutic abortions.

At present, one section of the criminal Code says an abortion may be carried out by a person who is convinced it is necessary to save the life of the mother. However, another section says anyone who carries out an abortion is guilty of a criminal offence and liable to life in prison.

The overtime allting reflected Parliament's need to deal with major business before a Christmas recess that is to begin at 10 p.m. EST Thursday and last until Jan. 22.

The broadcasting legislation provides among other things for a $100,000 fine for breach of broadcasting regulations. The present fine is $200.

It also sets down in a declaration of policy what Parliament expects of broadcasters and establishes a new regulatory body to be called the Canadian Radio Commission.

The commission's task would be to draw up regulations to achieve the stated policy and to enforce them, both on private stations and the publicly-owned CBC. Parliament would be the final arbiter.

The session Tuesday night was devoted mostly to criticism of the CBC. Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) said the CBC is "the propaganda arm of the New Democratic Party."

Robert Prittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) said that if this was true, "They're not serving us the way we'd like them to."

Howard Johnston (SC—Okanagan-Revelstoke) said much CBC programming has "a sweet smell of decay" and is made for the benefit of a handful of people.

HO PREDICTS VICTORY

TOKYO (AP) — President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam predicted Tuesday "complete victory" for the Vietnamese Communists after a long and hard fight. He spoke in a broadcast to leaders of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front.

"Frankly, I'd like to find a firm whom Christmas office parties are the sort of wild orgies you imagine."

Much of U. S. Hit by Flu Bug

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Influenza and influenza-like respiratory infections are petting a bug in Christmas preparations from Oklahoma to Maryland. Across the Middle West, mid-South and mid-Atlantic states, outbreaks of various respiratory ailments have forced schools to close early and businesses to curtail activity.

Though the "bugs" have left some last-minute Christmas shoppers with sore throats, fever, aches and chest pains, their arrival was not totally unexpected.

Last summer, the U.S. government's communicable disease centre in Atlanta, Ga., forecast an influenza epidemic in the eastern United States this winter.

Unfortunately, the prediction appears to be coming true in the East and Middle West where several epidemics and near-epidemics already are in full swing.

In Michigan, Asian flu was reported near epidemic proportions in the southeastern corner of the state—the populous Detroit area, state health authorities reported.

Several thousand school children in scattered parts of the state were out of class because of the ailment and schools in some sections of the state closed indefinitely because of outbreaks.

The outbreak began several weeks ago at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, where, officials said, several thousand students missed classes because of illness due to Asian flu virus.

Alabama health officer Ira L. Myers, said his state was in the throes of an influenza epidemic, with 8,761 cases of influenza and 10,618 cases of influenza-like respiratory disease this week.

Dr. R. H. Hutcheson, Tennessee commissioner of public health, described the flu situation in hardest-hit Nashville and Knoxville as a "good-size epidemic."

Last week, the Oklahoma state health department described the Asian flu outbreak in the northeast city of Bartlesville as the worst in the U.S.

In Bergen County, N.J., medical authorities said Tuesday there appeared to be a minor epidemic of Asian flu. Absenteeism in the northern New Jersey county's 16 schools ranged from 10 to 35 per cent.

The influenza-like virus running through the Washington, D.C., area raised the absentee rate in some schools to nearly 300 per cent.

In Maryland, a suspected influenza outbreak in Allegany County brought the absentee rate at Allegany High School to a peak of 35 per cent last Friday.

Students at Sullivan County Community College in Fallsburg, N.Y., were also sent home with earlier-than-usual holiday vacations after widespread outbreaks of respiratory infections.

In Louisiana, Minnesota, the New York metropolitan area, Alaska, northeast Georgia and Dade County, Fla., respiratory ailments were also reported on the upswing.

Tweed

TWEED — Harold Long, president of Tweed Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, presented a $278 cheque to Dick Thompson, treasurer of Tweed minor Hockey. The money was the proceed from a recent turkey roll sponsored by the Legion in aid of Minor Hockey.

'Share Efforts and Agonies'

Australia Follows Holt Policy on Vietnam

CANBERRA (CP) — Interim Prime Minister John McEwen said today the death of Prime Minister Holt does not alter the Australian government's commitment to stand firmly beside its allies in Vietnam.

"We will share their efforts and agonies," McEwen told his first press conference after his swearing in Tuesday. About 4,000 Australian troops are fighting in Vietnam, and 1,500 more are committed.

Preparations continued at an accelerated pace for the arrival of Prime Minister Wilson, President Johnson and other foreign leaders flying to Australia for a memorial service in Melbourne Friday for Holt, who disappeared swimming in the surf off the southeast coast.

Prime Minister Wilson was being accompanied to Australia by 19-year-old Prince Charles, Queen Elizabeth, who represents her at the service. It was the first such assignment for the heir to the throne, who spent a term at an Australian school.

Northern Development Minister Arthur Laing will represent Canada at the service.

McEwen said the unprecedented journeyings of national leaders and other notables from many parts of the world to attend the service was the ultimate in tributes to Holt.

The chiefs of state or government heads of all seven of the anti-Communist allies in the Vietnam war were to be on hand for the service.

Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said members of the Australian government had told him arrangements were being made to discuss the war.

A spokesman for President Johnson said the Americans expected "informal bilateral conversations" but there were no plans for "multi-lateral"—a session of all the allies at once.

In addition to Johnson, Holyoake and McEwen, the war allies present will include President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines, President Chung Hee Park of South Korea and Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand.

France Concerned About Future of African Areas

By CT FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

France, vigorously interested in the economic resources and general future of its former African territories, now is concerned about their political health.

Fears voiced in Paris are that such countries as Dahomey, scene of sucessful coup Dec. 17, and Algeria, where the government turned back a rebellion last week, are in for an extended spell of political instability of the sort that has plagued parts of English-speaking Africa.

In Gabon, where uranium vital to France's nuclear striking power is under development, a 32-year-old president has assumed power following the death of a chief of state much trusted by the French. Paris is nervous about the new man, Albert Bongo.

Last month, some of the 2,000 airborne troops kept ready in southern France to help threatened governments in French-speaking Africa, sped to the Central African Republic, another possible uranium source, on what was officially called manoeuvres.

Experts Offer Middle of the Road Course for U. S. in Asia

NEW YORK (CP) — Fourteen experts on Eastern Asia offered Tuesday a blueprint for future United States policy in Asia calling for a moderate course between complete non-involvement and total intervention.

In a report published by the Freedom House Public Affairs Institute, the experts said two decades of U.S. presence in Asia have "bought time for some 200,000,000 people to develop without their being ceaselessly confronted with combined external-internal Communist threats of growing proportions."

To permit a Communist victory in Vietnam, for example, would serve as encouragement to those forces in the region which oppose peaceful coexistence, said the report.

However, "if American withdrawal from Vietnam under conditions of Communist victory would be disastrous for us and for free people everywhere, an escalation of this war into a regional or global conflict involving the major states would be equally ruinous."

The report was a result of a recent three - day conference sponsored by Freedom House, a non-partisan educational organization. Report signatories included Edwin O. Reischauer, Harvard University professor and former U.S. ambassador to Japan.

The report said a desirable U.S. foreign policy in Asia "must involve a mixture of programs—on occasion more contact or presence; in other settings technical aid, multilateral or otherwise; in still other situations military support."

"In every case, however, it is crucial that we remain sufficiently flexible to permit carefully graded steps up or down the policy continuum. We must never allow ourselves to be locked into one position indefinitely, or headed in one direction inexorably."

Regarding China, the report noted that Peking's leaders continued cautiously to substitute bellicose words for acts, but "it would not be wise to count heavily upon this as the only possible outcome."

Over aggression from China, it said, is improbable but not impossible.

Plans to Equalize Dairy Farmers' Incomes Said Unconstitutional

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario milk commission was told Tuesday that Ontario milk marketing board plans to equalize the incomes of Ontario dairy farmers are unconstitutional.

Arthur Patillo, counsel for the 906-member Channel Islands Breeds Milk Producers Association, made the allegation in launching an appeal against a decision by the marketing board to give milk from all cattle breeds the same financial treatment.

Effect of the decision will be to reduce the incomes of Jersey and Guernsey milk producers, while boosting the revenues of Holstein producers. Holstein milk is used by manufacturers, who pay less than dairies.

Mr. Patillo said a 1933 decision of the judicial committee of the British Privy Council held that British Columbia had acted unconstitutionally in setting up an agency to pool milk from all producers so as to equalize their incomes.

The court found the agency in effect was levying an indirect tax against farmers who had been shipping to the dairies. Under the British North America Act provinces can levy only direct taxes.

Mr. Patillo said the Supreme Court of Canada reached a similar conclusion in 1941.

J. D. Oliver, secretary of the association, told the hearing that if the board goes ahead with its plans the income of Jersey and Guernsey producers will be substantially reduced.

Distributors do not pay a premium for Jersey and Guernsey milk but because of its richness and high butter-fat content they use almost all of it for fluid milk sales, he said.

He said that since Jersey and Guernsey cattle are not as efficient producers as Holsteins the board's ruling might lead to the disappearance of the two breeds.

Wilfred Pascoe, manager of Ideal Dairy Products Ltd., of Oshawa, told the hearing the public has shown a preference for 'in-per-cent' Guernsey milk over "standard" two-per-cent.

Melvin Stanley Snider, owner of Maple Lane Dairy of Kleinburg, told the hearing his firm is already finding it difficult to meet the increasing demand for Guernsey milk.

Where Liberals Will Pick Leader

This is an interior view of the hockey arena section of the new Ottawa Civic Centre which will be the scene of the April 4-6 Liberal leadership convention. Seating capacity of the arena is 9,300. The arena is part of a $8,900,000 structure which also includes a football stadium. Construction is expected to be completed early in 1968.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

The main cause of most accidents is the inability of many drivers to comprehend a difficult situation before it snowballs into a serious accident. How many people drive off the stoplights of the car immediately in front of them? Try to view the traffic situation at least as the driver one car ahead of you sees it. If possible, modify your driving technique to suit situations occurring in the traffic pattern three, four or even five cars ahead.

Watch out for comparatively small details which give clues to hazards or restrictions ahead. Get into the habit of forecasting troubles before they happen. When approaching a pedestrian crosswalk, be prepared for a sudden stoppage of the traffic at any moment. Keep an eye open for people carelessly crossing at other parts of the road, especially when overtaking a bus. Someone may dart out across the road without warning.

Keep an eye on that truck in your lane some distance ahead. It may pull up suddenly, so be prepared for a slow crawling line of traffic. If it's safe to do so, signal your intentions and change lane in ample time. When passing a row of stationary cars, take a look at those with drivers at the wheel. Expect any one of them to suddenly open a door or be prepared for the car to move off from the curb. A safety tip here is to watch for front wheel movement or exhaust smoke.

Pedestrians, especially small children, are often hidden behind the bulk of a large stationary vehicle. At any moment a small child may dart out across your path. Take a look below the level of the cars and trucks parked at the side of the road. Watch for feet, which will indicate someone in the roadway between the cars.

When driving fast on the highway, it may be necessary to make a long line of slower vehicles. If it is a two - lane highway, you'll obviously make allowances for vehicles coming in the opposite direction. More often neglected are the static hazards at the side of the highway. Before attempting to pull out and roar past the other cars, take a look in the middle distance, say about a quarter-to a half-mile ahead. Imagine there's a service station on the left hand side. What if someone takes off from the pumps and suddenly pulls out into the lane you are using? Here you are, using up all the road. Until now it was perfectly clear. All at once it's full of an approaching motor car, in its correct lane coming towards you. Now all you can do is cut sharply back into the path of the traffic you are overtaking.

Cross roads, service stations — places like these are potential hazards which present a real threat to fast driving. Driving at a speed is not in itself dangerous, but watch for, and take into account, dangers like these before putting your foot down on the gas pedal.

Liberal Cabinet Shuffle Expected

The switches in ministerial responsibilities revolved around the retirement of Labor Minister Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson, who also shoulders the federal responsibility for housing matters, has announced that he wants to retire and will not contest the next federal election.

Revenue Minister Benson is rated a top contender to take over responsibility for housing. If the move develops this way, Mr. Benson, an accountant, is expected to give up the revenue portfolio but retain his post as president of treasury board, the cabinet committee that scrutinizes all government spending.

Jean Chretien, minister without portfolio and a lawyer, has been mentioned by some observers as a possibility for revenue minister, replacing Mr. Benson.

Bryce Mackasey, MP for Montreal Verdun and Mr. Nicholson's parliamentary secretary, is a possible heir to the labor portfolio.

Cheque Forgers Stealing Letters

OTTAWA (CP) — A phony cheque ring operating from coast to coast is stealing mail to obtain bank account numbers and the signatures of their owners.

Postal department officials said Tuesday hundreds of forged cheques have been cashed as a result of the mail thefts and that the racket has netted the thieves millions of dollars.

Thefts are known to have occurred in the Montreal area, Toronto and area, many parts of southern Ontario, Winnipeg and district and Edmonton and district.

The post office suspects the thefts, yet undetected, have occurred in the Maritimes and British Columbia as well.

Police departments and postal protection services have yet to find a solution to the thefts and the post office is appealing to the general public for help.

W. T. Taylor, superintendent of the post office investigations division, said the ring either pries open the familiar corner mail boxes or uses a home-made key to open them.

When it gets a bank account number and a signature, it will make out a cheque payable to the bank account and then forge an endorsement so as to get the money right away.

It also has been able to forge insurance company cheques for up to $15,000 to make them appear as payments for a death policy.

The forgers will open an account with the cheque, later make out certified cheques to funeral directors and a few firms for small amounts and then up to $10,000 to themselves.

Mr. Taylor said there are roughly 74,000 corner mail boxes in Canada and it is out of the question to post a guard on each of them.

Arrests and convictions have been made in a number of Ontario centres, including Toronto, St. Catharines and Kastrivec. But the ring continues active.

The thieves are believed to fly out of Toronto to other Ontario points or to Western Canada. Within days, they return to Toronto with their loot.

The chartered banks are the big losers since they must make good on forged cheques they cash.

That's one reason why Canadians may be finding it difficult to cash cheques these days at the banks.

Mr. Taylor lists these ways Canadians can help at least slow down the ring's operations:

1. Mail cheques either just before the corner box is to be cleared by the post office or else mail it at a regular post office. Never allow cheques to remain in a postal box overnight.

2. Use money or postal orders when making payments by mail. Report at once anyone loitering near corner mail boxes.

Magazines, Paperbacks, Hardcover Books Enjoyment for Millions of Readers

By BARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

"What are people reading? Where do they get their ideas? What do they like to know or learn?" These plague the mind of many individuals in the world today. Scholars wonder for scholastic reasons; publishers for financial concerns.

Just as there are many places in which books are sold, there are many types of books, magazines and manuals for sale in them.

Books for the millions that make up the readership in Canada are available in libraries, bookstores, cigar stores, and even supermarkets and department stores. Stationery stores also usually provide a bookstand.

What do people expect from books? Some just want a good story; others an answer to a question.

The latter is usually handled at the public library. According to a spokesman from the reference department of the Corby Public Library in Belleville unbelievable requests are handled every day.

A typical out of the ordinary question would be "by what process is the milk produced in the mammary glands of the cow." Someone else wants to know about Teddy Roosevelt's "square deal."

"Some one wanted information on conscription in WWI," the spokesman tells us. "What's the Carnegie Hero Fund" and "the Associated Country Women of the World?"

Generally questions are not so strange, rather they can be classified under English and scientific subjects. The reference department in the Corby Library receives about 3,000 requests per year, many from the minds of school children.

As far as the book-leading department of the library is concerned, the interest is "good and growing."

Fiction still is the most popular. Using a ratio, it could be illustrated as 60:40 in favor of fiction. Reasons for this could be that fiction is easier to read.

Another influence on the readership is the movies or television. For example, "Dr. Zhivago" by Boris Pasternak. People who saw the movie want to read the book.

Statistics could probably clarify the reading of library supplied books. During the month of October of this year, 25,843 books were loaned, 12,827 to adults and 13,016 to children and teen-agers.

Still, the surprising factor is the paperback book. Once classified as only trash its change has been phenomenal.

Ernest Colebourne, proprietor of Upper Canada News in Belleville, states that the growth of the paperback is fantastic. Mr. Colebourne defines the advantage of softcovered books as such: "paperbacks hit the mass market. Everyone is on an equal basis."

As in most cases it is pictured by the average individual that the owner of a library of hard-covered books is either a millionaire or on the way to being one.

The paperback trend toward respectability is so "fantastic" that authors are now going to paperback to make more money. "Paperback publishers are buying better books," says Mr. Colebourne.

Although on the part of some people it is hard to be believed only two per cent of all paperbacks have sex interest.

Still in cigar stores just about all paperbacks are sexually-orientated, as are the magazines.

Donald Gariepy, proprietor of Don's Cigar Store on Bridge Street, finds that books with sex interest are his biggest seller. "Men's magazines such as True and Argosy, Playboy and confession magazines, nudist magazines and mysteries in the Mickey Spillane style are also popular."

Yet, in a bookstore like the Reading 'b' Greeting Shop on Front Street, which has just about all confessions and paperbacks in any category, the afore-mentioned percentage holds true.

According to Mrs. Anna Parsons, manager of the shop, the most popular paperbacks are classics, westerns and science fiction.

Even years ago in the age when paperbacks were the blemish of "trash", the most popular material was romance, "nurse and doctor books."

According to Mr. Colebourne paperback publishers are revisiting more classics and educational books now. In most paperback book stores there is even a philosophy section.

"Their main advantage is their low cost." Where else can the complete works of Plato be bought for $5 cents?

Regardless of the type of book desired there is some place that sells them. Hardcover or softcover, people are reading more and reading better things.

Extensive Magazine Rack

Another form of reading material that is devoured everyday is the magazine. Ranging from nudist pictorials to news magazines there is something to satisfy everyone. In the Reading 'N' Greeting Shop a reader leafs through his special brand of entertainment.

Section Classifications

An advantage of the public library is its sectional division which has many books of a certain type. Here a university student, Hugh Chandler, decides on a book from the photography section.

U. S. Groups Argue Aspects of Christmas Are Unconstitutional

NEW YORK (AP) — Debate has broken out in various parts of the United States this holiday season over the question: "Is Christmas unconstitutional?" A number of people argue that some aspects of it are, including Christmas decorations with a religious motif in public places such as schools.

Others contend that school singing of Christmas carols associated with religion also runs afoul of the first amendment of the U.S. constitution, which provides for the separation of church and state.

Mayor Norman A. Myers of Overland, Mo., was stunned by a letter from two lawyers demanding on constitutional grounds the removal of a nativity scene from the city hall lawn.

The mayor said he would ignore the letter and commented:

"If this is the type of constitution we are living under, it certainly is in line for revision."

In Duluth, Minn., an unbeliever named Garry DeYoung, 44, took umbrage when one of his children brought home a program indicating that traditional carols would form a part of a school Christmas program.

DeYoung asserted that "the school's use of a religious holiday to present a religiously-oriented program constitutes an affront to non-Christians and is a direct violation of the first amendment."

The Florida branch of the American Civil Liberties Union advised school officials throughout the state that Christmas pageants with a religious context are unconstitutional and should be avoided.

Reaction in general was outraged. Said Sheriff Lebish Wilson of Brevard County: "If I am handed a warrant to arrest some teacher, somebody else will have to serve it—I won't."

In Eugene, Ore., defenders of the constitution obtained a court order forbidding the city to light up a 40-foot cross which is erected each year in a municipal park. City officials turned on the lights and appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The New Mexico branch of the Civil Liberties Union wrote the state department of education objecting to Christmas religious programs in the schools.

The department sent copies of the union's letter to all school superintendents with no recommendation one way or the other.

But in the same envelopes went copies of a retort by Albuquerque school officials saying that the observance of Christmas is as much cultural as religious and that they intended to continue it.

In East Paterson, N.J., Mrs. Shirley Friedman stood up at a school board meeting and objected to paintings of Christ and other biblical figures on windows and doors of the Memorial junior-senior high school.

Experts Predict Green Christmas

If it wasn't Christmas it might as well be spring.

Which might make a good title for a song. But then, Quinte dwellers are finding little to sing about when it comes to a White Christmas this year.

The latest five - day weather forecast compiled by the weather office at Canadian Forces Base Trenton today predicts continuing mildness in the next few days.

The best the forecaster can do so far when it comes to snow, is to promise a probability of a "partial white Christmas."

This is based on an expected half - inch of precipitation either Thursday or Friday.

It could be snow. But with temperatures predicted above the normal average — with maximums close to 30 degrees and lows around 14 degrees — it could also mean just plain rain.

However, the mercury could dip over the weekend.

The balmy spectacle of Christmas week 1967 contrasts with the same time last year.

On this day 1966 the Quinte area was slogging through the first sustained snowfall of the winter.

It dropped a five-inch frosting over the region — just in time for Christmas.

Today — 12 months later — Bellevillians strolled the streets in brilliant sunshine, light overcoats carelessly swinging open.

Suburban lawns and shopping areas glittered with all the seasonal trappings — lights, Santa Claus cutouts and tinsel. But the most significant decoration of all was still beyond a blue horizon: snow.

Shoppers may not know it, but they're suffering a sort of psychological stasis as the snow fails to fall.

"The weather is a very dominating factor in the fashion business," says Stan Albert, president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association and himself operator of a Front Street fashion store.

The weather has had a palling effect on the apparel business, he says.

Elsewhere, however, in all forms of hard goods — particularly lines marketed by jewellery stores — Christmas business appears good.

Today: Where's White Christmas?

Mo-Hawks Were In Generous Mood

He came garbed in the red-and-white garb of a tribe of warriors from the Bay of Quinte with "Mo-Hawks" on their jerseys.

Then without too much effort he handed the Orillia Packet's a double stocking OHA Senior "A" league gift.

The first he treated them to a 4-3 victory and secondly he hoisted them out of the league cellar slot and generously took over the position himself.

The Mo-Hawks' yuletide spirit was clearly evident in the scoreless third period. As events proved the game was won after two periods of play with the Mo-Hawks, a goal ui arrears, managing only five shots on Andre Lalonde in the Orillia nets.

Meanwhile the Pepsi fired some seventeen blasts at Joe Junkin in the Visitor's citadel without making any impression.

The young Mo-Hawk goalie got away to a somewhat shaky start but he kicked out several shots later in the game that were clearly labelled.

Orillia pulled away to a two-goal lead in the opening period taking 3.43 minutes to grab it. The Mo-Hawks mapped long hit life in the latter stages and were trailing 3-2 at period end.

The team battled on even terms in the second frame both sides scoring — and that was game-and as far as goals and Orillia were concerned.

The Pepsis protected their slim margin with some fine defensive work in the last period. They used their bodies to advantage something the Mo-Hawks appeared sadly forgot how to do.

The homesiders deserved the win. They played a strong two-way game and didn't have too much trouble from the Mo-Hawk defensive corps.

Actually the winning goal was scored with Pepsi in the penalty box, Don Patrick getting his second goal of the night. The Mo-Hawk power plays were noticeably conspicuous by their absence.

As' Geo observer put it, "Your club did not follow through with that needed extra effort when they were hard-lucked at times in their shooting. With a little more git-up-and-go they might have pulled a win out of this game. But they didn't deserve it on the night's play. They were outshot 43-30."

Chasowski and Vail got the other goals. Knapton had two assists, Vail, Forth, Thompson and Hoffman drawing singles.

Mickey Chesverny potted a pair for the Mo-Hawks with Davy Jones netting the other. Bob Taylor had a pair of assists with Wiener Brown, and Ralph Plane getting loners.

Most of the Mo-Hawks walking wounded were back in action and there's no doubt injuries had their effect on the play.

Ben Gould, Ralph Plane and Mickey Cheverely played despite their hurts while Larry Holmes stood by if he was needed.

The Mo-Hawks meet the away-and-cunning Collingwood Kings here Friday night and it is hoped they'll be on the receiving end of this Santa Claus stuff. The cellar is no place for a club like this.

Picton Ints. Defeat Kingston

Picton came up with three goals in the final period to defeat Kingston 6-4 in an OHA intermediate contest played at Picton last night.

Kingston captured the home team 2-1 in the first period, with W. Travis and J. Stinson connecting for the visitors, and G. Aralla scoring for Picton.

Picton reversed things in the second period as they potted two goals to Kingston's one to send the teams into the third period in a tie. J. Guernsey and M. Hunter were the Picton goal-getters, while B. Bruce scored for the visitors.

Bruce scored for Kingston to put them ahead in the third, but Picton came back with goals by F. James, L. Beatty, and L. Pero to clinch the victory.

T. Chilkevan turned in a fine job in the Picton nets as Kingston outshot the home team 43-30. Nineteen penalties were handed out, ten to Kingston and nine to Picton.

Bata Wallops Warriors 9-3, Knights Win

The Batawa Braves handed the Wallbridge Warriors a 9-3 setback and the Ivanhoe Knights outlasted the Marlbourg on a highscoring free-wheeling 12-9 battle in Centre Hastings League action last night.

Sonny Joshay, Pete McLeod, Les Vroereaux and Adams got the others.

No scoring details were available for the Ivanhoe-Thomasburg game.

Damon Runyon Honored

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The late Damon Runyon has been elected 1967 winner of the J. G. Taylor Spink Memorial Award in the Cooperstown Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association.

Runyon covered the old New York Giants for the New York American from 1911 to 1920. He went on to author a number of short stories including Guys and Dolls which served as the basis for a Broadway musical and a movie.

Cougars Claw Clobber Juniors

By STEVE BISHOP

The Belleville "B"s will have to look in their stockings for Christmas presents, because they didn't get any last night at the Arena as they suffered a 13-2 drubbing at the hands of the Cobourg Cougars.

The game was marred by a rash of penalties and three fights. With all the major and minor shots served, the penalty box was occupied throughout the third period.

The game began in calm style, with no penalties or goals in the first ten minutes. At 10.08, Dave Byrd opened things up for the Cougars with the first of his four goals. Two minutes before the period was out to make it 2-0. Doug Geen scored for the "B"s before the period was out to make it 2-1 at the end of the first.

After time had run out in the first period, Belleville's Pete Fleming and Cobourg's John Gray tangled in the first fight of the game. They began the second period serving five-minute majors, and the Cougars came through with a pair of goals during this time to get a three-goal jump on the "B"s.

Cobourg scored twice more in the second before Ron Fuller connected for Belleville. Seconds later, Fleming put the puck in the Cobourg net, and it appeared the fans might be on the way back. But a penalty to Fuller nullified the goal. Belleville seemed to lose heart, and the Cougars poured in three more goals before the end of the period to make it 9-2.

The Belleville crew seemed to be going through the motions in the final twenty minutes, and Cobourg added four goals that they didn't need. Throughout the game, the "B"s backchecked poorly, passed badly and simply couldn't keep up with the opposition.

Behind Milne in the Cobourg scoring parade came Gus Bambridge with three goals, Steve Harold with two, and Bill Ryan, John Gray, Gord Brooks and Ian Cochrane each one apiece. Bob Gig Hunt and Vern Whalen operated in the Belleville nets, and they were bombarded with 49 shots, while Bob Hill, in the Cobourg goal, had only 27 to handle.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Victor Yakusheve scored the clinching goal late in the third period as the Russian Nationals downed the U.S. national hockey team 3-2 Tuesday night.

Yakusheve's goal at 16:05 of the final period came with the U.S. a man short due to a penalty, and gave the Russians a 3-1 lead. Doug Volmar closed the gap to 3-2 when he scored from the right side 55 seconds later.

John Cunniff scored at 3:07 of the first period to give the Americans an early lead. About six minutes later, Anatoly Firsov banged in a rebound to tie the game.

Alexie Makarov eight feet with only 36 seconds left in the middle period to give the Russians their first lead.

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (CP) — Moscow Selects dominated play Tuesday night in defeating Kimberley Dynamiters of the Western International Hockey League 6-1.

Victor Jaroslavtsev and Vladimir Yurzinov scored two goals each for Moscow. Igor Grigoriev and Victor Kuskin got one each. Dic Vincent scored for Kimberley.

THANK YOU

The Management and Players of the Belleville Junior B Hockey Club wish to express their thanks to all those who contribute to our Annual Pony Night held on Nov. 24th, 1967.

Special thanks to those who have supported the Club with cash donations, CJBQ Radio Station, Sports Department of The Intelligencer, the Arena Commission Management and Staff and all our faithful supporters . . . Compliments Of The Season.

That's what makes it Special.

So special, in fact, that no one is allowed to enter our blending room except the handful of people who belong. After all, there's a whisky being born in there.

Because a whisky is born when it's blended. (Most whiskies are blended just before they're bottled. Like maybe last week.)

But Walker's Special Old was blended long ago. The very day that its ingredient whiskies were distilled. They were carefully and painstakingly combined.

Preblended. To reach that elusive point of perfection that creates Walker's Special Old. Only then were they sealed in white oak casks. To age and mellow. Together. The result is incomparable bouquet, flavour, and character.

Our people take the longer, more difficult route to make Walker's Special Old. Because how else could we call it Special?

"Greybeard" Packers Shrug Off Criticism; Age Tells Saturday

The critics warned before the 1966 season that the Packer linemen were getting dangerously old. Green Bay silenced them by capturing a second consecutive National Football League title.

But the critics are at it again as the Packers prepare for Saturday's Western Conference playoff with Los Angeles Rams in Milwaukee.

The Green Bay-Los Angeles game will be televised on the CBC national network starting at 2 p.m. EST.

"When they talk about the old men, they are talking about Bob Skoronski and me," said all-pro Forrest Gregg, 34. "Vod Jerry Kramer, he's only 31."

"Every time they mention my age, it's a challenge," said Skoronski, 33, the Packers offensive captain. "You get very defensive."

If the critics are right, as eventually they may be, the age of the offensive linemen could be the Packers Achilles heel in the match with the Rams.

It will be up to the linemen to protect quarterback Bart Starr from one of football's most formidable pass rushes—a blitz staged by the Ram front four of Lamar Lundy, Roger Brown, Merlin Olsen and Dave Jones.

The Ram rushers are substantially taller and heavier at every position than the Packer blockers opposing them. The size and weight could be handicaps for the Packers, but the age factor certainly won't be, said Fuzzy Thurston, 33.

"This is where age counts—in the big game," said Thurston, who has been eased out of the Packer starting lineup by the younger and larger Gale Gillingham, 23.

Gregg, 6-foot-4, 250 pounds, will be up against the 6-foot-5, 295-pound Jones. "He's a great football player. He's so quick. How do you handle him? That's the problem. He gives you real quick moves. That speed and quickness—that's the thing."

Skoronski, 6-foot-3, 245-pound tackle, had much the same things to say about the 6-foot-7, 260-pound Lundy.

"The key is to avoid getting into third and 15 situations. When Baltimore got behind and had to pass, they just put their heads down and kept coming. You have to make them conscious of other things besides the pass, things like the sweep and the draw."

Says Pro Soccer Club Will Fold

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An official of Pittsburgh Phantoms says the pro soccer club will probably fold by the end of the year because of a lack of cash.

"It looks as if we will have to forfeit the franchise," Dirk George III, a club director, said Tuesday night.

George has been trying to keep the club alive, but says he has been unable to get backers to invest in the National Professional Soccer League club.

A performance bond of $150,000 must be posted by the Phantoms by Dec. 31 in order to maintain the franchise.

"There have been people from Pittsburgh, New York and Europe interested in buying into the club but all is contingent into the new stadium," said George.

Construction of a new stadium on Pittsburgh's north side is scheduled to start in early 1968.

Buffalo Ties Aces

QUEBEC (CP) — Defenceman Roger Pelletier scored the only goal of the third period to give Quebec Aces a 2-2 tie with Buffalo Bisons in the only American Hockey League game Tuesday night.

The Aces overcame a two-goal deficit for the victory after the Bisons took the lead in the first period with goals by Bob Stones and Allan Hamilton. Jim Johnson scored for Quebec in the second period.

The win moves Quebec into a third-place tie with Buffalo in the AHL's Western Division standings. Each team has 26 points.

Cowboys And Browns Hospital Fugitives Clash Saturday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Football's most battered up quarterbacks are ready to match pains in the big game of the year for Dallas Cowboys and Cleveland Browns.

And the hopes of both Dallas and Cleveland will ride on the passing arms of the two fugitives from a hospital—Frank Ryan of the Browns and Don Meredith of the Cowboys.

Meredith even got pneumonia and missed three games.

Dallas and Cleveland both present strong runing games and it seems the passing should make the difference.

Ryan has a bruised left forearm. It can't hamper his throwing but if it was hurt again it might get him out of the game where he couldn't throw at all.

Meredith has a broken nose and twisted knee.

Meredith has missed the games this season and his passing has suffered mostly from lack of practice and game action.

Ryan has been playing, too, although he probably should have been in a wheel chair at times. He sprained his ankle in practice before the season started, he sprained the other one in the opening game of the season —against Dallas, which the Cowboys won 21-14. He played with two sprained ankles and one bruised finger on his passing hand and Cleveland lost to Detroit.

He got a bunged up right shoulder in the second period of the game with New Orleans but only missed one series of downs, leading the Browns to victory. Three games later he got a collar bone injury against Chicago, left the game and got patched up, then returned to score the first touchdown as Cleveland won 24-0.

Meredith's list of ailments is about as long as Ryan's. His pneumonia coming from fractured ribs was the most serious.

But the two will be out there Sunday—even if they have to get to the park in ambulances.

Name Jet Trio To All-Stars

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — New York Jets' passing combination of Joe Namath, George Sauer and Don Maynard was named Tuesday to the East team in the American Football League's All-Star game at Jacksonville, Jan. 21.

AFL president Milt Woodard announced the 22-man team, selected with the help of coaches of the East teams.

Coach Joe Collier of Buffalo Bills, who will coach the West All-Stars, will select 11 more players.

Woodard said the West All-Star team, to be coached by Lou Saban of Denver Broncos, will be announced Thursday.

The East backfield will have Namath at quarterback, Maynard at flanker, Keith Lincoln of Buffalo at halfback and Jim Nance of Boston Patriots at fullback.

Sauer will be split end and Pete Lammons of New York Jets is tight end.

The offensive tackles are Walt Suggs of Houston Oilers and Don Oakes of Boston; guards Bob Talamini of Houston and Billy Shaw of Buffalo and centre Jon Morris of Boston.

Namath is the top passer among Eastern teams and fourth in the league. His receivers, Sauer and Maynard are one-two among all receivers. Sauer has caught 70 passes for 1,085 yards and Maynard 61 for 1,233 yards.

The defence: Ends—Roland McDole of Buffalo and Verlon Biggs of New York. Tackles—Jim Hunt of Boston and Jim Dunaway of Buffalo. Middle linebacker—Nick Buoniconti of Boston. Outside linebackers—George Webster of Houston and Mike Stratton of Buffalo. Cornerbacks—Miller Farr of Houston and Westmoreland. Safeties —George Saimes of Buffalo and Jim Norton of Houston.

Shotless Seals Bow To Kings For Eighteenth Defeat In 30

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It was the penalties that hurt Tuesday as Oakland Seals went under for the 18th time in 30 National Hockey League games.

Brian Smith and Bob Wall both scored for Los Angeles Kings with the Seals a man short as the Kings won 3-1 and inched two points closer to Philadelphia Flyers, leaders of the Western Division.

Smith's goal was the first of two—he got the second into an open net after Oakland goalie Gary Smith was pulled in favor of a sixth attacker later in the third period.

But the action was all against Seals, last in the six-team division. Smith handled 29 shots before 4,045 fans compared with 20 by Wayne Rutledge of Los Angeles as the Seals got only two shots in the first period.

Of the 46 minutes in penalties called during the game, including second-period misconducts to George Swarbrick of Oakland and Dave Amadio of Los Angeles, the Seals took 26 minutes.

On this basis, they should have won the game, because the point leaders in both the eastern and western divisions also are the penalty leaders.

Philadelphia, two points ahead of Los Angeles, has picked up 358 minutes in 28 games to lead the Kings by 43 minutes, although the Kings have played 29 games.

In the Eastern Division Boston Bruins, tied for the points lead with Chicago Black Hawks, have taken 428 penalty minutes in 28 games, 68 more than Montreal Canadiens who are last in the six-team division.

Even Montreal being among the penalty leaders tends to support the theory that hitting teams are winning teams—at least in this expansion year.

Normally a free-skating team, the Canadiens are having dire problems trying to get out of the eastern basement and appear to be compounding their dilemma by lashing out at every opponent who happens by.

On the other hand, the penalties picked up by Boston, Philadelphia and Los Angeles tend to indicate the aggressive nature of their play and the reason they are holding their leading positions.

The Bruins could come tumbling tonight when they run headlong into the Hawks in Chicago.

Not only are the Hawks the best penalized team in the east with only 346 minutes in 31 games—a 7.9 minute average a game—they also are the hottest club in the circuit.

In the last three weeks they have pulled out of the basement with Montreal into their first-place tie as the Scooter Line of Stan Mikita, Doug Mohns and Ken Wharram has found the legs they were missing early in the season.

All three are among the league's top 20 scorers, something that can be said for only one other line in the loop—Boston's John Bucyk, Fred Stanfield and John McKenzie.

Balanced as they are with their great line each, the Hawks have a tactical advantage over the Bruins in Bobby Hull, the league's leading scorer with 38 points on 25 goals and 13 assists in 21 games.

The Bruins will be at an added disadvantage, still missing defensive standout Bobby Orr, injured nearly two weeks ago in Toronto when they played the Maple Leafs.

The game in Oakland may give the Seals a chance to vacate the cellar for a while since they and the Blues are tied with 19 points each although St Louis has a game and a victory in hand.

WBC Changes Mind

Says Heavy Title Vacant!

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The World Boxing Council reversed its stand on Cassius Clay Tuesday night and declared the world heavyweight title vacant. The WBC earlier had held that Cassius should be regarded as champion pending his appeal from his conviction for refusing to serve in the U.S. armed forces.

Juniors Trounce Romania

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Red Wings trounced Romania's national team 7-2 Tuesday night in an exhibition hockey game played under international rules.

The Red Wings, fourth-place team in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, outshot the Romanians 35-32 and took all five penalties called by referee Hughie McLean.

White Sox, Reds Lead Race For Players

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox finished fourth in their respective baseball pennant races last season. But they're well in the lead in the number of new players acquired through trades and purchases since the close of the 1967 campaign.

Cincinnati has picked up eight players; the White Sox seven.

The Reds obtained outfielder Mack Jones and pitcher Jay Ritchie from Atlanta Braves, infielder Bob Johnson from New York Mets, first baseman Fred Whitfield and pitcher George Culver from Cleveland Indians, pitcher Ron Tompkins from th.. new Oakland Athletics and pitchers Bill Kelso and Jorge Rubio from California Angels.

The White Sox made two six-player transactions.

They obtained from Baltimore Orioles shortstop Luis Aparicio, outfielder Russ Snyder and first baseman-outfielder John Matshas for pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford.

Then, in an inter-league deal, they got outfielder Tommy Davis, pitchers Jack Fisher and Bill Wynne and catcher Buddy Bradford from the Mets for outfielder Tommie Agee and infielder Al Weis.

Baltimore got two other new players for a total of five. They were pitchers John O'Donoghue and shortstop Gordon Lund from Cleveland.

The Mets, Cleveland and Philadelphia Phillies also got five players.

New York's National League club got pitcher Al Jackson from St. Louis Cardinals, first baseman-outfielder Art Shamsky from Cincinnati Reds and catcher J. C. Martin from the White Sox in addition to Agee and Weis.

The Phillies' new players are catcher Mike Ryan from Boston Red Sox plus pitchers Woody Fryman, Harold Clem and Bill Laxton and infielder Don Money from Pittsburgh Pirates. The latter four came from Pittsburgh for pitcher Jim Bunning in the most recent trade last Saturday.

Four players each were acquired by Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros. The Dodgers added shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant from Minnesota Twins and infielder Paul Popovich and outfielder Jim Williams from Chicago Cubs.

The Astros got pitcher Denny Lemaster and shortstop Denis Menke from Atlanta, pitcher Fred Gladding from Detroit Tigers and shortstop Hector Torres from California.

The other clubs and their new players:

Chicago Cubs—Outfielder Lou Jackson from Los Angeles; outfielder Bill Schlesinger from Boston.

Boston—Pitcher Ray Culp from Chicago Cubs; pitcher Dick Ellsworth and catcher Gene Oliver from Philadelphia.

Detroit—Pitcher Dennis Ribant from Pittsburgh.

Oakland—Outfielder Floyd Robinson and pitcher Darrell Osteen from Cincinnati.

New York Yankees—Shortstop Gene Michael from Los Angeles.

Washington—Pitcher Bill Denehy from the New York Mets; outfielder Sam Bowens from Baltimore.

Second Straight Year

Chisox Pitchers Tops!

BOSTON (AP) — Chicago White Sox' brilliant pitching staff led the American League for the second straight year with a club earned-run average of 2.45 in 1967, official figures showed Tuesday show.

Joe Horlen, the White Sox' right-handed ace with a 19-7 record, led the league with a 2.06 mark. Team-mate Gary Peters, a southpaw with a 16-11 record, was runner-up with a 2.28 ERA.

Cleveland's Sonny Siebert (10-12) was third with a 2.38 ERA, followed by Tommy John of the White Sox, who had a 2.48 ERA despite a 10-13 won-lost campaign.

Lonborg topped the league with 246 strikeouts, but failed to crack the top 15 earned-run leaders. The big right-hander had a 3.16 ERA.

Minnesota was second in club ERA with a mark of 3.14. California was third with 3.19, followed by New York with 3.24 and Cleveland 3.25.

The champion Red Sox were eighth in club ERA with 3.36. Boston made up for its pitching deficiencies by leading the league in hitting.

Rich Swede Weds Daughter of Nickel Miner From Sudbury

It was Brostroem's third marriage. Miss Boyce's first Brostroem was recently divorced from his second wife, a former English night club hostess.

The wedding ceremony was attended only by 20 members of the Brostroem family and by the bride's uncle, W. J. Pritchard, his wife Doris and their 14-year-old daughter Patty, with whom Miss Boyce lived after she left home 14 years ago to go to University in Ottawa.

Pritchard also was best man.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Boyce of Sudbury, were not present at the wedding.

The couple met last year in Acapulco, Mexico, where both were on vacation. Brostroem brought Miss Boyce back here secretly. For a long time nobody knew of her existence until a photographer discovered them at the Copenhagen zoo earlier this year.

Miss Boyce is described as a quiet, strikingly attractive woman, especially fond of travel. Once she hitchhiked barefoot through the Middle East.

She left Sudbury 14 years ago and went to live in Ottawa where she studied at Carleton University.

The bride has become popular in Gotenborg with her quiet manners and her good knowledge of Swedish. Reports say she has every chance to succeed as the first lady of Gotenborg.

In Sudbury, Hartley Boyce worked a regular shift in the Falconbridge Nickel Mines and Mrs. Boyce worked as a maid in the mailing room of the Sudbury Star.

Mr. Boyce has been a miner for 20 years.

Mrs. Boyce said her fear of flying kept her from her daughter's wedding.

"I'm terrified of heights. I simply couldn't bring myself to make the trip by plane."

Mrs. Boyce said she met Brostroem when the couple visited Ottawa in July.

Joanne had been working in Ottawa as a private secretary since her graduation from Carleton University with an honors degree in geology, except for two years when she travelled in the United States and Europe.

Mrs. Boyce said Mr. and Mrs. Brostroem plan to visit Canada next summer and will spend some time in Sudbury.

The Boyces also have two sons, Cliff and Don, both in the Sudbury area.

Mr. Boyce said he and his wife had no idea that the bridegroom was wealthy.

Asked what wedding present they would give to the couple, Mr. Boyce said:

"What do you give a guy with $100,000,000?"

Mrs. Boyce, he said, had baked a Christmas cake for the newlyweds which had been taken to Sweden by Mrs. Elwood Pritchard, Mr. Boyce's sister. Mr. Pritchard was best man at the wedding.

Scouting activities

Original skits by the boys were most entertaining; carols were sung and readings were given by the leaders.

A presentation of centennial cups and saucers was made to the two retiring leaders, Mrs. Thomas Howard and Mrs. Grant McLaren. Suitable replies were made and each expressed the hope that their successors would enjoy working with the boys as they carried out the Cub program.

Mr. M. Portt, Mrs. Roque Sager and Terry Stratton have been registered as assistant leaders and each will be assigned to a special portion of the program early in the year.

Everyone enjoyed the refreshments served by the parents at the close of the meeting. Children all received candy canes, donated by Mrs. William Walsh.

Drug Firm's Letter To MPs Said Threat

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto drug manufacturing company has sent an open letter to MPs suggesting that "chaos" may result if Parliament proceeds with a bill aimed at reducing the price of prescription drugs.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said in the Commons Tuesday the letter contains "threats" and Dr. William Howe (NDP — Hamilton South) asked assurance that the government won't be "blackmailed by any drug company."

Mr. Knowles said the letter is from Glaxo-Allenburys (Canada) Ltd. and he asked whether Registrar-General Turner had any comment on it.

Mr. Turner said he had received a copy, sent by registered mail and signed by the company president, H. Clark Balmer, and will comment on it when a bill amending the Patent and Trade Marks Act reaches second reading.

The bill was given first reading Friday. Mr. Turner said it will lower the protective frame-work given Canadian drug manufacturers under present law.

He said it would stimulate price competition at the manufacturers' level by reducing protection against imported drugs. The bill is lower drug prices.

The Glaxo - Allenburys letter, dated Dec. 16, said the saving to Canadians won't match the cost to government of controlling "the influx of hitherto unknown products."

"If additional resources to secure such control are not planned, we will have chaos indeed."

Deutsch Worried

Civil Service Growth Has Been Rapid

WINNIPEG (CP) — Efficiency must be the key in the public service of the future as bureaucracy continues to grow with increased government spending John Deutsch, former chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said Tuesday.

Dr. Deutsch, at a press conference, said he is "concerned" at the rate of growth of the public service at all levels of government, particularly as the rule of government is forecast to increase.

"There is room for improvement in efficiency at the moment in the public service and as government expenditures increase we must make a special effort to obtain improved efficiency."

Dr. Deutsch, now chancellor at Queen's University, Kingston, was here to speak at the Winnipeg branch of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada.

Phone Repairmen Strike

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Telephone operators remained at their switchboards early today following a strike at midnight Tuesday of 70 maintenance workers against Island Telephone Co.

The operators reported for duty before the strike deadline and were due to be replaced by the day shift operators at 8 a.m. AST today.

A spokesman for the striking union said the day-shift operators would honor the maintenance workers' picket lines and operators leaving their jobs at midnight said they would not return to work tonight.

An immediate disruption in service was expected if the operators support the maintenance workers. Operators must place long-distance calls both within the province itself and to points outside the province.

British Frigate Fires On French Oil Tanker

BEIRA, Mozambique (Reuters) — The captain of a French tanker loaded with gasoline and jet fuel said today a British frigate fired in the direction of his ship Tuesday when it refused to stop off Beira harbor.

The South African Press Association quoted Captain Daniel Bonnard of the 71,346-ton tanker Artois as saying "obviously the frigate did not intend to hit us because one shot landing on us would have turned us into a huge bonfire."

The captain said the frigate, which was not immediately identified, fired four salvos when he ignored an order to stop while heading for Beira.

In London, a defence ministry spokesman said the frigate Minerva fired more than one shot across the bows of the French tanker because it was suspected of carrying oil for Rhodesia.

The spokesman said the tanker was later proven innocent of suspicion. The Minerva did not follow the tanker into Beira.

The spokesman added that the shots were well ahead of the Artois and there was no danger of loss of life.

The British blockade was operated under authority of a United Nations resolution passed in April, 1966, five months after Rhodesia seized independence from Britain.

The Art is a regular monthly caller at Beira and was never previously intercepted. It was not immediately known where the cargo of 8,000 tons of gasoline and jet aircraft fuel originated or whether any of it was destined for Rhodesia.

A MISCELLANY

TIME OF LAUGHTER — Corey Ford.

Corey Ford looks back at the frenzies, and golden age of American humor. He describes the free and easy atmosphere and recalls episodes in the lives of such wits as Dorothy Parker and W. C. Fields. He knew these people and is able to recapture the mood of the time.

BLOODY WINTER — Capt. John M. Waters, Jr.

During the winter of 1942-43 the Battle of the Atlantic was almost lost to the German U-boats when 82 ships were sunk in three weeks. The struggle is described in graphic terms by a man who served with a group of American ships aiding the Royal Navy.

WINNING THE HARD WAY — Red Auerbach and Paul Sann.

One of the most colorful coaches on the American sports scene tells of his life in basketball. He has won more championships, coached more games, and paid more fines than any other coach in professional sports.

FASHIONS IN EYEGLASSES — Richard Carson.

An entertaining account of the development of eyeglasses from their first appearance in 13th century Italy.

A PORTRAIT OF ALL THE RUSSIAS — Laurens van der Post.

MYTHS OF THE SPACE AGE — Daniel Cohen.

The author calls himself a skeptic, as he considers some of the beliefs current in society today — astrology, flying saucers, ESP, and others.

STAGECOACH WEST — Ralph Moody

This is a history of the American stagecoach, which for fifty years provided communication and transportation across the American continent. All the color of the old west is here — the frontier-towns, Indian raids, gold rushes, and political scandals.

THE MAYA WORLD — Elizabeth P. Benson

The Mayan civilization, which reached its peak about 600 A.D., provides a paradox for the archaeologist. Although these people had advanced knowledge of arithmetic and astronomy and built impressive cities, their only tools were of stone. Miss Benson describes their way of life and outlines their history.

HENRY CABOT LODGE, A BIOGRAPHY — William J. Miller

A biography of a man who has shared in the making of modern history. As a member of Congress, a representative to the United Nations and American Ambassador to Vietnam, Mr. Lodge has served his country in many capacities.

RCAF Pilot Tried to Turn Plane

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force said Tuesday it believes the Canadian pilot of an F-4D jet tried to guide the fighter plane toward an unpopulated area before ejecting seconds before it crashed into the rear of a shopping centre, killing at least four persons Monday night.

Brig.-Gen. Ralph Taylor, comdr., Nov., said RCAF Fit. Lt. Jack R. Hamilton of Perth, Ont., encountered his problem at the worst possible time—immediately after takeoff.

Hamilton, an exchange pilot, and his navigator, U.S. Air Force Capt. Gary L. Hughes, are in hospital at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

JURY CONVICTS 2

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Three Montreal men were convicted by an all-male jury Tuesday of breaking, entering and theft. They were charged following the theft of $3,687 worth of merchandise from a hardware store in nearby Long Sault.

Things Are 'Cussed'

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What Oliver Wendell Holmes called "the sheer cussedness of things" is not a matter for speculation, but simply for acceptance of the wayward universe. You can't think about it; you can only shrug about it.

Like traffic lights. They seem to have a perverse life of their own most of the time. When you are in a hurry to get to the airport, the lights magically turn red at every corner, as though exhibiting a kind of malicious glee at your frustration.

And, contrariwise, when you are early for a party, the green lights flick on just as magically, speeding you to your destination a half-hour before you really care to get there. Open bridges and railroad crossings, needless to say, invariably display the same cussedness.

Shirts pop buttons only when you're in a rush to get dressed and there's a shortage of clean white shirts in the drawer; at all other times, buttons behave most decorously. They are allied with shoelaces, which tend to break in hotel rooms on Sundays, when there is no way of replacing them.

And every motorist knows that cars purposely develop motor trouble on expressways, in darkness and sleet, miles from a service station, or when you are already overdue for a family Christmas dinner.

The perversity of inanimate objects has long confounded philosophers and scientists, and is almost enough to make one believe in extra-sensory phenomena. Why do the pet hands continue to come to the poker player with an enormous stack of chips in front of him, while the busted flushes persist in haunting the poor devil who has already lost next month's pay?

As I say, we cannot reflect creatively upon these matters; only brood about them. We say that "troubles come in bunches" or that some people are "accident prone," but this explains little; it certainly doesn't explain why newly-washed windows seem to invite rain, or why your umbrella conducts itself impeccably until you are toting four Christmas packages — and then the wind turns it inside out while you are crossing the most fearsomely wide boulevard in town.

Rationalists assure us that nature is quite indifferent to our plans and purposes; but I think the witch doctors strike it more accurately when they ascribe a certain malevolence (at least mischievousness) to natural forces. Man is an inordinately proud creature, and the subhuman world likes to see his hybris take a fall. Else why does a lady's dress zipper get stuck only at the places, and with the wrong man present?

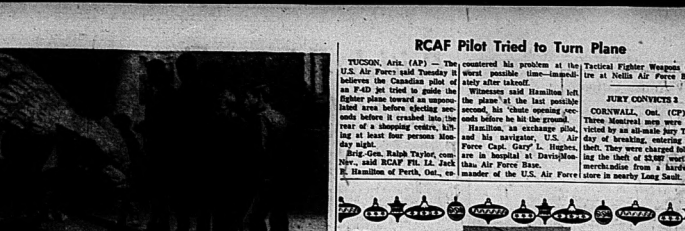
Stanfield Believes '68 Election Unlikely

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative Leader Stanfield said Tuesday a federal election is unlikely next year, partly because the new Liberal leader might want a year to establish himself before calling one.

He told reporters a 1968 election is possible, but as long as the government can continue governing a Commons majority for non-confidence votes there won't be one.

Mr. Stanfield said there is every indication that the government's approach is as it would avoid calling an election soon. In addition the new prime minister, to be chosen April 6 at a Liberal convention here, might want a year in the job to make himself known.

Mr. Stanfield said there would be no change in his party's Commons approach because of Mr. Pearson's coming retirement announced last week. The Conservatives would continue to oppose bad measures and support constructive ones.



And the party would continue in attempts to defeat the government on the floor of the Commons.

If a leadership race develops with several candidates in it, the result will likely be a slowdown in government activity, Mr. Stanfield said.

He expected Mr. Pearson's pending departure might hamper long-term government policy making. Mr. Pearson would likely leave it to his successor to make major cabinet changes.

President Johnson Brightest Star in Television Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—The President of the United States was television's brightest star Tuesday night. He just comfortably fit a loving chalk and dartmouth subjects that ranged from hopes of peace in Vietnam to the state of the economy.

The program, taped the day before in the White House, was labelled A Conversation with the President, but was actually an hour-long interview—edited somewhat for security purposes—the networks announced—by representatives of the three major networks which carried it simultaneously.

The president spoke without notes except once, when he read from a previous statement he had made about Vietnam. There was, therefore, an informality and give-and-take that gave the program an intimacy and interest that is likely to be missing in a formal platform address read from notes or a prompter.

At one point, discussing disturbances and violence at home, the president lured a question the president turned a question ABC's Frank Reynolds asked about the method what should be done to prevent trouble next summer.

The president replied by asking Reynolds what he thought should be done. The reporter tried to avoid answering but Johnson, looking amused, pressed him.

When Reynolds finally said he would speed up programs now in progress, Johnson said that was what was being done and added, with mock formality that the reporter's suggestion was accepted. It was, however, just about the only light note in a serious hour.

Recommended tonight: Mitzi Gaynor Christmas Show, NBC, 9-10 EST, with Cyril Ritchard and Tony Tanner; Diary of a Madman, CBS, 10-11, adaptation of Gogol's work, a one-character play with French actor Roger Coggio.

New Corporal Joins Force

NAPANEE—Corporal Arthur Campbell joined the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police last Thursday. He has been a member of district number two since he joined the force in 1948 and served with detachments in various places, including Woodstock, St. Thomas and in London where he had been the longest.

He comes to the Napanee detachment from Grand Bend where he was appointed last year to head the detachment.

Corporal Campbell and his wife have one son who teaches high school in Chapleau. He himself served overseas five years with the 1st Hussars.

He replaces Cpl. Ronald Roberts who was transferred to Sharbot Lake last spring.

Trinity Church Presents Yule Pageant

NAPANEE—Because of its architecture Trinity United Church lends itself to a dramatic presentation of the Christmas story. The pageant, presented for at least 18 successive years, takes on a different look each year, and, as the service is held at five o'clock, people of all denominations take advantage of the opportunity to attend.

As always, the church was filled last Sunday. The service was divided into two parts, with the theme "God Understands" emphasized in the opening part.

The second part of the program presented the Christmas story in narrative, song and pageant. Joseph and Mary were represented by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hart. (Mary's husband). John VanSlyck, Robert Madden and Douglas Woolsey took the part of the shepherds, and Bill Charlton, Max Chatton and Alan Empey portrayed the Wise Men.

The minister, Rev. E. Irvine Johnston, arranged the program and helped in its production. Mrs. Roy Lawrence has been active in producing the pageant each year and many others assisted.

Germans Take Issue Over 'Hogan's Heroes'

FRANKFURT (AP — Germans are showing more sensitivity about the way they are portrayed on American television.

The Sunday newspaper Bild am Sonntag of Hamburg, which has a circulation of more than 2,000,000, complains that three current American television series depict the Germans as "evil imbeciles."

In one week, the newspaper says, "a total of about 60 Germans were massacred" on American television.

"Only one (of the Germans) had human characteristics. All the others were either blockheads, sadists or fodder for the machine-guns of their Allied opponents."

"Their opponents, on the other hand, were not even scratched."

Bild suggests that the conclusion is that Germans are "too stupid to have even the slightest chance against American supermen."

The German Col. Klink and Sgt. Schultz of Hogan's Heroes, the newspaper says, are portrayed like Laurel and Hardy characters. Klink is a fool and Schultz is a dope whom the American prisoners-of-war "lead around by the nose."

"Who can be surprised that in the eyes of many Americans the Germans are coarse, sadistic, evil and idiotic sauerkraut consumers?"

West German television officials, who select many American television tapes for showing to their viewers, doubt that the three series ever will be telecast in Germanf.

West Germany's Second Television Channel carried another American television program that stirred controversy here. CBS's documentary The Germans. This depicted today's Germans as having regained self-respect but as still clinging to old values.

Dr. Volker von Hagen, director for politics and current events at the Second Channel, said the national network had decided to show The Germans to illustrate "how a certain journalistic trend in the United States was presenting an erroneous pictude of us."

Supports Tennis Decision

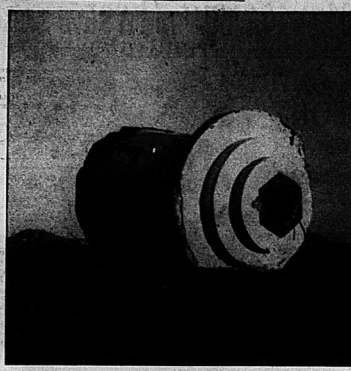
SYDNEY (AP) — The New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association Tuesday night supported the recent decision by the British Lawn Tennis Association to introduce an open tournament at Wimbledon next year. The vote was 20 to 12.

The lead by New South Wales probably will be followed by other states.

Only two speakers were against the motion at the meeting. Six were in favor.



The NSW decision was in contrast to firm opposition adopted by Bill Edwards, president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia.

Suspect Arson In Track Fire

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Fires in feed rooms of two Laurel Race Course barns, which firemen suspect were the work of arsonists, were extinguished by sprinkler system late Tuesday night.

More than 30 thoroughbreds were evacuated from the barns near the main gate, including Pamfly and Negro Monarch, both winners at the track Tuesday.

"It's an obvious case of arson," said Richard Grove, chief of the Laurel town fire department, noting that the two feed rooms are in areas about 200 yards apart.

What A Dump!

No it isn't a rocket capsule dropped from outer space. But it's still likely the biggest dump ever made on Belleville's land reclamation project east of Zwick's Island. Now abandoned in solitude is the 20-ton base of a fountain that once marked the approach to the city's fairgrounds. It took a trailer to move the 20-ton mass of shaped concrete across town to its final resting place.

Canada's Trade Growth Drops 50 Per Cent in 1967

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's trade in 1967 has grown at a rate almost precisely half the rate of 1966, officials now estimate.

The slowdown threatens Trade Minister Winters' official export target of $11,250,000,000, although Canada will come out of the year with an improved trade balance.

Both exports and imports lagged in August and September. Canadian sales picked up in October, but when November figures are released soon they are expected to show a decline from the same month of 1966.

This will mean that the 1967 export target can be met only by a considerable improvement in December. Much will depend on sales under the U.S.-Canada auto agreement—and a surge of shipments previously held up by the British dock strike.

Imports, weakened by the slackness in business investment, were up 9.4 per cent during the first 10 months of the year at $9,011,000,000. The final growth rate is expected to be about eight per cent, down from 17 per cent last year.

The over-all 1966 trade balance was about $220,000,000 after adjustments for balance-of-payments purposes. This year's balance is expected to improve to $330,000,000.

A notable feature of patterns in 1967 has been the boost in the auto-pact trade. It shot Canadian exports—to—$1,750,000,000 from about $1,000,000,000, accounting for 70 per cent of total export growth.

Melrose

MELROSE — The December meeting of the Melrose UCW was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur English and Mrs. William English. An interesting program arranged by Mrs. Jack Macfarlane was conducted in her absence by Mrs. Roy Badgley.

Mrs. Harris of Belleville spent a few days this week with her daughter, Mrs. W. English.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beckley, with their family have left the community to live in Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Forestell and children of Belleville, have moved into the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Buckley.

A farewell party was held in the twp. hall on Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Buckley. A presentation of a coffee table and two end tables was made for which both the recipients expressed thanks. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening.

STATE NEEDS BOATS

Indonesia has the land area of Alaska but is made up of 3,000 islands.

Sales of motor vehicles and parts have now become the No. 1 category in Canada's export picture. Newsprint and wheat have vied for first place in past years.

Pay Hike For Police In Napanee

NAPANEE—Pay increases to three members of Napanee Police Department were approved by council Monday night.

Chairman Donald Reid said the increases, effective Jan. 1, were the only ones planned in 1968.

Chief J. J. Paquette, hired in July, will receive a $200 hike in pay, bringing his salary to $6,700. Const. Peter Cruji has completed a six-month probation period and will also be given an increase of $200, Councillor Reid said.

The third man, Const. Warren Richardson, is ebated to an increase of $200 with promotion to first class constable.

Council also approved a police committee recommendation to send constables Cruji and Richardson to police college at Aylmer for six weeks.

To Your Good Health

Menopause Is Not to Blame

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Please advise how to solve fluid problems during menopause, as fluid goes into my tissues and the urine output has slowed down. Is this common or rare? Will I return to normal? — Mrs. M. C.

First of all forget the idea that this is a problem that goes with menopause only. There are several factors which could be involved.

The use of female hormones (very often used to relieve menopause symptoms) may cause some water retention, although this by no means bothers all women.

Some kidney disorder may be responsible for fluid retention, just because the kidneys are not working at full efficiency in filtering out wastes to be discharged. Thus the possibility of kidney trouble comes, readily to a physician's mind. Or, of course, some heart deficiency can cause fluid retention, but other symptoms would be so readily apparent that there is no need of our belaboring that.

Overweight people tend to urinate less during the day and thus accumulate fluid in the tissues as indicated by ankles which swell at the end of the day — but the swelling disappears during the night. Keep in mind that we release fluid by several methods: There is moisture expelled with each breath, and this adds up to a measurable amount in a matter of hours. We also perspire.

You, Mrs. M.C., may require a diuretic (medication to facilitate water release). But I certainly suggest that you see your doctor to determine what is causing this fluid retention. It may be indirectly related to menopause in some way, but isn't a sheer matter of menopause alone, and just waiting isn't likely to correct it.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a man 81. I cramp below my knees so I can't rest at night and have to get up and walk the floor. Is there any vitamin I can take for this, or what would you recommend? — A. B. T.

Leg cramps aren't the most important problem we have to contend with as we grow older, but they are one of the most annoying, and the loss of sleep can be significant.

These cramps are muscle spasms, and a vitamin isn't the answer (except that if you are low in Vitamin D, it can have an effect on absorption of calcium, which is important.)

Principle causes of the spasms are faulty circulation, abnormal strain on the muscles which can result from faults in foot structure, shoes which do not fit correctly, lack of calcium, or other causes.

Simple medication, of which quinine is an old stand-by is often helpful. Sometimes an easy leg exercise is even better. I recall one reader who said she got rid of cramps in two weeks by doing the exercises for a few minutes each night. (The exercise is described in my booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramp and Foot Pains," which is obtainable by sending 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 188, Dundee, Ill.)

Many older folks lack calcium. Milk (a glass a day is enough) is a good way to get plenty of calcium. Skim milk is just as good for those who have to avoid gaining weight.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Could taking one pentobarbital pill twice a week to induce sleep have any harmful effects? — W. Z.

No.

Note to Mrs. S. A.: I am in no position to decide between the conflicting medical opinions you encountered. I would abide by the opinion of the doctor who already has improved your hearing.

OWRC Proposal Not Acceptable

DESERONTO — The tentative cost of sewers and sewage disposal plant for Deseronto is a staggering $1,400,000, with one third, approximately $466,000 to be borne by industry. These are the figures set down in the proposal of the Ontario Water Resources Commission submitted to the Town Council Monday evening.

According to the proposal, the OWRC would install and own the system, with Deseronto paying a rental each year over a long term, and eventually owning the system. A preliminary examination of the proposal was made by the council, with the general opinion expressed that as it stands, Deseronto is in no position to accept it. The matter was laid over to be dealt with by the council next year after further study.

Minto Personals

MINTO — Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell and boys of Amherstview and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan of Stirling visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sine and family spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kent of Frankford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook.

The Christmas concert sponsored by pupils of Harold and Minto schools with teachers Mrs. Couch and Mr. Van Dyk was exceptionally well attended and received. The concert was held in the community hall with Mr. Ralph Clements as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hagerman, Ruth visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hagerman and son of Oshawa.

Mrs. Tom Clements attended the funeral of a cousin, Mrs. Margaret Bell of Dresden.

Visitors of Mrs. Emma Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ray were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jeffs and Peter, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Thompson and family, Mr. Murray Reid and Mary and Miss Mary Ann Ray all of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Forestell and boys visited his mother, Mrs. Clara Forestell of Belleville recently.

Ireland May Permit Divorce But Only With Church Consent

DUBLIN (AP) — Plans to legalize divorce in the Republic of Ireland are drawing fire from church leaders.

The constitution bans divorces in any form—for the minority of Protestants and non-believers and for the 95-per-cent majority of Roman Catholics.

Across the border in Northern Ireland, British laws apply.

One-third of its population is Roman Catholic.

The laws in the Irish Republic have been under debate since the Vatican council stated its principles of religious liberty. Irish law, the critics say, takes no account of the wishes of non-Catholics.

The constitution says: "No law shall be enacted providing for the grant of a dissolution of marriage." Technically, one Dublin lawyer says, even foreigners could be prosecuted for bigamy if either party in a divorce had a spouse still living.

An all-party committee presented its report Dec. 14 and publication is expected early in the new ear. Newspapers have published summaries of the report and the committee has not denied them.

One recommendation is understood to be that no law should be enacted for dissolution of church marriages unless acceptable to the denomination concerned."

Another proviso is that marriage laws should not enable a person to switch from one church to another to avail himself of divorce facilities.

The committee believes that a law preventing non-Catholics from being divorced deprives them of religious freedom. It also feels that the prohibition may embarrass efforts to improve political relations between the republic and the six counties of Northern Ireland.

Eamon de Valera, the present government will support the proposed amendments to the 30-year-old constitution but that the people will have the last word in a national referendum.

If William Cardinal Conway, Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has his way, the answer will be no.

Even though the proposal would affect only the non-Catholic minority, he said, it would mean establishment of divorce courts in the Republic of Ireland.

"Everyone knows how these things spread once the gates are opened," he observed.

Similar views were expressed by leaders of the Church of England, which is part of the Anglican communion.

Legion Members Stage Party For Children

Two hundred children of Legion members and Auxiliary attended the annual Christmas Party at the Legion Hall, on Saturday afternoon. The party is sponsored by Branch 89 and their Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion. The hall was gaily decorated with a huge illuminated Christmas tree with many presents for the children. Mr. George Lindsay played his accordion for the carol singing and Comrade A. Bradford led the children in the carol singing.

Comrade H. H. McLachlan donated two bushels of apples and Brookside Dairy donated over two hundred containers of chocolate milk and whole milk for the occasion. The ladies' Auxiliary supplied the cookies for the party. After the carol singing Old Santa with his Ho-Ho-Ho arrived and was greeted with a thunderous applause by the children. The children all received a gift, a bag of candy and an apple from Santa.

After the presentation of the gifts, lunch was served by the auxiliary and Legion members.

Canada Will Not Join Anti-missile Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has apparently ruled out any Canadian participation in a North American counter-missile defence system.

Informants say this interpretation comes from a report on the statement of Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canada's chief disarmament negotiator, at the United Nations last week.

Gen. Burns said that nuclear war will not come if governments refuse to limit the arms race. And he declared that the decisions of the United States and Soviet Union to develop counter-missile systems is an acceleration of the arms race.

This statement appears to go beyond what Prime Minister Pearson has said.

The prime minister has said that at the present time" Canada will not participate with the U.S. financially, technically or geographically in its counter-missile system.

External Affairs Minister Martin said Oct. 11:

"We do not propose . . . to participate in an anti-ballistic missile program.

"And that will not be part of any NORAD arrangement, by the way."

Informants say the government plans to renew the NORAD agreement with the U.S.—it expires next May—but will make no change from the original 10-year arrangement undertaken in 1958.

Hees Speaks at New School Opening

CAMPBELLFORD — Hillcrest Public School in Campbellford was officially opened on Saturday evening when a capacity crowd of over 1,000 people were in attendance.

In January 1965 a Township School Area was formed consisting of 11 rural schools in the Township of Seymour, a five man board was elected to exercise the duties required in a Township School area.

In January 1966 the town of Campbellford and S. S. No. 8 were amalgamated with the Township School Area at which time a seven man board was elected to perform the necessary duties of the School Area. As well as Hillcrest School the board now known as Seymour - Campbellford Public School Board also includes Kent Street Public School which had a new addition added in 1966.

Program chairman was Mr. W. W. Machesney and platform guests were members of the board, the two principals, a representative of the M. J. Finn construction firm, Rev. I. M. Presley, municipal officials representing the town, township and united counties, area superintendent of schools, Mr. D. C. Ridley, B.A., of Brockville, Mr. C. W. Young, P.S.I., Russell Rowe M.P.P. and guest speaker of the evening Hon. George Hees M.P.

In his remarks Mr. Hees stressed the importance of education and educational facilities in the rapidly changing world. Graduates of ten years ago could not now answer examination questions or possibly not even understand the questions. Jobs which gave employment some years ago do not exist today giving rise to unemployment for the intrained even of secondary education.

He stated that university training should be made available to any student who desires it by the providing of university facilities and if necessary financial aid. Today in the U.S. 200,000 operators are necessary for the computers in use.

Mrs. Hees was presented with a shawl of red and white creations by three-year-old Lori Sue Machesney. Mr. A. L. Whitfield supervising principal expressed appreciation to the speaker.

Following the program lunch was served by members of Bemersyde Chapter IODE. Guests present toured the 18-room school which has in addition a library, general purpose room, health room, staff room, school board office and an administrative area. The attendance is 570 pupils.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For December 21

What you take for granted could create disturbance. Applies specifically to conditions at home. There are items which, if neglected could prove costly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Arguments connected with home, property lack substance. Means you and one close to you make mountain out of minor affair. Pride plays big part. Extend friendly feelers to relatives.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): Some may attempt to involve you in family disputes. Mistake pride, dignity, common sense. Otherwise, you become tangled in endless debate. Word to wise should be sufficient.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Combine practicality with emotion. Temptation is to throw good money after bad. Don't fool yourself. Some who advise do not have necessary information.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Some doubts about solidity of foundation are groundless. Express confidence. Others, especially older persons, are close observers. Think. They react to your reactions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Much of what occurs today is of the subtle, behind-scenes variety. Know this and play game accordingly. Keep cards close to chest. Don't tell all you know. Be discreet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Friends disagree over where to go, what to see. If dining out, map plans beforehand. Don't decide at last minute. This could lead to silly argument.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your sense of reality could be distorted. See people, situations as they exist. If you get down to basic issues now, pleasure and profit result in near future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): You have extra reserve powers which appears today. Some who had appeared to lose interest make exciting appearance. Be gracious, calm. Don't force or push.

CAPICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Information from friendly source could add to your financial security. Be alert, feel public pulse. Go with tide. Spread influence. Be versatile. Make social contacts.

Mayor Accepted $300 to Overlook Record, Policeman Testifies

MONTREAL (CP) — A suburban St. Michel police constable testified Tuesday that for a $300 payment the St. Michel mayor arranged to have a police record overlooked that could have cost the constable his police job.

He was giving evidence at the continuing preliminary hearing of Mayor Maurice Bergeron on charges of accepting bribes.

Robert Ducharme said he was hired by the St. Michel police department in February, 1960, and was threatened with dismissal a few days later.

The threat was made by his police superiors after it was found that he had a police record.

He went to see then-councillor Maurice Bergeron who had helped him to get the job and told him of his problem.

He quoted Mr. Bergeron as telling him:

"But that's no problem . . . if you have $300 to give me. We can get around that situation. . . . Besides, there are others who have got round such situations."

Constable Ducharme said he did not have the money but one of his brothers managed to borrow it for him.

"And I am still in the police . . ." he said.

Constable Ducharme said that when he was 17 or 18 he was in a car with some friends of his own age when they got a flat tire. They had no spare tire so they proceeded to "borrow" one from a nearby car.

Pneumonia Fatal To Washkansky

Before Pneumonia Struck

Louis Washkansky, heart transplant patient, is shown feeding himself before pneumonia struck and when it was hoped he would fully recover.

Team To Try Again

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard said today the death of the world's first heart transplant patient left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Dr. Barnard, who performed the heart transplant of Louis Washkansky Dec. 3, said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

"As soon as the occasion arises we will do the next heart transplant," Barnard told a news conference less than eight hours after Washkansky, 53, died in Groote Schuur Hospital.

Earlier Washkansky's anesthetist reported that the transplanted heart worked well until the very end and that the post-mortem indicated the patient died of a severe localized infection of the lungs—pneumonia.

Dr. Marthinus C. Botha, a pathologist, also said at this stage there is no clear evidence that rejection played a part in the outcome of the operation.

Drs. Barnard and Botha appeared at the news conference with cardiologist Professor Velfa Schrire, pathologist R. J. G. Thomson and cardiologist Dr. A. Forder.

Kidney Patient Is Doing Well

CAPE TOWN (CP-AP) — A 10-year-old boy who received a kidney transplant from traffic accident Denise Darvall was reported in satisfactory condition today in hospital.

His mother expressed sorrow at the death of Louis Washkansky, who received a heart transplant from Miss Darvall 18 days ago.

Jonathan Van Wyk received the kidney Dec. 3, the same day that the heart of 25-year-old Miss Darvall was transplanted into Washkansky.

One of the surgeons who performed the kidney transplant operation said the kidney in young Jonathan is functioning and his general condition is satisfactory.

Autopsy Shows Heart Okay

CAPE TOWN (CP) — A postmortem showed today that Louis Washkansky died of a severe localised infection of the lungs — pneumonia — and his transplanted heart worked well until the very end, his anesthetist reported today.

Washkansky, reprieved from fatal heart disease by the world's first human heart transplant 18 days ago, died earlier today after five days of fighting lung complications.

The anesthetist, Dr. J. Osinsky, said both Washkansky's lungs were affected by patches of pneumonia caused by an extremely virulent form of germ.

"The infection had spread below the chest "in a small way" but Washkansky was otherwise "as clean as a whistle," the doctor said.

Washkansky, except for periods of sleep, remained conscious most of Wednesday night and his pulse rate was strong until just before death, Dr. Osinsky said. The anesthetist said he spent the night at Washkansky's bedside giving him air manually through an air bag and by machine.

He said Washkansky was unable to talk because of the tubes in his mouth but was able to communicate until just before he died.

The surgical team headed by Dr. Christian N. Barnard is watched closely for two expected dangers—the body's tendency to reject foreign tissue and, because of drugs to fight that tendency, the stripping away of many of the body's natural defences against infection

After almost two weeks of steady progress, Washkansky developed lung complications last weekend and his condition slowly deteriorated. The doctors first suspected pneumonia, then thought perhaps the rejection of the new heart—not against the grafted heart but against Washkansky's own tissues.

Not knowing exactly what they were up against made the treatment more difficult, they said. Washkansky also was a diabetic, more susceptible to infection than a normal person.

When Washkansky's condition grew grave, his 41-year-old wife, Ann, was called to his bedside with their son, Michael, 15, about 2:30 a.m. They left after a short time, and Washkansky died three hours later.

Mrs. Washkansky returned after his death with her brother, Solly Sklar, and Washkansky's elder brother, Tevia. She wept and, Ann, people surged around her car outside the hospital entrance, cried out: "Oh, for God's sake! For God's sake!"

Funeral services were scheduled Friday at a cemetery outside Cape Town.

Black Yule Chosen

A proposed boycott of downtown merchants has grown into a campaign aimed at persuading Negroes to forego all traditions of the holiday.

"Black is beautiful" is the theme of the open housing marches, led by a white Roman Catholic priest, Rev. James E. Groppi, who says of the boycott:

"Our position is that we're holding our dollar bills. We're returning to the essential meaning of Christmas, without commercialism. It's a sacrifice for brotherhood."

Second Man Charged With Killing Kennedy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — District Attorney Jim Garrison has charged Edgar Eugene Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood, Calif., with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Bradley, on learning of the charge, said of Garrison: "This man is either being highly paid to do this or he's off his rocker."

He denied any part in the shooting of the late president, who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., said he was astounded and added:

"I'm sure that nobody that has any connection with our movement would have anything to do with something like this."

Thieu, LBJ Are Agreed

CANBERRA (CP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam met here tonight with President Johnson and publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

During the day, Johnson met with interim Prime Minister John McEwen of Australia, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand and President Chung Hee Park of South Korea.

The U.S. leader received assurances from McEwen that Australia's pro-American Vietnam policy will not change.

He had a dinner meeting with Thieu at the American embassy.

PM Did Not Urge U.S. to Halt War

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Wednesday a newspaper report which quoted him as urging the United States to call a halt to all fighting in Vietnam "is quite inaccurate."

In reply to a question by Opposition Leader Stanfield, Mr. Pearson told the Commons he "made no proposal urging anything on the United States" in a television broadcast taped earlier this week for use on New Year's Day.

Mr. Pearson spoke of possible avenues towards peace in Vietnam during the taping session and his office later released a partial transcript of the interview which quotes the prime minister as saying, when asked what steps the U.S. might take to resolve the war:

"Well, one thing they might do—and I haven't all the facts at my disposal that they have as to the efficacy of this kind of action—one thing they might do is just stop the fighting and say, now we'll talk to you in a couple weeks at Geneva, and if this fighting begins again it will be your fault.

"This would be a pretty drastic step for them to take."

Mr. Pearson said there apparently was a newspaper reporter inside the studio when the interview was being taped.

"He must have been in there with the knowledge and approval of somebody," the prime minister added. He said the interview was not for release until Jan. 1, and the use of the interview for a newspaper story was "extraordinary behavior on the part of those who may have been responsible."

In the interview transcript, Mr. Pearson said that on the Vietnam issue, Canada has taken "a more independent and I hope a more constructively independent position in this matter than any of the Atlantic countries."

Missiles Fired At Superforts

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners fired three surface-to-air missiles Wednesday night at a flight of U.S. B-52 bombers attacking the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam, but all three of the Soviet-built rockets missed, the U.S. command reported.

News Briefs

OTTAWA (CP) — Veterans Minister Teillet Wednesday announced a 15-per-cent increase in disability pensions for war veterans and their dependent parents. He said in the Commons the increase will be effective Jan. 1, 1968

* * *

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-judge Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that the U.S. state department cannot stop a U.S. citizen from going to Hanoi or Havana — provided he does not use his passport to get there

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Wednesday he can see no objection to opposition party observers sitting in on closed meetings of a federal-provincial constitutional conference in February.

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Shanker went to jail for 15 days Wednesday for leading last September's public school teachers' strike. Shanker, 39, president of the United Federation of Teachers, will spend the Christmas holidays serving a contempt-of-court sentence.

McCarthy Says LBJ Confused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Eugene J. McCarthy says President Johnson misunderstands opponents of the Vietnam war and compounded confusion over the issue in his television-radio interview this week.

The Minnesota Democrat, who says he'll run as an anti-war candidate in several 1968 presidential primaries, issued a statement Wednesday asking for 1 time from the three major networks carrying the presidential interview Tuesday night.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Very mild, wet weather persists across all but extreme Northwestern Ontario today. Rain and thunderstorms are moving across Southern Ontario with temperatures climbing near fifty degrees. An intense storm responsible for the strong southerly flow of warm air is located near Lake Superior this morning. Friday strong northwest winds will push much colder air across Ontario. In Southern Ontario Friday temperatures will drop to near the 30s.

Cold Air Is On Way

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto weather office issued a storm warning for Lake Superior today. An intense low pressure centre now passing northeastward west of Lake Superior will bring a strong surge of cold air southward across the lake beginning this afternoon. Northwesterly gales of 40 to 60 knots are expected to develop by late afternoon and continue tonight moderating slowly on Friday.

Toronto Bookmakers Operate Crime Bank

TORONTO (CP) — A crime bank—supported mainly by bookmakers—is being used to finance criminal activities and buy legitimate businesses in Toronto, says inspector William Pilkington, head of the Metropolitan Toronto police morality squad.

A bookmaker unable to meet a request for a large loan will arrange with other bookies to underwrite part of the loan. This loan pool serves as a "central bank," the inspector said in an interview.

Borrowing charges from the bank are at the loan shark rate of "six for five." A person borrowing $5,000 would have to pay back $6,000 a week later—a loan rate of more than 1,000 per cent a year.

Besides being used for crime, he said money is used to buy businesses and let criminal elements take over. Ready funds for loans are held in bank safety deposit boxes, not in bank accounts, and all transactions are in cash.

It's A Christmas Tree

This, believe it or not, is a Christmas tree. The tree is made with hanging strings of lights attached together at the top and spread out wider and wider by enlarging rings. The picture was made by shooting directly up from underneath the tree.

Jail Inmates to Fare Well

"A regular Christmas dinner with all the trimmings."

That is how prisoners at the Hastings county jail in Bellleville are going to fare at the dinner table on Christmas Day.

In fact, from the looks of the holiday menu, jail inmates could possibly fare as well if not better than some people on the "outside".

Prisoners will start the day off with a breakfast of orange juice, corn flakes, bacon and eggs, along with toast and butter, jam and coffee.

Then for Christmas dinner they will get fruit punch, turkey with dressing, gravy and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, turnips, and peas and with a choice of hot mince or apple pie, and hot rolls.

For the evening meal there will be cream of tomato soup, sliced ham, potato salad with vegetables and pickles, fruit cup and Christmas cake.

"We are the only jail in Ontario that serves butter— not margarine," states the jail governor, W. Theriault.

And Salvation Army Envoy Bram Humphreys assures that the spiritual and entertainment needs of the prisoners will not be forgotten.

The correctional services officer for Hastings and Prince Edward reports he has arranged for a feature movie film from 20th Century-Fox. The Corby Public Library is supplying other films and projector for the Christmas season.

Sally Ann sunshine bags and the Christmas War Cry will be distributed and special Christmas music and carols will be featured.

Heavy Passenger Demands On CN in Holiday Season

MONTREAL, Que.—Canadian National Railways are handling one of the heaviest passenger demands of record years during this holiday season.

Additional trans-continental and intercity trains as well as additional cars on all major runs have been assigned to bolster regular services.

The volume of travel is requiring commitment of the railways last reserves of passenger cars and Canadian National asks for its patrons forbearance, as it recognizes that some of this stand - by equipment does not measure up to CN's standards of comfort and convenience.

Since Dec. 15 the Super Continental is operating in two sections in both directions between Montreal, Toronto and Western Canada.

With the Panorama Service this provides three trains each way daily until Jan. 4.

Between Montreal and Toronto there will be two Lakeshore trains on Dec. 22, 26 and Jan. 2, and two Cavalier trains on Dec. 22, 29 and Jan. 1.

As to the Montreal-Halifax run, there will be two Scotian trains on Dec. 20 and two Oceans on Dec. 21, 22 and 23. Two extra trains on Dec. 22 and one extra on 21, 23, 27, 29 and Jan. 2 will operate between Montreal, Gaspe and Moncton.

Government Approves City Industrial Scheme

The Ontario Development Corporation has approved the city's application for inclusion in the Ontario government's equalization of industrial opportunity scheme, Mayor J. R. Ellis this morning announced receipt of the approval from the government body.

"It will mean a tremendous help, to industrial development in Belleville", he said.

Under the scheme announced last autumn by the Ontario government, grants will be considered for manufacturing companies establishing facilities in what was termed "slow growth" areas in Northern and Eastern Ontario.

The enthusiasm of Mayor Ellis on receipt of approval under the scheme was matched by Industrial Commissioner Ray Brown.

Mr. Brown said approval under the scheme was effective immediately and would continue until June 30, 1969.

At that time the city would be given the opportunity to re - submit an application for continued benefits under the industrial incentive scheme.

Trenton, Picton, and some of the smaller urban municipalities in Hastings county have also been approved under the scheme.

The objectives of the program are to provide equalization of opportunity for all municipalities in Ontario to attract new industry and to provide for an expansion of industry and employment in slow growth areas.

Grants will be considered to secondary industries establishing new facilities and for making approved additions to existing facilities.

The grants also apply to machinery if 75 per cent of the machinery installed is new.

The available grants range up to $1 1/3 per cent of the first $250,000 of the approved capital costs of the new buildings and equipment and 25 per cent of the balance.

The grants will initially be made available to qualifying companies in the form of interest-free loans for a period of five years. The program provides for loan forgiveness at the rate of one tenth of the loan each year for five years and at the end of the sixth year, provided the company has performed satisfactorily, the balance of the loan will be forgiven.

Marmora Man Badly Burned

MADOC—A man was rushed to Belleville General Hospital in a police cruiser from here late this morning after a can of gasoline exploded in his face.

Provincial Police said Alvin Herrington, aged about 30, of Marmora was pouring the gasoline into the carburetor of his car, apparently outside his home, when the container blew up.

He was rushed by friends to the office of Dr. C. Derry in this village who ordered him immediately transferred to Belleville for treatment of severe face and hand burns.

To save time awaiting an ambulance from Belleville or Marmora, police from the nearby OPP detachment here, placed the man in a cruiser.

Turbine Train

PRINCETON JUNCTION N.J. (AP) — A passenger train powered by gas turbine engines similar to those used in jet aircraft reached speeds of 170 miles an hour a it shot through the barren central New Jersey countryside Wednesday.

In Montreal, a spokesman for Canadian National Railways said the train is of the same basic design as five seven-car units which will come into operation bet wen Montreal and Toronto in the spring.

Gifts to worthy causes featured the Trenton scene yesterday. Retiring Legion president Bill Lawson was able to get Branch 110's Cenotaph fund raising drive underway in grand fashion while underprivileged families in Trenton and Belleville will have a more enjoyable Christmas due to contributions handed over to the Salvation Army by long distance walkers Clarke and Brennen.

Marathoners Present Cheques

TRENTON — Traditionally Christmas is a time for giving. This year the people of the Quinte area long known as generous donors to worthwhile projects seem to be digging deeper for charitable purposes especially in their contributions to causes where needy families are concerned.

A presentation here yesterday was a living expression of what can be accomplished for the betterment of the underprivileged in the two neighboring communities of Trenton and Belleville when there is an effort made in that direction.

In this case the credit goes to two employees of the Glen Miller papermill, George Clarke and Jim Brennan, who walked from Kingston to within five miles of Trenton for five cents a mile to raise money for distribution by the Salvation Army of both centres at Christmas.

All smiles yesterday and fully recovered from their arduous 55 - mile trek the marathon walkers handed cheques for $140 to Captains Joine Dwyer and R. Sloss of the Belleville and Trenton Salvation Army Corps adels respectively. It was the amount they had received in gifts from people who followed their undertaking and showed their support by collecting contributions. The team also turned in another $148.25 to the Trenton United Church and collected from individuals and individuals making good annual pledges along with commitments for the walkathon.

Captain Dwyer said the cheque from the long distance walkers meant that an additional 135 to 140 Belleville families would receive Christmas hampers crammed full of assorted foods.

Last night Christmas greerosity was the keynote of a presentation at the Trenton Legion. And out-going presidents of Branch 110 and its Ladies' Auxiliary have reason to be happier than ever following the cheques handing over ceremony.

Retiring president Bill Lawson received $1,000 to the branch's Cenotaph fund from Auxiliary president, Mrs. Mary Levevre. The whopping big contribution kicked off the drive by the branch for an impressive memorial to commemorate all local service people who gave their lives in all wars involving Canadians.

Simultaneously president Levere made the branch a present of a cheque of $1,500 for the bond redemption fund. The Auxiliary this year has made donations to the branch amounting to $8,000 which brings to some $50,000 the branch's women's organization has provided the branch during its 18 years existence.

Retiring president Lawson's new role with the branch is to co-ordinate the cenotaph fund raising activities.

Obituaries

Empty Streets?-It's 30 Below

Resolute Bay, home base for last week's RCAF Christmas arctic re-supply flight from Edmonton, lies some 900 miles south of the North Pole. Temperatures hovered around the minus-30 degree mark — about ten degrees lower than normal for this time of year.

900 Miles From North Pole

Resolute Bay--A Town Without Women...Or Trees...Or Sunshine

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T.—"There's a woman behind every tree" is a favorite jibe for newcomers from the 80 men who work at this joint U.S.-Canada weather outpost.

The joke being, of course, that no trees, or for that matter anything else, can grow in the permafrost beneath this arctic desert, 900 miles from the North Pole.

Resolute Bay exists as a Department of Transport installation, with a dozen men employed as fulltime meteorologists.

The remainder of the base population is employed by a firm that contracts to provide the manpower required to maintain the station.

Resolute's a good place for watching.

You see things like a routine bulletin board notice confirming a case of rabies near the Eskimo village five miles away.

Or a pocket-size telephone directory containing every listing in the several-hundred square miles of the eastern sector of the Canadian north.

Or a card of sun-glasses for sale moved to the back of a store.

When you notice a few more things like these, you begin to realize where you are.

For one thing, you're in country where the weather is more than just a passing remark: the average daily temperature in January hovers around minus-35 degrees, while during the year, temperatures can vary from 60 above to 60 below zero. There is an annual snowfall of only 18 inches, but winds gusting up to 80 miles an hour could bury the community's buildings in days.

Huge snow-blowers, plows and half-track passenger vehicles are the Department of Transport's means of keeping the station activity flowing.

Sunshine at this time of year is just a memory. In July and August, darkness is just a memory.

You're also in country where an Eskimo can be paid $2 an hour as a mechanic and told he can't buy another bottle of beer.

A country that looks tailor-made for ruggedness, and where you see pool tables, a curling rink, and tropical fish.

"For the money, why else," is invariably the answer to the question, "Why do you stay in Resolute?"

Granted, there are the benefits of lucrative isolation pay, and the built - in savings account of not having too many places to spend your money.

But there appears to be a general reluctance to admit a liking for the northland, even from men who have spent their adult lives here..

Resolute conditions make for a comfortable existence.

Meals and relaxation facilities are probably superior to those in any similar employment situation "down south", as the locals here refer to the rest of Canada.

Steaks, lobster salads, and fresh - cooked trout are regular menu selections.

In short, everything is pat in the smallest detail - , and maybe that's the difference between Resolute and a thousand other tiny communities across the country.

Intell Staffer Visits Northland With RCAF on Supply Mission

After a 13,000-mile round trip from Trenton to the Canadian arctic and back, staff reporter Maurice Switzer gives his impressions of the northland and its people.

Today's installment outlines the Air Transport Command role in carrying out an annual Christmas supply flight into the region to isolated weather stations.

Tomorrow, pictures and stories describe the life and lot of the first Canadians — the Eskimo.

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

EDMONTON — The RCAF "Santa Claus Circuit" is over for another year, and already the men at 435 Squadron here are reminiscing about their outfit's tenth yuletide air jaunt into Canada's north.

Each year, at the request of the federal Transport and Defence departments, a gigantic Hercules aircraft from Canadian Forces Base Namao here sets off on the 8,000-mile arctic re-supply mission — a project that must rank as one of Santa's most ambitious.

The 15-man crew aboard Flight 7148 that left for the northland last Friday were responsible for the delivery of 14,000 pounds of Christmas deliveries — everything from tropical fish to a tricycle; and from canned goods to Christmas cards.

Before completion of a three-day itinerary, the Air Transport Command aircraft would soar over the barren arctic to within 600 miles of the North Pole, parachopping or delivering its cargo to a dozen or so outposts dotting the landscape.

From Resolute's snow-packed, 5,000-foot runway, the Hercules launched the two main flights of the Santa-drop: a paradrop circuit around Baffin Island, and a three-landing hop to a trio of isolated weather outposts.

As usual, the paradrop run, with F/L Lyle Flanders acting as aircraft captain, went pretty much as planned. Despite northern winds that can gust up to 80 miles an hour, the drops (from 300 feet) usually are within 100 feet of the target area.

This year's lone exception to the clockwork efficiency came at Resolution Island, at the southern tip of Baffin Island, where heavy fog cancelled delivery of some 700 pounds of goods.

The freight had to be left at neighboring Frobisher Bay for commercial delivery which, instead of being free, now would cost the recipients upwards of 50 cents a pound.

Namao arctic supply flight crews are fiercely proud of their delivery percentage, realizing how much their success is anticipated at ground level.

Visibility in a solid screen of ice - crystal fog appeared to leave remote, if any chance of landing, particularly at Mould Bay.

There, pilot F/L Ralph McArthur and navigator F/O Ron Meinwald tried four approaches before edging the husky Hercules down, after once descending to within 200 feet of the runway before aborting the landing attempt.

Careening on instruments down a foggy, spindly northern fiord is an experience an flying enthusiast should miss.

It was all worthwhile for the airmen to hear the appreciation of the nine men who inhabit Eureka, and who don't expect further visitors until April.

A special return trip to Isachsen the following day saw the delivery of a U.S. Army jeep from Resolute, which could not be hacked into the first aircrat load.

Monday was also the day for a visit to the lavish U.S. Force installation at Thule, Greenland, where free taxi service operates anywhere on the base, and bar drinks come at 10 cents in the officers' mess.

Thule (pronounced too-lee) is regarded by servicemen, and civilians alike, as the Las Vegas of the north, and visits are keenly sought.

Then back to the more austere environment of Resolute for a brief stopover before the 1550 mile "flip" back to Edmonton.

Evergreens, this year some 20 of them, are left behind to bring the spirit of Christmas to the land where no tree dares grow.

Food and Population

Not many years have elapsed since nuclear bomb tests and the resulting radiation were the twin problems uppermost in people's minds.

Now the bomb tests have virtually ceased and people worry about pollution — in the air and in water — and the population explosion.

Governments and scientists are concerned about both and are attempting to find remedies. But just how serious are these problems? The measures being taken to combat pollution caused by marine and industrial waste seem to be of a purely stop-gap nature and cannot be regarded as one hundred per cent effective.

In the case of population increases and food requirements a disturbing view has been advanced by an American biologist.

Paul Ehrlich of Stanford University says mankind has lost the battle to feed itself and hundreds of millions of people will starve to death sometime between 1970 and 1985.

Writing in the British weekly magazine New Scientist, Mr. Ehrlich says plans to tap marine food, synthesize food from petroleum and use desalination plants to make deserts fertile are impracticable in the short run and will not save mankind from the coming crisis. He even suggests an attempt to greatly increase world production could lead in the long run to ecological instability, and loss of soil and pesticide poisoning which might result in more misery and death than a famine.

There is a ring of authority in the U.S. biologist's words. Others have been sounding similar warnings, but none has been as blunt as this. Mr. Ehrlich terms this swiftly-escalating problem and its anticipated grave consequences a catastrophe.

Currently the wealthy nations of the West are shipping supplies to the underdeveloped countries. But how long, one wonders, can Canada, the United States and Australia continue to send wheat to India, China and Asia at large when the need is so great that an incalculable number of people are going to die anyway? As the population in these teeming countries continues to rise what then? What if Canada and the other major wheat producers should have a series of bad crop years? Does charity not begin at home?

That is the measure of the problem as seen by Mr. Ehrlich. What should be done? The biologist suggests the United States stop shipping food to such countries as India — "where dispassionate analysis indicates that the imbalance between food and population is hopeless" — and reserve its aid for those whom it might save.

If the picture is as bad as Mr. Ehrlich paints then this is indeed a grave situation. The way he presents it, the immediate future, beginning only a few years from now, is going to whereas a fateful diminution in the food resources of the world as measured against population trends.

Hospital Extension

Belleville General Hospital's new extension is progressing satisfactorily, according to latest reports.

The scheduled completion date next April is expected to be met, although the actual move into the new block will not be until June.

It has been a big undertaking and it is good to see the project so far advanced. The additional space and modern equipment the new building will provide are badly needed.

Now staff will be required of course and this in itself augurs well for the community. Loyalist College is another new establishment and Belleville cannot help but benefit from the infusion of new citizens who will be serving the two.

As the city grows so will the needs of its population be met more adequately by its up-to-date hospital and educational facilities.

She's A Sleuth

The ranks of detectives often are filled by men with a number of years experience as policemen on the beat and in squad cars. Some show more aptitude for it than others and consequently move quickly into this sphere of police work.

Some go into private detective work and this presumably is the goal of an attractive young Trenton woman whose picture appeared in an area newspaper recently.

Nancy J. Baille has been appointed for the second year with the Associated Special Investigators. Recently she was accepted by the American Detective Association.

Miss Bailie, who could pass as a model, has chosen an unusual field of activity for a young woman. It is obvious, though, that this is a vocation she likes, otherwise she would not be in it.

Revenue Minister's Economies "Mini" Beside PC Critic's

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA — Federal cabinet ministers say they are cutting expenditures until it hurts but the chairman of a key Commons committee doesn't believe it for a moment.

Alfred Hales, Conservative member for Wellington South who has been chairman of the Public Accounts committee, says the cabinet is missing many opportunities for savings.

Mr. Hales speaks with considerable authority because his committee for years back has been recommending economies that the government has sometimes ignored.

You could expect Mr. Hales to attack the government because he is a Tory but his approach as chairman of the Public Accounts committee has been comparatively non-partisan.

This committee, set up with an opposition member as chairman, had been expected to do great things as a watchdog over federal spending. But its efforts can be hindered by an inattentive government.

One recent evening in the Commons, Revenue Minister Edgar Benson headlines with his outline of cabinet cutbacks that could produce reduced federal spending by over $1,000,000,000 in 1968-1969.

Mr. Hales spoke earlier on the same day and inevitably his comments were generally overshadowed by the speech of Mr. Benson about reductions in the civil service, the army and the postponement of many public works.

But the committee chairman had some hard facts to demonstrate that the government could make economies of a substantial nature if it would stir its stumps.

Mr. Hales pointed out for example that travelling expenses of government departments for 1967-1968 had increased by $18,000,000 over the previous fiscal year.

External Affairs travelling costs went up by $833,000; Department of Transport by $965,000; Health and Welfare by $830,000 and National Defence by $9,439,000, to mention some.

Mr. Hales calculated that if you averaged out total travelling cost, something like $400 was being spent by each civil servant.

"Why are these civil servants flitting around — is there no control at all?" he asked.

Revenue Minister Benson may have got a tip from Mr. Hales because later that very day he announced a 10 percent cut in government travelling expenses.

But the Public Accounts chairman also expressed concern about the build-up of new departments by Ottawa. He spoke of the Industry Department set up in 1963-1964 with 274 people.

Estimates for the current fiscal year showed 783 people were now required for the department.

Defence Production had 1,699 persons in 1963-1964. This year the estimate had risen to 3,084.

Mr. Hales said very plainly, that in his view these kind of personnel increases were "wasteful and extravagant."

A few hours later Mr. Benson declared that a growth ceiling of 5,000 was being imposed on the entire civil service.

But Mr. Hales would go a lot further than that; he wants to see a halt to "proliferation of the public service."

The Ontario Conservative member ranged far and wide over financial shortcomings of the government. He recalled, a $100,000,000 loss incurred by the government on surplus of obsolete National Defence materiel.

He noted a $12,000,000 cost to refit the aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

He pointed to the great Crown corporations like Air Canada, the CBC, Wheat Board, CNR and others whose books are not audited by the federal Auditor-General.

Mr. Hales referred to money wasted on advance election polls which were hardly used. He drew attention to dormant savings accounts in the Post Office Department drawing interest of $67,000.

Opinions rendered by Trade and Commerce were costing the taxpayer $730,000 because fees were inadequate.

Mr. Hales was still going strong in the Commons when his time ran out. He still had lots of ideas as to how the tax money of Canadians could be saved.

Revenue Minister Benson did order economies in some of the areas dealt with by Mr. Hales.

But there is obviously plenty of ground for discussion of new cutbacks by these two able members of Parliament.

You wonder if a Liberal cabinet minister and a Conservative committee chairman could not get together to see what further savings could be effected.

Many phonographs will be given as presents this Christmas.

The coal situation in this city, while not acute, is causing some apprehension. All dealers are practically out of chestnut coal, but there is still sufficient stove coal size to last some time. Ald. Whalen informs us that 2,000 tons of mine coal will be received here shortly by one city dealer. The city crusher will be used to reduce the coal to the proper size for domestic use. If this shipment arrives promptly it will help greatly to relieve the scarcity.

Today in History

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 21, 1967

The Pilgrim Fathers' ship the Mayflower anchored before what now is Plymouth, Mass., 347 years ago today —in 1620. Some authorities insist it was on this day the Puritans first set foot on American soil and not on Cape Cod on Nov. 11. There were 102 persons aboard the Mayflower. They came to North America in search of freedom of worship. They had sailed from Plymouth, England Sept. 6.

1846 — Anesthetics were first used in surgery in Europe.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917 — British forces in Palestine advanced up the Damascus railway and along the Jerusalem-Jericho road; a German raid northeast of Messines was repulsed by French troops.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—Axis troops retreated in Libya and the Middle Don sector of the Eastern Front; Australian fighter pilots destroyed seven parked aircraft on an Axis landing ground at Hun, 150 miles inland from the Gulf of Sirte; RAF fighters made low-level cannon and machine-gun attacks on Japanese objectives in the Akyab area of Burma.

A New Translation of the Bible

Peterborough Examiner

The Bible is the world's best-selling book. This despite the generally archaic form of expression found in the King James version and even the more recent modernizations of the New Testament which was published a few years ago. Despite the huge sales of The Bible there must be some doubt that it is being widely read since there is little point in reading something which one does not understand or has considerable difficulty understanding. It is, therefore, particularly pleasing to read the translation of the New Testament of The Bible which has been prepared by the American Bible Society.

The Preface best sums up its aim: 'This translation . . . has been prepared . . . for people who speak English as their mother tongue or as an acquired language. As a distinctly new translation, it does not conform to traditional vocabulary or style, but seeks to express the meaning of the Greek text in words and forms accepted as standard by people everywhere who employ English as a means of communication . . .' To this end Good News for Modern Man: The New Testament in Today's English Version, is ordinately successful. The line drawings by Miss Annie Vallotton illustrate the text admirably and suit the paperback publication.

Today's English Version will serve as an excellent supplement to the King James version which, despite its archaism, will still hold its place because of the outstanding lyricism and style with which it is written. The new version will be particularly useful in these in missionary work amongst the Africans, Indians and other peoples whom they are converting to Christianity. It will be easier to impart Christ teaching by direct reference to a work which there will be a better possibility of understanding compared with the older versions. It will also permit those who are thoroughly familiar with English language an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with the overriding influence in Western Culture: Christianity.

LBJ's Tribute to Harold Holt

Australian Ties with U.S. Will Continue Under McEwen

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The presumed death by drowning of Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia has particular impact on the United States.

Australia, by its direct involvement in the Vietnam war, has acquired a special status in the U.S. The Liaison was begun under former prime minister Sir Robert Menzies and continued by Holt, who swore to go "all the way with LBJ" and made it stick at home.

It is doubtful whether any other foreign leader has had as close a personal relationship with President Johnson, who prizes loyalty above most characteristics and notably when it comes to standing pat on Vietnam. In the language of the Texas frontier Indian campaigns, which Johnson uses to describe his liking for a man, Holt was a "good man to go to the wall with."

Or, as Johnson put it Monday in an elaborate tribute, "He and the people for whom he spoke were always dependable and unshakable."

Johnson leaves Washington today to attend memorial services in Australia Friday.

Holt's views as expressed on his last visit here, last year, were that "but for the speed and resolution of the U.S., no country in Asia could feel itself secure from the threat of Communist aggression."

"We might fairly ask the critics: Do they want a world in which a Communist-dominated Asia forms a major part . . . a critical battle is being fought in Vietnam for the future of mankind."

Australia is in the process of increasing its Vietnam contribution to more than 8,000 troops.

This is part of the Australian reaction to Britain's steady withdrawal from its military commitments east of Suez. Soon only such sites such as Hong Kong will be left.

As a predominently white Anglo-Saxon outpost in an Asian sea, Australia is at the end of the line, and has turned quickly to the U.S.

At the same time, while its involvement in Vietnam grows in the name of containing communism, it has maintained and encouraged trade with China, particularly in wheat.

Observers see no policy changes ahead for Australia. The new interim prime minister, John McEwen, is a practitioner of that bluntness of speech which many regard as the outstanding characteristic of the people from Down Under.

Australian backing on Vietnam seems assured because of a handy victory on that issue in 1966. American investment in Australia continues to grow. The Australian military has been acquiring more American weapons, including a guided aircraft.

Holt's successor, it is assumed, will continue on a course closely geared with Washington.

Regular Checks Needed

Hamilton Spectator

Terrible tragedies such as the collapse of the bridge near Point Pleasant, W. Va., over the weekend, usually send responsible authorities into a temporary panic. They rush around and check and see if bridges, or whatever, in their jurisdiction are sturdy and safe.

Actually, of course, they should be regular inspection of all public conveyances and passageways. Not only elevators, for example, should be inspected as a matter of routine, but roads, bridges, tracks, landing fields, docks, escalators, foot trails, and, yes, even sidewalks. It's shocking what an inspection often turns up.

Guard Those Xmas Trees

Windsor Star

The annual admonitions about care of a Christmas tree in the home are being given and will be, are as worthy of attention now as they always have been.

Many people, and certainly most children, never have had first-hand knowledge of the ferocity with which a dry evergreen can burn when a match is applied to it, or it is ignited in some other way. Insufficiently insulated wires can be a contributing factor.

Where land clearance still is being carried out, and slashings from spruce or other evergreens are allowed to dry, the swift and destructive force of such fires quickly becomes evident. They change into a mass of roaring flames in seconds.

Where fires of themselves do not kill, suffocation by smoke can lead to tragedy. To have an inquest jury find that "death was caused by smoke inhalation" is no comfort for those who manage to survive.

A Christmas tree in the home can be a beautiful and satisfying decoration. By its nature it is not a safe toy for the young or the handicapped.

Foreign Investment in Canadian Industry Down 20 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — Foreign direct investment in Canadian industry to-talled $395,000,000 in the first nine months of this year, about 20 per cent below the comparable figure for the measured established in 1966.

Reporting the new figure Wednesday, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said net capital inflow into Canada for direct investment in foreign controlled enterprises fell to $130,000,000 in July, August and September, from $140,000,000 in April, May, and June. In the first quarter of the year it was $135,000,000.

About 80 per cent of the third-quarter inflow came from the United States, and most of the remainder came from overseas countries other than the United Kingdom.

About 80 per cent of the capital investment also went into new foreign-controlled ventures rather than the purchase of existing plants. Earlier in the year, the figures reflected the repatriation of Canadian ownership of John Labatt, Ltd., the U.S. purchase of which in 1964 for $30,000,000 was scorched by an anti-trust ruling.

DBS reported last summer that at the end of 1964, total foreign ownership of investments in Canada totalled $37,354,000,000 in book value, of which $21,643,000,000 was owned by U.S. residents. At the end of the Second World War these figures were $7,002,000,000 and $4,305,000,000.

The figures include foreign ownership of government and municipal bonds, other Canadian portfolio investments, foreign holdings of Canadian investment funds, and other miscellaneous investments.

Since 1964, such foreign investments in long-term forms in Canada have risen by another $2,788,000,000. Of this $1,-040,000,000 was in direct investment in Canadian industrial plant and equipment.

The figures were reported by DBS in its quarterly review of the Canadian balance of international payments. To the end of September, Canada had a $18,000,000 surplus in commodity trade and a $1,400,000,000 deficit in non-merchandise transactions.

This deficit would have been far greater but for an unprecedented inflow of tourist funds, sparked by Expo 67 and other centenial events. It left the current account deficit for nine months at $377,000,000, compared with $720,000,000 at the same stage last year.

The year-end current account deficit for 1966 was $1,-137,000,000, the highest in the 1960s, and compared with $1,-130,000,000 in 1965.

Manager Claims Charges Unfounded

TRENTON — An official of Fabricon, Ltd., — a wire-processing firm which opened local operations in September — says union charges of company discrimination against five employees are unfounded.

Siegfried Riemer, Fabricon general manager, said from Cobourg this morning he had received a charge by the United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers of America that the five workers were fired after attempting to organize a union local in the plant.

"In my opinion these charges are unfounded and incorrect," he said.

"The matter has been turned over into the hands of the Department of Labor."

Fabricon, a subsidiary of General Wire and Cable of Cobourg, began production of copper wire in September in the former Downs-Coulter testiled plant. The firm now employs about 60 workers.

When asked to explain why the workers involved were fired, Mr. Riemer said "I don't think this would serve any purpose at this time."

Ross Russell, the U.E.W.'s national organizer in Toronto and president of the committee of the five workers would be aired at an Ontario Labor Board hearing at a date yet to be set.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and western oils showed scattered strength as base metals and golds took fractional losses in light mid-morning trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Banks traded heavily, but brokers were unable to give a reason for the activity. Royal Bank lost ¼ to 153¼, trading 2,400 shares by 11 a.m. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce traded 3,200 shares and rallied to 14 while Bank of Montreal traded 2,500 shares gaining ¼ to 71.

In other industrials Inco rose 1¼ to 129, Versatile A and Oshawa A climbed ¼ each to 22¼, Massey-Ferguson gained ¼ to 15¾.

In western oils Scurry-Rainbow advanced 1¾ to 34¾ and Banff ¼ to 16¾. Ranger gained 10 cents to 4.30.

Denison lost ⅛ to 79¼ in base metals. Roman Corp. dropped ¼ to 26¾.

On index industrials gained .17 to 162.69 and western oils .33 to 221.35. Golds lost .39 to 192.39 and base metals .12 to 203.47.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 319,000 compared with 320,000 traded at the same time Wednesday.

Western oils recovered losses taken earlier in the day on Wednesday.

In other industrials Inco rose 1¼ to 129, Versatile A and Oshawa A climbed ¼ each to 22¼, Massey-Ferguson gained ¼ to 15¾.

In western oils Scurry-Rainbow advanced 1¾ to 34¾ and Banff ¼ to 16¾. Ranger gained 10 cents to 4.30.

Denison lost ⅛ to 79¼ in base metals. Roman Corp. dropped ¼ to 26¾.

On index industrials gained .17 to 162.69 and western oils .33 to 221.35. Golds lost .39 to 192.39 and base metals .12 to 203.47.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 319,000 compared with 320,000 traded at the same time Wednesday.

Western oils recovered losses taken earlier in the day on Wednesday.

Dome Petroleum jumped 6 to 59, for the largest gain of the day of the 422 issues traded. Other oil issues set losses but wound up with fractional declines. Central-Del Rio fell ¼ to 21¾ and Canadian Superior ¼ to 47½. Scurry-Rainbow dropped 1¼ to 32¾.

Golds, off 3.55 points to 192.39 on index, were led by Dome Mines, off 1¾ to 57, Giant Yellowknife fell 25 cents to 9.20, Campbell Red Lake dropped ¼ to 26.

In industrials, Maclean-Hunter rose 3 to 65. Losses throughout the list were mostly fractional. Bank of Nova Scotia fell ¼ to 54 and Bank of Montreal ¼ to 70¾.

Significant Finds

Resource Development Booming

EDMONTON (CP) — Development of mineral resources in the Yukon and Northwest Territories boomed in 1967, and promises to boom even more in 1968, says a year-end report of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines.

In 1967 there were significant finds of silver and gold, with development in lead/zinc, copper, asbestos and silver.

Of the Yukon, the report says the "potential mineral wealth . . . promises to make it one of the most active mining areas in Canada in 1968."

In the Northwest Territories, International Utilities plans an accelerated development program for the Echo Bay mine it purchased in 1967 in the Port Radium area. The company says a rich vein of silver was tapped in 1967 and pitchblende has also been encountered.

Coppermine River Ltd. plans to spend $725,000 on an early 1968 drilling program on the Coppermine River property, the money to come from five companies including PCE Explorations.

PCE is involved in three other ventures in the area, and in 1968 plans include acquiring and exploring more than 1,800 acres in the area.

Still farther north, in the Bathurst Inlet-Coronation Gulf area, several companies are working on gold showings, while Tenneco Holdings, an Edmonton based company, is testing what it calls high-grade lead showings.

Roberts Mining, a United States firm, is continuing exploration of a gold-silver find. Current Exploration is staking in the area, and Shield Resources is bulk sampling on its Clan Lake claim, and has shipped 1,200 tons of ore out to be milled.

In the Yukon, New Imperial Mines near Whitehorse opened a mine in June with a daily production of 2,500 tons. It says the vein shows 6,000,000 tons of copper ore accessible to open pit mining, with another 500,000 tons available to underground mining.

Cassiar Asbestos also has a mine in operation, from which it is already shipping asbestos fibre.

Kerr-Addison's lead-zinc deposits in the Vangorda Creek area hold about 9,000,000 tons of ore, and the company is drilling on a second zone at Swim Lake. The total potential of the area has been estimated at more than 75,000,000 tons of lead-zinc ore.

Anvil Mining is in the same area developing the Dynasty Cyprus property, and has staked more than 2,400 claims with what it says has a possible potential of 50,000,000 tons of lead-zinc-silver. Work on a production appears feasible.

Mount Nansen Mines is constructing an access road to its silver-gold property, 40 miles west of Carmacks, and underground

Gross National Product Jumps One-half Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — The gross national product rose half a per cent in the third quarter to an annual rate of $61,900,000,000, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The increase was misleading, however, because prices during the quarter rose almost one per cent. In real terms, Canada's output of goods and services declined from the second quarter.

DBS said "weakening forces of expansion" gave way to a pause during July, August and September.

Looking ahead to the probable GNP for the whole year, DBS forecast an increase of 6.4 to 6.6 per cent.

This would be somewhat less than Finance Minister Sharp's projection of about seven per cent, made in his Nov. 30 budget speech.

The annual GNP rate, seasonally adjusted, stood at $61,-600,000,000 in the second quarter and $60,300,000,000 in the first quarter. The rate of increase in prices was less than in either previous quarter of 1967 and centred on food.

The cost of food was 2.5 per cent higher on a seasonally adjusted basis, due mainly to increases in beef, dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables.

Clothing was up 1.3 per cent and cosmetics 1.7 per cent. Household appliances, radios and television sets rose by 1.8 per cent.

Services continued to experience substantial price increases and the tabs for education, medical care and rents all went up more than one per cent.

Centennial Medal For Retiring Chief of Mohawks

Retiring Quinte Mohawk chief John R. Brant has been awarded the Canada Centennial medal.

Chief Brant, who is resigning from office after ten years, received the medal from Ottawa this week.

The chief climaxed Centennial activities among Mohawks on the Tyendinaga reserve by leading a delegation to Kingston in mid-summer and presenting Queen Elizabeth with a buckskin scroll of loyalty.

Tweed Man Seriously Hurt In Accident

A 47-year-old man was still undergoing emergency treatment late this morning — four hours after his car crashed on Highway 37, about six miles north of Belleville.

Claude Masters, Victoria Sweet, Tweed, suffered skull and severe face injuries when his car skidded out of control on the frost-covered highway at the sixth concession of Thurlow township.

He was rushed to Belleville General Hospital for treatment.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1,000.

It was the first of two major mishaps before the frost thawed on Quinte highways.

At Foxboro, 65-year-old Albert Harris, of 13 Carl Street, Belleville, escaped injury when his car swerved out of control and rolled over as he turned off Highway 14.

Damage to his 1965 automobile was estimated at $500.

Employees Hold Dance

Seven at - Warcor employees' annual Christmas dinner and dance was held recently at Club Canara, with 275 persons in attendance. Special guests of the affair were retired personnel of Seven-Warner. Welcome was extended to all present by Mr. S. D. Hagerman, president and general manager, and Mr. G. T. Hammett, chairman of the canteen committee.

After a sumptuous turkey dinner, cards and dancing were enjoyed with music supplied by Jim Cathcart's orchestra. Mr. Phil Flagler was master of ceremonies. During the course of the evening, prizes were won by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Symons, Mrs. Gerald Aitken, Mrs. John Rooney, Mr. T. H. Colden, Mr. H. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. James Sopka, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Chambers and Mrs. William Adey, Mrs. Doris Aitken, Mr. Lorne Goodman, Mr. James Klazek, Mr. John Warner.

Albert Horlock Installed as Assoc. Head

The new president of the Quinte Homebuilders' Association, Albert Horlock, was installed at the association's meeting on Tuesday night.

Membership chairman Donald Archer announced four new members to the association: Gerald Joyce Realty Ltd. represented by Phillip Bennett, Joseph Balyea and L. G. Baird. Master and Purchase Plumbing Ltd. former firm also joined the organization.

Music Pupils Present Yule Concert

The Harmony Studio Club held its annual Christmas meeting on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Emily Veley, R. M. T.

Mrs. Veley opened the meeting and extended a welcome to students, parents and guests. She also extended the club's congratulations to Linda Noakes and Sheryle Crebney for having won the Quinte District O. R. M. T. A. piano awards for Grades VII and VIII respectively.

Following the business part of the evening Mrs. Veley called on Sheryle Crebney, one of her senior students to act as mistress of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment.

The forepart of the program consisted of grade work with the following pupils featured at the piano: Penny May, Joel Oliver, Beverly Lewis, Heather Haines, Ann Keskula and Susan Sweet.

Mrs. Veley played a music appreciation record, which was well received by all.

The latter part of the program was devoted to music of the season. Piano solos of Christmas carols were given by Lori May, Margaret Lewington and Mary Tsiolkas.

Piano duets were given by: Ann and Helen Keskula, Susan and Ann MacGregor and Beverly and Carolyn Lewis, Joel Oliver, Debora Grass and Sheryle Crebney each accompanied by Mrs. Veley in separate duets.

Christmas parcels were exchanged and a social hour enjoyed amid the lovely setting of Christmas decorations, including a cake in the shape of a grand piano, a gift to Mrs. Veley.

Refreshments were served by three of the senior students.

Christmas Concerts

FRANKFORD FULL GOSPEL TABERNACLE

Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle held its annual Christmas program with superintendent Paul Spurrell in charge.

The program consisted of recitations by Mark Helm, John Hughes and John Dunlop; a rhythm band selection by the nursery and beginner classes, a selection by Pamela Spurrell, Colleen Dunlop and Shirley Chapman; an exercise presented by the primary department; piano solos by Paula Spurrell and Lori Beth Rogers; the Christmas story presented in costume by the junior department and narrated by Maureen Lawson; a centennial fashion show by Mrs. Lennie Reilly's girls' class; a skit by the intermediate girls; the Christmas story in verse and song presented by Glen Post's class of boys; a play enacted by the young peoples' department.

Keith Helm presented Rev. James Dunlop, Mrs. Dunlop, Ann, John, David and Colleen, with gifts on behalf of the congregation. Gifts were also given to the church treasurer, Sunday School secretary and treasurer, organist and pianist.

Gifts were exchanged from the Christmas tree and candy distributed.

The annual Sunday School program was held Sunday morning with Bob Campbell as chairman.

Recitations were given by Michelle McCumber, Allen MacDonald, the nursery class and Stephen Campbell; Ron Twiddy played a piano solo, and skits, choral numbers, and a flannel board presentation were given by the Sunday School classes and adult choir.

Merle Moore presented Rev. J. R. Walsh with a gift.

ST. PAUL'S S.S.

ROSLIN — On Sunday evening, St. Paul's Anglican Church Sunday School held its Christmas concert in the church hall which was suitably decorated for the occasion.

Rev. Virgil Earle was chairman for the evening's entertainment which opened with a duet by Rhonda Geen and Bonnie Sills followed by a choral number by the senior class.

"Christmas Around the World" was depicted by the various classes. Each class represented a different country and showed how they celebrated Christmas. Barbara Johnston was the narrator. Poland was depicted by Betty Osborne's class; England by Barbara Johnston's class; Mexico by Shirley Preston's class; China by Thelma Goodfellow's class and concluded with Czechoslovakia by Brenda Vardy's class.

Carol Sills read the Christmas story and the Scripture reading was given by Ted Wilson, "Road to Bethlehem" was portrayed in picture and story by Marjorie Gray and Thelma Goodfellow. Enid Slingerland favored with a solo.

At the close candy was distributed to all.

Exemplifying the real meaning of Christmas the children brought gifts to be given to someone less fortunate instead of exchanging among themselves.

Marmora IODE Celebrates Anniversary

MARMORA — Marmora Chapter IODE celebrated its 25th anniversary in December with a dinner at Havelock Hotel.

The first vice-regent, Mrs. Eugene Brady presented anniversary pins to charter members Mrs. Donald Marett, Mrs. Charles Brady, Mrs. A. M. Jones, Mrs. Lillian Regan, Mrs. J. R. Reynolds and Miss Miriam Savage.

The head table guests were presented with corsages by Regent Mrs. Keith Stetson. A three-tier anniversary cake was served with dinner. Letters of congratulation were read from the first Regent, Mrs. Wally Hilton, London and from other original members.

New members, Mrs. Richard Kolubiki and Mrs. Gary Wilson were introduced.

Saucier – Bruynson

Rev. James Soutter officiated at the wedding ceremony in Consecon Anglican Church on Saturday, December 9, 1967 at 3 p.m., when Sharon Leah Bruynson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruynson became the bride of John William Saucier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Saucier of Consecon. Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. J. Yarmola, Carrying Place, R.R. 2, who also accompanied the soloist Mrs. June Reed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an orbridal gown featuring an Alençanza and lace floor-length con lace bodice and sleeves, with full skirt over hoop and bordered with matching scalloped lace. A bouffant veil was caught to a floral headdress with pearl studded satin leaves.

Miss Mary Jane Saucier, sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor and the bride's maids were Miss Carol Pomeroy, Miss Carol McMurter, Miss Lillian Parks and Mrs. Bill Bedford, sister of the bridegroom. All were red velvet gowns outfitted with white and silver brocade and each carried a bouquet of white and red tinted 'mums. The flower girl was Miss Kelly Moods, cousin of the bride who was dressed similarly to the other attendants but carried a basket of white and red tinted 'mums.

Lee Ellis of Consecon was groomsman, while the ushers were Bill Bedford, Jack Worthoven, Richard Bruynson and Lionel Weese. Master Joey Saucier, cousin of the bridegroom was the ringbearer.

At the reception in the Dutch Mill Inn, Trenton, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a red crepe sheath with red chiffon overlay, red and silver accessories and a corsage of red roses and white 'mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a green brocade dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to points in western Ontario, the bride chose an orange ice wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Upon return from the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Saucier will reside in Consecon.

HOME AND SCHOOL NEWS

MARMORA HOME AND SCHOOL

MARMORA — The Saviour of Christmas has been neglected, Rev. Paul Ripley of the Pentecostal Church, Marmora, charged in an address Wednesday to the Home and School Association.

"Because Christ has been considered right out of His birthday, Christmas today means only Santa Claus to many of our children," he said.

Quoting the author James Michener, he said, "I hope that this year some boys and girls will receive from thoughtful adults who really love them, gifts that will jolt them out of all they have known up to now. It is such gifts and experiences, usually costing little or nothing, that transform a life and lend it an impetus that may continue for decades."

Members heard tape recordings of carol singing by school children to conclude the meeting.

SMALL GAINS

Although the population in the United States is 50 times that recorded in 1790, the U.S. land area, even including Alaska, has only increased a little more than four times.

SUBURBS GROW

In the United States between 1960 and 1966, the population growth of the suburbs were relatively seven times greater than that of the central cities.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

IVANHOE WI

Mrs. John Wallace opened her home for the Christmas meeting of Ivanhoe Women's Institute Wednesday, with Mrs. R. Sills, president, in charge.

A donation will be sent to the school for retarded children in Campbellford and Christmas cards to district aged and shut-ins. Mrs. Sills auctioned articles donated by members to raise extra funds.

The resolutions convener was in charge of the program of readings by Mrs. Charles Irwin and Mrs. Dan Cooke, current events given by Mrs. K. Puinmee, and Christmas carols.

Staff Fetes School Board

MARMORA — The staffs of the schools operated by the Centre Hastings High School District Board gave a banquet for board members and their wives Thursday in Madoc Armories.

Mrs. Charles Brady of the Marmora staff expressed appreciation to the Board, which was formed in 1948 and will be dissolved Jan. 1, 1968, when the area becomes part of the Bay of Quinte district.

"We cannot deny that we view the disbanding of this board with some misgivings," Mrs. Brady said. "But we must feel that it is a forward step in educational progress and we must make it so."

Harry Roscoe, chairman of the board, replied to Mrs. Brady's tribute and gave a short account of the events leading to the disbanding of Centre Hastings Board.

A. T. Ashley of Centre Hastings Secondary School, and Brian Honey of Marmora High School, headed the committee in charge of arrangements, which included a turkey dinner, a sing-song, a visit from Santa Claus and a social hour.

AWAY FROM WORK

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSOM

Mother: "Johnnie, leave the decorations alone. I have the tree fixed so it's pretty the way it is, and you're just spoiling it. Be a good boy now and mind me!"

Mother: "You may hang the decorations on these low branches. Just hook them on like this so you can move them if you want to."

A perfectly decorated tree is not as important a part of Christmas as is a happy little boy who feels he is contributing to the festivities.

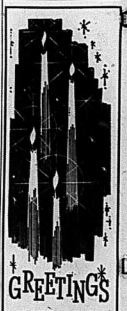
How Calvert found a new way to make rye incredibly smooth.

The name of the rye is Grand Prix. We made it incredibly smooth by making it dry.

And we made it dry by discovering a new way to make rye without any cloying sweetness.



This makes Grand Prix a full-bodied rye so smooth you can actually sip it straight. And like it.

Nobody ever made a rye as smooth as Grand Prix before because nobody ever knew how. It took Calvert ten years to do it, and naturally our Master Blender is pretty proud of it.

But try it yourself. In ten seconds you'll know why he's so proud.

Candied Yams for Yule Dinner

By MARY MOORE

The vegetables suggested in my Christmas dinner menu given yesterday are Candied Yams, Potatoes or Yams and Cauliflower and Broccoli Spears in Mild Curry Sauce. The flavor and appearance of these in combination with sliced turkey is striking and different. The small amount of curry added to the white sauce gives it a rich tint without adding flavor that overwhelms the vegetables — just a delicate touch.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES OR YAMS (serves 4)

3 lbs. sweet potatoes
¾ cup light brown sugar
¾ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ cup butter
½ cup hot water

Scrub sweet potatoes and cook in boiling salted water unpared, covered, until tender. Drain and peel. Cut into ¾" slices. Arrange in large shallow buttered baking dish (see note below) in 2 or 3 layers, sprinkling each with brown sugar, lemon rind and juice, salt and dotting with butter. Carefully pour hot water around sides (gently dish to make it flow between slices. Cover with lid or foil and bake at 375 deg. F.for 30 to 45 min., But during last 15 min. bake it uncovered and baste once or twice. (Note: If on very low heat these could be cooked on top of stove.)

CAULIFLOWER AND BROCCOLI HEADS IN MILD CURRY SAUCE (serves 8)

(NOTE: You could use fresh frozen broccoli for this. If you do, cut the "spears" in half crosswise.)

1 medium-sized cauliflower about 1 lb. broccoli tops (about 2¼")

Sauce Ingredients:

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
¼ (or ½) teaspoon curry powder (see below)
½ to ¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon accent
2 one-third cups hot milk

Break cauliflower up into flowerets and cook covered in boiling salted water until barely tender. Cut long stems from broccoli and cook tops covered in boiling salted water until barely tender. Use stems for casserole or soup. (If a 10-oz package of frozen broccoli is used add it to ½ cup salted boiling water and cook covered 6 to 8 minutes. Drain both vegetables. Meanwhile make Sauce by melting butter and stirring in until blended the flour, curry powder, salt and accent. Then stir in milk until thick. Add drained vegetables and serve in preheated vegetable dish. NOTE: If the yellow color of the sauce appeals to you but not the curry flavor, simply add a few drops of yellow food coloring.

Successful Living

Marriage to European Proves Successful

Dear Doris: I was disappointed in your answer to Badgered and Afraid. I have a university degree (she just had high school) and am married to a European auto mechanic. It was the best decision I ever made.

Learning a trade in Europe means many years of study and apprenticeship; means the man is capable of physical endurance and perfect workmanship.

Some things I have learned about Europeans:

(1) You can't generalize. All have their own way of doing things.

(2) Usually he will demand that his wife give more time to the home.

(3) Will take more interest in family life; make his wife feel more feminine; adore his children.

The main issue lies in adaptability. I am learning my husband's language and some great European recipes. The things that really count in any marriage are an intelligent approach, honesty with one another, generosity, hard work, love, respect.

Canada is a nation of immigrants. — Married to a European

Dear Married: Thank you. B. and A. will be glad of your encouragement. If they have enough love and enough adaptability they can swing it, with or without family approval, and that's for sure.

• • •

Dear Doris: Two months ago I had the same problems as "Worried" with my two-and - one-half-year - old son. What frustration! No matter how hard I tried nothing worked.

All my friends told me to relax and when he was ready to be toilet trained he would be. It was easily said but I could not understand why my otherwise bright little boy couldn't learn this. I continued to make his and my life miserable by begging, scolding and spanking.

Then one day about two months ago he said, "Mom, I wait to go to the bathroom." Like magic he was trained. Actually the magic was that he had learned to control himself enough to tell me beforehand.

So please, "Worried", don't make it rough on yourself, your husband and most of all your son. He wants to please you and when he is able to be trained he will be.—Formerly Worried

Dear Formerly: Thank you. It is wonderful to discover that the necessary muscle control does arrive, sooner or later.

• • •

Dear Doris: I am posting on a shower. If a person uses a laundry basket to hold the gifts, does the bride-to-be take it for granted that the basket is hers, even though it is not presented to her as a gift? — Not. Stingy

Dear Not: Oh, no. Not any more than she would expect to take an overhead umbrella or bell or streamers home. But if you fear the worst, make a chance remark that with all those decorations you put on it, nobody'd ever know your old laundry basket!

MANY BEETLES

Ann Landers

Former Mental Patient Says Thanks to Ann

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a man 43 years old. Nine years ago I was committed to a state mental hospital. Time and feeling deserted me. I was able to maintain a consuming interest in only one thing — your column. Some days, reading Ann Landers was the only act I was aware of performing.

I cannot say I particularly enjoyed your humor or that it uplifted me in any way, or that I learned anything from it. I had no sense of either liking it or disliking it. It didn't make me feel especially comfortable or uncomfortable. I just knew that every day I had to read Ann Landers.

For a long time I gave up hope that I would ever be a functional, whole human being again. Then gradually I began to see signs that I was getting better. Today I am well on my way to recovery.

Now I know why I read your column every day. It was because you expressed a note of sympathy and understanding for the mentally ill. Possibly this is what kept alive in me that small flicker of hope. I just wanted to say thank you. — JOHN OF SEATTLE.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I respond to Mrs. Clean — never received a finer compliment. Thank you.

* * *

DEA RANN LANDERS: May I respond to Mrs. Clean — the mother-in-law who feels sorry for her son. If the boy was raised in an immaculate home, I'm sure it must hurt her to see him living "in all that dirt."

I know how you feel, Mrs. Clean, because my own mother-in-law has expressed exactly the same sentiments to everyone who would listen. I admit our home is not as clean as hers, but then whose is? She has made such a fetish of a spotless house that it is pretty nearly a sickness.

It is interesting to me, however, that my husband finds his mother's immaculate home as unappetizing as she must find our "pig pen." I know this is true because I have had to drag him over to his mother's clean house every two weeks for the last eight years.

So you see, my dear, it takes more than bleaches, detergents, furniture polish and wax to make a home inviting. — BATTERED BUFFER BETWEEN A BOY AND HIS MOTHER.

DEAR BUFF: You speak the truth, Girl. Thanks for saying it. Take that and that and that, Mrs. Clean!

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After receiving a formal announcement of the wedding of a close friend's daughter, I sent a rather costly gift. I heard around town that on the honeymoon the bride decided she had made a terrible mistake. Four weeks after the marriage she filed for divorce.

Yesterday I received the bill for the gift. The bride has told several people she has no intention of returning the wedding gifts; in fact, she plans to exchange some of the gifts for clothes. Am I wrong to be resentful? — HADSVILLE.

DEAR HAD: If the wedding had not come off, the bride would surely have been obligated to return the gifts. But once married, whether for four weeks or four minutes, the bride need not return anything.

Christmas Too Commercial: Teenagers

By STEVE BISHOP

Many Belleville teenagers think Christmas is mainly for the young kids, and too commercial.

That was an opinion, widely expressed in a pre-Christmas opinion poll based on the question "What does Christmas mean to you?"

With the holiday season upon us, the response was good, and the following is a sample of the answers given:

Tom Lorsie, 19, said: "It was great when you were a little kid, but as you grow older you find out it's too commercial. Everybody's out to make a buck."

Nesbitt Haggerty, 16, also claims that Christmas is too commercial, especially for the young kids. "For them now, it's just one day of the year, not the whole season."

The young folk interested Dave House, 17, more than the commercial aspect. "A family get-together is the main thing at Christmas," he said. "It's fun to see the little kids' reaction to Santa Claus."

The deeper meaning of Christmas appealed to Dave Grant, 18, who stated, "Christmas is an escape from the drudgery of everyday life, and a time for recognition of those human qualities that indicate the true meaning of Christmas."

Tom Woodman, 15, had similar thoughts. He finds Christmas to be a relief from the first term. And went on to say, "It's a time to be joyous, and a time for giving."

An interesting and highly original comment on the commercial aspect of Christmas came from Andy Fields, 16, who claims, "Without Christmas, the Canadian economy would fall flat on its face. Do you realize how much money changes hands at Christmas?" He added, however, that he does not necessarily condemn this financial trend.

And last, but not least, comes "Tim" Gustafson, 15, who informs us: "'Tis the season to be jolly."

Nicholson Drama Club Presents Play

By DONNA WHALEN

WITH THE Christmas season steadily approaching, students everywhere must be finding it difficult to quell their enthusiasm. In this final week of the first term, Nicholson students are unfortunately plagued with seemingly endless tests which are threatening to dampen their spirits.

Nevertheless NCC students have been anticipating this week for a long time. On Wednesday afternoon the cat will be out of the bag when the curtain rises and the drama club presents its Christmas production Then on Thursday evening, starting at 7:30, the annual Christmas party will be held for all Nicholson students.

• • •

THE SANDS OF TIME will be playing and several activities such as skits and singsongs will be held during the band's intermission.

The admission is only a quarter or a can of food, with the proceeds going to the needy of the Quinte area. Many former students and senior graduates of '67 will be home at this time and they are warmly invited to attend.

• • •

LAST TUESDAY, the Sodality of Nicholson made its annual Christmas visit to Hastings Manor. One of the Sodalists, Jocelyn McLaughlin, reported that the girls presented their own original version of "The Night Before Christmas," displayed a special talent for square dancing, arranged a beautiful Nativity scene and sang carols for the residents.

Julianne Dolan and Don Tracey entertained the audience with piano solos and Michael Reed — NCCs answer to Perry Como — touched the hearts of the many music lovers.

Even Mike Marino, president of our Student Council, managed to persuade two of his classmates, Don Cantin and Michael Mastrolepe, to combine their efforts in a display of their talents. John Doran successfully played the role of Santa Claus and hohoed his way among the residents, distributing small gifts.

• • •

THE CHEMISTRY CLUB, which was just recently formed under the management of Mr. Aggarual, is getting off to a good start. On Tuesday, the group is going to Corby's to ho'ed his way among the residents, distributing small gifts.

On behalf of the staff and students of Nicholson, I wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and to the teenagers in particular, I hope that your Christmas may be very hippy (I mean happy).

Complete with Background

Nicholson Catholic College presented their Christmas program yesterday afternoon. "Sorry, Wrong Number" was the name of the play presented by the Drama Club. A tableau of Christmas carols and scenes followed the play.

Dance Slated at CSS

By SUE ELLIS

A RECREATION committee has been formed in the school. This committee's job is to organize dances and school activities. On the 22nd, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., we will have our first evening dance. The group "The Paper Cloud." Admission $1.00. Let's see everyone out to celebrate the Holiday Season.

THE KEYETTES have bought Christmas dinners for needy families in the area.

Did you know that the city gave us a road all to our-elves? Yes, even though it is not named, an area has been plowed for our students — and will continue to be plowed for the winter.

On Friday a Christmas Tree was put up in the hall foyer. Decorations were donated by Students' Council and put on by the Keyettes.

• • •

YESTERDAY A Christmas Carol was played in the morning assembly. The lighting, sound and acting were well-ordinated — so a pat on the back is sent to all who gave their time and effort. In the afternoon the same was shown to public school students and parents.

Quinte Student Says Canadians Should Have Sense of Pride

By GARY McLEOD

A GREAT YEAR has just ended! Never again will we, as Canadians see anything like it. In another week we will be not 100 — but 101 years old and there is a great difference.

This does not mean, of course, that people will be less happy, less enthusiastic or get less drunk this year. It just simply means that there is a little more to a centennial new year than just a ordinary one.

Just think for a moment what you personally felt last year as the midnight bell sounded on December 31.

Wasn't there a sense of severe pride, a pride that could only come when you are 100 years old. For many of us this will be the outstanding year of our lives and for the kids at Quinte: Thank You, Canada!

• • •

AS WE reminisce on our thoughts and actions of 1967, we are faced by an uncanny mixture of feelings. Here are just a few of a Quinte students' feelings and the reason for these feelings.

Happiness: when our Senior Saints did so well and when we heard of possible recommendations for the upper grades;

PRIDE: When we saw our float, band and majorettes in the Santa Claus Parade;

PITY: For other children less fortunate than ourselves and gave out of kindness from hearts to these needy causes;

SADNESS: When we lost our principal but a severe challenge appeared when we had to break in a new one;

A SENSE OF ACCOMPLISHMENT: when we finally spoke our minds and are now having the methods for nominating Prime Ministers' changed.

I know for me this year has been a great one and we may never see another like it but variety is the spice of life.

Have a merrier Quinte Christmas.

Large Membership Involved In Chess Club at BCI

By PETER BRICKWOOD

THIS YEAR a new club was formed at BCI. For the first time we have a chess club, which was inspired by one of our Grade 13 students, John Porrit. John, the new president, and Tarmo Heyduck, the secretary-treasurer, have organized an internal tournament for the surprisingly large membership.

This will raise the standard of our players so that they can play in larger tournaments outside the school later in the year. The club also offers students an opportunity to play such advanced experts as Mr. Hildebrandt and Mr. Robertson.

• • •

This year's UNICEF collection now has a grand total of $475. About one-sixth of this amount has been donated by the students and fearless leader Mr. Bell of Grade 12E.

Last Wednesday the Key club's public image was severely damaged by the all-stars who beat them 7-3 in an exciting floor hockey game. Half of the proceeds will be donated to UNICEF.

This Friday after school a basketball game will be played between this year's seniors and a squad composed of BCI's Graduate Greats. Come and see what promises to be a tremendous game.

• • •

COLLEGIANS are preparing for the Yuletide season. We are cheerfully chomping on Keyette candy canes, wherever and whenever we have the opportunity. The Keyettes have also decorated the school and are seling mistletoe.

Whether the candy canes or mistletoe is more popular is debatable. Mr. Kramer, who is teaching music while Mr. Templer recuperates from a recent operation, has been rehearsing the band and Mr. McKnight the Glee club for our Christmas assembly.

Not to be outdone, the teachers have helped with an avalanche of tests and assignments. However, we collegians would like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Party Time Make-up

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill

Ready with your party-time make-up? The glamor statistics reveal more shimmer, glimmer and luminescent cosmetics are sold at this season than any other. The reason is as clear as the lips on your face. With mistletoe dangling from every door, each girl's beauty resolution is to have lips soft-textured, well-shaped and extra sparkly. As Universal actress Sherry Boucher illustrates, when smiling corners of mouth should be in a direct line with the iris of the eyes. To determine the size and shape of your mouth, coat with lipstick and press against white tissue. Make three imprints, right side, full mouth and left. Study the impressions. The side view should be an elongated curve with corner and lip point slightly lifted. Glimpsed straight-on, lip points should be one-eight inch apart and the bottom lip slightly wider than the top. If mouth is irregular, shade imperfections with a lipstick pencil. Latter should be brown hued to blend with skin tone.

Holidays

With Christmas holidays underway at Quinte area secondary schools there will not be a youth page Dec. 28.

The next youth page will appear on Jan. 5.

Seminar Room Used at Trenton

By CAROL ADAMS

THIS YEAR, Trenton's Grade 13 class has been granted with the use of a seminar room, a place of study. This room, more commonly known as the "rumpus room" or "playpen," is located upstairs in the foyer, and is absolutely out of bounds for all but those students taking Grade 13 subjects.

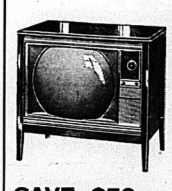
Let me tell you about the present state of the room. Having been bitten with the Christmas bug, the graduating class has undertaken to decorate the seminar room in a manner fitting the occasion.

First, several students donated streamers and tinsel, which were duly strung up across the ceiling. But this wasn't enough. What we needed was a tree. Since the Key club annually sells Christmas trees, and a good many members are in our class, they very kindly provided us with a somewhat lopsided tree, free.

• • •

HOWEVER, Christmas isn't Christmas without snow, and considering the present lack of it in the Trenton area, we were forced to resort to the canned variety. Today the windows of the study room with all who pass a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. The tree as well as the windows has of course been decorated, and the final touch is a beautiful star on the wall, outlined by a shiny silver garland.

Yet that is not all. In accordance with the school tradition, there is an assembly on the last morning before the holidays. This year this has been taken over by the three senior classes.



It will take place Friday 22, and will without a doubt be the success of the year. The students of this grade are simply dripping with talent, intelligence (believe it or not) and wit.

THIS THEN is what's happening with Trenton High's Grade 13's. They are living examples of school spirit, Christmas spirit; just plain spirit. They hope to set a precedent for Grade-13 participation in school activities. And, above all, they are a darn nice crowd of kids. Three cheers for Grade 13!

SPORTSLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The hockey honor of the Old Lady of the Moira is again at stake and a galaxy of rosy-cheeked apple-faced youngsters will couch their wooden lances in the defence.

Riding into tournament battle will be the Smith Puels of this city all-Ontario champions of last year. They will represent the Ontario Minor Hockey Association as the champions of their class.

In a true Tournament of Champions the Fuels will meet the title-holders of Metro Toronto Hockey League; Northern Ontario Hockey Association, Ottawa District Hockey Association and the Thunder Bay Hockey Association.

The tournament is called the Ontario Centennial Minor Hockey Championships. It embraces juvenile, midget, bantam and peewee divisions.

The championships are sponsored by the Ontario Department of Education and Information and the Ontario Hockey Association. The OMHA through the OHA has named its respective champions.

The peewee tournament will be held in St. Michael's Arena, Toronto; the bantam in Cornwall, midget in Walkerton and the juvenile in Kingsville, Ont.

In the case of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, Belleville Smith Fuels will be the peewee representatives: Oshawa midget and bantam, and Peterborough juvenile.

All players will receive the Ontario Centennial Medallions.

Smith Fuels will be worthy representatives despite the fact they have lost by age regulations four or five of the stalwarts that paced them to the all-Ontario championships.

Regulations forbid the use of players who have reached or exceeded the prescribed age limit this season.

But Fuels general manager Don Whelan did not appear to be too worried about the outcome.

"Sure, we've lost a lot of the youngsters who helped us to the title, but we believe we can offset their loss in the club by the balance we have attained."

Manager Whelan, assistant manager Bob Ricketts and naturally, coach Mo Hunter will accompany the Fuels on their hunt for centennial glory.

The team will leave for Toronto on Tuesday morning next with the tournament getting under way the next day. Coach Hunter is taking the squad up a day early in order to get in some practice before the day of the big test.

Fuels meet the Thunder Bay Hockey Association champions in the first game on Wednesday starting five o'clock. Each team will meet the other four clubs.

The top four teams after conclusion of play on Friday will play off in the semi-finals on Saturday morning. The top team will have choice of opponent and choice of the one o'clock game or the three o'clock game.

The winners of the semi-finals game will meet in the championship game Saturday night at 7.30.

The powerful Dorset Park team of Tuconis after saying they would play an exhibition tilt here last Sunday with the Fuels, changed its mind and did not make the trip.

However the Fuels are heartened by the fact the Dorset Park team defeated Peterborough club 5-1, a club that the Fuels turned back by a 10-1 count.

So the minor hockey, peewee at least honor of the Old Lady Moira appears to be in good hands. More power to their shooting eyes and sticks.

There'll be more about the Kiwanis bantams and Belleville novice teams later.

The "Hull" Of It; Bobby 2, Dennis 2

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A grey ghost and a golden flash Wednesday night carried Chicago Black Hawks back to the top of the National Hockey League Eastern Division.

The ghost was Pit Martin, who came back to haunt Boston Bruins with the winning goal in their 6-3 loss to Chicago and the golden flash was Bobby Hull, who snapped a personal four-game scoring drought with two goals.

Martin, last year with the Bruins, scored what proved to be the winner, and the prop on which Chicago broke a first-place tie with Boston less than three minutes into the third period at Chicago.

Hull scored his 26th and 27th goals in 22 games later in the period to put the game out of reach before 16,006 fans drawn by the clash between the division co-leaders.

Hull now leads all NHL scorers with 40 points, having assisted on 13 other goals so far this season.

The victory extended Chicago's eight-game streak without a loss while for the Bruins it was their fourth loss in their last six games.

Two shutouts marked the other league action as Montreal Canadiens exploded for a 3-0 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers dropped Detroit Red Wings 2-0. In a match for last place in the Western Division, St. Louis Blues pulled two points ahead of Oakland by beating the Seals 2-1.

Perhaps the most startling result was the Montreal-Toronto score, with the Canadiens showing the form for which they've been famous for the first time this season.

Skating end-to-end and swooping down on Toronto goalies John Bower and Bruce Gamble relentlessly, the Canadiens appeared anything but the last-place team in the East.

The apparent key to the change was the insertion of Bobby Rousseau into the line of Henri Richard and Dick Duff.

Duff wound up with three goals, Rousseau with a goal and three assists and Richard with four assists, Claude Provost scored the other Montreal goal.

The shutout, before 14,164 fans, was the third of the season for goalie Gump Worsley, pulled out of the nets in favor of Rogatien Vachon Sunday for the first time in his 15 NHL years.

At New York, it was Rod Gilbert and Phil Goyette as goalie Ed Giacomin scored his second shutout of the year.

Hull and Martin got help in Chicago from Dennis Hull, with two goals, and Ken Wharram while Derek Sanderson, with two, and Tom Williams scored for Boston.

On the coast, St. Louis had two goals from rookie Frank St. Marseilles and Oakland got their only goal from Wally Boyer.

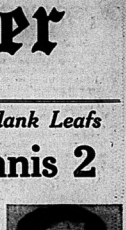
Tonight, the western leaders are in action with Philadelphia Flyers playing host to Minnesota North Stars and Pittsburgh Penguins at Los Angeles against the Kings.

Philadelphia has a two-point edge on the Kings with Minnesota three points further off the pace.

The Canadiens now have lost only two games in their last seven, including a pair of ties.

They scored four of their goals against Bower in the first two periods with Gamble taking over in the third and allowing Duff's third of the night.

At Boston, Gerry Cheevers was in goal for the Bruins after regular netminder Ed Johnston broke a boo. in the little finger of his right hand Tuesday. He is expected to b out for a week or 10 days.



The Bruins already are missing standout defencemen Bobby Orr and Ted Green.

Picked By Writers, Casters

Maple Leafs; 1967 Team Of The Year

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Toronto Maple Leafs, comeback winners of the Stanley Cup, have been picked by sports writers and broadcasters across Canada as the team of the year for 1967.

The Canadian women's swim team at the Pan - American Games in Winnipeg last summer was the only real opposition the Leafs had as more than 135 ballots were cast in the 33rd annual Canadian Press year - end poll.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, winners of football's Grey Cup, were a distant third, closely followed by Oshawa Green Gaels who won a third consecutive Minto Cup in junior lacrosse.

Leafs finished third in the 1965-66 National Hockey League regular season and lost out in four consecutive games to Montreal Canadiens in their Stanley Cup semi-final.

In the 1966-67 season, despite a mid - season slump and prolonged illness of coach Punch Imlach, Leafs again finished third but went on to defeat Chicago Black Hawks then Montreal to take the cup.

The feat was also chosen by the voters of the year, nosing out the Tiger-Cats, Toronto Argonauts, making the CFL playoffs for the first time since 1961, came close as did the feat of Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., Canada's top female athlete of 1967, in wining the World Cup of skiing.

The surprise of the year? That was the Leafs, too. And again the Tiger-Cats were close.

The thrill of the year was Nancy Greene's performance as she came through on the last race of the series to take the Cup by 7.100ths of a second.

Elaine Tanner, at the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg, was a close second and many voters picked the very staging of the games as the 1967 thrill.

The disappointment of the year, by far, was Canada's national hockey team's performance overseas.

The oddity of 1967 was weil spread around.

There were votes for the 17th green of the Montreal Municipal golf course where the 1967 Canadian Open was staged—a green described as having "casual grass."

The unexpected strength of the NHL expansion teams got votes as the oddity and as the surprise of the year.

Annabelle, the flop - eared horse purchased by three writers and given a coming - out party, was a winner in the oddity bracket — more so than she ever was at the track.

Russ Wallop All-Stars

TRAIL (CP) — Moscow Selects displayed strong skating and top physical conditioning Wednesday as they walloped the All-Stars of the senior amateur Western International Hockey League 9-3 in an exhibition game.

The Russian team led 2-0 in the first period and pumped in four unanswered goals in the second.

Yuri Reps led the Selects with four goals. Other Russian scorers were Yuri Chicherin, with two, and Vladimir Shadrin. Vladimir Yursinov and Victor Zarotaviev.

Harry Smith, Leroy Mowery and Walt Peacosh scored the WIHL goals. Both Smith and Peacosh played with the 1961 world champion Trail Smoke Eaters—the last year Canada won the world hockey crown.

The game was clean with only three penalties called, all in the first period.

Finns Rally To Tie Quakers 4-4

SASKATOON (CP) — The Finnish Nationals, trailing 4-0 after 40 minutes, scored four goals in the third period to earn a 4-4 overtime tie with Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League Wednesday night.

It was the first point for the Finns in a four-game tour of western Canada. They lost 10-3 to the Canadian Nationals and 5-4 to Calgary Spurs.

Peewee Tournament Hassle May End In Court

QUEBEC (CP) — Directors of the International peewee hockey tournament intend to place their dispute with the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association in the hands of a lawyer in an endeavor to settle a hassle that threatens to scuttle the Feb. 16-24 tournament.

The success of the annual affair has been threatened because of a disagreement between the governing 14-week players, with the QAHA setting one age limit date and the tournament sponsors another.

The directors want to follow the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association regulation that eligible players must be under 13 years of age as of May 31, 1967. The QAHA maintains that such players must meet its requirement of under 12 years of age as of Dec. 31, 1967, to prevent out-of-province players being up to seven months older than their Quebec counterparts.

The CAHA will adopt the Dec. 31 date across the country in 1968, but Quebec was granted permission to use it a year earlier with the stipulation it should not apply to teams from outside the province participating in such tournaments.

Gerard Bolduc, president of the tournament, said as a result of the uncertainty of the situation, closing dates for entries had been set back from Dec. 23 until Dec. 29.

Henri Crochetiere, president of the QAHA, said that although no Ontario teams will play in the tournament unless it is sanctioned by his organization, he has not heard from the directors of the affair for two months.

He, said the directors warned him two months ago that if the tournament is cancelled, he would be held wholly responsible.

The Ontario teams decided last weekend they will not enter the tournament unless it is sanctioned by the QAHA. However, a spokesman for the group said Toronto coaches are "mystified" why the QAHA is withholding its sanction.

Minor Hockey

The Penguins blanked Leafs 2-0; Bruins shut out the Wings 1-0; Hawks edged Barons 3-2; Kings shaded the Flyers 3-2 and Canadiens turned back the Seals by a 7-1 count in BMHA tyke division games last night.

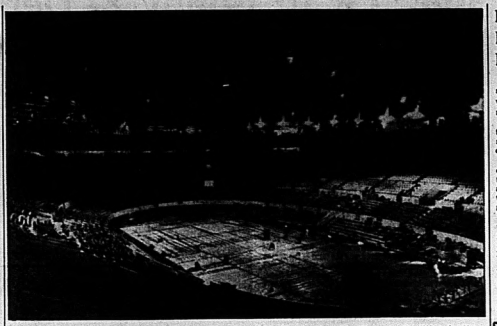
In another tyke game Mohawks defeated Rangers 8-1.

Wayne Eros had the shutout for the Penguins with team-mates A. Pione and J. Taylor doing the scoring.

R. Cunningham and K. Van Volkmberg scored for the Barons with J. Jianopoulos with two and R. Doorbos tallying for the winners.

W. Lynch got the only goal for Bruins in their 1-0 win over Wings.

B. White scored twice and A. Horwood once in the Kings win with R. Subdaal and J. Brotherick counting for the Flyers.



D. Goldings with two, D. Joyce, T. McGovern and K. Murray with three were the marksmen for the Canadiens. M. Goodhout scoring for the Seals.

B. Trumpour scored a pair for the Mohawks as did E. Marineau in their 8-1 defeat of the Rangers.

Other scorers were G. McInnes, R. Richardson, R. Gee, and B. Mills.

F. Smith scored for the Rangers.

(Note is scorekeepers: — Please place the names of scorers under the proper team heading. Twice the winning team last night was designated as the losers. We took the winners as the team named at the bottom of the scoresheet.)

Hawks, Bruins Midgets Win; Rangers Tie

B. Cowling's three goals spanked the Elks Hawks 7-2 win over Canadiens in BMHA midget action last night.

Leafs and Rangers played to a 3-3 tie with the Wings stopping the Bruins by a 4-2 count.

W. Drummond and R. Mitchell each had two goals in the Hawks win. G. Beaulieu and John Tracey scored for the Canadiens with Rolston getting an assist.

Geogan, Garland and Bazuk counted for the Rangers goals in the 3-3 draw. F. Sickels, G. Bridge and G. Dalton counted for the Leafs.

Wall, Muldoon, Salmon and Wilson were the scorers in the Wings win.

W. Farrell and R. Richardson were the Bruins marksmen.

Nancy Among Top Ten

MOSCOW (AP) — A survey conducted by the Soviet news agency Tass puts Nancy Greene, Rossland, B.C., champion skier, among the top 10 women athletes of the world.

The survey, conducted in Europe, North America and Asia, names Debbie Meyer, 15-year-old world record swimmer from Sacramento, Calif., as the outstanding Sportswoman of 1967.

Stop Campbellford Oil Kings Win 7-4!

The Belleville Oil Kings spotted Campbellford two goals in the first period, then raced back to win 7-4 in OHA intermediate league play in Tweed last night.

Campbellford's Roger Smith scored the first of two goals before the game was a minute long, eleven seconds to be exact.

Campbellford grabbed a two-goal lead losing no time in banging in the pair in a little over two minutes from Smith and "Number 11."

The Oil Kings, although outshot 11-9 in the period, went on to grab a period-end one goal lead, Cunningham, Jones and R. Boomhower scoring for the 4-3 edge.

Campbellford squared the count after three minutes of the second period, Wayne Lear gunning home the puck on an unassisted play.

From then on the Oil Kings took over, score-wise, firing home three goals to clinch the win.

Jones got his third goal of the night with Boomhower and Gow also counting.

The third period was a scoreless affair with the Kings turning back Campbellford thrusts although outshot 10-9.

The scoresheet stated the losers outshot the Kings 38-23 having a 7-5 edge in the second period when the winners scored three goals.

The teams split ten penalties, all minors.

Jerry Jones led the Oil Kings with three goals and an assist. Cunningham, Rowbotham, R. Boomhower and Gow got the others.

C. Boomhower had three assists, Malone two, with Rowbotham, Keller, Semark and Woodcock getting singles.

Roger Smith with two, "Number 11," and Lear scored for the losers. Bartsch had an assist.

Trenton RCAF Rink Scores Eight-Ender

Eight-enders in curling are as rare as a golf tournament hole-in-one or a world series stand-slam homer.

In fact, one hasn't popped up at the Trenton RCAF Military Curling League since 1961.

That is until a week or so ago.

It occurred during regular Mixed League play.

Threaten Toronto Curling Rink With Ban If Prizes Accepted

TORONTO (CP) — Alf Phillips Jr., skip of Canada's championship curling rink, today accused Toronto's competitive curlers of letting him down in a battle with the Ontario Curling Association and its code of ethics.

"No one got behind us. We all thought there would be more backing, but the other Toronto curlers playing in competitive, all-star leagues wouldn't help us change the rules. Everyone said they wanted the rule change, but when it came down to it, we were the only guys fighting."

The OCA threatened Wednesday night to bar Phillips and his Toronto rink of third John Ross, second Ron Maning and lead Keith Reilly from Ontario competition unless the four refuse $800 prizes they won last week in an international bonspiel sponsored by the CBC.

Under the OCA code, an Ontario curler cannot accept a prize valued at more than $150. The Dominion Curling Association has rejected the OCA code, but Ontario and New Brunswick still follow it.

Phillips finished second in the CBC tournament last Friday when he lost 7-6 to Doug Wankel of Elbow, Sask., in an extra-end. At the time he said he planned to accept the runner-up prize of snowmobiles and wait for a decision from the OCA.

Phil Sykes, OCA secretary, said in an interview after the association's day-long meeting that Phillips has until Dec. 28 to accept the prize and face the ban or submit a written statement to the OCA saying the prizes have been refused.

"We want to give these boys a chance," said Sykes. "We have no proof that the boys accepted the prizes. This way they now can commit themselves one way or the other."

Phillips said he only talked to two members of his rink—Reilly and Manning—and none has decided what he will do.

"But you'll probably see us back off. We want to curl. I have to talk it over with Johnny Ross and we'll probably take the full eight days to reach a decision."

The Toronto skip, famous for his come-back victories and dexterity with a cigar while playing, said he thought the OCA reached a fair decision.

"The association handled it well. They gave us another chance and they backed off all they can. If they change the code, where are they going to be when another breach comes up? They haven't the power to make an official change until their annual meeting next year.

"We've taken a stand and I think we've done some damage. There will be a change and I think it will be soon."

Asked about the prizes, Phillips said:

"We accepted them verbally, but we haven't received them yet and we probably won't get them for a month. It's a simple matter of telling the CBC to cancel them if we decide to back off."

Sykes said the OCA decision was reached "after long discussion" by the 14 members of the association's management committee. Asked if the association planned any further action on the matter, Sykes would only say "the recommendations of the management committee will be presented for discussion and approval at the next annual meeting in May, 1968."

Should Phillips decide to keep the prizes and wait out the OCA, he will be out of the Ontario championships and ineligible for the 1968 Canadian final at Kelowna, B.C.

Aussies Defeat Loyola

MONTREAL (CP) — Australia's national basketball team, stopping over on its way to an international tournament in Spain, downed Loyola College Warriors 72-44 in an exhibition game Wednesday night.

Tuesday night the Australians beat the Warriors, undefeated in regular Athletic Association play this year, by a score of 104-42.

Rams Not Selling Packers Short!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams got in a final home field practice Thursday and then flew away to Milwaukee to face Green Bay Packers, leaving behind at least one unanimous belief.

The Packers' 24-17 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers last week means the Packers will be tougher than ever Saturday in the Western Conference title game with Los Angeles.

The game will be televised nationally by the CBC, starting at 2 p.m. EST.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown, a valuable man in the front four and a co-star in the Rams' rout of Baltimore last Sunday, put it all this way:

Green Bay, Brown recalled, also has a score to settle with the Rams, who came from behind two weeks ago and beat them with only 34 seconds remaining, 27-24.

Big Roger, who came to the Rams after a brilliant career with the Detroit Lions and filled a huge gap created when Roosevelt Grier was hurt, played his greatest game of the year against the Colts.

Johnny Unitas was thrown for losses seven times and Brown was responsible for two of them.

"It was the best game the Rams have played since I've been here, and for me I think it even topped that famous game in Detroit on Thanksgiving of 1962 when our Lion defence threw Bart Starr of Green Bay 11 times," said Brown, adding happily, "I dumped him five times myself."

Peewee Tournament Hassle May End In Court

QUEBEC (CP) — Directors of the International peewee hockey tournament intend to place their dispute with the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association in the hands of a lawyer in an endeavor to settle what they call threatens to scuttle the Feb. 16-24 tournament.

The success of the annual affair has been threatened because of a difference in interpretation of the age rules governing peewee players, with the QAHA setting one age limit date and the tournament sponsors another.

The directors want to follow the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association regulation that eligible players must be under 12 years of age as of May 31, 1967. The QAHA maintains that such players must meet its requirement of under 12 years of age as of Dec. 31, 1967, to prevent out-of-province players being up to seven months older than their Quebec counterparts.

The CAHA will adopt the Dec. 31 date across the country in 1968, but Quebec was granted permission to use it a year earlier with the stipulation it should not apply to teams from outside the province participating in such tournaments.

Gerard Boldue, president of the tournament, said as a result of the uncertainty of the situation, closing dates for entries had been set back from Dec. 23 until Dec. 29.

Henri Crochetiere, president of the QAHA, said that although no Ontario teams will play in the tournament unless it is sanctioned by his organization, he has not heard from the directors of the affair for two months.

He, said the directors warned him two months ago that if the tournament is cancelled, he would be held wholly responsible.

The Ontario teams decided last weekend they will not enter the tournament unless it is sanctioned by the QAHA. However, a spokesman for the group said Toronto coaches are "mystified" why the QAHA is withholding its sanction.

Minor Hockey

The Penguins blanked Leafs 2-0; Bruins shut out the Wings 1-0; Hawks edged Barons 3-2; Kings shaded the Flyers 3-2 and Canadiens turned back the Seals by a 7-1 count in BMHA tyke division games last night.

In another tyke game the Hawks defeated Rangers 5-1.

Wayne Rea had the shutout for the Penguins with teammates A. Pisne and J. Taylor doing the scoring.

R. Cunningham and K. Van Volkinburg scored for the Barons with J. Jannopoulos with two and R. Bourbon tallying for the winners.

W. Lynch got the only goal for Bruins in their 1-0 win over Wings.

B. White scored twice and A. Heywood once in the Kings win with R. Saddard and J. Rotherick counting for the Flyers.

D. Goldrup with two, D. Joyce, P. McGovern and K. Murray with three made the marksmen for the Canadiens, M. Godbout scoring for the Seals.

B. Trumpour scored a pair for the Mohawks as did E. Marineau in their win over the Rangers.

Other scorers were G. McInnes, B. Richardson, R. Gee, and B. Mills.

F. Smith scored for the Rangers.

(Note to scorekeepers: Please place the names of scorers under the proper team heading. Twice the winning team had slight errors designated as the losers. We took the winners as the team named in the bottom of the scoresheet.)

Hawks, Bruins Midgets Win; Rangers Tie

B. Cowling's three goals sparked the Elks Hawks 7-2 win over Canadiens in BMHA midget action last night.

Leafs and Rangers played to a 3-3 tie with the Wings stopping the Bruins by a 4-2 count.

W. Drummond and/R. Mitchell each had two goals in the Hawks win. G. Beaulieu and John Tracey scored for the Canadiens with Robidon getting an assist.

Geogan, Garland and Bauk counted for the Rangers goals in the 3-3 draw. F. Sickle, G. Bridge and G. Dalton counted for the Leafs.

Wall, Muldoon, Salmon and Wilson were the scorers in the de Wings win.

W. Farrell and R. Richardson were the Bruins marksmen.

Nancy Among Top Ten

In the survey, conducted in Europe, North America and Asia, names Debbie Meyer, 15-year-old world record swimmer from Sacramento, Calif., as the outstanding Sportswoman of 1967.

Stop Campbellford

Oil Kings Win 7-4!

The Belleville Oil Kings spotted Campbellford two goals in the first period, then raced back to win 7-4 in OHA intermediate league play in Tweed last night.

Campbellford's Roger Smith scored the first of two goals before the game was a minute long, eleven seconds to be exact.

Campbellford grabbed a two-goal lead losing no time in banging in the pair in a little over two minutes from Smith and "Number 11."

The Oil Kings, although outshot 11-9 in the period, went on to grab a period-end one goal lead, Cunningham, Jones and B. Boomhower scoring for the 4-3 edge.

Campbellford squared the count after three minutes of the second period, Wayne Lear gunning home the puck on an unassisted play.

From then on the Oil Kings took over, score-wise, firing home three goals to clinch the win.

Jones got his third goal of the night with Rowbotham and Gow also counting.

The third period was a scoreless affair with the Kings turning back Campbellford thrusts although outshot 10-9.

The scoresheet stated the losers outshot the Kings 35-23 having a 7-5 edge in the second period when the winners scored three goals.

The teams split two penalties, all minors.

Jerry Jones led the Oil Kings with three goals and an assist. Cunningham, Rowbotham, B. Boomhower and Gow got the others.

C. Boomhower had three assists, Malone two, with Rowbotham, Kellar, Smark and Woodcock getting singles.

Roger Smith with two, "Number 11," and Lear scored for the losers. Bertoch had an assist.

Trenton RCAF Rink Scores Eight-Ender

Eight-enders in curling are as rare as a golf tournament hole-in-one or a world series grand-slam homer.

That is until a week or so ago.

It occurred during regular Mixed League play.

Threaten Toronto Curling Rink With Ban If Prizes Accepted

TORONTO (CP) — Alf Phillips Jr., skip of Canada's championship curling rink, today accused Toronto's competitive curlers of letting him down in a battle with the Ontario Curling Association and its code of ethics.

"No one got behind us. We all thought there would be more backing, but the other Toronto curlers playing in competitive, all-star leagues wouldn't help us change the rules. Everyone said they wanted the rule change, but when it came down to it, we were the only guys fighting."

The OCA threatened Wednesday night to bar Phillips and his Toronto rink of third John Ross, second Ron Manning and lead Keith Reilly from Ontario competition unless the four refuse $800 prizes they won last week in an international bonspiel sponsored by the CBC.

Under the OCA code, an Ontario curler cannot accept a prize valued at more than $150. The Dominion Curling Association has rejected the OCA code, but Ontario and New Brunswick still follow it.

Phillips finished second in the CBC tournament last Friday when he lost 7-6 to Doug Wankel of Elbow, Sask., in an extra-end. At the time he said he planned to accept the runner-up prize of snowmobiles and wait for a decision from the OCA.

Phil Sykes, OCA secretary, said in an interview after the association's day-long meeting that Phillips has until Dec. 28 to accept the prize and face the ban or submit a written statement to the OCA saying the prizes have been refused.

"We want to give these boys a chance," said Sykes. "We have no proof that the boys accepted the prizes. This way they now can commit themselves one way or the other."

Phillips said he only talked to two members of his rink—Reilly and Manning—and none has decided what he will do.

"But you'll probably see us back off. We want to curl. I have to talk it over with Johnny Ross and we'll probably take the fall eight days to reach a decision."

The Toronto skip, famous for his come-back victories and dexterity with a cigar while playing, said he thought the OCA reached a fair decision.

"The association handled I well. They gave us another chance and they backed off all they can. If they change the code, where are they going to be when another breach comes up? They haven't the power to make an official change until their annual meeting next year.

"We've taken a stand and I think we've done some damage. There will be a change and I think it will be soon."

Asked about the prizes, Phillips said:

"We accepted them verbally, but we haven't received them yet and we probably won't get them for a month. It's a simple matter of telling the CBC to cancel them if we decide to back off."

Sykes said the OCA decision was reached "after long discussion" by the 14 members of the association's management committee. Asked if the association planned any further action on the matter, Sykes would only say "the recommendations of the management committee will be presented for discussion and approval at the next annual meeting in May, 1968."

Should Phillips decide to keep the prizes and wait out the OCA, he will be out of the Ontario championships and ineligible for the 1968 Canadian final at Kelowna, B.C.

Aussies Defeat Loyola

MONTREAL (CP) — Australia's national basketball team, stopping over on its way to an international tournament in Spain, downed Loyola College Warriors 72-44 in an exhibition game Wednesday night.

Tuesday night the Australians beat the Warriors, undefeated in regular Ottawa-St. Lawrence Association play this year, by a score of 104-42.

Rams Not Selling Packers Short!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams got in a final home field practice Thursday and then flew away to Milwaukee to face Green Bay Packers, leaving behind at least one unanimous belief.

The Packers' 24-17 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers last week means the Packers will be tougher than ever Saturday in the Western Conference title game with Los Angeles.

The game will be televised nationally by the CBC, starting at 2 p.m. EST.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown, a valuable man in the front four and a co-star in the Rams' rout of Baltimore last Sunday, put it all this way:

Asian Flu Rare, Many Immune

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A person off "with the flu" may be sick, but he probably does not have Asian flu.

"Hardly anyone today says they simply have a cold," says Dr. A. R. G. Boyd, medical health officer for Toronto.

"It lacks status and everyone ends up with the flu," he said.

If you were sick five years ago or five years before that, chances were you had the Asian flu. That is why medical authorities battened the hatches for another epidemic in 1967.

But an Ottawa study of several hundred persons showed a high level of flu anti-bodies in their systems. The population generally may have built up a high level of immunity to the Asian-type flu that struck in epidemic proportions in 1957 and 1962.

Ontario Plans Changes in Jails

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial government, which will assume the full cost of operating Ontario's city and provincial jails Jan. 1, announced Wednesday sweeping changes in the operation of these institutions.

Allan Grossman, minister of reform institutions, told reporters the new program will reduce the population of some of the institutions, increase their effectiveness and reduce total costs.

"As a first step, the department would sell 135 acres of farm property at Mimico reformatory.

"Its location in Metropolitan Toronto makes this property very valuable and we expect the sale will allay a substantial portion of the costs of new construction and renovation," Mr. Grossman said.

Then, the department will embark on a program in 1968 to replace outmoded county and city jails, he said.

First priority would be given to building a Quinte regional detention centre to replace four 100-year-old county jails.

Then tenders would be called for construction of a Niagara detention centre to replace two centres in Welland and St. Catharines.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

When renting non - residential property, that is, commercial, industrial, institutional, and special purpose, it is customary for the tenant to pay for all improvements. These improvements then, as a rule, become the property of the landlord.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: If you think dentists are experts at extracting, try dealing with a real estate broker. I am a young man with a new dental degree and need an office.

Although it is somebody else's building, I am required to pay for new partitions, lighting, plumbing and floors.

I'll be putting $6,000 into a building that doesn't belong to me. Why? — Mr. R. P.

ANSWER: A broker is duty bound to extract the best deal for his client, even though it may cost the tenant pain (and money).

When renting commercial space, it is customary for the tenant to pay for all improvements and capital expenditures, the theory being that these betterments are for the specific benefit of the tenant.

There are two ways of paying. Either the tenant spends the money at the beginning of the lease term, or improvements are amortized with interest over the life of the lease in the form of increased rent.

The practice of tenants paying for all improvements is customary for all non-residential types properties — that is, for everything but houses and apartments.

Incidentally, once the improvements are installed, although paid for by the tenant, they become part of the real estate and cannot be removed without permission. If the tenant plans on removing any item, he should so specify in the lease.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I just read your article, where you explained that one can sell his own house without a real estate licence. If this be true, why am I not allowed to do plumbing work in my own house without a licence? Is itbecause plumbers are influential than real estate brokers? — Mr. L.

ANSWER: I'm not sure on the relative importance of real estate brokers and plumbers, but there is a good logical answer to your question. If one sells his own property and messes up the transaction, he only harms himself. With faulty plumbing, there is the possibility that one endangers not only his own family but the whole community.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I have my broker six months to sell my house. Next week his time is up. To date, the house is not sold. I want to cancel out.

He accuses me of being unreasonable because he was unable to show the house during the three months I was out of town visiting my daughter. He tells me that the time I was away was not included in the six months of the listing agreement. Is it? — Mr. V. R.

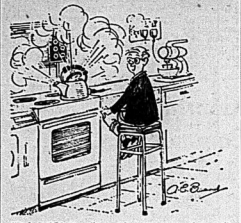
ANSWER: I thought I had heard every excuse, but this is a new one. A six-months agreement means six calendar months, and the whereabouts of the seller is immaterial. I recommend casting your vote for another broker in another week.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My hot air furnace is acting up in a special way. It overheats and shuts off. But the house is still cold. Every plumber in town has checked out the system, and everyone says nothing is wrong. But still the heater keeps going on and off while very little heat gets upstairs. Please — a quick answer! — Mr. S.

ANSWER: There's a famous tale of the battle that was lost for want of a horseshoe nail. My instinct tells me your case is similar. Everybody has been checking the functioning of your heater system, and I suspect they've all overlooked checking one very minor item: the filters.

Filters clogged with dirt will cause the symptoms and results which you report.



* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The pipes start chattering whenever I open a faucet. Why? — Mr. I. T.

ANSWER: Worn or loose washers!

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — White's Church Sunday School held its Christmas entertainment Saturday morning.

A film was shown at the beginning of the program. Mrs. Wilson's intermediate class sang Christmas carols and explained how each came to be written. The junior girls and junior boys each gave readings, and the primary class told the story of the shepherds. The kindergarten class blew out candles on a birthday cake and sang the birthday song. Another film concluded the program.

White gifts were contributed by the children. Each child received candies, fruit and a cup cake donated by local merchants.

Sharp Will Seek Leadership

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp will formally announce his candidacy to succeed Prime Minister Pearson as Liberal party leader and prime minister early in the New Year, an aide said Wednesday night.

The finance minister, who is 56, plans to be one of the first to jump into the race for the party leadership which is to be decided at a national convention here April 4-6.

"I do not intend to be coy about it," he has told associates.

The aide said the announcement probably will not be made until after the Christmas-New Year holiday, but the date and occasion has not yet been decided.

Mr. Sharp attended a party caucus Christmas party Wednesday night, and in conversation with reporters had no hesitation about speaking of himself as a "serious candidate."

One of the things that considerably encouraged the finance minister in his leadership aspirations was the result of a recent public opinion poll, which showed him running second to External Affairs Minister Martin.

Mr. Sharp is said to be pleased that he placed second in the poll in view of the fact that less than a month ago he had to drastically cut government expenditures and raise taxes.

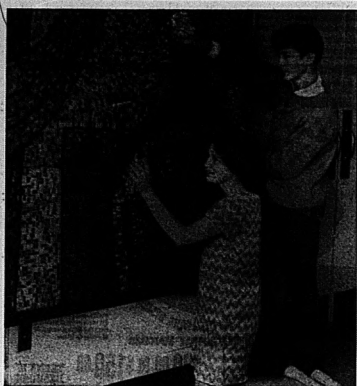
Canada Ready and Anxious to Supervise Cambodia's Frontier

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has told Cambodia it is ready—indeed, anxious—to strengthen the International Control Commission so that it can supervise Cambodia's jungle frontier with Vietnam, a highly-placed government source says.

However, Poland, the Communist member of the Canada-India-Poland commission, has objected to such a move.



Canada's offer was sent directly to Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state. But Poland's refusal to co-operate has apparently dashed another Canadian initiative to try to dampen down the war in Vietnam and to get peace negotiations started.

The U.S. is said to be considering "hot pursuit" of Viet Cong guerrillas into Cambodia, where they have taken refuge after battles in South Vietnam.

The International Control Commission operates in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia under the 1954 armistice agreement which ended the civil war between the Communists and the French union forces. The commission in Cambodia has been operating on only a caretaker basis for many years.

Canada has proposed that the commission in Cambodia be strengthened so that it could investigate and report on border incidents. There is no intention that Canadian peacekeeping soldiers patrol the 400-mile jungle border between Vietnam and Cambodia.

Cambodia is reported to be favorable to Canada's proposal, which has also been put forward by the U.S.

New Relationship Between Commons And CBC Is Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — A New Democrat and a Liberal MP said Wednesday a new relationship must be worked out between the CBC and Parliament. They urged that a start be made during debate on a broadcasting bill now before the House of Commons.

Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) said that while lip service has been given to the idea that the CBC is responsible to Parliament, "this question of the relationship to Parliament has never been defined, has never really been dealt with in a way that created a satisfactory situation."

Both he and Don Jamieson (L—Burin-Burgeo) said the bill now under consideration fails to deal with this problem.

Mr. Jamieson said the problem will never be solved until the publicly-owned CBC is put completely under the authority of broadcasting's regulatory body. This is the Board of Broadcast Governors at present, but the bill proposes to set up a new agency called the Canadian Radio-Television Council.

The Newfoundland MP, a broadcaster himself, said the legislation ought to state "that the Canadian Radio-Television Council is the ultimate authority and that the CBC is responsible to it." There were too many loopholes in that would permit the CBC to do whatever it wanted.

Mr. Barnett said the idea of having a cabinet minister act as the link between Parliament and the CBC has never worked out satisfactorily.

The ND Pmember said Parliament should set up some kind of machinery or mechanism of its own through which MPs could channel their views on broadcasting policy and programs. These views could be put in the form of motions and passed on to the CBC or to broadcasting's regulatory agency by the Speaker of the Commons.

Mr. Barnett said that instead of trying to define standards of taste in broadcasting, as urged by Howard Johnston (SC—Okanagan-Revelstoke), Parliament ought to consider the role it could play "through proper discussion from time to time of broadcasting and its content."

Gilles Gregoire (Ind—Lapointe) moved an amendment to the bill stating that Canada's broadcasting system must be owned and controlled by Canadians. The bill now states that the system should be owned and controlled.

The amendment will come to a vote later.

Mr. Barnett said the results of trying to communicate with CBC management through a cabinet minister have been so unsatisfactory that this system could be held partly responsible "for a lot of the general discontent with the operation of the broadcasting system in recent years."

Moderation Vice of Mediocre

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Most men enter marriage for the sake of the woman they want to marry; while most women endure the men they marry for the sake of the marriage.

• • •

Asking schools to teach sex is both futile and fatuous, for what children need to learn are values more than facts — and only the family can teach values.

• • •

Great events have great consequences, but rarely have any effect on our smaller personal problems; as Paul Valery remarked, "A hurricane can raze a town but can't unseal a letter or open a knot."

• • •

Communism as a threat has always seemed more myth than reality to me; for, if it fails, it degenerates into anarchism, and if it succeeds, it becomes more and more like capitalism.

• • •

Those who have the best luck are those who believe in luck, but place no trust in it; those who do the worst are those who place their trust in it without really believing in it.

• • •

Moderation is the vice of the mediocre, just as excess is the vice of the gifted; and each calls his vice a virtue.

• • •

My comment some months ago on women who enter beauty contests brought from one reader an old quote by James Montgomery Flagg, the illustrator who painted more beautiful women than anyone else in the world: "The exclusive self-interest in external appeal drives women far off the course of true beauty and spells dullness and frustration at last, for flesh uninhabited by spirit tends to deteriorate with appalling rapidity."

• • •

People are like bodies of water; either stagnant or fresh-flowing; and if you meet someone who "hasn't changed" in 10 years, be will be proud of his "continuity" rather than ashamed of his stagnation.

• • •

The mind is usually unaware of what the passions want until the passions have already subdued and drugged the mind into acquiescence.

• • •

Whenever I hear a man ranting against "government control," it invariably turns out that he wants the government to exercise less control over him and more control over the people he disagrees with.

• • •

Adolescents, on the whole, don't run away from home—they are running toward a home they have yet to find, for a real home is what adolescents need and want more than anything else in the world.

• • •

Those who quote, "East Is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," have never read the whole Kipling stanza—which means exactly the opposite of what they think it does.

Western All-Stars

Nine Raiders Named

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Daryle Lamonica and eight other players of the American Football League's Western champion Oakland Raiders today were named to the Western team for the AFL all-star game in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Jan. 21.

Coach Lou Saban of Denver, who will coach the West, will pick an additional player.

The West All-Stars:

Offence: Split end—Lance Alworth, San Diego; tackles—Ron Mix, San Diego, and Harry Schuh, Oakland; guards—Walt Sweeney, San Diego, and Wayne Hawkins, Oakland; centre—Jim Otto, Oakland; tight end—Fred Arbanas, Kansas City; quarterback—Daryle Lamonica, Oakland; halfback—Mike Garrett, Kansas City; fullback—Hewritt Dixon, Oakland; flanker—Al Denson, Denver.

Defence: Ends—Jerry Mays, Kansas City, and Ben Davidson, Oakland; tackles—Ben Keating, Oakland, and Buck Buchanan, Kansas City; middle linebacker—Dan Conners, Oakland; outside linebackers—Bobby Bell, Kansas City, and Frank Buncom, San Diego; safeties—Johnny Robinson, Kansas City, Kenny Graham, San Diego; cornerbacks—Kent McCloughan, Oakland, and Les Duncan, San Diego.

Police Chief Applications Narrowed Down to Six

DESERONTO — Clayton Brooks, chairman of the fire and police commission, told Council Monday evening that the 17 applications for the position as Police Chief of the town had been narrowed down to six. These were being studied and interviews held. In all probability the committee would be able to hand over to the incoming committee for 1967 a full report on its findings and make its recommendation. This will necessitate a further delay in the appointment. Council decided that the present system would continue until such appointment is made.

Since Lynn Thomlinson resigned as police chief to join the Napanee Police Department early in November, firemen in pairs have been carrying out night patrols, and "Bud" Meeks has acted as security officer to enforce bylaws. Police duties have otherwise been taken over by the Belleville detachment of the OPP.

Jack Layfield was re-appointed to represent Deseronto on the Napanee District Collegiate Institute Board.

A letter from the Federal Government requested Council to name a citizen to receive the Centennial medal, asking for a reply before the end of the year. A committee was appointed to bring in a recommendation. Councillors Dorothy McClelland and James Sharpe, the mayor-elect and Reeve Donald Armitage make up the committee.

Deseronto had made application to the Department of Economics and Development that it be included in the Equalization of Industrial Opportunity Program for which legislation had recently been passed. A communication from that department noted that Deseronto's application "is being processed, and you will be informed of our decision in the near future".

Raider Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—John Rauch, who led the Oakland Raiders to their first American Football League Western Division title ever, has been selected AFL Coach of the Year by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Rauch outdistanced Sid Gillman of San Diego Chargers and Wally Lemm of Houston Oilers in voting by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

It was a romp to the Western crown by the underdog Raiders, who trailed Kansas City in preseason estimates but doubled the Chiefs and prime contender San Diego that gave Rauch the nod. In only his second year as head coach of the Oakland entry, Rauch had molded the Raiders into title contenders with a redesigned offence and one of the AFL's stingiest defences.

N.H.L. Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks took charge of National Hockey League scoring Wednesday night in new line formed by Montreal Canadiens.

Hull, the leading scorer in the league hit on two goals as the Hawks dropped Boston Bruins out of first place in the Eastern Division 6-3 while Mikita gained an assist to move a point ahead of John Bucyk of Boston.

Hull now has 27 goals and 13 assists for 40 points in 32 games while Mikita has 18 goals and 19 assists for 37 points in 30 games.

But it was the Henri Richard-Bobby-Rousseau-Dickie Duff line that caught the limelight as the Canadiens bounced Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 in Montreal.

Duff scored three goals while Rousseau got a goal and three assists and Richard four assists. None of them made it among the league leaders, but the addition of Rousseau to the line appears to have given them life they haven't had all season.

The leaders:

WINE AT CONCERTS

TORONTO (CP' — Board of Control Wednesday endorsed the idea of pop concerts at the Canadian National Exhibition next summer which will feature wine and cheese on sale during intermissions. The board said the concert idea would go before the Metropolitan Toronto executive Jan. 3 and then to the council.

Diary of Madman Powerfully Presented by Lone Performer

NEW YORK (AP)—The portrait of a man descending to insanity was powerfully presented Wednesday night in CBS adaptation of Nikolai Gogol's Diary of a Madman.

Roger Coggio, a French actor, was the solo performer in the hour special, a tour de force in his portrayal of a clerk in a 19th-century Russian bureau.

The drama started at the begin ning of his breakdown as he began to imagine he was a suitor of his boss' daughter.

The next step came when he believed he heard a dog speak to him. Then one strange idea after another took hold and he became more insane, he deteriorated physically as well. From a line in a newspaper, he was persuaded that he was the king of Spain, and his madness was complete.

The drama started with a slow pace, quickening as the subject sank into madness.

The cameras were used most imaginatively, showing the actor in closeup much of the time, but moving a lot around him in a way that suggested his confusion and turmoil.

The scene shifted from the sick man's plain lodgings at the beginning to a cell in a mad house. In the final scene, he was beseeching his mother for help, and then in an abrupt change of mood, burst out in a wild laugh.

It was an impressive performance and a rather painful experience for the viewer. CBS was wise to postpone the commercials until the end and even then that jolly jingle about the length of a cigarette seemed shockingly inappropriate.

Earlier in the evening, the channels were full of the spirit of the holidays.

It's nice that Christmas comes but once a year. A Christmas-loving viewer can get pretty tired of constantly hearing Jingle Bells and The Little Drummer Boy and seeing so many Santa Clauses with their phoney Ho-Ho-Hos.

Recommended tonight: The Dean Martin Show, NBC, 10:1 EST, with the Martin family and the Sinatras.

Now $125,000

Open Purse Upped

TORONTO (CP) — The purse for the 1968 Canadian Open will be $125,000, the Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Wednesday.

A spokesman said this is an increase of $25,000 over last year's $10,000, which was supplemented by a $100,000 contribution from the City of Montreal in recognition of Expo 67.

The Open will be played June 20-23 at St. George's Golf and Country Club in suburban Toronto. Billy Casper, who defeated Art Wall in a playoff in Montreal, is the defending champion.

The winner of the four-day Open will collect $25,000 and the runner-up $15,000. Fifty players will share the total prize money.

"Stilt" Scores 53

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain scored 53 points Wednesday night as Philadelphia 76ers trounced the tired Seattle Supersonics 160-121. It was Senior' fourth game in as many nights in National Basketball Association play.

Other NBA action, Boston Celtics defeated San Diego Rockets 126-116 and New York Knickerbockers overpowered Los Angeles Lakers 138-131.

Chamberlain hit 14 consecutive field goals, making 21 of 31 two in the first half and connecting on 12 for 12 in the second. Walt Hazzard was high man for Seattle with 20 points.

Larry Hatfield scored 31 points for Boston at San Diego. The win was the fifth straight for the Celtics. Johnny Green paced San Diego with 25 points.

Willis Reed, with 33 points, Dick Barnett with 28 and Bulch Komivew with 27 led the New York attack that kept Los Angeles trailing most of the time.

MacEachen Unlikely To Make English Trip

You're right. Neither can Mr. MacEachen.

The 46-year-old Cape Breton minister is chairman of the special committee studying Commons procedure. The committee plans a trip to Britain early next year to study procedure at Westminster.

Mr. MacEachen probably tipped his hand that he will be a candidate for the Liberal leadership when he told the Commons Tuesday:

I cannot give any assurance that as chairman of the committee I might not have to cancel my own trip."

However, Mr. MacEachen is also House leader and as such is responsible for arranging the order of government business in the Commons.

The job requires a tedious amount of planning with other cabinet ministers and floor leaders of the opposition parties and also almost constant attendance in the Commons or its precincts.

It would be practically impossible for Mr. MacEachen to make a run for Prime Minister Pearson's mantle if he were tied down in the Commons.

Consequently, informants say, he is considering resigning as House leader.

It is not likely that Mr. MacEachen will definitely make up his mind whether to run until the first two weeks of January.

In this respect, he is acting like most or all of the potential candidates for the Liberal leadership.

Mr. MacEachen is generally considered a left-winger in the party and went so far as to write out his resignation—though he did not submit it — when the government postponed medical care insurance for a year, to July 1, 1968.

He has made several speeches on the possibility of introducing a guaranteed annual income for all Canadian workers.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE—Mr. and Mrs. F. Petherick visited their son Roy, his wife and family at Stirling one evening recently.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Forsyth of Peterborough were guests recently of their son Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. R. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Spencer were Sunday guests of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bonner and family in Campbellford and attended the Christmas Cantata at St. Andrew's United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Anderson, Beth, Scott and Jeffrey visited with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. M. Fleming at Columbus, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart visited Mr. and Mrs. C. McKeown at Bowmanville.

At the White Gift service at Stanwood United Church on Sunday morning, Christmas Carols were sung and Kathy Anderson read a Christmas story. The children of the congregation placed their white gifts in a small manger at the altar.

Mrs. Vernie Heath of Stirling was a recent overnight guest of her son Ralph and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan of Hamilton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. McKeown and Mrs. T. McKown.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Amm and Cherine of Toronto visited her sister and husband, Mr and Mrs. J. Spencer over the week-end.

Several men from Rylstone are busy filling advance orders for short course night classes in "The Business of Farming" sponsored by the Canada Manpower Centre and held at the Quinte Secondary School in Rylstone.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Morton and grandson Reed, accompanied by Mrs. Ivan Morton were in Burnbrae recently where they visited Mr. and Mrs. C. Anderson.

St. Olo

ST. OLA — Sunday evening the congregation of St. Olo Pentecostal Church was thrilled by the talent of the young people of the district when they presented the Nativity story under the leadership of Mrs. M. Hann and Mrs. R. Wood. The choir made up of voices from Gilmour, Gunter and St. Ola sang Christmas carols and Rev. John Bunner gave the Christmas message.

Johnny Hillicar, Ormsby, who has been confined to Belleville General Hospital since suffering a fractured skull and broken his injured leg.

To Your Good Health

Quick Operation Restores Hearing

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article about seeing a doctor before buying a hearing aid.

I was told by a specialist 13 years ago that I had a nerve deafness and was advised to get a hearing aid, which I did. In fact, I've had two. I wore one all this time, and while they are wonderful, nobody knows the agony one goes through wearing one.

Last April a friend gave us the name of another doctor. He told me I was born this way — my father had gone on the blink but he could fix it with an operation (stapedectomy).

I went to the hospital Wednesday, [illegible] the operation Thursday, was out Friday morning and the only pain I had through this was the injection of procaine. They used anesthetic.

By Monday I was doing a wash and some spring cleaning and went back to work at my job the following day.

I had lost 55 per cent of the hearing in that ear and now have to be 25 per cent. My family and I still haven't got over the wonder of it. People are always asking for miracles. To me, this was one.— Mrs. R. G.

It's not a miracle, but rather the fruit of years of hard work and study by ear specialists here and elsewhere.

Cases of impaired hearing which could not be corrected 13 years ago sometimes now can be brought back close to normal — as in your case.

It is beside the point whether you were born that way or an early childhood infection did the damage, but the stapes, one of the tiny bones which conducts sound in the ear, could not move freely.

Thus a hearing aid, by making sounds louder, forced some sound through, but putting the ear mechanism in working order was better.

I wish you hadn't used the word "agony" in connection with hearing aid, as I am sure you meant psychological or emotional "agony". Such aids are not physically painful in any way, but some people, especially younger ones, are painfully shy about wearing them. There's also a problem involved, for some folks, because the very high - scale sounds, rattling dishes, rushing of the wind, rustling papers, and so on are very much magnified!

A hearing aid to amplify sounds is the only means of help for some defects, but many other ear problems are amenable to surgical correction today.

Great strides have been made in recent years in ear surgery — and, for that matter, in hearing aids.

Dear Dr. Molner: After giving up smoking, will nicotine stains fade from teeth?— T. V.

Yes, stains will gradually pal-ish any way, but some people, especially younger ones, are painfully shy about wearing them. There's also a problem involved, for some folks, because the very high - scale sounds, rattling dishes, rushing of the wind, rustling papers, and so on are very much magnified!

Dear Dr. Molner: Mr. A. states categorically that the lubricant supplied by the male in intercourse is completely free of sperm. Mr. B. is equally positive that the opposite is true, that it is rich in sperm. Which is right? — Mrs. T. H.

The actual fact lies somewhere between. The lubricant, (technically, the prostatic fluid) does not in itself contain any sperm. Rather, it serves as a nutrient for the sperm. The prostatic fluid picks up the sperm and carries it along.

The practical purposes, whenever the prostatic fluid appears, it usually has already picked up at least some sperm.

Dr. Molner welcomes all! porated in his column whenever mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorever possible.

Federal-Provincial Conference On Housing Was Not Failure -- PM

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal-provincial conference on housing ended after a full day's duration but did not break up prematurely, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

It achieved its purpose of examining problems of housing and urban growth and follow-up meetings were arranged to see what can be done co-operatively by the federal, and provincial governments, Mr. Pearson said.

He was the first speaker in a special Commons housing debate. Under an all-party agreement, it started at 10 a.m. EST, 4½ hours before the normal opening time for the Thursday sitting.

The prime minister also said there is a need for caution in tackling housing and urban growth problems because of the question of constitutional jurisdiction.

The main jurisdiction for housing rests with the provincial governments, Mr. Pearson said. Some were urging that the government act quickly, without regard for constitutional questions.

"If we went full speed ahead and damned the constitutional torpedoes we wouldn't keep the ship afloat very long."

Mr. Pearson said the invitation sent by Ottawa to the provinces asked them to attend the conference starting Dec. 11 and "continuing perhaps for another day or two." The conference had ended after the second day.

There was no question of the conference "breaking up" before it had done what it set out to do.

Federal and provincial deputy ministers with responsibility for housing matters would be meeting in three months to follow up some of the suggestions made at the conference and ministers from Ottawa and the provinces would be meeting again three months after that.

The purpose of the conference was to examine the "serious problem" of housing and this had been done.

Delegates had discussed the problem of increased costs for housing—up 30 per cent in the last 15 years despite increased efficiency of the construction industry. Mr. Pearson noted that salaries had climbed 100 per cent in the same period.

Population Studies in Quebec Way to Keep Province French

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Masse, minister without portfolio attached to the education department, says Quebec is badly in need of a centre for population studies if it is "to control the evolution of the French-speaking Quebec" and stimulate immigration to the province.

Mr. Masse told Union Nationale supporters at the party's Renaissance Club Wednesday establishment of such a body is essential as present immigration policies are working against French-Canadians in Quebec and the rest of Canada.

The advocate establishment of the centre, he said, is to suggest there would be an advantage in centralizing information on population distribution in Quebec and making it available to public and administrative bodies so that planning at all levels might be approved.

If immigration to Canada continued at its present pace, it would have the effect of "reducing the percentage of French-Canadians across the country by one per cent every five years."

Forecasts indicated that French-speaking people will comprise only 75 per cent of the Quebec population in 1980 compared with 81 per cent in 1967.

Mr. Masse reiterated his call for Quebecers to come to the aid of French-speaking Canadians of other provinces so that the latter group might also partake in the over-all evolution of French Canada.

As for immigrants coming to Quebec and choosing English as their new tongue, Mr. Masse said it was the duty of French-speaking Quebecers to make the French language the most advantageous "economic option" for newly-arrived citizens.

"The immigrants will think seriously of French once this language will become their working language and their language of promotion."

Premier Daniel Johnson announced earlier Wednesday that Mr. Masse will leave his present position soon to devote himself to work involved in renewal of the collective agreement between the government and civil servants.

Pro-Russians Jailed For Opposition to Castro

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro's government has jailed about 40 pro-Soviet Communist party members, including a central committee member, for opposing Castro's policy of exporting revolution, informed sources say.

The sources said Wednesday night that the dissidents could not be described as being against the government but favored a Soviet-style line of concentrating on domestic economic problems. They also opposed the party's campaign to eliminate material rewards for workers.

They said the old-line Communists were arrested three or four months ago. The purge appeared to be part of a crackdown reported earlier against lesser-known Communists and a handful of Havana University professors and students.

The sources said the leader of the group was Anibal Escalante, who was denounced by Castro in 1962 for "sectarianism" and for having old ideas. Escalante later was reported studying in Poland and the Soviet Union and returned to Cuba about two years ago.

Others reported arrested included Ramon Calcines Gordillo, one of the 20 central committee members and head of the Cuban fruit enterprise; Gonzales Garvajal, a former officer in the Committee for the Orientation of the Revolution, which guides party publicity, and Gerardo Sarcbez, a high party official in Pinar del Rio province.

In addition, the sources said, an army major—Cuba's highest military rank—and a captain were jailed.

One source said the old-line Communists were accused of talking against Castro.

Castro discussed his differences with the Soviet line in an interview published in the United States today. He said Cuba is practising "true Marxism-Leninism as we see it" while "Communist countries like Russia are becoming more capitalistic, because they are relying on material incentives more and more."

Montreal Pair Jailed For Refusal to Testify

MONTREAL (CP) — A month-long coroner's inquest into the death of hotel doorman Jules Cooman ended Wednesday when two material witnesses in the case were sentenced to three months in jail for contempt of court.

Coroner Laurin Lapointe took the case under advisement and said he will decide whether criminal charges can be laid after he has studied transcripts of the 18 sittings of the inquest.

He ordered Jacques Pocetti, 36, and Claude Faber, 26, behind bars for their refusal to testify despite his repeated warnings that they were required to do so by law.

Wednesday marked the third occasion the two men had been called to the stand and the third time they had refused to give evidence.

Cooman, 34, was found shot in the head at a north-end intersection in the pre-dawn hours of Nov. 6. Pocetti and Faber were arrested shortly after the body was found and not far from where Cooman lay.

Arresting officers testified at previous sittings of the inquest that they found blood on Faber's hands, on the clothing of both men, and on the car they were driving at the time for their arrest.

Pierre Boulanger, a provincial medico-legal expert, told the inquest Wednesday the blood found on Faber's hands and clothing was of the same type as that of the dead man—type B.

The blood could not have been Faber's own since tests showed his blood group to be type A.

In imposing the three-month sentence, Coroner Lapointe said he had given Faber and Pocetti "time enough to think over" their refusal to testify.

They had been sentenced to eight days in jail for contempt of court Dec. 11, when they first maintained silence. They also refused to testify Monday, when counsel representing them contended they were not obliged to do so under the renewed Coroner's Act.

Coroner Lapointe reserved judgment on the contention until Wednesday after Raymond Daoust, counsel representing Faber, argued that it was "unconstitutional" to make the witnesses testify against themselves.

Coroner Lapointe ruled Wednesday that Pocetti and Faber are not accused of having committed a crime, but are only witnesses and therefore obliged under the Coroner's Act to testify.

Fire Kills Woman

NORWOOD, Ont. (CP) — A 58-year-old woman died early today in a fire in her two-storey home here, 17 miles east of Peterborough.

Police said they found several blankets on the ground below the woman's bedroom window. They think she may have tried to use them to cushion a fall, but that she was afraid to jump and remained in the burning building.

The name of the woman was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Leger Talks McLuhan Style

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP) — Paul-Emil Cardinal Leger said Wednesday his resignation as Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal to devote his life to African lepers resulted from a need to turn his preaching into action.

He said the time had come to show "what I preach is the reality — not only words, rhetorical oration."

In an interview, the 63-year-old cardinal said, in language reflecting the theories of fellow Canadian Marshall McLuhan, that:

"The youth of today are what we call audio-visual. The logic of today is not the logic of my day, when we went from principles to conclusion. Today, it is fact, it's the image of a thing."

McLuhan, who recently underwent a successful neurological operation in New York, is the influential theorist on communication who, among other things, is famous for his doctrine that "cool" electronic means of communication are making the printed word obsolete and changing human patterns of thought.

The cardinal, who had visited Africa four years ago, arrived from Dakar Tuesday as Dahomey was going through its political upheaval.

He plans to celebrate Christmas with Canadian nuns who run a hospital in Porto Novo, 18 miles east of here.

Astrological Forecasts

For December 22

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Plan for activity connected with fellow workers. People want to perform services for you. You have way of winning others to your side today. People from afar gather — you are in center.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Good lunar-Jupiter aspect highlights love, romance, creative activity. Nothing stands still for you today. Move with the tide. Make changes. Help young persons help themselves.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Obtain hint from Aries message. Make domestic adjustment. Let others express their views. Many want to aid. Don't let pride stand in way of progress.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Fine for journeys, reunion with relatives. Social life is spurred. You get around today. Many communicate their thoughts, desires. Fine for expanding sphere of interest.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 23): You can earn more money, hike income potential today. Don't merely lean back and wait. Instead, strike while iron is hot. Jupiter-moon positions are favorable to your finances.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Cycle high. Element of timing is on your side. You can finish important task and begin another project. Many express gratitude, show their respect. Be worthy by being gracious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): What you previously doubted or feared is brought into open. Now is time to stand up for beliefs, rights. Take initiative. Do not be awed by reputation or tradition.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Some of your fondest hopes, wishes can be fulfilled. Wonderful social evening indicated. Be with one who sparks your interest. Steer clear of those who constantly complain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Success indicated in community or special project. Your influence spreads. Superiors are favorably impressed. Career could receive boost. Make contacts. Attend social function.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Travel favored. Long-range planning produces good results. Excellent day for advertising neurons, creative efforts and most forms of publishing. Unusual experience could change your thinking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Good money news for mate or partner. Fine for legal maneuvres. Circumstances favor your case, argument. Keep communication lines open. Delve deep. Avoid the superficial.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): If patient and confident, results of efforts pay off. Especially good for reunion with loved one. You can settle differences, cement friendships. Make up your mind — then go forward.

If today is your birthday . . . you have a mind of your own — you demand the truth, whether pleasant or otherwise. You have sense of destiny, realize time is on your side. People want you around when they're in trouble — you provide inspiration. Recent confusion is corrected and you are due to settle down on a more solid base.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Virgo, Libra. Special word to Cancer: One who appears to oppose you could now become your ally.

Pope Offers to Mediate War—LBJ May Visit Him on Way Home

Pope Amazed Negotiations Rejected

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul offered today to mediate in the Vietnam war as the expectation grew here that President Johnson would visit him before Christmas.

The Pope, in his Christmas address to the College of Cardinals, said he was saddened and amazed that all attempts at impartial mediation had been foiled and said he has dared to offer his collaboration.

But no confirmation was available from the Vatican, Italian authorities, or the American embassy.

Vatican sources said if the president should wish to come, the Pope, who has been conducting a personal campaign for peace in Vietnam, would be glad to receive him.

The Pope told the cardinals: "We are saddened and amazed to observe how each disinterested offer of mediation has been made in vain, and each attempt at honest and peaceful negotiations rejected, while an honorable solution to the grievous and threatening dispute seem to us still possible."

LBJ Leaves for Unknown Destination

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — President Johnson left Australia today after attending memorial services for Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt and conferring with his Vietnam allies but kept his next stop a secret.

Johnson's plane flew north from Melbourne and stopped in Darwin, on the north central coast, for a refueling stop-which was not announced in advance. The route indicated that the president was on his way to visit U.S. troops in Vietnam or Thailand rather than that he was flying direct to Washington via the Pacific.

There have also been rumors the President would stop in Rome to talk with Pope Paul.

Two men with guns touched off a security scare in separate incidents at the memorial service for Prime Minister Harold Holt.

A U.S. security agent spotted an Australian reporter on a rooftop close to St. Paul's Cathedral where leaders of 20 nations gathered for the service.

The security man, waving a gun, went up to question him as more reporters watched from a nearby press centre building.

The other incident involved a youth detained near government house with a .303-calibre rifle shortly after Prime Charles and President Johnson arrived there after the service.

Bill Would Make Lotteries Legal

Breath Tests Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Compulsory breath tests for suspected drinking drivers, included in the government's latest Criminal Code revisions, grow out of studies that show "alcohol is a major factor in road accidents," the justice department says.

The revision set out in the broad new bill given first reading in the Commons Thursday would make it an offence for a driver to refuse the breath analysis test without reasonable excuse.

He could be required to take it by any police officer who had "reasonable and probable grounds" for thinking the driver's ability was impaired.

Refusal to take the test would constitute an offence punishable by the same penalties that can be applied to a person convicted of impaired driving.

The bill sets a percentage of .10 alcohol in the blood as the mark at which driving ability is impaired. Justice officials said this percentage could be reached by a person of average build by consuming six drinks, each with a one-ounce shot of liquor, over an hour.

Bill Allows Homosexual Private Acts

OTTAWA (CP) — Homosexual behavior between two consenting adults in private would no longer be a criminal offence if a government bill now before Parliament is passed.

Changes in the Criminal Code also would make it impossible to label homosexuals as "dangerous sexual offenders" and send them to indefinite preventive detention for homosexual acts.

Present law provides a penalty of up to 14 years in prison for buggery or bestiality, and up to five years for acts of gross indecency.

The change in the Criminal Code would exempt acts done in private between husband and wife "or any two adults," providing there is consent.

The new law specifies that privacy disappears if more than two persons, consenting or not, are involved.

Abortion Ban To Be Eased

OTTAWA (CP) — Sweeping changes designed to bring the Criminal Code in line with advanced social thought were introduced in the Commons Thursday. Justice Minister Trudeau predicted they will win rapid and overwhelming approval.

"Parliament has shown in the past week that it is prepared to deal with so-called progressive legislation," the liberal-minded 46-year-old justice minister said.

He evidently was referring to legislation adopted by Parliament this week to broaden the grounds for divorce.

The Criminal Code changes brought forward by Mr. Trudeau, who has been justice minister for eight months, are the most extensive since a revision in the early 1950s.

Four of the major areas of change:

—Legalization of therapeutic abortions where a hospital committee certifies that a continued pregnancy could endanger a mother's life or health;

Abortion Law Would Divide Hospitals

OTTAWA, (CP) — Relations between Roman Catholic and non-Catholic hospitals would be severely strained by any liberalization of the abortion law, the Catholic Hospital Association of Canada said in a policy statement Thursday.

The association, representing 300 hospitals, said it recognizes a need to clarify the present Criminal Code section on abortion but it is opposed to any expansion of the grounds for legal abortions.

It said such a move would split Canadian hospitals into "dissenting" and "consenting" groups. The consenting non-Catholic hospitals would have to bear the entire load of a new mass of clients.

Ban on News Reports Of Hearings Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — A new section in the Criminal Code would prohibit newspaper publication or broadcasting of reports of evidence taken during preliminary inquiries if the accused asks for such prohibition.

The new section is included in an omnibus bill amending the Criminal Code which was introduced in the Commons Thursday by Justice Minister Trudeau and given first reading.

The code now prohibits publication or broadcasting of a report of any confession submitted in evidence at a preliminary inquiry until the accused has been discharged or, if committed for trial, his trial has ended.

The new section, clause 32, would extend this principle to all evidence adduced at preliminary inquiries if the accused so wishes.

This evidence may be published or broadcast after the accused has been discharged or, if committed to stand trial, his trial is completed.

Two airmen were enroute to Canadian Forces Base Trenton when their small single-engine plane crumpled into the ground north of Shannonville last night. OPP Constable Glen Hiuser ponders wreckage after plane crashed near Trans-Canada pipeline and powerful transformer. Pipeline employee Neil Campbell (inset) heard crash.

Flying Home From Skiing, Airmen Crash in Tyendinaga

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

SHANNONVILLE — The difference of a few degrees in the descent of their fuel-dry aircraft may have diverted two airmen from possible death north of here last night.

The light, single-engine plane dipped to earth over a compressor station on the trans-Canada gas pipeline, crashing on an entrance road across from a 4,000-volt transformer.

Its pilot, P/IL. John MacIntosh, 23, was rushed to military hospital in Kingston with severe fractures in both legs, after police and ambulance drivers worked 90 minutes to cut him from the wreckage.

The second airman, F/O Vern Horning, 23, today was still in Belleville General Hospital with face and head lacerations. He scrambled from the wreck and ran to seek help.

Both men, stationed at the Trenton base, were flying back from skiing in the Laurentians, say police, when they ran into a driving rain squall.

The two-seater Champion Citabria, owned by Trenton Flying Club, angled to the ground, shearing a wing against a light standard in the station yard, and tumbling into a roadside ditch, just north of Tyendinaga township's third concession road.

Moments before the crash the airmen made radio contact with the base control tower about 8:30 p.m. but reported nothing amiss, said police.

Then the aircraft suddenly disappeared from the tower's radar screen. Search and rescue units at the base were alerted.

Meantime, at the pipeline station Neil Campbell, 21, of Gananoque, a supervisor on long duty, heard what he thought was "a loud bang."

"I thought it was something to do with the controls," he said, and went to check the station's machinery.

"As I walked out the door into the yard I saw that a light pole was down," recalled Campbell. "I walked over and saw the plane and came back to get on the phone to the police.

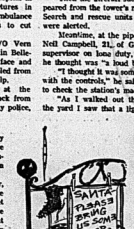
"While I was on the phone one of the men came through the door. He was bleeding from the head and hollering for help."

Campbell said the airman (Horning) told him the plane had run out of fuel.

"He said they were heading back to Trenton and they ran out of gas."

Provincial Police and ambulances rushed from Belleville to the crash scene where they found MacIntosh trapped in the wreckage.

Ambulance drivers Robert Howell and Len Steele worked for nearly ninety minutes with hacksaws to free the man. At one point, a doctor was called from Belleville to administer sedation to MacIntosh through his ordeal.



He was rushed to hospital in Belleville, then transferred to Kingston.

THE WEATHER

A sudden reversal of balmy weather (the temperature reached 53 at Windsor Thursday) was occurring today in southern and central Ontario.

Thursday's 42 at White River, broke the old high temperature record for that city of 42 set back in 1934. This morning the mercury there plunged to about five degrees and heavy snow was falling.

Cold winds whipping across the Great Lakes today will begin to pile up snow in the snow belt areas of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. Thursday night Sudbury reported gusts up to 45 miles per hour and a chance of gusts to 50 or more continues through most of Ontario today.

News Briefs

LONDON (CP) — Canada still lacks national identity but deserves respect for avoiding the ways of chauvinism, British television viewers have been told. A 50-minute BBC program about the country, beamed to a mass audience Thursday night, termed Canada's immense size the "supreme enemy" of its identity quest.

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society has sent another $15,000 in aid to Vietnam, the society's national commissioner announced Thursday. Maj.-Gen. Arthur Wrinch said this brings the total medical and financial aid to Vietnam this year to $20,000 split evenly between north and south.

Parks Board Plans Winter Works Program

The approach of winter is not going to hold up development work on the city parks system with the local parks board planning to keep men on a winter works program.

During this month and throughout January four men will work on a designated area of the township park immediately east of the city to develop a parking area and also an area suitable for picnics.

The six to seven acre park property, owned by Thurlow township, is between the "old" Kingston Road and No. 2 highway immediately to the east of the city limits. The roadside picnic park is being developed by the city parks department in co-operation with the township.

MORE

Also this winter, if purchase agreements are completed in time, a winter works development program will be carried out on the Fry property on Canniffon Road.

The Fry property forms parts of a riverside park development area extending for a considerable distance along the east bank of the Moira River.

The first stage of the development area was put into use last summer as a scenic picnic area.

In the same general area is the Orr property, containing a substantial stone house, which has been purchased by the city for park development. The old Orr residence is expected to be put into use next year by the Quinte Arts Council for meetings and other projects.

Pilot Trapped in Cabin

Provincial police officer probes into the cabin of crashed aircraft near Shannonville last night. Rescue workers took 90 minutes to free pilot Fl. Lt. John MacIntosh, one of two Trenton based airmen homeward bound when the small single engined plane tumbled to ground near pipeline station.

Holidays Under Way At Albert College

Students at Albert College have already commenced their Christmas holidays, but before classes closed yesterday Santa Claus made his annual appearance.

Santa's visit was all part of the Christmas banquet program at which students bowed out their teachers prior to the start of the holiday season.

The traditional caroling of the Boot's Head instituted proceedings, in Ackerman Hall which so tastefully decorated with tinsel, holly and streamers.

Board chairman Lorne McDougall represented the college board of governors and brought seasonal greetings. Carol singing and a brief program in the chapel concluded the evening.

Breath

The breath analysis legislation is similar to that which came into force in Britain Oct. 8. The number of accidents resulting in death or injury dropped 42 per cent in metropolitan London in the next month.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council welcomed the proposed Canadian change as a "much-needed deterrent to impaired and drunk driving."

The test for drivers suspected of impairment would be made in two parts, a test and a reading of .10 per cent of alcohol or more would be prima facie evidence of impairment.

Justice officials said a man of normal size would have to take six drinks in an hour to prodges such a reading.

The highway safety council said it is disappointed that the reading won't be eight-hundredths of one per cent but it believed that the law, if passed, "will result in an immediate reduction in traffic accidents."

The compulsory breath test is an addition to the code, not a substitution for any present clause. This means that a driver could be charged with impaired driving even if a breath test showed the percentage of alcohol in his blood was less than .10.

The new bill stipulates that a properly-conducted breath analysis test, taken within two hours of the driver's apprehension constitutes solid evidence of the alcohol level in the blood of a driver at the time of any alleged offence.

The bill does not require that the driver submit to other tests, such as those of blood or urine.

Barry Mather (NDP—New Westminster) said outside the Commons that if the breath test changes are as effective as similar laws recently adopted in Britain they could save 1,700 lives a year in Canada.

Construction Value in Thurlow In Past Year Totals $772,800

New building construction in Sidney township during 1967 amounted to more than three quarters of a million dollars, members of the township council were told at their December meeting.

During the year there were 197 building permits issued for a total construction value of $772,800.

At its final meeting of the year, council appointed Gerald Irvine as the township representative to the Moira River Conservation Authority for 1968. Trustees for the enlarged Bay of Quinte High School District will be Ross Madden for a two-year term and Gerald Irvine, one year.

Application was made to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval to finance water and sewer service to the Loyalist College.

The final documents were completed with regard to the protective signals at the Airport Crossing of the Canadian National Railway.

An enquiry from the Department of Highways for Ontario was received asking whether ratepayers would request street lights for Glen Miller area on No. 33 highway and the westerly Township road leading off Highway No. 33.

A committee of council was appointed to make the industrial survey for the Ontario Development Corporation application to include the Township of Sidney in Equalization of Industrial Opportunity Program.

Larger Lakes Still Open in Some Districts

The Bay of Quinte and the larger lakes in the Belleville and Napanee areas are still open, but there is nine to 11 inches of ice on the smaller lakes in the Dacre area, according to the Tweed forestry office.

At Bancroft the smaller lakes have four to five inches of ice with two to four inches on smaller lakes in the Tweed area.

But the story is the same for most of the larger lakes — only from one to three inches or still open.

Green Christmas Expected

First Day of Winter... And No Snow

Tis the first day of winter and all through the district not a snowflake was stirring . . .

However, the weather made a formal bow to this by dropping temperatures and sending a cold, driving wind through the Quinte area.

Winter officially began today at 8.17 a.m.

Six hours earlier the unseasonal balminess of Christmas week 1967 peaked to a temperature high of 54 degrees.

Then the decline set in and winter was ushered along a corridor of dropping degrees until by noon the mercury was shivering at 33.

To compound the chill, winds gusted up to 42 miles an hour throughout the morning.

Meantime, hopes for an all-white Christmas have faded.

The best the duty forecaster could predict at Canadian Forces Base Trenton today was the possibility of snow flurries tonight and over the weekend — but "nothing significant."

Parks Board Recommends Buying Church for Centre

The Belleville Parks Board has recommended purchase of the Hillcrest United Church for use as a community centre in that area.

The board recommendation for the city to purchase the church at a nominal sum was made this week at the final parks board meeting of the year.

The proposal of the Parks board is that the Hillcrest church be operated in a similar manner to the Park Dale Community Centre with the ownership vested in the Parks Board. The building would be operated in conjunction with the Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association as a meeting place for cubs, scouts and brownies and other area activities.

Due to lack of a supply minister the Hillcrest Church hasn't been used for church services since early in the summer. However, it still has not been officially closed by the Presbytery and the Church is being used for Sunday School meetings until the end of December.

City council will be asked to decide on the purchase early in the New Year.

Obituaries and Funerals

WILLIAM RUSHLOW

A lifetime resident of the Belleville area Mr. William Rushlow, 92 South John Street, died in Belleville General Hospital today following a brief illness. He was in his 66th year.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Rushlow, he was an adherent of St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

Predeceased in February of this year by his wife, the former Ethel Annie Peck, he is survived by a son Clifford J. Rushlow of this city.

There are four brothers, Ralph and Stanley of Toronto, Edward of Shannonville, and Jim of Woodstock, and three sisters, Miss Marguerite Rushlow, Mrs. Arthur (Kathleen) Lasleuvre, and Mrs. George (Loretta) Barnett, all of Toronto. One brother Ormonde predeceased him.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from the Thompson Funeral Chapel with service conducted by Archdeacon A. S. McConnell. Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery.

ABANDONS SEARCH

OAK HARBOR, Wash. (CP) — The U.S. navy Thursday abandoned a search for a patrol plane that vanished with 14 men aboard on a Dec. 14 flight from Kodiak, Alaska, to the Whidbey Island naval air station here. The navy said scores of planes and ships, covering land and sea areas along the twin-engine SP2H Neptune's intended route, failed to find a single clue.

Justice officials said a man of normal size would have to take six drinks in an hour to prodges such a reading.

The highway safety council said it is disappointed that the reading won't be eight-hundredths of one per cent but it believed that the law, if passed, "will result in an immediate reduction in traffic accidents."

The compulsory breath test is an addition to the code, not a substitution for any present clause. This means that a driver could be charged with impaired driving even if a breath test showed the percentage of alcohol in his blood was less than .10.

The new bill stipulates that a properly-conducted breath analysis test, taken within two hours of the driver's apprehension constitutes solid evidence of the alcohol level in the blood of a driver at the time of any alleged offence.

The bill does not require that the driver submit to other tests, such as those of blood or urine.

Barry Mather (NDP—New Westminster) said outside the Commons that if the breath test changes are as effective as similar laws recently adopted in Britain they could save 1,700 lives a year in Canada.

The former used car lot across from Memorial Park on Station Street has been chosen by the public skating area. Ed McKinney and Don Whalen of the board looked over the site this morning.

Outdoor Rink Planned

Get your skates sharpened! As soon as the weather becomes a little more conducive to skating a new rink will be open to the public.

The Belleville Real Estate Board will create a natural outdoor rink that will be open at all times to the public free of charge.

Due to the large outdoor-lighting system available at a vacant lot across from Memorial Park, the site has been chosen for the new skating area.

The board plans to utilize the lights and the former used car lot to provide day and night skating — complete with music. The lot may have to be levelled off a little before it is flooded but the only obstacle left is the weather.

"The new rink will be open at the first possible opportunity," said Don Whalen this morning when he and Ed McKinney, also of the Real Estate Board, went out to look at the site.

The entire facilities will be offered to the people at the expense of the Belleville Real Estate Board.

West Bridge Street Hill Paving Will Not Start Until Summer

Repaving of West Bridge Street hill was part of the election platform for several aldermanic candidates at the municipal election early this month, but the job is not expected to get done before sometime next summer.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell told city council this week that construction of underground storm sewers was expected to commence in February, but that the actual rebuilding and paving would have to wait until the summer.

Separate tenders for the storm sewers and for the street rebuilding and paving are expected to be called.

It still hasn't been decided whether the new paving will be concrete or "flexible" asphalt.

Several of this year's council members feel that concrete for the hill section of the street would be the most serviceable.

This feeling has been prompted as result of the bump condition of the present asphalt paving which has been "pushed" downhill by heavy traffic.

When tenders are called for the street reconstruction it is expected prices will be asked for both asphalt and concrete surfaces.

Brighton Boy Held in BC

VANCOUVER (CP) — Herbert Kenneth Seward, 18, of Brighton, Ont., pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery Wednesday and was remanded to Dec. 28 for pre-sentence report.

Seward told Magistrate Lorne Jackson he was broke, jobless and homesick and wanted to get the money to pay his train fare home.

He said he entered the service station five times before he had nerve enough to produce a homemade pistol and demand money. He fled when the owner said the cash register could not be opened.

Follwell Heads Group

Belleville realtors are looking forward to another year of expanded sales in 1968, says Frank Follwell, elected yesterday as president of the Belleville and District Real Estate Board.

Mr. Follwell says the past year had shown an increase in activity under the board's multiple listing service.

The realtor, a former mayor and MP, succeeds Ed McKinney as president of the organization.

Variety Store Under New Management

DESERONTO — Customers at the former F. E. Gardiner variety store in Deseronto were invited to attend a shopping party one evening early last week, and were served coffee and doughnuts as a preliminary to their shopping for Christmas. The new manager, Tom Stootes, was pleased to see that people from Prince Edward are now taking advantage of the new Quinte Skyline Bridge to shop in Deseronto.

The store was sold last fall to the P. E. A. Griffiths Corporation, which has similar stores in Colborne, Sutton and Minden, and plans to open similar ones in other towns. The manager of the Deseronto store took over November 1, coming from the Colborne branch which he had opened and managed.

The store will close January 28 for renovation and slight enlargement at the back. The second store, also bought by the Corporation, will not be included at the present time.

It is hoped that the store will reopen two weeks later, carrying an enlarged stock of women's and children's clothing, together with the present variety, perhaps with some lines dropped.

Village Scene Tops in Originality

This Christmas lighting scene depicting a small country village with spired church centrepiece won the top Utilities' Commission prize for originality in the West Hill area. The picturesque rural setting with its individually lighted buildings and "action" church bell is at 40 Ritchie Ave., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beeby.

The Cat Came Back-- From Picton to Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP) — Christmas arrived a week early for five-year-old Allan Deveau when his pet cat Timmy staggered into the Deveaus' new home here after a 70-mile journey from their old home in Picton, Ont. The journey lasted about three months.

"I don't know how he found us," said Mary Deveau, the boy's mother. "But he's the best Christmas present my boy could have had."

She said Allan cried for days after the three-year-old tomcat was left on a farm of friends near Elmhurst, five miles from Picton, when they moved in July.

"I couldn't believe it," she said when Allan ran into the house Sunday and told her Timmy was outside.

She said the cat was left behind because of the fear that it might be killed in city traffic.

Films Under Fire

The CBC is under fire again — this time with regard to two films produced in conjunction with the National Film Board at a cost of $831,813.

The films are Waiting for Caroline, concerning the relationship of a young girl with two lovers, one English Canadian and one French Canadian, and The Ernie Game, about a young man who was unable to adapt himself to society and eventually committed suicide.

They have been described by Senator Edgar Fournier of New Brunswick as indecent, immoral and repulsive.

"I never thought I would live to see the day when so much public funds, your money and mine, was spent to produce such degrading films," he told the Senate.

We have not seen the films, but even allowing for wide variations in public taste and in interpretation of art forms, Senator Fournier's condemnation is the most caustic and unequivocal that it likely has many supporters.

This is Christmas time and a good season to question the appropriateness of the programming provided by the publicly-financed Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. There seems to be a strong predilection among producers for programs dealing with subjects in dubious taste, and with facets of life that are morbid, violent and depraved.

There is a tendency to present not only this kind of programming but also topics reeking with gloom and doom. In public affairs programs the screen presents a succession of long faces and a plethora of uninteresting conversational platitudes.

The CBC would do well to give us less gloom and perverseness and more light and accent on subjects that are both stimulating and edifying.

Poor Taste

How much licence should be tolerated in student behavior even in this enlightened age?

Young people today operate within a range of permissiveness unknown a decade ago. The availability of birth control pills on university campuses, the dependence on drugs (including LSD which latest reports say is even more dangerous than had been thought), the increasingly open nature of society and consequent slackening of family ties . . . all have contributed to this trend.

Another aspect of youthful behavior which has been around for a long time, and is none the less reprehensible for that fact, is the poor taste that often characterizes university publications.

For instance, the University of Windsor's weekly publication, The Lance, has been accused by university president Dr. J. F. Leddy of "squalid vulgarity" and doing a disservice to the institution. He said the publication was using language in its articles "sometimes encountered scribbled on the walls of public lavatories."

The students' publication committee replied by condemning university administration for not dealing with editors of other student publications. Clearly, this is no answer to an issue which Dr. Leddy quite rightly regards as a reflection on the reputation of the university and on the student body generally.

Language of the kind complained of may be appropriate to a publication such as The Georgia Strait, published by Vancouver hippies, but is hardly synonymous with the supposedly more mature young people in our universities.

High school publications fortunately set a better example. For one thing, students of pre-university age have an element of idealism that seems to get lost in the cynicism that often characterizes the attitudes of young university graduates.

The Mosaic, a four-page paper for Victoria teenagers is an example of the kind of publication anyone could profit from reading. It begins publication this month and will discuss not only the school system but such matters as crowding, teaching problems and the role of student councils.

No nonsense there, and no vulgarity — in fact, no departure from good taste, a quality that is too often lacking today.

Heart Man Dies

It is sad indeed to note the death of South African Louis Washansky after a heart transplant operation that was the world's first and gave so much promise of being successful.

Louis the Capetown grocer survived as long as he did, and for a time showed real progress before complications set in was remarkable in itself.

His passing is a reminder that this world is transient, and that the skills of man are still subject to forces outside his power to control.

Still, the operation was a beginning. Others likely will follow and years added to the lives of people who like Mr. Washansky had little time remaining on this earth.

World Leaders Congregate

Frontier Land Australia Has Room for Expansion

By BEN BASSETT
AP Foreign News Editor

By the irony of fate an accident rather than the steady course of development is focusing attention on Australia. The largest group of world leaders ever attracted to the country is attending memorial services for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt.

The site is Melbourne, a somewhat old-fashioned city outshone by booming Sydney.

Australia is 2,400 miles across. Though increasingly urbanized in the last 20 years, it is a frontier land with room for expansion. Yet much of its land is either uncultivable or fit only for grazing. While the east coast usually has enough water, Australia in general is the driest of the six main continents.

It's the land of the kangaroo, the wombat and the koala. It also has more sheep than any other country.

There are scores of flowers regarded as exotic and more than 600 species of eucalyptus ranging from stunted shrubs to trees rising almost 600 feet.

Australia is almost self-sufficient. Its main import is oil, but recent discoveries promise to supply much of the country's needs in petroleum, too.

The continent was originally inhabited by aborigines. Mostly people of British stock settled there until the Second World War; now immigrants of Italian and other European backgrounds make the country more cosmopolitan.

British antecedents weigh heavily in Australia. Elizabeth is as much their queen as she is Queen of the British Isles, but many Aussies find more affinity for Americans and the spirit that made them powerful.

Holt, the lost prime minister, campaigned last year on an "all - the - way-with-LBJ" platform regarding Vietnam. The opposition led by Arthur A. Calwell promised to pull Aussies out of Vietnam.

The Country party was formed after the First World War as a rival to the Labor party, an offshoot of trade unionism.

Labor was in office through the Second World War and established the main elements of a welfare state. The Liberal-Country coalition defeated it in 1949, and began to rely more on Washington than London in defence and other mutual interests.

Even so, Australia does not go all the way with the U.S. state department. As does Canada, it sells a lot of wheat to China.

Educational Needs

Two Million in Canada Over 15 Years of Age Have Less Than Grade 8

Letter in The Globe and Mail

It is essential to support your position on retraining as presented in your editorial, An Executive School (Dec. 4). Failure to do so may allow the present situation regarding certain neglected people to continue ignored.

H. A. D. Scott quoted you (Adult Education — Dec. 8), suggesting an error in fact, that "those unable to enter Grade 9 are left beyond help". However, certain statistics and the experience of those whose activities bring them particularly close to the class of adult of concern here (and no other) — the adult who is functionally illiterate — requires specially prepared teachers and a particular kind of classroom environment, with unusual recruiting techniques (as illiterate, for example, cannot read notices). Until this is provided, the Adult Occupational Training Act will exclude those who are earliest affected by recession, job layoff, and the need for retraining, and who even in good times and peak employment seasons often suffer the ignominy of being assumed to be "welfare cases" only, for lack of magic "Grade 9" (or "a good Grade 6" or "brilliant Grade 5").

Manpower's splendid new purpose and training program deserve public support. No doubt when the kinks are ironed out direct skill-development courses will all function smoothly. But the editor of The Globe and Mail was uncanonly correct in recognizing a serious weakness either in the Act or the application of it. It is a certainty that the arbitrary line between training and education has hindered this year ever last. And with this fact fade the opportunities for hundreds of thousands of Canadians who could benefit from basic education and training, as would the economy of the country.

Flight From Quebec?

Industry Eyes Ontario Centres

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

In roughly 12 days after formal announcement had been made that Charlottenburgh township had been accepted for assistance under Ontario's industrial incentive program, Economics and Development Minister Randall disclosed a $171,-000 grant will aid in the establishment of a new industry in the Summerstown Station area.

This is the first grant under the province's new industrial opportunity plan for slow-growth areas. Through it, a 50,000-square-foot industry will be established. The New Castle Products (Canada) Limited has its main operations in Montreal. It has seen fit to expand and has selected the Summerstown Station area as a site for increased operations. This is the second-Montreal-based firm to make this move. The other is the Dantamac Co. plant that has been operating in Charlottenburgh since last spring. Could this be an indication that the instability in Quebec, both politically and economically, is causing such firms to establish plants in nearby Ontario?

If so, both Charlottenburgh and even Cornwall stand to benefit from an industrial development standpoint. Cornwall, once known as the Factory Town noted for its large-scale manufacture of textiles, has become a city of diversified industry. Manufacture of chemicals of various kinds has replaced textiles as the foremost products manufactured here.

The new plant at Summerstown Station will, like similar industries obtained in recent years by Cornwall, start off with small-scale production. It is a growth industry, with good potential.

Already, Cornwall, Kingston and other municipalities seeking new industry, have applied for reclassification under the scheme. Whether Cornwall's application will be approved its expectancy in view of the steady industrial growth experienced here in recent years. Furthermore, Cornwall can be classified as a small municipality. The same applies to Kingston and other cities of comparable size.

Immigration Procedure

Hamilton Spectator

A young Portuguese, told he must leave Canada by December 21, leapt to his death last week from the ninth floor of the Revenue Building in Montreal. Asked about the tragedy in the Commons, Manpower Minister Marchand said the Immigration Department tried to be humane in dealing with its cases and a note would be made of procedures.

This sad case should serve anew to show Canadians how deeply some people yearn to settle in this country. Impatient, or fearful that their qualifications are unacceptable, some break the rules, slip into the country as visitors and hope to have their way through to stay. Accepted as landed immigrants.

Today in History

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 22, 1967 . . .

President Thomas Jefferson got the United States Congress to pass the Embargo Act 160 years ago today — in 1807 — by which all foreign commerces were forbidden. France and England were at war and between them were paralyzing the American seaborne commerce. Jefferson believed the warring powers would abandon their decrees blockading each other. He was wrong, however, and was forced to repeal the act four days before he retired from the presidency in 1809.

Devaluation Hits Pennies

Montreal Gazette

Language purists have been upset for a long time by the American choice of the word "penny" when they should say "cent."

The penny, of course, does not exist in the United States money system. It is British and, at the original value of the pound, it was worth two cents.

The purists needn't worry any longer. The latest devaluation of the pound has cut its trading worth to an even half of what it was before 1949. So the British penny is now worth just one cent. Interchanging the terms doesn't really matter.

EMO Test Is A Flop

St. Catharines Standard

The recent abysmal failure of the attack warning siren test suggests that the time has come to either be serious about this whole business of civil defence and survival measures or to wind up the Emergency Measures Organization and forget about the whole thing.

The results of the city siren test were not wholly unexpected. If you were indoors and had the windows closed (and how many people keep their windows open at this time of the year) chances are you did not hear the sirens. If you were in a busy office or in a plant — and that's after all, where most working people are — you couldn't hear the sirens even with a window open. Out of doors, the sirens were hardly audible at noisy street level in the downtown area — and that's where most people are if they're not indoors.

Of course, the army insists that people indoors aren't supposed to receive their attack warning by means of the sirens. Radio and TV will inform people who are indoors, says the army. And how many people in offices and plants, in schools and stores, are tuned in to radio or TV at, say, 11 a.m.?

Teenagers Are Slicing Into Commercial Pie of Christmas

MONTREAL (CP) — Teenagers are slicing into the commercial pie of Christmas by selling their own home-made products and ideas to adults.

Several Montreal teen-age-staffed groups—some as many as two dozen volunteers and employees—have been capitalizing on the Christmas sales boom by marketing products made in their own basements. They report they can't keep up with demand.

One group of three 17-year-olds, headed by Robert Kerlin and calling itself Unifax International, even provides a Christmas advisory service for parents bewildered by what to buy their own teen-age children.

Anxious-to-please parents can fill out a form stating how much they are willing to spend on Christmas presents and detailing their children's interest in schoolwork, hobbies, clothes or

For $5 the client gets a specially-designed list of suggested gifts, from model airplane kits complete with glue to hangnail buys in popular records. For $15 the Unifax experts will even buy the gifts, and a $25 "luxury package" even includes suggestions for messages to write on Christmas cards.

These are some of the items being sold by other teen-agers:

Gold-painted Christmas trees and silk-screened Christmas cards; patch-work oven mitts and wooden bread boards; plaster wall plaques, aluminum cookie sheets, and initialled telephone pads.

One group even advertises "clay pipes for marijuana smokers." Another has its own design for milk bottle washers—a sponge attached to a hollow plastic handle filled with liquid detergent.

The Junior Achievement Association of Montreal has helped several of these groups get started. The association provides the teen-agers with a pool of executives from large Canadian corporations, to be used as part-time advisors for any problem from production to marketing.

The sponsor companies include Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd., the Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd., Canadair and the Royal Bank of Canada.

One such group is called Jaco. Under 16-year-old president, Patricia Teixeira, 22 high-school students produce gold-painted Christmas trees made of macaroni and spaghetti glued on cardboard cones.

The company has issued 100 shares of common stock, has a board of directors and vice-presidents for sales and marketing. About 200 trees have been marketed at $2.50 each in the last eight weeks.

A company spokesman said sales have been so successful that directors are considering manufacturing pen-holders from railroad spikes after Christmas orders have all been met. He did not explain.

Crescent Crafts, run by Philip Ateburg, 16, of suburban Ville d'Anjou, markets hobby kits of popsicle sticks called "Stick-M-Up." They come complete with the sticks, glue, paints and instructions for making birdhouses and recipe holders.

More than 1,000 of these kits have been sold, door-to-door and through a chain of department stores in Montreal. Christmas sales have forced production up more than 50 per cent.

A spokesman said the 39-cent price-tag has hurt sales. "Its too low," he added. "But we'll have more experience if we go into production for Christmas."

Another group, James Jewelry, 14, headed by 16-year-old Ronald St. Martin, its 24 teen-aged managers and salesmen have been marketing about $100 a week in home-made key chains at $1.25 each and bracelets at $4.50 each.

Joan Hamilton, 15, of suburban Ville d'Anjou, is president of Dunmitt, a group of 18 teen-agers producing over mitts. Their factory is a Verdun bowling centre store rented for the nominal fee of $4 a month, has turned out 125 pairs of the mitts at $1.25 a pair.

Change Would Clarify Abortion Regulations

made hospitals and doctors wary of performing them for some time.

Only this week, the Commons health committee recommended that the code be clarified, and that therapeutic abortion be allowed, as it would be under the Trudeau bill.

Mr. Trudeau said the federal government doesn't intend to initiate a national lottery. However, it would be able to do so "if and when" one was desired.

The legislation was aimed mainly at provinces wanting lotteries. Quebec had a lottery law on the books since 1934, awaiting enabling legislation in Ottawa. Manitoba also has expressed interest in operating a lottery.

Unlike the United States, where federal laws prohibit inter-state lotteries or sweepstakes, Canadian provinces could sell tickets in another province with permission of the second province.

Provinces would also be able to license religious and charitable organizations to operate lotteries with an annual limit of $10,000 in prizes.

Agricultural fairs would be able, under provincial licence, to sell tickets on and off the fair grounds for a prize not exceeding $25,000.

Churches and charitable groups would be able to hold small games of chance, prizes limited to $100 and "raffles of small value" could be held by such organizations under municipal licence.

All race tracks with federal or provincial incorporation would be able to hold pari-mutuel betting. Ottawa would have the authority to collect one per cent of the total amount bet on behalf of one per cent of the amount wagered if it wished, and 10 saddle racing instead of eight days would be allowed daily at such tracks.

New firearms legislation puts sawed-off shotguns and rifles, silencers and switchblade knives in the prohibited weapons category and makes handguns and automatic rifles restricted weapons. It also makes the federal cabinet to put other weapons in such categories.

Offenders may be prohibited from having a firearm for five years after release.

At present only retailers of firearms must keep records but under the new law, manufacturers, importers, repairmen and pawnshop operators also would be required to keep records on restricted weapons.

Anyone under 14 would be prohibited from obtaining guns, arms or ammunition, changing a law that now allows children as old as 10 to obtain permits.

Restrictions on the possession of master auto keys, a new law to deal with harassing telephone calls and a law that could prohibit repeated offenders from keeping a domestic animal or bird for up to two years after conviction for cruelty to animals also are among the new laws.

Another new law would tighten up restrictions on forged passports.

Within the court room itself:

—Publication or broadcasting of evidence taken at a preliminary hearing could be prohibited at the wish of the accused.

—Provision would be also applied to appoint a board to review at least every six months the case of a person in custody after being found unfit by reason of insanity to stand trial or not guilty because of insanity. There is no provision for such review now.

—Either defence or prosecution would be able to appeal acquittals for insanity, or cases where an accused was found unfit to stand trial for this reason.

—Offenders with more than one previous conviction would be eligible for preventive detention.

—Amendments would make it easier and cheaper to appeal summary convictions.

Friars Club Sharks Fleece Millionaires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal grand jury has charged six men with conspiring to fleece millionaires and show-business ladies in rigged card games using spying eyes in the ceiling at Beverly Hills' posh Friars Club.

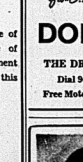
Indictments were returned Thursday after a five-month inquiry into reports of crooked gin rummy games in which sums of as much as $30,000 changed hands.

A spy peering through peepholes in the ceiling would electronically signal from confederate in a game what cards the victim held, it was alleged.

Pleeced Friars included millionaires Harry Karl, husband of actress Debbie Reynolds, and entertainment figures Tony Martin, Phil Silvers and Zeppo Marx, it was claimed. Karl was identified as loser of $9,200 in a single game.

The indictment said the conspiracy began in 1962.

The U.S. attorney said all defendants except one were members of the Friars Club, a charity-and-fun fraternity for the wealthy of show business and its fringes.



The indictment didn't total the losses, unofficially estimated to range between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

Electrohome President Sells Shares to Family

TORONTO (CP) — Carl A. Pollock, president of Electrohome Ltd., said Thursday the sale of 24,000 company shares Nov. 23 was to members of his own family.

Mr. Pollock said the sale was part of a long-term plan to adjust his company holdings for estate purposes.

"The same type of transaction has happened in the past and will certainly occur from time to time in the future," he said.

The shares did not trade Thursday and sold Wednesday at $8.38½, lowest since 1962.

Mr. Pollock held 65,844 shares at the end of last month.

Plainfield Couple Observes 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Robertson of Plainfield were honored guests at a dinner party held recently at Johnny's Restaurant, arranged by the family on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Seated at the dinner table which was centred with a three - tier anniversary cake were the honored guests along their three sons and three daughters with their respective partners.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were married on December 19, 1917 in the Anglican rectory by a Rev. Bonisteel. Mrs. Robertson is the former Elizabeth Chisholm and one of the attendants of the wedding 50 years ago is a resident in the Hastings County Manor, Mrs. Albert Burley.

The couple lived on a farm on the 9th of Tyendinaga for 45 years and moved to Plainfield two years ago. Their three sons are Floyd of West Huntingdon, Calvin of Belleville and Gordon at home, while the three daughters are Mrs. A. (Bessie) Tufts of Corbyville, Mrs. V. (Ruby) Kilpatrick, Shannonville and Mrs. Nelson (Madeline) Vader of Foxboro. There are also eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren who all attended the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson are members of Trinity United Church, Roslin.

At the reception a short program was enjoyed with Rev. George Puttenham as master of ceremonies. A number of old favorites were sung after which Mrs. H. Harry read an appropriate address and on behalf of the family a decorative electric clock was presented by her grandson. The couple also received a Provincial scroll and messages of congratulations were received from Premier J. Roberts, Les Grills, M.P. and Clarke Rollins, M.P.P.

On behalf of the community Mrs. Horace Palmer read a fitting address at which time Stuart Goodfellow presented the couple with a golden colored swivel chair. Many other lovely gifts were received for which they expressed appreciation.

A number of pictures were taken and a tasty buffet luncheon concluded the evening.

PAY RAISE URGED

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A three-man panel has recommended a monthly wage increase of between $34 and $55 for psychiatric nurses in British Columbia mental hospitals. The panel's report would give assistant charge nurses a maximum of $538 a month and charge nurses a maximum of $602.

Work in Intensive Care Units Upsets Few Nurses

TORONTO (CP) — Many nurses cannot stand working in intensive care units because they are upset by death, sociologist Jeanne Quint writes in the current issue of The Canadian Nurse.

Miss Quint said some are upset because patients obviously not going to survive are kept alive. Others are disturbed because of the impersonal manner in which patients are treated.

"Caught in a pull between the task of life-saving at all costs and a desire to provide the patient with a dignified and humane death," Miss Quint said, "some nurses find that they cannot tolerate the tensions of continuous assignments to the intensive care ward."

Miss Quint predicted nurses will face more problems involving death and dying as increase in wards offering technical services for the critically ill or for those undergoing high risk procedures.

Legion News

BRANCH 99 L. A.

In a hall gaily decorated with Christmas trimmings and a colorful Christmas tree, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 99 held their last meeting of 1967. Mrs. Margaret Lewis was initiated into membership.

The report of various committees were read and it was noted that the Auxiliary had concluded another successful year.

The new slate of officers for 1968 is as follows: president, Hope Begley; 1st vice, Gwen Hughes; 2nd vice, Edna Semark; treasurer, Daisy Jeffs; secretary, Mamie Spencer; sergeant-at-arms, Muriel Little.

Executive members are Dorothy Purdy, Margaret Bulger, Augusta Bradford, Loretta Dennis, Mildred Ford, and Annie Haley, with sports officer, Elsie Armstrong.

Comrade Smith thanked the members for all the untiring and willing help they had given the men's branch this year, and looked forward to working with them again next year. "Only by working for the good of this organization, can members expect to enjoy the advantages and privileges of being a Legion member," Comrade Smith concluded.

Comrade Rashotte spoke of the bursaries supported only by Ladies' Auxiliaries and reported they had raised $22,000 across Canada during the past year.

A local girl who is studying to become a teacher had been awarded one of the available bursaries. He also spoke of the emergency fund, which can be given to needy veterans' children endeavoring to complete their education.

Mary Bulger was the winner of the draw. The evening concluded with everyone enjoying a Chinese dinner and the exchange of gifts. The Auxiliary also sent a donation to help the needy families in Belleville.

President Dorothy Rashotte who next year takes office as Zone Commander wished all a Merry Christmas.

PEOPLE INCREASE

Poland's population, now just over 32,000,000, will increase by 1,000,000 every three years, predicts the chairman of the Polish Central Office of Statistics, Dr. W. Kawalec.

(5) Sneaks out of bed on Sunday morning and goes to a good restaurant for a huge breakfast all by himself.

(6) Was nowhere around when his three children were born.

(7) Walks out of his own home when his in-laws are visiting because they don't agree with him on the war in Vietnam.

(8) Chews hard candy or potato chips when he telephones his mother because he knows the crunching drives her crazy.

It sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Well, the man is my husband. Although I am not a very good writer, I am a smart woman. Yet I can't figure out what the clod is trying to prove. I hope you will print this letter. Maybe if he sees how he looks in the newspaper he will straighten up and fly right. — BATTLE FIGURE.

DEAR BAT: Don't expect miracles, Lady. I'm printing your letter for other wives who write. Your husband will make their husbands look good.

In the meantime, how come a smart woman like you picked such a clinker?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son, Sam, who is 19, and a sophomore in college, was required to write a theme on some kind of business venture. It was to be "real, interesting and workable." Sam asked his dad's help with the assignment. Instead of giving the boy a few ideas, Sam's father threw himself into the project body and soul. He spent several hours on the theme, took it down to the office, dictated it to his secretary and had it all typed up. He then handed over the finished project to Sam who was delighted, naturally, since it had saved him hours of work.

Sam annoyed with my husband for doing this. He says I am all wet, that the theme was "his" and he hopes Sam asks his help again. I have no doubt that he will. May I have your views? — MEAN MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Sam knows he is not being honest when he hands in a theme he did not write. It's bad enough when a friend helps pull off this cutie but when a boy's father helps him cheat, it's outrageous. I hope your husband won't be too shocked when his son gets caught at some crooked act of a more serious nature. If he asks you, "Where did I fail?" you can tell him.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is getting married next month and we have had so many arguments that I'm ready to buy her a ladder and tell her to elope.

Now she has decided to wear white gloves with her wedding gown because she saw it in a movie. She does not remember what the bride did when the groom put the ring on her finger. She says he must have put the ring on over the glove. This does not sound right to me. Please give us your opinion! — BOUND SIX.

* * *

DEAR ROUND: A wedding ring over a glove makes no sense. If your daughter wants to wear gloves, she should remove them when she reaches the altar.

Dear Doris: My future husband is 22, I am 18. He was brought up by his aunt and uncle; they are both old but still very lively, believe me.

When we get married we have to move in with them, which I don't like very much but will do it for his sake. If we don't we lose everything, including what he has put into the house.

He doesn't want me to be sorry for marrying him but now he feels that I will be. He thinks we should forget the whole thing. But I'm satisfied with what he has to offer me. —Nervous Type.

Dear Nervous: Then say so, in no uncertain terms. If you aren't that certain, take a little more time.

It is hard enough getting accustomed to living with a husband, without having two older people around the house. Who would be running this home?

I'd like to see you detach yourself for a while; keep on with your job and get a new interest away from him. If you must eventually go into a home which includes another generation, you'll need more maturity than you have now to swing it.

• • •

Dear Doris: My friend is a single girl living with a married man. She is not proud of the way they are living, but it's no use to tell them to separate. There is more love between them than many married couples. —

What they want to do is buy a house and she would like to take his name. (Because of religion and other complications he cannot get a divorce). She is working and going under her own name but she cannot take friends to the apartment because they all believe she lives alone.

If she pretended some Monday morning at work that they got married over the weekend, would she have to present a marriage certificate to her employer? Also, what complications would this cause with her income tax returns? — Legal Problem.

Dear Legal: My legal adviser tells me she or anyone else may use whatever name she wishes. There is nothing in law to stop her. As for an employer asking to see a marriage certificate—that is hard to imagine.

They should continue to file separate income tax returns; and if they buy a house together, they should use their proper names.

Need I mention that this lack of proper marital status would give any children just no status at all?

• • •

Confidential to Mummy: With a very young child, there is no time but the present. Having to wait a while for any fulfilment may be beyond his understanding.

Later he will be more willing to plan events for tomorrow or next week, or postpone something in which he is particularly interested, knowing that "later" will come. And the more meticulous you are about keeping every jingle promise you make, the easier this will be for both of you.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Amy, stop playing with your food. Look how messy you have everything."

Father: "Why does she have to smear everything on her face? Maybe she's too little to feed herself."

A small child learns by doing. Remove the food if it's obvious she only wants to play with it. By the age of 2 or 3, she should be quite adept at feeding herself.

Serve finger foods — cubes of meat and vegetables, little sandwiches, pieces of fruit — and tiny portions of other foods to eat with a short spoon. Even a one-year-old will be able to feed herself part of the meal without much mess.

Women's Study Guild Enjoys Yule Program

The Women's Study Guild Christmas meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Ellis, on December 18.

President Mrs. R. Settle was in charge. The first payment towards the Guild's new protege in Marseilles was authorized.

Mrs. J. A. Buchanan used Vadeboncoeur's version of "The Birth of Christ" as it would have been written by a modern reporter, as the worship meditation.

The program of Christmas hymns, carols and songs, was presented by Mrs. Settle, assisted by Mrs. G. Wylie and Mrs. R. Roulet. This was a consecutive presentation of Scripture readings, followed by a background story on one or more pertinent carols, followed by a recorded rendition of one of the carols.

The selections ranged from a Royal Choral Society rendition of Adeste Fideles, Two Spirituals by the (De Paur) Singers, and several selections by Harry Belafonte.

Mrs. R. Roulet read an intriguing Christmas story from the pen of Minna C. Johnston, "How the littlest cherub was late for Christmas."

Hostesses for the social hour were mesdames D. J. Gill, J. Tickell, H. Seldon and J. R. Reynolds. More Christmas songs were enjoyed during this time.

Cranberry Souffle Ring

By MARY MOORE

Clip Now For Christmas Dinner.

Since most of your guests still expect cranberries with their turkey would you like to make it into a pretty ring that will do double duty as a relish and a salad? You would?

JELLIED CRANBERRY SOUFFLE RING
(Serves 10 generously)

1¼ pkgs. (1¼ thsps.) plain gelatine
2 thsps sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup water
2 thsps. lemon juice (could be bottled)
1 tsp. finely grated lemon rind (could be bottled)
½ cup mayonnaise (or Miracle Whip)
One 14-oz. can jellied cranberry sauce
One 10-oz. can drained orange and grapefruit sections (or one 8 oz. can drained pineapple tidbits or 1 cup pared diced apple)

In a small saucepan soak gelatine, sugar, and salt in water 5 min. Stir over low heat until gelatine dissolves. Remove from heat. Cool a little then add lemon juice and rind and beat, then beat in mayonnaise with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator tray and chill until it begins to set. Turn out into a bowl and beat with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in cranberry sauce thoroughly. Arrange grapefruit and orange sections (or other fruit you select) in bottom of a one-quart mould. Pour cranberry-gelatine mixture over. Turn it down on kitchen counter to be sure jelly fills in between fruit pieces. Chill until firm.

To unmould loosen sides with long slim paring knife. Then dip mould in hot water and count steadily to ten. To remove, cover with attractive serving plate and carefully invert. If desired garnish centre of ring and edges with delicate lettuce leaves.

NOTE: Obviously you know this does not have to be shaped in a ring mould. If desired use any one-quart mould you have on hand.

Greek Woman Newspaper Owner Flees Country

LONDON (AP) — A Greek woman publisher who dyed her light hair dark to flee from Athens after 11 weeks of house arrest says she will fight the "mediocre and ignorant" leaders of her homeland's military dictatorship.

Mrs. Helen Vlachos, a conservative, arrived in London Thursday aboard a plane from Athens after apparently walking past guards at her apartment co-crooking the royal palace of exiled King Constantine.

She gave no further details of her escape in an interview with the BBC but said: "I feel I can be more useful to the Greek cause abroad than under house arrest in Athens."

The 55-year-old woman went into seclusion after the interview which was beamed to Greece.

Mrs. Vlachos closed her daily newspapers, Kathimerini and Messimvrini, immediately after the April coup that brought a junta of three colonels into power and made censors into newspaper offices. Until freedom of the press is restored, she said, her papers will stay shut.

Despite the government's anger, Mrs. Vlachos kept criticizing it throughout the summer. The colonels' censorship methods showed "internationally recognized stupidity," she said, and later called two members of the junta "mediocre and ignorant men."

This remark led to her arrest Sept. 28 on charges of insulting the regime and disobeying a military order. She was released pending trial, but the government placed her under house arrest five days later.

Mrs. Vlachos apparently walked into the BBC overseas services building in London unannounced. She told an interviewer she felt the situation in Greece would not change for several months and that she did after becoming convinced her trial never would take place.

Censorship in Greece restricted reporting of King Constantine's attempt to lead a revolt and his flight to Rome but the junta allowed newspapers to publish today—two days later—the text of the monarch's statement that he would return to Athens if the regime gave assurances of restoring democracy.

Canada Sells Million In Gold to United States

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has sold the United States $100,000,000 worth of gold to support the U.S. dollar. Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons Thursday.

The gold was part of Canada's official exchange fund, and proceeds of the sale have been invested on behalf of the fund in short-term securities.

Mr. Sharp told questioners Canada has made similar, though smaller, sales in the past for the same purpose.

Canada sold the United States $200,000,000 worth of gold from the exchange fund last year and invested the proceeds in interest-bearing securities of the U.S. government.

In Washington, the U.S. treasury department said it welcomed "this evidence of continuing monetary co-operation."

Trapped in Cave, 17 Men Are Freed

GORMAN, Calif. (AP) — Seventeen men, trapped for 19 hours behind a cave-in inside a snow-capped mountain, crawled through a narrow passageway to safety today.

A cheer went up as the men emerged from the entrance to a 1½-mile-long state war project tunnel in the Tehachapi mountains, which separate northern and southern California.

Fellow workmen had tried to reach the men from three directions, but feared the men might be trapped as long as four or five days. However, one team—digging head-on through 80 feet of dirt, rock and steel blocking the tunnel—made rapid progress after finding the collapsed steel roof had formed a partial passageway.

"No one felt we would never get out," said one of the trapped men, H. G. Harrison, a construction inspector. "But we thought it would take a week to get us out."

Merry Christmas

Voices sing out of wondrous joy and contentment, wishing you, our good friends and customers, all the cheer and happiness that is attached to the holiday season, with a sincere "Thanks" for your kind and loyal patronage throughout the year.

ADOPTIONS in ONTARIO

Seven thousand children were placed in new homes this year by the adoption services of Ontario. That is a record number. We hope to do better in 1968.

Here are a few of the boys and girls available for adoption.

KEN is an amusing little lad of a year and a half of Anglo-Saxon and German stock. He loves attention and refuses to be ignored, attracting your interest in cute, comical ways. He is playful and active, in good health and developing normally. Ken is of sturdy build with brown eyes and hair. His little mind is active and he is observant and interested in everything about him in this big, big world.

Parents will be kept busy keeping up with Ken.

BETTY is a pleasant friendly little girl and just 2 years old. She is of slight build with grey eyes, blonde hair and fair complexion. Betty is a quiet, placid child and somewhat withdrawn with older people but lively with other children. Her background is Anglo-Saxon and Polish. One of her grey eyes is slightly higher than the other, but this is a cosmetic rather than a physical handicap. Betty is easy to manage, an appealing child who needs parents and a permanent home.

IVAN is a bonny little fellow, 3 years old, of Anglo-Saxon and Czechoslovakian background. He is a big boy with blond hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. Ivan knows that legs are for running and climbing, two of his favourite activities. His rocking horse he rides well; rest. Music of all kinds appeals to him and he pretends to play his piano with gusto. Sociability is his middle name and he enjoys playing with other children and loves attention. This young man needs Protestant parents who will provide him with a loving atmosphere in which to develop at his own speed.

HOWARD, who is a year and a half, appears to be quite a bright and alert young Roman Catholic lad with the cute habit of puckering up his nose when he laughs. He is mischievous, comical and lovable. Howie gets along well with other children and shows himself to have an even temper, sharing his toys and is not too demanding as far as individual attention is concerned. His colouring is tanned and he has clear, masculine features. A very healthy, strong boy needing parents to share his promising future.

MADGE is as pretty as a picture and only 2 years and 2 months old. She has beautiful dark eyes, curly eyelashes, olive skin and softly curling black hair. Madge is fine boned and nicely proportioned. She is a healthy child and has been robust since birth with a happy disposition. She loves music and dancing and gets along well with other children. A dear little Roman Catholic girl of West Indian heritage, very huggable and loving for the right couple who wish her to become their daughter.

TEDDY is 14 months old and has been walking since 11 months of age. He is a big, handsome boy with lovely clear dark complexion, enormous brown eyes and soft brown curls on top of his head and at the nape of his neck. He is a rather solemn fellow, but his smile is really worth waiting for. Bright and active, he is a good baby; eats and sleeps well and plays happily by himself in his playpen. Protestant, of Anglo-Saxon and Negro background, Teddy needs parents who can value his heritage as they can his contented, endearing ways.

LARRY is a big sturdy 21 months old Indian boy who steals your heart on sight with his big friendly smile. He has large black, expressive eyes, jet black straight hair and olive complexion. Larry is healthy but has a family history of diabetes. He is bright and engaging and has an exceptionally attractive personality. A football player of the future, Larry will bring joy to Roman Catholic parents.

THE CANADA LABOUR (SAFETY) CODE

By proclamation, the new Canada Labour (Safety) Code goes into effect, January 1, 1968. This first general safety law ever passed by Parliament places a general obligation on employers and employees working in industries under federal jurisdiction to observe appropriate safety and health standards.

FEATURES OF THE LAW

✻ It is broad in scope, providing for all the elements of a complete industrial safety program. ✻ It is complementary to other enactments in the industrial safety field. ✻ Its regulations will be developed in consultation with industry, unions and other interests. ✻ It provides for basic research into causes and control of accidents, and for a continuing program of safety education. ✻ It provides for inspection and enforcement.

WHO IS COVERED

In general, this law applies to employers and employees in works, undertakings or businesses of an interprovincial, national or international nature and to some others that have been declared by Parliament to be for the general advantage of Canada. These are essentially the same undertakings covered by the Canada Labour (Standards) Code and other federal labour laws.

Resolute Bay

Volunteer Woman Doctor Writes Chapter In Continuing Saga of Canada's North

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T. — The story of Canada's northland is written and acted out by individuals. Perhaps because the Arctic's barren beauty has historically represented a challenge to only a special few.

A pretty, 28-year old pediatrician wrote her chapter in the Arctic's saga this year.

Dr. Marguerite MacGregor helped the RCAF annual northern Christmas re-supply flight from Edmonton last week to make her third voluntary trip to Canada's north.

Her destination was the weather station outpost here — 900 miles from the north pole — but in particular, the neighboring Eskimo community, some five miles away.

Coughing is a common symptom among Eskimo children who, from their earliest years, often venture into 30-below zero temperatures with the skimpiest clothing.

Visitors to Resolute, bundled from head to toe in parkas, flight suits, and sheerlined overcoats shouldn't be surprised to meet Eskimo children without gloves, wearing light jackets, and with their shirts open at the neck.

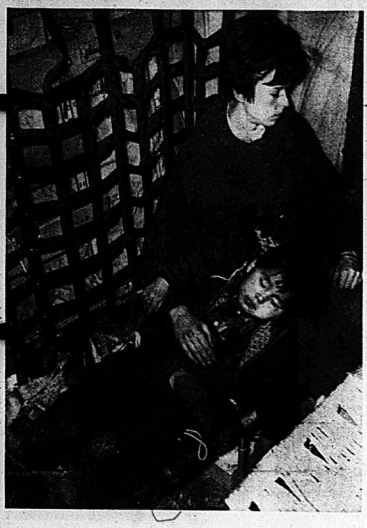
The experienced, like Dr. MacGregor, have grown accustomed to the regular occurence of chest ailments among the hardy, northern natives.

During her three-day stopover, she examined virtually every member of the village's 25 families (150 people in all), doing her best to administer the appropriate one-shot treatment for each particular malady.

"One-shot" because the next visit of a physician to the remote community could be months away. A male nurse, from his infirmary at the Resolute weather base, represents the sole link between the local white and Eskimo populations and medical treatment as we know it in more affluent climates.

Tuberculosis is an all-too-familiar visitor to Eskimo communities, and eight Resolute natives, most suspected to be suffering its effects, left their homes with Dr. MacGregor last week, seven days before Christmas.

Only one patient was an adult, and they included a seven-months-old baby girl, and a pudgy tuberculin-diagnosed year-old Eskimo boy.



There were some long faces as the group boarded a giant RCAF Hercules aircraft with Dr. MacGregor, on route back to Edmonton's Charles Camsell Hospital—principal treatment centre for the native Arctic population.

"Some of these children won't return to their homes for another year, let alone for Christmas," mused Dr. MacGregor. "Most of them have never been this close to an airplane before."

The lady doctor who has no children of her own but plays mother to hundreds had some brighter memories of her third Arctic expedition. On the incoming Resolute Bay RCAF flight she had the pleasure of delivering a 30-pound bundle—the most anticipated parcel of the annual Christmas northern supply project.

Harry Levi, a three-year-old Eskimo child, had been detained several months at Camsell Hospital for a medical check-up.

Dr. MacGregor delivered him to his parents in good health, ten days before Christmas.

He's in Good Hands

With no children of her own, Edmonton's Dr. Marguerite MacGregor plays mother to hundreds. Here she comforts one-year-old James Moosesie of Resolute Bay on the 1,500-mile flight to Charles Camsell Hospital where he will undergo treatment for tuberculosis.

A Busy Day for Both

Returning home after medical treatment in Edmonton three-year-old Harry Levi catches 40 winks on board an RCAF Hercules with his temporary guardian, Dr. Marguerite MacGregor. He arrived home 10 days before Christmas.

Dr. MacGregor: A Family Physician

The 150 village natives only get the opportunity to see a physician several times a year.

To the Backyard of the Polar Bear

A flight of the annual RCAF Christmas Arctic drop covers a lot of ground — from the time it left Canadian Forces Base Namao in Edmonton, some 8,000 miles until its return. Resolute Bay lies 1,550 statute miles from Edmonton and 900 miles south of the North Pole.

Man Charged in Assassination May Be Arrested on Tuesday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Action may be delayed until the day after Christmas on an arrest warrant charging Edgar Eugene Bradley with plotting the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, a spokesman for the sheriff's office said.

The warrant was issued Thursday in New Orleans at the request of District Attorney Jim Garrison, and the sheriff's spokesman said it could arrive anytime.

Bradley 47, West Coast representative of a radio evangelist, has denied anything other than public knowledge of the assassination and said he would surrender at any time requested.

When the promised warrant arrives, the sheriff's spokesman said, Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess would consult with the Los Angeles district attorney and determine what course to take.

"If we even receive any knowledge that a felony exists, we have practically no choice but to make an arrest," the spokesman said. But he said it probably will come after the holiday weekend.

Because of the nature of the case, sheriff's officers asked the district attorney's office to issue a local fugitive warrant for Bradley. The district attorney's office said the fugitive papers probably would not be completed before early next week.

Garrison, after staying at a Los Angeles hotel under the name Clyde Ballou, flew home to New Orleans late Thursday. He told reporters that federal agents knew Bradley "was in Dallas and know what he was doing" when Kennedy was killed Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas, Tex.

Bradley said he was in El Paso, Tex., when he learned of the president's death. He said he was returning home by bus from a visit with his employer, Rev. Carl McIntire of Collingswood, N.J., president of the American Council of Churches.

Bradley was charged in New Orleans with criminal conspiracy to commit murder in a warrant signed by a criminal court judge. His bail was set at $10,000.

Pinch Hitting

Staff Sportswriter

By Garry Alexander

Big Steve McComb, one of the best of the current senior "A" crop, will lead the Collingwood Kings into town tonight for a 8:30 o'clock battle with Belleville's troubled Mo-Hawks.

And for a team that is having trouble beating anyone, these days or away, the prospects of McComb and his King mates figure to be the most Christmas present for the local squad.

Collingwood has a hard-slashing, never-say-die crew that travels at two speeds — fast and faster. The Kings, with McComb the centre-ice star aided by Chuck Arnett's fine goaltending, hitting power from the likes of Garry Collins, Butch Keeling, Paul Jackson, Mickey Kay and Ted Henderson and two-way effects up front by pesky Fern St. Onge, Dave Fitter, Hec Brainard and company, just don't know when they are beaten.

They proved this against the Mo-Hawks in Collingwood a few weeks back. Belleville walked into the northern centre, outplayed the Kings by a big margin and led 6-4 early in the second period.

So what happened? The Kings dug that much harder, got a break or two and roared back to snatch a 5-4 victory.

That seems to be the story of the Mo-Hawks to date this season — and the reason for all their nine-point setbacks. They have seldom been able to maintain a 100% effort for 60 minutes and the opposition always seems able to take advantage of the slightest letdown.

It is a simple matter that Crawford's charges face now. They must shake that losing habit" and quickly or a team that could be finishing among the loop's top four will be watching the playoff's from the sidelines.

The Mo-Hawks should take heart in realizing that several clubs are only four or five points up on them so it's not too late to do plenty of climbing. That statement won't hold true for long, however, if the losing habit continues.

We have seen it happen to good teams before, not only in hockey but just about every sport in every classification.

On paper or in comparison with the league's other teams, a club looks like a winner. A tough start perhaps, the loss of a key man through injury, maybe one or two men in a pulling their weight and the "losing habit" spreads like wildfire throughout a team roster.

The Mo-Hawks got off to a poor start by playing and losing their first two games of the schedule on the road this fall. Their line-up was full of holes and it looked like a rough year.

But things brightened considerably in the next few games. Veterans Ron and Don Jones, Mickey Cheverely, Bob Taylor and Wayne McConnell, none of whom started the season, were suddenly in uniform. Young Joe Junkin was playing well in goal, a spot that promised to spell trouble in training camp.

Belleville ripped back to top three wins in the next four games and had a record of three-and-three before the downward plunge started with a 7-2 loss to Kingston on October 31. It was a Halloween night that the Mo-Hawks have yet to recover from. They managed only a tie in six games, won another then lost three more.

The addition of more player strength has failed to solve the problems. Hec Labonte and Bernie Gould, along with goalie Larry Holmes, joined the squad.

But despite some fine individual efforts and at times some strong team performances, the Mo-Hawks continued to plunge reaching the 10-team grouping's basement recently. They lost four in a row, got their sixth win and dropped their 16th and 17th decisions, both on the road by single goals, last Saturday and Tuesday.

Trying to analyze the clubs shortcomings would be a tough and complicated chore, one that we haven't room for in this column. Up front at least the team is much stronger than last year but the only place it is showing up is in the goals-scored column.

Luck and bad breaks have taken their toll but every team faces them and the good ones recover enough to make their own winning breaks.

I for one am convinced that the Mo-Hawks can recover in time.

But my convictions that they will are becoming less and less with every game.

How about it boys? There are only 16 games left and this is one job that can't wait for spring. Let's start tonight!

Six-Goal Blast Crushes Maniago !

Kings Stop Penguins

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Cesare Maniago came back to earth with a horrendous thump Thursday as Minnesota North Stars absorbed a 6-0 shutout at the hands of Philadelphia Flyers in one of two National Hockey League games scheduled.

Maniago had caught the hockey world unawares with three successive shutouts before running into the Western Division leaders and was one scoreless victory away from making history.

The Flyers had to win to stay ahead of Los Angeles Kings; 4-1 winner over Pittsburgh Penguins Thursday, in the west since the Kings are a bare two points off the pace.

Minnesota, by losing, dropped five points behind Los Angeles in third place.

Durnan ran up 309 minutes and 21 seconds in shutout time in creating his mark as one of the greatest goaltenders in NHL history.

Maniago, a 28-year-old native of Trail, B.C. who is a masonry construction estimator in the off season in North Burnaby, B.C., ran his shutout string to 180 minutes and 39 seconds before Pit Hannigan rapped home a 10-footer at 2:06 of the first period Thursday.

From then on it was a deluge as the North Stars were swamped by the Philadelphia power.

Claude Laforge added another in the second period before Forbes Kennedy and Gary Dornhoefer scored in the second and Leon Rochefort and Lou Angotti scored in the third period.

At Los Angeles, the Kings stayed on the pace with goals from Ted Irvine, Bill Flett, Bob Wall and Brian Smith while Earl Ingarfield was the only Penguin to beat goalie Wayne Rutledge.

The biggest goalie in the NHL at 6-3 and 195 pounds, Maniago carried the North Stars into action contention by beating Oakland Seals 5-1 then humbling the Kings 3-0 and 4-0 in succession.

Maniago burst onto the NHL scene in Frank Mortiveli style by playing a pair of Stanley Cup playoff games for Toronto Maple Leafs in 1961, his first year as a professional.

He allowed just six goals in the two games and marked himself as a player to watch with his efforts.

But there was a glut of outstanding goalie.. in the league at the time and he disappeared into the morass of minor hockey until 1964-65 when he was named the most valuable player and outstanding goalie of the Central Professional League with Minneapolis.

That won him a starting berth with New York Rangers the following year where he posted a 2.36 goal-a-game average over 23 games, splitting his time with Baltimore Clippers of the American League.

Last year he fell under the shadow of New York's Ed Giacomin and was Minnesota's first choice in the expansion draft last summer.

The league is idle tonight, but Saturday he may have a chance to recoup when the North Stars are in Pittsburgh while Oakland Seals are at Montreal and Detroit Red Wings are in Toronto. Seals are Boston, Los Angeles at Minnesota.

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Russia's national hockey team skated to a 5-1 victory over Spokane Jets of the Western International Hockey League in an exhibition game Thursday night.

The Russians, winners of five straight world tournament championships scored three goals in the first period and a pair in the second.

Bruins Lose Another

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins added a new member to their casualty list Thursday when it was disclosed that goalie Gerry Cheevers suffered a minor shoulder dislocation in Wednesday night's 6-3 National Hock-ey League defeat at Chicago.

The Bruins said that Cheevers suffered the dislocation when he collided with Chicago's Stan Mikita in the second period. The left shoulder popped back into place, but soreness remained.

Ch-evers played as veteran Eddie Johnston was sidelined with a broken bone in his right hand, an injury suffered in practice Tuesday. Johnston's hand was placed in a cast.

The Bruins said Cheevers will be out of action for at least a week but that Johnston may be able to play at New York Saturday night with a lighter cast on his stick hand.

Junior B Manager Suspended

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — George Sunstrum, general manager of Pembroke's Junior B hockey club, received a one-year suspension Wednesday for his role in a Dec. 15 hockey brawl.

The announcement of the suspensions followed a meeting of members of the Upper Ottawa Valley Junior B league.

Sunstrum was coaching Pembroke in a game at Renfrew, Ont., when the brawl broke out between players from both teams. Spectators joined in.

Three other players, John Kutschke and Jeff Richards of Pembroke, and Wayne Rham of Renfrew were suspended for two games.

Raiders Cinderella Leads West

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Larryie Lamonica, cinderella quarterback of Oakland Raiders, will lead the West All-Stars in the American Football League all-star game Jan. 21.

Lamonica is the league's leading passer b his first year at Oakland, where he got a starting role after second-string status with the Bills in Buffalo. He was named the AFL's most valuable player Friday, chosen by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Seals' Owner Denies He'll Shift NHL Franchise To Vancouver

OAKLAND, Calif. (CP) — Barend Van Gerbig II says he's convinced Oakland will support a National Hockey League expansion team—and he's willing to gamble on it.

Van Gerbig, the majority owner of the Oakland Seals of the expanded NHL, says it is only a matter of time before the fans start supporting the league's last-place expansion entry.

Barry Van Gerbig—as he was known while a part-time goaltender with the U.S. national hockey team before inherited money allowed him to invest $2,000,000 in the Seals—says he wanted to bring major league hockey to northern California and is "prepared to stay here."

"I don't believe the Seals will be a financial success for at least two or three seasons," he said. "We'd be kidding ourselves if we thought otherwise.

"We're in a building program. Once we get a hard core of real hockey fans they'll bring others."

Van Gerbig, 35, who follows the Seals in his own private plane on almost every road trip, says he is retired now, but he has become increasingly drawn up in the operation of the NHL expansion team.

Earlier this month, he was quoted in the Vancouver Sun saying he was seeking a new city for the Seals and actively considering Vancouver.

Sun columnist Jim Kearney quoted the young m a j o r i t y owner of the Seals as saying:

"For us to stay (in Oakland) we'd have to show a considerable increase in crowds after the football season ends. I can't see us doing that."

Kearney also quoted Van Gerbig as saying Oakland's lack of interest in the team "filters down to the locker room" and "affects the play of the Seals."

Van Gerbig later denied the report and said:

"We definitely will finish the season here and plan to stay many more years."

Van Gerbig repeats the statement today and adds:

"We aren't here for a trial—we are here to stay."

He said he fle into Vancouver only to visit Frank McMahon, a Canadian industrialist who wants to bring an NHL expansion franchise to Vancouver.

McMahon bought into the Vancouver Canucks of the Western League last week and announced a group headed by him and the Canucks' owners would continue to press for an NHL franchise here.

Van Gerbig says he sees two problems in setting NHL hockey in Oakland. He says the Seals must beat the "image of minor league hockey in the West" and establish a feeling of permanency in the Oakland franchise.

"I hope it won't be long before western fans become as involved with hockey as those in the east," he said. "After all, it was fan interest that made expansion possible."

Van Gerbig's involvement in hockey is complete.

He is younger than a good many of his players and can still play a respectable game in goal. He was the backup netminder with the U.S. national team at the Squaw Valley, Calif., Winter Olympics. He also played goal with Princeton in college hockey and later as a semi - professional with Charlotte, N.C., in the U.S. Eastern League.

Rams, Packers

Weather Could Be Factor

GREEN BAY, Wisc. (AP) — Weather may prove to be an important factor in Saturday's Milwaukee game for the championship of the National Football League's Western Conference. It tween Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams.

The forecast is mostly cloudy and cold with a high of 20 and 19-mile-per-hour westerly winds.

Packers are more accustomed to Wisconsin weather and it may be to their advantage. Hands stiffen in the cold and frigid winds can slow the fastest runner.

Ram's coach George Allen disagreed. He said he didn't think the weather would be a factor unless the field is slick.

Coach Vince Limbardi has been forced to use rookies such as halfback Travis Williams and quarterback Don Horn.

Williams is a speedster, having returned four kickoffs for majors.

Horn got in some time against Pittsburgh.

"We wanted to give Horn some game experience," Lombardi said. "And he did well."

"We've had to play Williams and he's becoming expert by playing," the coach added.

The Rams arrived in Milwaukee Wednesday night as the thermometer registered 20 degrees. Earlier in the day the temperature was a record 57.

The game will be televised nationally in Canada by the CBC starting at 2 p.m. EST.

Marlies Crush Petes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros won a game Thursday night, lost a playoc and started to look more and more like the defending Memorial Cup champions.

Toronto crushed Peterborough Petes 7-3 and shade-ofs for some early-season shows by moving into a tie for first place with Niagara Falls Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Both teams now have 36 points and enjoy a three-point lead over third-place Kitchener Rangers, who tied 5-5 Thursday with Hamilton Red Wings in the night's other game.

But Toronto's victory over Peterborough was costly. The Marlies lost the services of defenceman Fred Barrett in the first period when he injured his shoulder.

The major periods are shown in boldface type. Those begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Browns, Dallas

Battle Of Cripples !

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It's crippled quarterback against crippled quarterback Sunday when the Browns of Cleveland invade Dallas for the playoff game in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

The quarterbacks in question —Frank Ryan of Cleveland and Don Meredith of Dallas—were generally conceded at the top of the heap in the NFL last year. This season, Ryan winds up as No. 7, just enough to edge Meredith, No. 8.

Each of the teams has lost five games, while winning nine, and there is nothing gaudy about the records. But in an oddity of the new four-division split up in the league, the Browns and the Pokes are having a playoff.

Coach Tom Landry of the host Cowboys puts the championship of the East squarely in the hands, and throwing arm, of the quarterbacks.

"The Browns have to be concerned about Ryan, the way we are about Meredith," said Landry. "Whichever quarterback has the good day—that will do it."

In regular season, Dallas has defeated Cleveland only three times in 14 meetings, but have won the last two.

Both teams as Sunday approaches are rebounding from slow finishes. Dallas lost its last game to San Francisco. Cleveland bowed to Philadelphia.

"Yaz" Adds AL Slugging Title To Lengthy List Of Honors

Official figures announced today by league president Joe Cronin showed Yastrzemski compiled a hefty slugging mark of .622 on 360 total bases in 579 official times at bat.

Baltimore's Frank Robinson, the 1966 slugging champion, missed considerable action because of a head injury and was runner-up to Yastrzemski with a mark of .576 in 129 games.

Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota was third with .558, followed by Al Kaline of Detroit with .541 and Frank Howard of Washington with .511.

Yastrzemski, whose .536 mark topped AL sluggers in 1965, also drew 91 walks, including 11 intentional, and as hit by four pitches. He grounded into just five double plays, compared with the league high of 21 by Baltimore's Brooks Robinson.

Killebrew drew 131 walks to lead the league for the second straight year. He and Bill Freehan of Detroit tied for the most intentional walks with 15 each.

Howard struck out the most times, 155.

The champion Red Sox were the team slugging title with a .395 percentage. Detroit was second with .378, followed by Baltimore with .372 and Minnesota with .369.

Cronin announced that 24 major league records and 21 AL marks were broken during the 1967 season. In addition, 19 major league records and 12 AL marks were equalled.

Chicago relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm extends five of his individual career major league records. They were most consecutive errorless games (361), most games as a reliever (613), most games in relief (197), most games finished in relief (515) and most innings pitched in relief (1,570).

Mickey Mantle of New York and Dean Chance of Minnesota broke two major league marks.

Mantle's were most career strikeouts (1,813) and most years striking out 100 or more times (8). Chance set his records for a pitcher by striking out 18 times for a four-year total of 251.

The Yankees set a major league club record with 200 homers, the 44th season in which they have hit 100 or more.

The American League's 10 clubs set an all-time major league low by hitting only 2,226. The previous low of 2,230 was shared by the American and National Leagues in 1906.

Bantams, Juniors Win

Trenton Stops Saints' March

Trenton's senior team stopped Quinte 58-54 to prevent a Quinte sweep in Bay of Quinte basketball at Q.S.S. last night, as the Saints took the bantam game, 60-34, and the junior, 53-46.

Elsewhere last night, the BCI juniors defeated Moira 65-47 at Moira, and Napanee took three games from Picton, at Picton, winning the senior contest 45-30, the junior 34-21, and the bantam tilt, 42-34.

At Quinte, the senior Saints got off to a quick start and led Trenton 17-12 at the end of the first quarter. But the Tigers came roaring back in the second. After Quinte had taken a 29-15 lead, Trenton went on the rampage and rolled up 14 points before Quinte could score. Quinte recovered for six, but still trailed 29-26 at the half.

In the third quarter, Trenton continued to hold a slim margin, profiting from Quinte's inability to find the basket with any consistency. At quarter time, the margin had been increased to seven points, at 43-36.

The Saints had a strong final quarter but Trenton held on to their lead tenaciously, and Quinte committed some costly fouls that the Tigers cashed in on from the free - throw line. At the final buzzer, the Saints found themselves four points short of Trenton.

Bob Pinke led the victors with an 18-point performances while Paul Desmarowitz, with 16 points and Pat Larry with 14 were also outstanding. Paul King paced Quinte with 16 points, with Terry Wolleley and Glen Easton getting 10 apiece.

The junior game found Trenton in possession of a

Mulroneys Mustangs Win Gas Games

Mulroney's defeated the Fire Department 5-3 and the Mustangs turned back Marysville BA 6-1 in Gas House League play last night.

Istead, Lloyd and Talnot were the marksmen for the Firemen, Brooks getting two assists.

Realty Stops Stinsons

Stars Shade Hotel!

Aluminum Stars shaded Belvedere Hotel 3-2 and the Grant Realtors turned back Stinsons Construction 4-1 in a pair of rugged Quinte Hockey League games last night.

The Stars held a 2-1 lead going into the second period when Bill Rushlow's second goal of the game clinched the win.

Rushlow's pair paced his pack with Al Rattey scoring the first goal of the game.

The Stars had five penalties one a minor and misconduct to Paul Zakos.

Doug Hallam and Bill Vestervelt scored for the Hotelmen with Vestervelt, Bill Nolan, Ken Brooks and Jack Lucas drawing helpers.

Penalties hurt the Stinson Construction, the team drawing nine including two misconducts, a match misconduct and a minor to Rick Denard.

The Realtors led 4-0 going into the final period with the Stinson's saving the shutout late in the game.

Bob Ehler, Ron Archer, Bill Lattimer and Larry Stewart scored for the winners, Stewart, Ehler, Dential and Archer getting assists.

The team drew five penalties, all minors.

Pete Mitchell scored the lone Stinson goal assisted by Don Forsythe.

Red Wings Lose Howie Young

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings wil. be short at least one defenceman when they take on the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday, but hopefully two forwards will be back in action.

Defenceman Howie Young, suffering from an ear infection, will miss the Toronto game and probably the return match with the Leafs in Detroit Christmas night.

"connection call".

His message was cheerful as he stated with glee
"I'm here to connect you to CABLE TV."

"Your set's working fine . . . ."
He said . . . as he started to go
"I give you more channels minus the snow"

With a wave and a smile he was soon on his way
To connect all the orders
needed that day

Then we heard him exclaim as he drove off alone
"MERRY CHRISTMAS
with CABLE TV in your home."

Merry Christmas To All

Academy Awards Race Shapes Up As Most Undistinguished Contest

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nominations for this year's Academy Awards are almost completed, and it shapes up as the most undistinguished contest within memory.

Local observers fail to recall a more lackluster field of candidates.

The major contenders appear to be films heavily weighted with violence and sex, not-the sort of thing academy voters are proud to endorse. Some big musicals are up for consideration, but many reviewers found them empty and artless.

It appears to be a good year for darkhorses. Certainly it's not a good year for those poor souls forced by the exigencies of deadline to predict Oscar winners.

Crime films dominate the contest for best picture. Bonnie and Clyde may well be the favorite, judging from Eastern reviews hailing it as the greatest thing since Birth of a Nation. It isn't that great, although it is an adventurous piece of film making. In the Heat of a Night has attracted much favor among academy voters, and In Cold Blood is having an impact. Cool Hand Luke and Wait Until Dark also were well received.

The Graduate appears to have the best chance among the non-crime films. Dr. Dolittle, Camelot, and possibly Thoroughly Modern Millie and the The Happiest Millionaire may get mentioned, but none was a total triumph. Dr. Dolittle came the closest.

Other possibilities for best picture are Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, Taming of the Shrew, To Sir with Love, Two For the Road, Far from the Madding Crowd, The Dirty Dozen and The Family Way.

The males provide the strongest race among the 1967 performances.

Rod Steiger was an early favorite because of his The Heat of the Night. Sidney Poitier may well be a contender again for that film To Sir With Love.

Spencer Tracy seems likely to be awarded a posthumous nomination on the basis of Guess Who's Coming to Dinner. Other probables are Paul Newman for Cool Hand Luke and Warren Beatty for Bonnie and Clyde. Newcomer Dustin Hoffman also has a good chance for The Graduate.

Other possibles: Richard Burton, Taming of the Shrew; Bob Blake, In Cold-Blood. Richard Harris, Camelot; Dick Bogarde, Our Mother's House; Lee Marvin, The Dirty Dozen; Rex Harrison, Dr. Dolittle; George C. Scott, The Flim Flam Man.

The female star performances that seem to have the best chance are: Fay Dunaway, Bonnie and Clyde; Vanessa Redgrave, Camelot; Dame Edith Evans, The Whisperers; Audrey Hepburn, Wait Until Dark; Katharine Hepburn, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; Julie Andrews Thoroughly Modern Millie; Rosalind Russell, Rosie; Elizabeth Taylor, Taming of The Shrew; Julie Christie, Far From the Madding Crowd.

Mike Nichols is certain to be a directorial nominee for the second straight year because of The Graduate—his Virginia Woolf lost out to Fred Zinnemann's A Man For All Seasons last year. Arthur Penn will be solid contender for Bonnie and Clyde, as will Norman Jewison for In the Heat of the Night and Richard Brooks for In Cold Blood.

Aces Crush Buffalo

Haymakers, Hat Tricks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Quebec Aces flattened Buffalo with a volley of hat tricks and haymakers while clinching the knot in the American Hockey League Western Division scramble.

Andre Lacroix and Keith Wright slammed in three goals apiece Thursday night as the Aces crushed Buffalo 7-3 in a game marred by three brawls.

The victory moved Quebec into a second-place tie with Buffalo and Rochester in the Western Division. All three clubs trail first-place Cleveland by six points.

Wright got into a third period slugfest with Buffalo's Bob Ash after Onil Boulin, who assisted on four Quebec goals, tangled with Buffalo's Wayne Larkin in the middle session. Brian Hextall of the Bisons and Jacques Bernier of Quebec also traded punches in the final period.

Defencemen Jim Morrison completed the Quebec scoring with a goal. Camile Henry and Sheldon Kannegiesser connected for the visitors.

Queensboro

QUEENSBORO — Mrs. R. A. Sager returned home Friday after spending a few days with Mrs. Don Martin and family, Belleville.

The Sunday morning service at Queensboro United Church was a combined communion and baptismal service. Babies baptized were Kenneth Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin, and Gregory Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones.

Miss Marion Sedgwick, Barry, spent the weekend with Rev. and Mrs. W. Sedgwick and family.

Mrs. Frederick Feeney and Joanne, Peterborough, Miss Rita Feeney, Ottawa and Mrs. Garry Dion, Kingston, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barry.

At the euchre party held in Queensboro School Friday evening, sponsored by the Women's Institute, prizes were won by William Heffern, Mrs. Woodford Blakley, Mrs. William Mathews, John Thompson and William Rollins.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collins, Janice and Paul, were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Rollins, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Starks also children, Miss Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Leslie.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Thomasburg UCW met in the church hall Wednesday evening for the annual Christmas meeting. Mairs unit members were special guests, and gifts and Christmas cakes were exchanged.

The centennial quilt was completed Monday and Tuesday afternoon at the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harvey and James and Richard Harvey of Toronto, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Prindle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes and Virginia, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morton during the weekend.

Thomasburg United Church Sunday School staff and pupils held their annual Christmas party in the church hall Dec. 16.

Carolyn Latchford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Latchford, fractured her right wrist Sunday in a fall from her pony.

A euchre party sponsored by Thomasburg 100F Lodge Monday evening, winners were John Latchford, Mrs. W. McTaggart, Grant Mumby, Carl Mumby and Carl Fluke.

The Epworth group, directed by Mrs. Robert Bush, sang Christmas carols in the village Tuesday evening. This has become an annual project of the group.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Howard Jelfs, superintendent of Mount Pleasant Rawdon Sunday School, presided for the white gift church service. He was assisted by Carolyn Merrick, Randy Scott, Gordon Spencer, Donald Potts, Frank Hubble and Judith McAdam.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKay, Hamilton, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Merrick.

Miss Phyllis Hamilton, St. Thomas, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Robert H. Hamilton, Mt. Dale, the bridesmaid Saturday at the wedding of Miss M. Sine, Frankford.

Mrs. Earl Ketcheson was hostess for the Christmas meeting of Bethel Salem UCW with Mrs. Donald Heath, president, in charge. Mrs. Harold Elliott read the devotional and Mrs. Stan Thompson arranged the program.

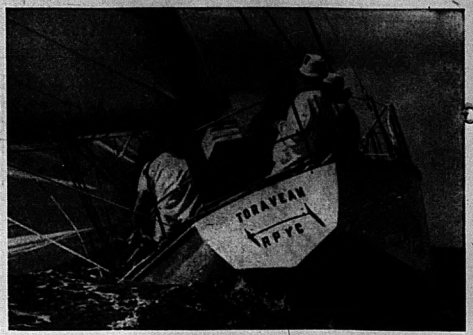
Humphrey Is Selected to Lead Reply to McCarthy's Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey is reported to have been assigned the job of leading the counter-attack against Senator Eugene J. McCarthy's challenge to President Johnson's renomination in 1968.

Humphrey, sources suggested Thursday, will be the chief administration pitcher in what they see as a campaign double-header: one covering the primary election period, and other against the Republican nominee in the regular fall campaign.

The assignment, said a knowledgeable administration source, will make "very remote" the speculation Johnson would dump Humphrey as his running mate in 1968.

Humphrey, said the source, "is the administration's strongest advocate, on Vietnam and other issues. More than anybody else he's been out there fighting the good fight, and he'll be the one leading the charge."



As the strategy shapes up now, the sources said, Humphrey will do most of the travelling, oratory and hand-to-hand combat. Meanwhile, as one source put it, "the president will be the president."

In other words, Johnson will have the White House, with all its limelight, as a campaign platform.

In the pre-convention phase of the campaigning, Humphrey plans to visit "all the critical states," another source said.

Humphrey already has struck at McCarthy, his old colleague in Minnesota's Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

At a meeting Dec. 9 of more than 1,000 Minnesota party officials, Humphrey in effect accused McCarthy of short-circuiting party unity, and the party's state central committee adopted a resolution supporting Johnson and Humphrey.

If Christ Came Again, Would He Be Crucified?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If there should be, on Christmas night, a second coming, would there not be a second crucifixion?

And this time, not by the Romans or the Jews, but by those who proudly call themselves Christians?

I wonder. I wonder how we today would regard and treat this man with His strange and frightening and "impractical" doctrines of human behavior and relationships. Would we believe and follow, any more than the masses of people in His day believed and followed?

Would not the militarists among us assail Him as a cowardly pacifist because He urges us not to resist evil?

Would not the nationalists among us attack Him as a dangerous internationalist because He tells us we are all of one flesh?

Would not the wealthy among us attack Him as a troublemaking radical because He bars the rich from entering the kingdom of heaven?

Would not the liberals among us dismiss Him as a dreamy vagabond because He advises us to take no thought for the morrow, to lay up no treasures upon earth?

Would not the ecclesiastics among us denounce Him as a raving heretic because He eats through the cords of ritual and commands us only to love God and our neighbors?

Would not the sentimentalists among us deride Him as a cynic because He warns us that the way to salvation is narrow and difficult?

Would not the Puritans among us despise and reject Him when He instructs the 12 drinks with publicans and sinners, preferring the company of wretchhers and harlots to that of "respectable" church members?

Would not the sensual among us scorn Him because He fasts for 40 days in the desert, neglecting the needs of the body?

Would not the proud and important among us laugh at him when he instructs the 12 disciples that he who would be "first" should be the one to take the role of the least and serve all?

Would not the worldly - wise and educated among us be aghast to hear that we cannot be saved except we become as children, and that a little child shall lead us?

Would not each of us in his own way find some part of this man's saying and doing to be so threatening to our ways of life, so much at odds with our rooted beliefs, that we could not tolerate Him for long?

I wonder.

To Your Good Health

Running Ear Indicates Infection

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband, 38, refuses to see a doctor about an ear problem. Th ear runs periodically, usually at night, exuding a yellow-brown fluid. At times he can hear with this ear, but usually not. When the ear stops running, every few weeks his hearing is impaired. There seems to be no pain or discomfort.

He's afraid to see what is wrong with his ear by going to a doctor. If you could shed any light that could help me persuade him to see a doctor, I would appreciate it. — J. C.

That's a head scratcher I've never discovered any easy home remedy for the scared-of-the-doctor syndrome. Some curious fear overcomes reason.

If your husband reassured it out, he'd have to ask himself what he is really afraid of.

Obviously he has a chronic infection. When the ear plugs up, he loses his hearing. Then the infected canal starts to drain, and relieves enough pressure so the ear can work again, after a fashion. Each time, the infection-fi perty sure to destroy his hearing permanently.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: We have been living in an unfinished basement for several months and everything is becoming molded and mildewed, even clothes in the closets. We have very little ventilation, especially at night. I have a 7-year-old child who has bronchitis. Is living here harmful to him? — E. A. P.

I am afraid that it probably will be harmful. More ventilation would be one way to help things. Another would be to get a dehumidifier which takes dampness out of the air. Health aside, the mold is going to be destructive enough to be costly unless you reduce the moisture.

• • •

Dea Dr. Molner: My sister is an incessant frost eater. Every day she digs and digs and digs the frost. She has been at it for four or five years. I think she is on the road to danger. — W. B.

Frost is just frozen moisture, so I don't see any great harm in it, but the freezer takes a beating from being opened more often than necessary. I don't suppose she'd settle for a frozen fruit stick in the icebox, and take a few licks when the frosty urge hits?

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it normal for a girl of four to have periodic vaginal mucous discharge and a strong odor even though she is bathed frequently?

My daughter was hospitalized for a urinary infection. Her urine is clear now. However, she still complains periodically of difficulty in voiding and has the above stated symptoms.

Her doctor says it is nothing to worry about, but I do. I do not want to subject her to tests and X-rays again if it is unnecessary. — Mrs. S. G.

Little girls are subject to vaginal infections from various causes. (And also, more than boys, subject to urinary infections, and parents should be alert for kidney or bladder problems.)

A slight discharge could be normal but it should not be odorous.

There could be some relationship to the infection in the urinary tract. In any event, specimen of the discharge should be examined in a laboratory to determine whether one of the common parasites (trichomonas, fungus, yeast, or bacterium) is causing this.

In view of your concern, you might take the child to your gynecologist.

Man Says He Paid Councillor $375 to Get Building Permit

MONTREAL (CP) — A self-employed Italian shoemaker testified Thursday he paid $375 — all his savings — to Alderman Gerard Caron of suburban St. Michel to obtain a municipal permit to finish his basement workshop.

The shoemaker, Leonildo Carretta, 39, said Caron told him the cost of the permit was $400. He did not have that much but managed to save $375 which he gave to Caron.

Caron then issued the permit, Caretta said.

He was testifying at the preliminary hearing of Mayor Maurice Bergeron of St. Michel charged with accepting bribes.

Other St. Michel councillors, including Caron, are before the courts on a similar charge.

A three-man inquiry by the Quebec government into the municipality's financial administration opened Thursday.

Another witness at the court hearing, Andre Meunier, an industrial designer, testified that Mayor Bergeron told him city councillors took turns accepting bribes.

Mr. Meunier said he tried to get his younger brother a job as a fireman in St. Michel and visited the mayor's summer cottage four times for the purpose.

On the fourth visit, he said, Mayor Bergeron told him to see Councillor Louis Patenaude.

"You know I am not all alone in this situation," he quoted the mayor as saying. "There are other councillors and each one takes his turn. This time it is the turn of Councillor Louis Patenaude.

"That will cost you $500."

Mr. Meunier said his brother took $500, in $5 and $10 bills, to Patenaude and his brother got a job with the police department shortly afterwards. There were no vacancies at the time in the fire department.

Mr. Meunier said his brother started at the maximum salary for a constable.

The hearing is continuing.

Frankford

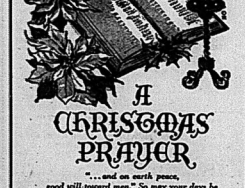
FRANKFORD — Mrs. Donald White left Frankford Saturday to live in Perth.

Mrs. Earle Baker returned home Saturday after spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baker and boys at Essex.



Mrs. Earle Baker spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Baker and family at Brampton.

Mrs. F. Bastedo, Stirling, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rogers.

Miss Sharon Haggarty, Teacher's College, Peterborough spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Haggarty.

Miss Donna Chase, Queen's University, Kingston, is spending the holidays at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sharp and family, Oakville, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sharp.

House Adjourns for Holidays

OTTAWA (CP) — In a whirlwind windup to Commons business before a month-long Christmas recess, MPs Thursday debated housing and broadcasting and got a 73-page homework assignment to tide them through their holiday.

Justice Minister Trudeau relaxed his blockbuster bill amending the Criminal Code into MPs' laps a few hours before the adjournment. It received unanimous first reading but won't come up for debate until after the Commons resumes business Jan. 23.

The bill would legalize therapeutic abortions and lotteries, allow consenting adults to engage in homosexual acts, and require drivers to take breath tests for alcohol.

Members began their day with a three-hour housing debate that became a sort of inquest into last week's federal-provincial conference on the topic. Opposition members contended the conference was a flop; Prime Minister Pearson and Labor Minister Nicholson argued that certain things were accomplished.

George Hees (PC—Northumberland) said the conference was a fiasco and a waste of time. Along with George Chatterton (PC—Esquimalt-Saanich), the federal improvements in financial management to make home-mortgages attractive for big private lenders.

Mr. Nicholson, minister responsible for housing, disclosed that the government will increase its investment in housing to $500,000,000 from $335,000,000 in 968.

The day's main debate was a resumption of clause-by-clause study of the government's broadcasting bills MPs will return to it after the recess.

L. R. (Bud) Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South) served notice he will introduce amendments designed to ensure the CBC will provide fair coverage of controversial issues.

The bill provides for a new regulatory agency with wider powers over both private stations and the publicly-owned CBC.

Mr. Sherman sought guarantees that "conflicting views will be articulated" so that problems of public interest would be aired in a "balanced, fair, objective and impartial way."

He took exception to another clause "proposing that when there is a conflict between objectives of the national broadcasting service and the private sector, the objectives of the former "must prevail."

This was un-Canadian, undemocratic and "is definitely not in the interest of the private-enterprise tradition. . . ."

Ralph B. Cowan (L—York-Humber) criticized the government-owned corporation for community antenna TV systems. He also said he will not support parts of the bill.

He cited examples of the transport department rejecting applications for community antenna systems because granting them would adversely affect the economic position of existing TV stations.

Mr. Cowan said Canada seemed to be moving into "a state of controlled monopoly, under terms which will require a limitation in respect of various private enterprises, particularly TV stations."

8th Tyendinaga

8TH TYENDINAGA — The Sunday School Christmas entertainment was well attended Sunday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Roslin.

Sunday School Lesson

Light in Dark World

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

It's Christmas time again. Sunday in churches around the world, in sermon, song, and drama, Christians will be retelling the heart-rending story of Jesus' birth. Thousands of priests and pastors will read the faithful story from Matthew and Luke 2. Hundreds of choirs will sing again the inspired Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah."

Though it is a Christian observance, many passages will be read from the Jewish scriptures. "For thus it is written by the prophet" will be read by thousands of clergymen from Matthew 2:5. Thousands of Christmas eves will sing, "For unto us a child is born" from Handel's oratorio. Bass soloists will sing, "But who may abide the day of His coming? And who shall stand when He appeareth?"

School lesson for December 24: "The Greatest Than the prophets," Malachi 3:1-4; 4: Micah 5:2-4; Isaiah 9:2-7.

Many of the people who listen to the scripture, and to the exalted strains of Handel's music will not be able to identify the exact source of the words. Others will know that learned in the gospel record of Jesus' birth is a prophecy of Micah. Micah 5:2-4: Matthew 2:5-6. They will know the choir is singing words from Isaiah's prophecy (Isaiah 9:2-7), and the bass soloists are singing words from Malachi 3:1-4.

Christmas recalls the story of Israel's great expectation. Like the recurring theme of a great symphony, prophet after prophet picks up the theme of the coming of a great Leader who will bring God's reign to the hearts of men. He will be called the Messiah, the Anointed One. His government will be upon His shoulder, and His reign will bring lasting peace. (Isaiah 9:6-7.)

Micah saw such a Leader coming not from the power centre of Jerusalem, but, like its shepherds' fields since he would "feed his flock in the strength of the Lord." (Micah 5:2-4) Malachi saw Him coming to purge and purify the nation. (Malachi 3:2-3). God would not leave His people unvisited. In the person of a great King, or a Prophet above all prophets, God would come to them in the midst of their struggles to lead them to a new day of justice and peace. This hope sustained the people in the dark hours of their history.

What was expectation for the Jew has become fulfillment for the Christian. Jesus, and only He, they believe, fits the dimensions of the greatest prophecy and expectation. Some Bible scholars look at Isaiah 53, and the Messiah as Jesus' model. Many Christians consider Jeremiah's 31st great Christ-like figure in the Old Testament. Still they would say that not even Jeremiah 31 fits the storied prophecy. "He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth" (Isaiah 53:7 RSV) "He had done no violence, and ther wa. no deceit in his mouth." (Is. 53:9 RSV) Only Jesus, they claim fits those exalted words.

For many, the very humbleness of Jesus' birth argued against accepting Him as the One for whom we were looking. "We know where this man comes from," they said, "and when the Christ appears, no one will know where He comes from." (John 7:27 RSV) But for Christians, the humbleness of Jesus' birth is an evidence of a God who exalts the commonplace in life, and willingly reaches down to the lowest level to lift men up to a new life of faith and hope.

No story in all the world is more beautiful than the story of Jesus' birth. But its beauty is set against the dark background of Herod the Great's tyranny, and the blindness and bigotry of many of the people who called themselves good. Isaiah had said that the coming of the Messiah would be like a great light shining on the people who "walked in darkness." (Isaiah 9:2) In the coming of Jesus, millions of people have seen that light as He leads them to a new understanding of God's purpose and love.

Christmas still shines against a dark world. Back of the beautiful carols there is hatred and war. Back of the bright decorations, there is a world of suffering and need. Christmas is more than just a day to delight children. Christmas is a time to listen to the cries of those who still look for a great hope. It is a time to share, concern for those for whom there is still no room in the inn of the world's opportunities. It is a time for sharing friendship and faith that some heavy heart may be made lighter, and especially people may be made more aware of God's love, some person living in the darkness of despair may see the light of a new hope — the hope of God's leading for which the prophets yearned, the hope Jesus came to fulfill.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For December 23

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Today you can bask in knowledge of job well done. Recently you wondered if project was waste of time. Now you get assurance, through special commendation, that you were right.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 —May 20): Your creative urges are stimulated. Your view is far-reaching. There should be nothing petty about actions, motives. Maintain principles. Select the best. Stand tall and aim high.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Be perceptive. One associated with religion or public ceremony makes appearance. Express appreciation without losing sight of major goal. Involve the spiritual, but also practical.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Relatives, while well-meaning, could cause disturbance. Give your best to mate, partner. Fulfill basic obligations. Trying to please everyone may be mistake. Give love to loved one.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): You appear to receive sudden spurt from associates, co-workers. You find certain burdens lifted. But as you lose some responsibilities you attract others. Be mature.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): You shine in creative endeavors. Young people listen, are attracted. Fine for change, travel, variety. Mental stimulation also is spotlight. Important people invest in your ability.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): If you have faith in future your actions today make sense. Otherwise, you waste time, energy and money. Means avoid self-doubt. Set sights on goal, proceed in direct line.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Ideas connected with journey may have to be shelved. Too much confusion exists at present time. Review situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Don't become flustered over unexpected bills, financial obligations. Change due is of direct benefit. Start working on immediate problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Holiday pressure could cause misunderstanding with in-laws. Overcome this by maintaining sense of balance, humor. One who has nothing else to do would like a quarrel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Check accounts and gift list. Don't offend individual who is ultra-sensitive. Mate or partner may be planning surprise. Don't spoil fun by revealing all you know.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Change of scene proves beneficial. You gain advantage through contacts, meeting people. Some of your plans subject to change. Accent is on close relationships.

If today is your birthday . . . you are a dynamic individual, very attractive to the opposite sex. If single, marriage is on the horizon. If married, there is travel connected with special vacation or business proposition.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Virgo, Libra, Scorpio. Special word to Leo: Spending for gifts is fine but don't lose your head.

Britons Spending Heavily --Crackdown Is Imminent

LONDON (CP) — Britons are spending for Christmas as if money were not out of style — perhaps because it is, with a devalued pound and an imminent crackdown on consumer.

Despite the recent depressing economic news, the British have been ransacking the shops for Christmas gifts and goodies on an unprecedented scale.

Pound notes in circulation the week before Christmas—a guide to spending—stood at an all-time high of £3,180,100,000 ($8,151,457,000), almost £100,000,000 above the peak reached at Christmas last year.

Consensus of gleefully - surprised merchants and troubled economic experts is that the retail bonanza is partly a result of devaluation last month and partly deliberate defiance of slump conditions.

Others that devaluation will push up prices, many Britons appear to be cashing in on what seems stores pointedly advertise as "pre-devaluation prices—while present stocks last."

The stocking-up theory is supported by bustling demand for such normally unchristmassy items as furniture, household appliances and carpets.

One big Oxford Street department store reports furniture sales up 58 per cent on last December. Fashionable Harrods of Knightsbridge says demand is for electrical goods, fur coats and other expensive imports that will rise in price.

Others retailers detect an "eat-drink-and-be-merry" attitude among customers in advance of rugged new year austerity measures, which will include a crackdown on consumer spending.

There are few signs in the most populous parts of Britain that the country has lost had a brush with bankruptcy and is supposed to be spending less and earning more.

In London, the usual elaborate Christmas lights and decorations festoon the main shopping streets. Crowds of shoppers and traffic make the capital's West End all but impassable at any time of the day or evening.

"Congratulations! You have just passed the million mark in total minutes of lifetime talking on the telephone!"

Holiday Train Crashes In Kansas--50 Injured

WAMEGO, Kan. (AP) — A train crowded with 190 holiday passengers collided with a freight at a siding just east of here Thursday night. The Kansas highway patrol said some 50 passengers were injured, none badly.

Only 12 persons apparently remained in hospital overnight. About 20 others were treated and released.

"The train slowed down and the conductor said we would be pulling over for a freight," Lieut. Phillip Way said. "I was talking to my wife when all of a sudden there was one big thud. The train moved backward and then came to a halt."

The Union Pacific's Portland Rose was carrying passengers en route from the west to Kansas City, 105 miles east of Wamego. The train was made up of four coaches, two baggage cars and a locomotive.

The 70-car Union Pacific freight was en route from Kansas City, Mo., to Topeka.

A Union Pacific spokesman in Omaha, Neb., said the Portland Rose pulled onto a siding to let the freight pass and apparently stuck out one end of the siding too far, fouling the main line.

The engine and one baggage car on the Portland Rose turned over, as did eight cars and all three units of the freight locomotive.

More than one-fourth of the passengers were identified as members of the armed services.

The uninjured passengers and those treated and released, a railroad spokesman said, were taken by bus to Topeka to make connection with other trains.

HALT RIOTERS

CALCUTTA (AP) — Indian police used tear gas and baton charges against rioting left-wing demonstrations in central Calcutta again Thursday. It was the fourth straight day of protest against last month's removal of West Bengal's pro-Communist United Front state government.

LBJ on Way to Rome After Vietnam Visit

'Enemy Cannot Win'

ROME (AP) — President Johnson headed today for an audience with Pope Paul, informed sources said, after telling U.S. fighting men in Vietnam: "What you have done will not have been in vain."

Johnson told the troops at the big Cam Ranh Bay base, "the enemy cannot win, now, in Vietnam . . . You have seen to that."

Now, reports in Rome and Washington said, he wants to explain personally to the Pope why the United States is pursuing its course in Vietnam. The pontiff issued a fresh call Friday for the United States to suspend bombing of North Vietnam and for the Communists "to give a sign of serious will for peace."

Word of Johnson's planned visit to the Pope came from both Italian and U.S. government sources in Rome. Both, however, said that although the arrival was scheduled it was always possible Johnson might change his plans at the last minute.

The American embassy and the Vatican have been going ahead with plans on the assumption that the Johnson visit was set and Italian Communists prepared to stage anti-American demonstrations.

An informed source in Madrid said Johnson's plane would refuel there and would spend tonight there on his way home. What began as a trip to memorial rites in Australia for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, who has been given up for drowned, was turned into an around-the-world flight.

Ground Fighting Sputters to Halt

SAIGON (AP) — With holiday truce periods only hours away, ground fighting in the Vietnam war sputtered almost to a halt today and U.S. fighting men received a surprise Christmas season visitor — President Johnson.

The Viet Cong declared they would stop fighting at 1 a.m. Sunday noon today EST. The South Vietnamese government's announced 36-hour truce, to be observed by the 475,000 or so U.S. troops in Vietnam, begins at 6 p.m. Sunday 6 a.m. EST.

Pope Plans Talk

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul today prepared his traditional Christmas message for broadcast tonight amid increased speculation that President Johnson might visit him here en route back to Washington from the Far East.

The Pope is scheduled to broadcast his traditional Christmas message on a world radio hook-up at 4 p.m. EST.

Friday the Pope told the College of Cardinals in a Christmas address he is saddened and amazed that all attempts at mediation in Vietnam have so far failed.

"Being aloof from all party interests and impassioned only by the human values involved, we have dared to offer our unarmed collaboration, willing to co-operate in the most effective way we may be permitted and requested for the re-establishment of true peace," the Pope said.

He also repeated earlier calls for a halt to American bombing of North Vietnam.

Observers believe Johnson might want to discuss with the pontiff the nomination of a successor to Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, who died Dec. 2.

UN Extends Cyprus Force

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — After two weeks of haggling, the United Nations Security Council has agreed on a resolution aimed at keeping peace on Cyprus by extending the life of the UN peacekeeping force there for three more months.

But members warned that long-range problems plaguing the troubled Mediterranean island still must be settled.

The resolution, adopted unanimously Friday by the 15-country council, called on Greece, Turkey and Cyprus to show the "utmost moderation and restraint" and to refrain from any act that might aggravate the situation.

It called on the three disputants to avail themselves promptly of the "good offices" offered by Secretary-General U Thant.

Thant told the council he would act at once to make arrangements with the countries contributing troops to permit the force to remain on Cyprus. Its mandate, in effect since March, 1964, would have expired next Tuesday. Canada has about 900 men in the force.

Hydro Avoids Blackout

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro engineers now are looking forward to a happy Christmas after what has been their most anxious week of the year.

They thought this week, traditionally the heaviest demand period of the year, that I arge-scale power cuts would be necessary because of a shortage of power.

But Friday night, as peak demand began to subside at 6:45 p.m., an official said there had been no cuts and supply was adequate.

The power cuts were expected because of strikes which had trimmed about two-thirds from what Hydro had planned as an addition of 1,000,000 kilowats to its system.

TORONTO (CP) — Six United States draft dodgers living in a hostel here have declined more than 20 invitations to Christmas dinner in favor of a meal of beans and soup. James Cook, 20, a Los Angeles musician, said in an interview accepting invitations would be presumptuous.

MONTREAL (CP) — Bail of $50,000 was fixed Friday for Giuseppe Serago, 42, Buenos Aires resident charged with smuggling heroin estimated to be worth between $1,500,000 and $4,500,000 on the illegal market.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Little change in the weather is forecast for today.

For Sunday, a disturbance is expected to cross Ontario during the day bringing milder temperatures and some snow.

Near the lower Great Lakes on Sunday afternoon temperatures are expected to range near or just above the frost point so that the possibility of a white Christmas continues to remain in doubt for these regions. Elsewhere across the province at least a covering of white snow appears assured for Christmas Day.

Greek Junta Releases 2,600 Political Foes

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek military dictatorship granted amnesty today to 2,600 political opponents it jailed since seizing power in a coup last April 21 and announced a referendum next April 21 on a proposed new constitution.

There was no indication, however, when the regime would authorize elections, a possible sticking point in its negotiations to bring exiled King Constantine back to his throne after his attempted counter coup Dec. 13 ended in fiasco. In granting the amnesty, the regime went beyond other conditions set by the king.

Premier George Papadopoulos, who made the announcement, said "elections will take place at a point when the aims of the revolution and the risks of communism have been excluded."

The draft constitution, which is reported to provide for a strong executive branch and limitations on the powers of the monarchy, would go before the Greek voters no later than Sept. 15. Papadopoulos said, if "technical reasons" rule out the April 21 date.

The amnesty order applies to the remnants of 6,000 political personalities arrested in the colonels' coup, including Andreas Papandreou, son of former premier George Papandreou, and composer Mikis Theodorakis—who wrote the music for Zorba the Greek. Many of the original 6,000 were released earlier on signing pledges to avoid political activity.

Papandreou had been awaiting trial on charges of treason. He allegedly belonged to Aspida shield, a leftist military organization accused of plotting the overthrow of the monarchy and Greece's transformation into a socialist state outside the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"The government in its efforts to secure the best possible conditions toward restoring unity of the Greek people has decided to forget the past and grant amnesty to all," Papadopoulos said. "All those involved in the Aspida case will be amnestied."

Papadopoulos said the release of the prisoners would begin immediately. The amnesty does not affect persons held on criminal charges and those jailed by other regimes for Communist activity.

Order of Canada Awards Annoy Morley Callaghan

OTTAWA (CP) — Fifteen more Canadians have been named Companions of the Order of Canada and 43 have been awarded the order's Medal of Service, Governor - General Michener announced today.

In his capacity as chancellor of the order, Mr. Michener announced the appointments to complete the first year's awards of the new honors instituted to reward Canadians for service to the country.

The list contained the first appointments of retired politicians, and was sprinkled with the names of Canadians who headed Expo 67 and other centennial events.

Meanwhile Morley Callaghan, Toronto, author, turned down a Medal of Service because he considered it "a rank of second class". Companions named in July included historian Donald R. Scott and novelists Gabrielle Roy and Hugh MacLennan.

Canadians Spend Lavishly

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Christmas 1967 means lavish decorations, increased department store sales, ominous predictions about highway deaths, crowded airports and a minimum of snow.

Mild weather and lack of snow in many parts of Canada has not dulled the enthusiasm of shoppers for spending money.

Alastair McKichan, general manager of the Retail Council of Canada, has predicted a nine-per-cent increase in department store sales this year.

D. W. Rollins, general manager of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada, has suggested Canadians are buying more expensive gifts than in the past.

Seasonal items such as skis, motorized toboggans and snow tires are not selling as well as usual because of the mild weather, he added.

Color television sets have become a big seller, many retail officials suggest. Retail firms are having a tough time keeping sets in stock.

"It's as good as Grey Cup day," said one Toronto dealer who has retailed nearly all his sets for the Christmas season.

Department store managers in Halifax say sales have been "very heavy" all this week. At the other end of the country, British Columbia store managers tell the same story and predict sales will be up seven per cent from last year.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council predicts 85 persons will die in traffic accidents across Canada between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday.

Police warn they will not tolerate drinking drivers.

Many Canadians, as usual, will travel to other parts of the country to spend Christmas with relatives or friends.

Air Canada in Montreal predicts its busiest holiday season ever with 16,000 extra passengers and 207 added sections before Jan. 3.

Canadian National Railway will put extra cars on trains on most runs and expects between 350,000 and 375,000 passengers before Jan. 2.

THE HOME OF SUPER SAVINGS

Christmas isn't only for reindeer. It's also for horses as these two local girls proved. Both Virginia, 12, and 10-year-old sister Cynthia, this year decided to ring their horses, Kim and Topper, in on the season and erected a Christmas tree outside their pets' stall. Then they festooned it with choice girls — carrots and apples.

Shopping Spree Not Yet Over

It's never too late. To prove it all you had to do was look at Front St. from the moment the stores opened this morning. The last-minute shoppers had invaded, but according to the merchants it was nothing new — they had invaded downtown stores every day for the past week.

Difference of opinion ranged from store to store on which day had been the best for sales.

Walker's Hardware reported their sales had been the best during the earlier part of this week and even the week before. Doug Dunnink, manager of the store, felt that "the rush wouldn't be too much today."

Some merchants were pessimistic, others optimistic. Joseph Blackburn of Stroud's jewellers said he expected "as much as we can handle today."

Perhaps sales on the last shopping day depends a lot on the type of merchandise being sold. The smaller "last minute" Items will most certainly sell well today and the stores that handle them will be flooded.

Referring to his store as "a last minute stop", Carl Roluf said that "the last shopping day accounts for three per cent of our year, that's pretty fantastic."

Perhaps the last day has always been the busiest but believe it or not the week in between Christmas and New Year's ranks second."

"I've had such a good week I just have no idea what to expect today," offered William Meagher of Meagher's Men's Store. We're hoping though."

Although some of the sales staff or owners of downtown stores could agree on best days or what to expect today they were unanimous on one point.

Sales are all up over last year. Towers reported this morning they have had the biggest day in its history last Saturday and is working on a record week now. People seem to be leaving most of their shopping to the last 10 days before Christmas, a spokesman said.

The Belleville Plaza has also been going strong but nobody really knows what to expect on the day before Christmas Eve.

Carl Rolof summed up his season with a statistic, "one out of every 40 people in Belleville bought a copy of 'Snoopy's Christmas" from my store — what more can I ask for."

Merry Christmas, Everybody.

School Principal Lauds Work Of Caretaker

DESERONTO — "I think our school has the best caretaker in the world," is the opinion of Ronald Uens principal of Deseronto's badly crowded school, with nine classes and only eight class rooms. Grade three meets in the hall of the nearby St. Mark's Anglican Church.

Storage space is at a premium, the principal has repeatedly pointed out to the school board, but because of the ingenuity and workmanship of Gordon ("Bud") Brennan the situation is less acute now.

In the early 30's, "Bud" lost his left hand just above the wrist when a boy, but has adjusted to the loss, so much so that newcomers sometimes know him for months before becoming aware of his handicap. He learned expert craftmanship with a Deseronto firm which makes furniture to order, and can reproduce anything brought to them. About a year ago "Bud" left their employment to become full time caretaker of the public school.

Not only does he keep the school spotless and the temperature just right, but he also puts in his spare time at the school devising ways to provide storage space. Mr. Uens mentioned a picture file which has added to the convenience of all the teachers; utility tables for the class rooms, and shelves to the ceiling above the former cupboards. Shelves have also been put up in the basement.

Have a wonderful season full of Joy. Thank you for your loyal patronage.

Lighting Awards Made

There's a brighter sparkle in some eyes today.

It comes from being well lit at Christmastime.

Yesterday, the city's Public Utilities Commission announced the winners from among hundreds of householders who participated in its outdoor Christmas lighting contest.

Winners were: most spectacular — Don Foster, 80 Emily; Mrs. Lorraine Wood, 31 King George; G. W. Downes, 94A Foster; G. F. Snider, 134 West Dundas; Dr. R. W. Edwards, 235 Bridge East; Leo Kent, 51 Gilbert.

Most original: William Belch, 90 Pine; F. A. Beeby, 40 Ritchie; Everett Dickey, 4 Russell; J. D. Lewars, 58 Seeley; William D. Cook, 38 Forin; S. Johnson, 22 Holden.

IN MEMORIAM

ANDREWS — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather Alexander Andrews, who passed away December 23, 1963.
Alexander Andrews who passed away Dec 23, 1963.
For each of us he did his best;
His place on earth he can not fill;
We miss you dad and always will.
Sadly missed and never forgotten.
Fred, daughter-in-law Gladys and grandchildren.

ANDREWS — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather Alexander Andrews who passed away Dec 23, 1963.
Four years have passed, dear father,
Since you were called away,
How well do we remember,
That sad and weary day.
Suffering much, you murmured never,
Your patience God did see,
He wanted that your dear life,
Would not be taken from me.
—Always remembered by daughter Betty and grandchildren, Douglas, Wilfred and Gloria.

CORNELL — In loving memory of our dear father, James Lorne Cornell, who passed away Dec 24, 1965.
What we would give if we could Hello, Dad, in the same old way,
To hear your voice, and see your smile,
And talk with you and chat awhile.
—Remembered by daughter Lillian and son Pat and family.

FOSTER — In loving memory of our dear son, Bill Foster, who was killed in a car accident, Dec. 24th, 1965.
God gave him a perfect body,
And called it home in three days.
He came and took him away,
But left us with memories to stay.
The son we lost and loved so well,
Not a day do we forget you Bill.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by Mom, Dad, Terry and Ricky.

In our hearts you are always here,
As it took the Lord to take you,
—Sadly missed and ever remembered, Mom and Dad.

GUAY — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Xavier Guay, who passed away Dec. 24, 1965.
The years we shared together,
The happiness we knew,
Will never be forgotten,
Dear God, in memory of you,
Rest in peace, dear husband,
And gave you rest.
We don't know why you left us,
But He knows best.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

REID — In loving memory of a dear little son, Brian Douglas who passed away, December 23, 1956.
Two little hands are resting,
A little head is at rest,
A little boy we loved is waiting,
For us just over the crest.
—Lovingly remembered by Mom, Dad, Daddy, Larry, Timothy and Ronnie Lee.

SHARP — In memory of our dear grandfather, Charles Sharp, Consecon, who passed away Dec. 24, 1964.
Dearest grandpa how we miss you,
Only the angels know how much we feel,
Your memory is our keepsake,
With the golden years we treasure,
Though we see your face no longer,
We will never forget you grandpa,
Though you are gone we still have you dear,
Always remembered by Lorraine, Marlene and Gordon.

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Charles Sharp, who passed away Dec. 24, 1964.
Please God, forgive a silent tear,
A farewell wish, our dad was here,
There are others, yes we know,
But in our hearts you're loved him so,
Dad, we miss you more each day,
To our father in heaven above,
Tell him how much we miss him,
And give him all our love.
—Sadly missed by wife and daughters.

Queen's Greetings Received by Frenchs

TRENTON — Getting married and taking a wedding trip during the Christmas season didn't seem all that important to Hanna Brooks and Freeman French when they were married 70 years ago yesterday.

But there must be something in the Yule season — as it turns out the still active couple has enjoyed its share of happiness, good health and most of the better things in life.

Today Mr. and Mrs. French are playing host to many friends and relatives including local federal and provincial members of parliament.

Among messages of congratulation the couple received is a telegram from Queen Elizabeth II as well as various other dignitaries.

Party at Tax Collectors Performs Double Function

A tough job doesn't necessarily harden character.

Like collecting taxes, for instance.

If the point needed proving, a quick scan of the department of revenue offices in Belleville yesterday would have enlightened any soul streaked with prejudice about tax collectors.

The scene was a riot of goodwill — just like any other meeting place of people at Christmas time.

There was this Christmas tree dominating the floor space, festooned with decorations, its base littered with gaily-wrapped gifts.

There was a small electric organ, moved in for the occasion and drawing a cluster of carolling employees.

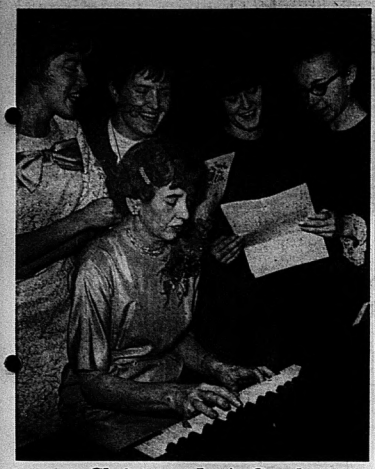
And for good measure there was a big buffet spread.

The whole scene, organized by the employees had a double-barrelled meaning.

It not only was a mark of the season.

The party also hailed the long-time service of two local revenue officials.

Department director Harry Garland and assessor Cannifton (Ken) Ashley this year have each reached a quarter-century of federal service.



Between them they have a total service as old as the department itself — income tax was first introduced in Canada 50 years ago.

Along with official 25-year pins from the government, the employees celebrated the occasion with a big cake carrying a special message to both.

During the presentations, Mr. Garland also noted that his staff didn't have the easiest task in public service.

In fact, he said, tax collectors had been drawing comment even back in biblical times.

"But the way you people do your job is a credit not only to democracy but to yourselves," he added.

Christmas Is A Carol

Christmas Is A Cake

Christmas also is for tax-collectors and these two men have added reason to be merry. Presented yesterday with pins — and cake — marking 25 years service were (left) department of revenue assessor Cannifton (Ken) Ashley and Belleville-district director Harry Garland.

Quiet Holiday Weekend Expected by Police Forces

Members of the Belleville police department are expecting a "stepping up of activities" during the yuletide celebration this weekend.

"We don't want to curtail any Christmas spirit," a spokesman said this morning, "but we won't condone any trouble."

The police will be on the look-out for any form of disturbance over the Christmas weekend (which started today and will end on Tuesday for most.)

Traffic patrols will be stepped up, specifically in search of drivers who have found the spirit of Christmas too much to handle while driving.

According to the police there is no particular area which has caused the department concern. They intend to keep an eye on things generally.

"In the past years we've had good cooperation. We expect the same thing this year", the spokesman stated.

The Belleville detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police commented that things do not look serious so far this weekend.

"It seems awfully quiet so far but we'll be ready if anything happens," an OPP spokesman said this morning.

"We'll be checking our whole area but particularly highways, 2, 401, 37 and 14."

The OPP reported with the city police in stating that they would check closely persons prone to romp with alcohol.

Last night Madoc OPP investigated an accident at Chapman's Corners at 6.15 p.m. a half mile north of Tweed.

The drivers involved were Harvey Quantrill, 23, of Ottawa and Patrick Thomas Killy, 19, of Thomasburg. Their cars involved $800 and $300 in damages respectively.

Still, holiday occurances began last night. One man, Kirke Reid, (his address was not released) received skull injuries last night when his car was demolished by a train.

The accident took place on Station Street near the express sheds at 8:48 p.m.

The incident was the most serious of two or three other "minor accidents" which took place last night. Except for Mr. Reid there were no other injuries.

Michael Wayne Walker of Toronto, was arrested and charged with theft under $50. and resisting arrest.

Walker was arrested following an incident in a local restaurant. According to police a customer refused to pay for a package of cigarettes. When accosted by a restaurant employee the customer drew a hunting knife and struck it in the counter.

Christmas 1967

Expo and Centennial Year of course come to mind immediately as the two transcending happenings in the lives of Canadians in 1967. These two great events brought Canadians to a new plateau of achievement and inspired a fresh sense of vigor and identity.

Most important, Canadians came to know each other as never before, and made many friends among visitors from overseas. In towns and cities and villages 20 million citizens celebrated their first 100 years as a nation. With these events has come a sense of maturity and pride that was not so rich or apparent before.

Politically, it has been the year John Diefenbaker went down to defeat as leader of the Conservative party, and the year Lester Pearson announced his retirement as prime minister, to take effect next spring.

In Vietnam men are still at war. Vietnam with its little children. Vietnam with its old men and women who for all its agony still reflect the timelessness of the Asian scene. Here opposing principles hang in the balance and here, despite torment and corruption, men still seek the light.

The issue? Does the western world want to maintain its freedom or lose it, if not now in Vietnam then later in some other extension of the overall east-west confrontation?

Only those who have lost their freedom know the humiliation and fear that go with domination by an alien system. That is how it was in Europe after the Nazis overran that continent. And that is how it could be in Canada should we become so complacent and unprepared and materially comfortable that one day the forces of communism, whether from Russia or China, would find us easy prey.

Once again Christmas is upon us. This is family time in an open society where the integrity of the family is under stronger pressure than ever before. Family life and pride are the finest attainments of any society and they must never be cheapened by any concept involving freer relationships among people. The so-called new morality is not really new but it has greater rein today and it still runs counter to the true dignity and worth that go with a sense of the fitness of things.

It is a time for children especially. Children reflect the magic of the Christmas tradition. They are mankind's insurance for a better future. May they enjoy a world where peace ultimately shall reign, a world in which the vast problems of the day will be tackled and overcome.

One of the most tangible expressions of such a spirit is Israel's offer to absorb the more than one million Palestine refugees who have languished in camps for some 20 years as a result of the hostilities associated with Israel's fight for independence. This gesture is in keeping with the Christian message and tradition, and with the events 2,000 years ago when a star glowed in the east and a child was born in Bethlehem of Judea whose name was Jesus and the world was transformed by His coming.

Merry Christmas

National Anthem Lyrics Latest Bicultural Problem

By GREG CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA - A special Senate-Commons committee is trying awfully hard to come up with the right verses for 'O Canada' which is to become officially our national anthem.

Most of the letters sent to the committee by English-speaking Canadians have proposed that the generally used Weir version be retained with some minor changes in the wording.

The same response has been true of French-speaking Canadians who like the present Routhier version but want some alterations in the lyrics.

But the committee has heard other proposals that are more dramatic and revolutionary and which could provide a solution to this difficult task.

One of these was the suggestion of Mrs. Jack Cowdell of Quebec City for a bilingual 'O Canada' with lines alternating in English and French.

Yet another plan submitted by Monsignor Maurice O'Brady, head of the Shawinigan Normal School, proposed new verses for the French version and similar lyrics in English.

Objections were raised in Mrs. Cowdell's bilingual anthem because it was said many English-speaking Canadians would not be able to pronounce the French words.

As a splendid rebuttal to this she had the Ottawa Negro high school choir, with only brief rehearsal, sing the anthem in an excellent fashion that quite moved the Senate-Commons committee.

Her version is as follows:

O Canada! Our home — Notre Pays
La Feuille d'Erable: One flag
From sea to sea;
Sol de liberte
Sol d'egalite
Where freedom's banner flies;
Chantons, tous la gloire
D'une riche histoire
Our heroes, teeth northern skies . . .
O Canada! O ma patrie!
Hold high Our Maple Leaf
o'er land and sea,
O Canada My country—Mon pays.

Mrs. Cowdell believed that young people could learn her lyrics in 30 minutes. And the children could quickly teach the words to their parents.

But some committee members said that even after all these years with the Weir version in English, very few Canadians knew the words.

Indeed, Eric Morse of the Canadian Clubs thought the best procedure would be to retain the Routhier and Weir versions for French and English-speaking Canadians.

He did agree that something should be done about the repetitious 'we stand on guard for thee,' in the English text.

Msgr. O'Brady reported that the 'stand on guard' appeared 15 times in the Weir version. There was a plentitude also of 'from sea to sea' and 'glorious and free.'

He did not think too much of the Weir version but he was equally critical of the Routhier words.

The first line, 'O Canada, terre de nos aieux' (O Canada, land of our fathers) was fine, Msgr. O'Brady conceded. But the next line, "Ton bras sait porter l'epee" (Thine arm may bear the sword), was definitely not good.

Nor was the third line where Canada had a forehead. "A land does not have an arm or a forehead — people should not have t.. sing foolishness," the clergyman told the committee.

So he proposed French verses which translate approximately in English as follows: —

"O Canada, thy boundless land proclaims thy glory and thy prosperity. Thine arm may bear the sword and the cross as well. Thine history is an epic tale of most glorious deeds. Thy merit, tempered in faith, shall protect our rights from all assaults."

Msgr. O'Brady denied that his English version could be improved. However he liked the idea of French and English Canadians singing anthem words that were very similar.

"I would like the English and French who are looking at each other like cat and dog to find a meeting point, perhaps at the summit known as the national anthem."

Senator Maurice Bourget, committee co-chairman, suggested it wasn't absolutely necessary that French and English words be the same. After all, he said, Switzerland's national anthem was in five languages.

"Nothing compels us to imitate Switzerland," Msgr. O'Brady retorted.

He had an argument to offer too against the claim it would be difficult for Canadians to learn new words. Msgr. O'Brady pointed to the changes that were happening in his church through ecumenical developments.

"They have been making changes in the form of prayers like the Lord's Prayer. I was surprised at the speed with which the faithful accepted the new text," he said.

These then are some of the submissions the Senate-Commons committee hears as it wrestles with this problem of words for 'O Canada.'

A Reply to Mrs. Forrester

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

This is in answer to Mrs. Jane (J.H.) Forrester's letter to the E'lizer in which she

(1) criticized the re-elected aldermen for their lack of expression of appreciation and courtesy for Mayor Jack Ellis at the recent council meeting.

(2) personally expressed her own thanks.

I believe it is presumptuous, however, to assume that her personal attitudes are necessarily those of the re-elected aldermen.

If these emotions are not shared by the re-elected aldermen who have frankly and intentionally omitted to proclaim them, then I believe the asking of this "courtesy" is tantamount to asking them to be either naive and-or insincere—qualities that were severely criticized by the chairman of the commission, who investigated our hockey scandal a few years ago.

C. O. Seeks Information On Local Militia Units

Editor,
The Intelligencer

I am attempting to trace the history of those Militia units that finally became our famous Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. However I am lacking some information and I wonder if any of your readers could assist me.

To date I have been unable to locate the churches in which the Colours (flags) of two Regiments have been placed for safe keeping. Would anyone know where the Colours of the 40th Hastings Regiment are deposited (if there were any — since it was a Rifle Regiment)? Also I do not know where the Northumberland Regiment Colours are located.

I would appreciate any assistance that can be given.

The Spirit of Christmas

Letter in The Globe and Mail

There are many elements in the spirit of Christmas. Not the least of them is humor, the cheery smile and the happy heart are as much the sign of St. Nick as his red suit, his reindeer or his bountiful bag.

Laughter, said a sage of old, is the invention and the gift of the gods bestowed in pity on the toil-worn and harassed human race.

Stephen Leacock put it a bit more simply. He said he would sooner have written Alice in Wonderland than the whole of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

In Stephen Leacock Canada has a unique amalgam of economist and humorist. "Mathematics," Leacock declared, "was the father of the empty cradle." It was the first teacher of political economy. But he had a hare-lip. The students could not understand him. No harm was done.

To which he added: "So far as political economy meant practical precept — work, save and take what you can get—the Scots did not need it at school. They had it at homework."

And to put us in our proper place, Stephen Leacock wrote of his trade as an economist: "When I sit and warm my hands as best I may at the little heap of embers that is now political economy, I cannot but contrast its dying glow with the various blaze of the vain-glorious and triumphant science that once it was."

So even if over the past 12 months our "furious blaze" has given off little light, please join us this Christmas around "the little heap of embers".

There will at least be some heat there, reflecting, we trust, appreciation of friendships past and and strivings common in their goal.

And may each of us earn, in some small measure, the final tribute published by Punch to Canada's best known humorist:

Anyhow, I'd be proud as a peacock
To have inscribed on my tomb
He followed the footsteps of Leacock
In bashful gloom.
God rest ye merry, gentlemen. Let nothing you dismay.

A Look At Canada From States

Letter in The Globe and Mail

A Canadian in temporary exile may easily find himself these days growing a little apprehensive about the state of the body politic back home. There seems to be the odor of dissolution, or at any rate dis-illusion, in the native air and occasionally a waft of it drifts south of the border.

How tremendously reassuring it is, therefore, to pick up your issue of Dec. 2 and find that watchdog of the Constitution, Dr. Eldon Foley, hair bristling and hackles rising, still triumphant; on the prowl in the corresp.ondence columns of The Globe and Mail.

Inequalities

National Economy and Medicare

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

We hope the sudden economy drive by the government at this time has no connection with medicare. Like another royal commission report, the "medicare pressure is mostly for the status quo and watering down. This could be an historical decision.

Now covered by medicare is the entire population of one province and 95 percent of the people in the three most populated. So there can't be a serious inadequacy in facilities. However there are inequalities.

In Ontario old age pensioners who own their home with income under $3,000 for a married couple and only $1,500 each ($1,700 and $1,000 respectively for a single person) are getting full coverage without cost, as are industry's highest paid employees. The middle class has various percentages of coverage and amount contributed by employer.

They say 448,000 Ontario pensioners are eligible and $1,400 families on welfare can get free health services. Pensioners must apply now.

As for cost to the federal government, let's not even look its present contribution towards employer group health insurance through the loss of tax revenue. Such a benefit is not available to the self - employed, and group cover.ge is not compulsory in businesses with less than 15 employees.

Similarly, tax - loss benefits include life insurance, which costs the employer in group ten times more for the old employee, on a graded scale, than those half the age. This is a detriment to employment and in many cases is merely an unessential benefit to the estate.

The Carter Royal Commission primarily recommends the taxation of excapees for increasing tax revenue. It seems to me we should rely on the informed judgment of the two royal commissions, namely: health and taxation.

JOHN GILBERT HANOVER, ONT.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 22, 1967 ....

Wake Island, a United States Navy airfield in the Pacific Ocean, surrendered 26 years ago today—in 1941 —after a gallant defence by a garrison of 377 marines and a few civilian workers. U.S. troops sank five Japanese warships and a submarine during first landing attempts and underwent 12 days of heavy bombing, fighting back with four aircraft, which were all shot down. The commander ordered a surrender after six hordes of combat with 1,100 Japanese invaders.

1923—The United States federal reserve bank was founded.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the summit of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella, on the Asiago Plateau, was stormed by Austrians; HMS Stephen Furness was torpedoed and sunk in the Irish Channel with 101 lost; Germans made slight gains on the 700-yard front in Ypres-Staden railway area.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—RAF aircraft attacked Japanese installations at Rathedaung on the Arakan peninsula; United States troops arrived in French West Africa; a Canadian squadron of Wellington bombers made a daylight sweep over northwestern Germany.

Famous Hymns

RAZE B. POWELL

O HOLY NIGHT

O holy night, the stars are brightly shining,
It is the night of the dear Saviour's birth;
Long lay the world in sin and error pining,
Till He appeared and the soul felt its worth.
A thrill of hope, the weary soul rejoices,
For yonder breaks a new and glorious morn,
Fall on your knees, O hear the angel voices,
O night divine, O night when Christ was born;
O night, O holy night, O night divine!

Christmas worship throughout the English speaking world has been enriched for more than a century by this exquisite French carol, and for many Christmases before it came to us through translation it was a favorite in France.

Its French name was "Cantique de Noel" and it still appears under that title in many twentieth century English hymnals.

Little is known about the hymn's creator, M. Cappeau de Roquemaire, and about the writing of the original French verses. The lovely English version which has become precious to so many Christians was written by Dr. John Sullivan Dwight, the popular American music critic.

The matchless hymn music was turned out by the celebrated nineteenth century French musician, Adolphe Charles Adam. Mr. Adam wrote church music, piano-forte pieces, and many successful comic operas and ballets. He also wrote incidental music for some 30 plays. His fame as a composer of ballet music spread to London, Berlin, and St. Petersburg and won him personal invitations to all of these capitals. Today, he is remembered chiefly for his ballet, "Giselle," and for his "Cantique de Noel" music.

Adolphe Adam was born in Paris in 1803 and was the son of the pianist and pianoforte teacher, Louis Adam. The lad had an early and strong desire to become a musician but his career had to wait for several years while he tried vainly to persuade his father to permit him to enroll at the Paris Conservatoire.

Points for Parents

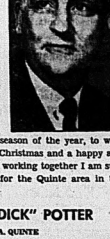
By MARY BRYSON

Mother: (on Christmas Eve) "Jump into bed quick now. Stop tossing to stay up. You don't want Santa to look in the window and go away because you're not in bed."

Mother: "Get into your pajamas and Daddy will read a Christmas story while I make some hot chocolate. We can drink it while we listen to Christmas carols before bedtime."

The night before Christmas is so full of excitement, it's hard for young children to settle down to sleep. A relaxing hour of quiet companionship will be a pleasant sedative.



To all our Customers a very Merry Christmas season!

Know Your Antiques

Birds for Christmas have been popular for centuries. This bird is a box made about 1750. The English box was probably made at Battersea. (Colonial Williamsburg, Williamsburg, Va.)

"Partridge in Pear Tree" Given as Christmas Gift

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

"The partridge in a pear tree" or the "calling birds" made famous in song were often given as Christmas gifts during the 18th century. Live birds were popular pets.

A different type of bird might also have been offered to a true love. Small porcelain figures, cups, and enameled boxes were made in the shape of birds. Very attractive bird boxes were made about 1750 at Battersea, London, England.

The painted enamels of Battersea were on copper. The metal base was covered with white enamel and handpainted decorations were added. Snuff and patch boxes were the most popular pieces made.

Several other English firms made similar painted enamels. No other enamel had the quality of Battersea. The firm only worked from about 1753 to 1756 when they went into bankruptcy.

• • •

Q. My small inlaid wooden table has a name worked into the top, "Galle." I have also Galle glass and pottery. Did he same man also make furniture?

A. Emile Galle was one of the first artists to work in the Art Nouveau style. He began making glass in the 1870's and by the 1890's his now famous cameo glass was being made.

Galle was also making pottery and furniture at the same time. His furniture often featured marquetry floral designs made from many different types of wood.

All of the glass and furniture made by Galle and his workmen was signed with the name Galle. The signature on the furniture changed slightly over the years. The earlier signatures were free in shape. The later signatures were tightly compressed letters. Although Galle died in 1904, his workshop continued making furniture and glass until 1913

Q. Six teaspoons have been in my family about 100 years. They are easily bent. On the back of each this handle is the word "coin." Can you date them?

A. Coin silver marked with the word "coin" dates from the first half of the 19th century. Earlier American silver was marked with just a maker's name. Silver made after the Civil War was usually marked "sterling."

• • •

Q. I saw a cut glass bowl. It had a large six pointed star in the center. Can you tell me when cut glass was made with that design?

A. One of several cut glass designs using the six pointed star was "Star of David" pattern first articled in 1893. The star was surrounded by other geometric patterns. Most of the cut glass made with geometric designs covering the glass was made in the brilliant period of cut glass, 1880 to 1915.

Club Activities

PRINCE EDWARD-BELLEVILLE LADIES' CLUB

Prince Edward-Belleville Ladies' Club entertained members' families and friends Thursday night at the annual dinner and social evening.

Massassaga UCW catered for the turkey dinner at the Recreation Centre. The floral arrangement on the head table was raffled, with Mrs. M. Haslip the winner.

The program consisted of solos sung by Mrs. H. Haley and Mrs. L. Wannamaker, readings given by Mrs. A. Martin and Mrs. E. Garbutt, a piano selection played by Miss K. McCullough, a skit performed by Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. A. Mitchell, and a Christmas message given by Mrs. P. Holmes. Miss K. McCullough was pianist for a sing-song.

One's Feelings Re Christmas Change with Time

"There is a change in one's feelings toward Christmas, as years pass on, that is, in a way, typical of the course of life.

"At first, we enjoy it for what we receive. The chief happiness of a child is the exquisite anticipation and delightful possession of new books and toys; then, as we grow older, we give more and receive less, and our interests are occupied with others; and, at last, our chief happiness comes from the joy we find can give our little ones, and the remembrance of our own youth shining back from their eyes." — Godey's Lady's Book, December, 1863.

— Thank you, dear Mr. Godey. Just how much we have grown with the years might well be shown by our degree of preoccupation with making someone else happy rather than "seeking our own."

Dear Doris: My hair is so thin my scalp shows. Cannot even get a perm; there's no hair to hold the curl. Have put up with this for four years and I am now suffering from an inferiority complex which is affecting my health.

At last thought I had solved my problem by buying a beautiful wig. Right color for me (gray).

My problem? My husband won't let me wear it. He says he won't take me any place wearing "this thing". And won't even sit in the same pew in church. Everyone else says it looks smart and neat. What shall I do? — Very Unhappy.

Dear Unhappy: Would dear Hubby let you go bald and still resist this modern beauty trend? Guesswork of women in your predicament have rejected in today's trend to hair pieces and wigs.

You might:

(1) Buy one or two fashionable hats without too much regard for price. Wear them when Hubby takes you out.

(2) Wear your hair piece when out with the girls. If the Other Half h. ppens to see the Thing on you, he might gradually get used to it.

(3) Get a good hairdresser to give you a gentle permanent — a short hair - do, which features sufficient backcombing to give fullness close to the head.

A lovely coiffure can do wonders for an inferiority complex, whether it is yours by nature or adoption.

Dear Doris: Thank you for sending me your leaflets: "Loveliest With the Years" and "A Delaying Action for Wrinkles". Anything is a help. I am 84.

I don't know what I expect to see when I look in a mirror but I know that what I do see always gives me a shock! — Sallie P.

Dear Sallie: You still feel the same inside, don't you? And the wrinkled exterior doesn't mean you can't transform the whole effect with a cheerful countenance — and once discuss your cosmetic activity.

Now is the time you reap the reward of an optimistic outlook. The smile lines — or happy lines — are permanent. Look how happy Santa Claus looks!

Doris has studied human behavior, and can shed light on your dilemma. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Young Woman Is Undertaker

TORONTO (CP) — Sharon Thompson is a tiny active, right but that I would never find a job. You have to have a place to serve your apprenticeship."

The Earle Elliott funeral home happened to have a vacancy and was considering hiring a woman apprentice to help out especially with secretarial work. Miss Thompson got the job.

In addition to secretarial work, her duties range from helping families make funeral plans to flower arrangements. Her boss adds that she's "quite a good embalmer and hairdresser and we rely a great deal on her in emergencies."

Dating presents something of a problem but Miss Thompson solves it by usually going out with other members of the profession. "It saves a lot of explaining."

There are about two dozen women undertakers in Ontario.

Christmas Concerts

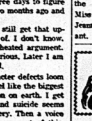
RYLSTONE — Miss Carol Sharpe and her pupils at Ninth Line School entertained the school section and other friends Friday night at a Christmas concert in the school.

John Spencer was chairman and the program presented by pupils in grades one to four. Each pupil was introduced, because the school population is made up of juniors from several schools closed this year and many pupils were unknown to the audience.

The program consisted of recitations by Scott Anderson, Rickey White, Melinda Wellman, Philip and Rodney Spencer, Kenny Finch, Craig Morton, Stephen Mathews, Jerry Mumby, Sharon Huff, Gerald Finch, Brenda Meiklejohn, and musical numbers by Mark and Michael Thomson, Harvey and Kenneth Church, Randy Scott, Jeff Anderson, Ed Meiklejohn, Sharon Huff, Mark Spencer, Janet McKeown, Rodney and Philip Spencer, Scott Anderson, Gary Fennell, Harvey and Kenneth Church.



Carole ere sung and Santa Claus distributed gifts and candy to the children.

Piano accompaniments for the concert were played by Miss Sharpe's sister, Miss Jeanne Sharpe of Mount Pleasant.

Ann Landers
Another LSD User Relates Experiences

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the LSD user caused a lot of talk on our campus. I heard some kids say, "That settles it for me." Can you use one more letter that might "settle it" for some others?

I'm a 20-year-old college student (male) who thought it might be a groovy experience to "expand my mind." I smoked a couple of joints (marijuana) and felt pretty good after the first excursions. The next step for me was LSD. I figured if pot made me high, LSD would really zoom me out of this world. You wouldn't believe how easy it is to get LSD around here.

ANN LANDERS

My first trip was fair but my second trip was bad — very bad. My third trip was spooky. It took me three days to figure out who I was and where I was. That was two months ago and I'm far from normal as I write this letter.

I'm a total wreck (study halls are crowded) I still get that uptight feeling. Don't ask me what I'm afraid of. I don't know. A casual conversation usually turns into heated argument. When anyone disagrees with me I become furious. Later I am filled with remorse and get awfully depressed.

During these depressions all my character defects loom up in shocking detail to plague me. I feel like the biggest liar, the laziest, most useless, rottenest person on earth. I get to thinking maybe I don't deserve to live and suicide seems like the sure way to take me out of my misery. Then a voice that sounds like God keeps saying, "You'll come out of this. Fight back." So I keep fighting.

I have a wonderful family. My parents are great and they have been very understanding. I am under psychiatric care and I know now that one day I'll make it back.

I hope you will print this, Ann, and give me the opportunity to help some other stupid kid to learn for nothing what nearly cost me my life. — EX HIPPY.

* * *

DEAR EX-HIPPY: Here's your letter and many thanks for writing it. Now, may I add a word?

There are thousands of people in search of mind and inner security. Contentment cannot be found in a bottle, a pill, a needle or on a sugar cube. The person who wants to get away from himself is the very one who can least afford to try it. He is the copout, the unstable, maladjusted personality who will crack when the going gets rough. He is the very one who needs a good hold of something solid and hang in there for all he's worth.

No one ever solved a problem or dealt successfully with a crisis by running away from it. Drugs and alcohol are methods of escape. All they do is further befuddle and finally depress an already confused and unhappy person.

Psychiatrists all over the country have reported an increasing number of psychotic teen-agers who have flipped out after experimenting with drugs. Some of these kids will never be rational human beings again as long as they live. What a terrible price to pay for a "groovy experience."

* * *

Confidential to HATE THOSE GLASS WINDOWS: A person who wears glasses "even though he doesn't need them," needs them. He hides behind the glasses in a variety of ways. They make him feel intellectual, or they may cover dark circles or wrinkles — or they may provide just the measure of separation he needs for himself and the next fellow.

Letter Relates Joys of Christmas Past

By MARY MOORE

"Dear Mary: Your gift of nincemeat arrived today and you cannot imagine how great a gift it is. For rather than being just a prosaic jar filled with a delectable Christmas sweetmeat, it became the passport to the joys of Christmas past.

"I was immediately carried back to my days as a very young child, one of seven, when my family lived in Halifax. My Mother, gone from us these past five years, was a tangible presence once more, her raven black hair curling about her face in damp ringlets, her forearms powdered with flour and her tiny figure wrapped in a huge apron as she prepared the food for the Christmas and New Year season.

"And there was I, sitting on a small triangular seat my father had built into a corner of the kitchen especially for bairns . . . as Mother rolled pastry, stirred Christmas puddings and sampled the nincemeat in the old stone crock to check on its flavor.

"I sat expectantly, clutching my old teddy bear, somewhat worn and patched from constant loving and mishandling by irreverent brothers. My silent hopes were not in vain for the wooden spoon was offered and I got my taste.

"Strange how in a busy newsroom all this came back like a picture flashed on a screen and with it I seemed to smell the sharp tanginess of the nincemeat, the taste of good old-fashioned shortbread melting in my mouth and the feel of the heat from the behemoth of a cook stove which my Scottish Mother kept blacked within an inch of its life.

"Christmas, a time of awe and wonder at the timeless story of a Child's birth; a strong sense of family filled with love for one another which spilled over every year to embrace others who were far away from home; the delight of anticipation and the joy of realization; church on Christmas morning and friends calling through the day; and through it all my Mother, gay and smiling, serving the Christmas dinner and finding her reward in our enjoyment, playing the piano to accompany our traditional carol singing and offering spontaneous, warm welcomes to all who came to say "Merry Christmas".

"God bless you, Mary, for your gift which, unsuspecting to you, contained an extra ingredient which will make its savoring even more delicious than you could have dreamed possible.

"A very happy Christmas to you and your beloved family and thank you once again. Yours sincerely, (signed), Elizabeth Rynasko."

* * *

Elizabeth Rynasko is Women's Editor of The Kingston Whig-Standard and expressed my sentiments so dramatically in her 1966 letter, that I pigeonholed it to reprint for you today.

My fondest wish is that I have added "an extra ingredient" to your 1967 Christmas. Love from Mary.

Federal Authorities to Attack False Advertising

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal authorities are preparing to strike at false advertising.

Power to act in this area, now reserved to the provinces, would be handed to the new consumer and corporate affairs department by one of the Criminal Code amendments introduced in the Commons Thursday.

"The provinces have never used this much," says D. H. W. Henry, director of investigation and research under the Combines Investigation Act.

"We're prepared to enforce it."

The power now lies in a clause of the Criminal Code which is provincially enforced. By transferring the clause to the Combines Investigation Act, it comes under federal authority.

The authority will be the trade practices section of the new department, soon to have its name formally changed from the registrar-general's department.

The clause says anyone making a purported statement of fact about a product that is untrue, deceptive, misleading or intentionally worded to give a deceptive impression is liable to imprisonment of five years.

GREETINGS

TO OUR MANY GOOD FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Time to shovel the walk and enjoy the crisp, cold air of winter... time to think about those we know and like and those we've enjoyed serving in the past. We are grateful for your patronage, and as the Christmas season approaches, we want to extend to you and yours the very best of holidays, in every way

And to Wish You A Happy New Year

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

With the coming of Christmas we may take time from our busy lives to reflect on the many wonders of this world. We can be thankful for the opportunities that Canada offers and we in Ontario can be particularly thankful for our special circumstances. The Centennial celebrations have shown us not only the growth of material wealth, but the great awakening in things of the mind and of the spirit.

On behalf of more than two thousand members of our staff, I express the hope that we may all share in the spiritual awakening that accompanies the cry "Merry Christmas".

Sincerely yours,

D. M. Woods
President

Ontario Farmers Union To Seek More Members

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Farmers Union will be stepping up its membership drive during 1968 in an attempt to double its strength and increase the power of its lobby, the union's president said Friday.

Walter Miller of Tara said in an interview the aim of the union is to negotiate contracts for its members with users of farm products.

"I think many consumer interests would like to see farmers set the markup to the shelf and possibly to the consumer."

Mr. Miller said there was no chance of the National Farmers Union joining the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. "This group is where our enemies are."

May your holiday be filled with cheery gladness

As we listen to the beloved hymns and carols of Christmas, our thoughts travel to another time, another place. With the shepherds, we hear the heavenly host announce the glad tidings...with the Wise Men, we follow the Star of Bethlehem...with Joseph and Mary, we gaze in wonder at the Holy Babe. He is born again in our songs...and in our hearts.

Canadian Energy Board Won't Cut Gas Price

OTTAWA (CP) — Two powerful agencies of the Canadian and United States governments are standing at odds this Christmas weekend.

The National Energy Board—which must approve the price as well as the quantity of any natural gas exported from Canada—refused Friday to agree to a price reduction in a negotiated contract as ordered by the Federal Power Commission in Washington.

The story goes back to 1954, when Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd. first negotiated a deal to sell British Columbia natural gas to the Pacific Northwest for 27 cents a thousand cubic feet.

This, the energy board said, was a distress price, agreed to only in order to get a toe-hold in the rich American market.

Westcoast committed itself in 1960 to insist on getting a much higher price in later years to offset this low price.

Last spring, Westcoast negotiated a contract with El Paso Natural Gas Co. to sell additional gas at 32.42 cents. The energy board agreed this was a proper price.

But when El Paso went to the FPC during the summer to get its approval of the importation of Canadian gas, the American agency cut the price to 29.5 cents. Westcoast came back to the energy board here and asked for its approval.

But Friday, the energy board declared in a lengthy judgment the price differential is too great.

"The board is unable to satisfy itself that the proposed export price (29.5 cents) . . . is just and reasonable in relation to the public interest."

All Toronto Exchange Indexes Decline

By SEAN FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A book recently published says the popular belief stocks sell at before a holiday is false. But all major indexes on the Toronto Stock Exchange declined this week.

Golds took the largest drop on the TSE this week, falling 7.36 to 197.74. Industrials were off .21 to 180.77, base metals .52 to 103.55 and western oils 1.16 to 218.77.

Gold-bullion buying in Europe and Hong Kong renewed investor interest in gold-producing issues last week. But weekend statements from the Federal Reserve Bank in the United States and the Bank of Canada, the first saying the U.S. would hold the price of gold at $35 an ounce and the second asking the co-operation of banks and financial institutions in curbing the wave of speculation, stemmed investor interest in gold.

As a result, prices of gold-producing stocks declined.

The exchange closed at noon Friday for the Christmas holiday, and Dome Mines felt 3¾ in the 414-day trading week to 37. Giant Yellowknife fell 55 cents to 8.35 and Kerr Addison ¼ to 11¾.

Losses to industrial issues were mostly fractional; some food-producers, however, took losses of a point or more.

Canada and Dominion Sugar reported the highest earnings in the company's history for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, but price of the stock declined 1 to 22.

Oils, long high-flying issues, took losses ranging from 2 for Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas, which closed at 42 Friday, to ¼ for Central-Del Rio, which closed at 21¼.

Trading in base metals was dull during the week, with losses mostly fractional. There was little news to spark investor interest.

Chicago Gangs Play Santa

CHICAGO (AP)—A year ago they were enemies, but they joined forces for a common goal —to bring Christmas and Santa Claus to deprived children on Chicago's West Side.

Fourteen members of three once-violent West Side gangs donned white beards, red-and-white suits and caps and delivered 6,000 donated toys Friday to youngsters in 35 settlement houses an youth centres in the Lawndale section.

Garland Hunter, 18, one of the Santas for a day, said when asked if the youngsters were surprised to see a Negro Santa:

"If there can be a red-nosed reindeer, there can be a black Santa."

"The toys we give will be Christmas for most of the kids," said another Santa, husky Edward Nash, 23.

"A lot of the parents here have a hard time finding a dollar for a present," he said.

Nash's younger brother, Marvin, 20, recalled: "When I was a kid, I celebrated the best way I could—out on the streets—it didn't seem like anyone cared."

Cmdr. George Sims of the North Lawndale police district said the three gang-rich Roman Saints, Conservative Vice Lords and Egyptian Cobras—"were the most active and violent gangs on the West Side."

"We're not gangs anymore," Edward Nash said. "We call ourselves groups.

"Some of the members needed talking to, but the majority rules."

The change from gangs to groups began about a year ago explained Charles Curry, area director of Youth Action, a co-operative effort of West Side Boys' Clubs. The youths now have channelled their energies from violence to community service, Curry said.

Mo-Hawks Best Effort; Win 3-1

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Don't tell me they haven't got it.

They have — and they produced it last night.

You wouldn't have known the Mo-Hawks other than by their sweaters.

Last night they played the best game of the season knocking off the powerful Collingwood Kings 3-1 in an

LOU SMRKE

OHA Senior "A" hockey hassle.

The smallish Christmas week crowd could scarcely believe their eyes.

The Mo-Hawks slipped into high gear at the drop of the first puck and never let up until the final whistle blew and they had the best win of the year under their belts.

And in doing so they pizzz-backed Orillia to jump into ninth place one point behind Oakville Oaks and a scarce four points behind sixth - place Barrie.

It was the best Christmas present the Mo-Hawks could hand the fans, few as they were.

They mushroomed their potential for the first time. They unknown to them, won the game in the first period. They led 3-1 going into the scoreless third heat and the fans held their breath.

MICKEY CHEREVATY

But they merely "re-fuelled" during the intrim and were fityng at top speed when the final whistle blew.

They deserved every inch of the win and proved beyond a doubt they are a hockey club that belongs up in the top four.

They met the powerful Kings skate-for-skate, check for check and plus two goals. The Kings wizard Chuck Jewell was at his best in the nets but he wasn't a bit better than shoulder - wrapped Larry Holmes in the Mo - Hawks' cage.

Old pros may be old pros but Lou Smrke and Eddie Marineau proved they haven't forgotten the know - how and along with Mickey Cherevaty came up with a fine two - way performance.

But it was an all-out team effort that saw the Mo-Hawks at their best. Every player gave his best and proved as a whole that — after a dismal seasonal performance to date— the club is a team to be reckoned with.

"Whatinell did you inject into your guys?" asked the King's ace, Dave McComb. "They played hockey tonight and they well deserved the win."

Coach Floyd Crawford and manager Bob Tenglis were grins a mile wide. "We knew they had it" the duo chorused "and tonight proved it." They were so right.

It didn't take Lou Smrke long to crack the scoring egg

Summary

COLLINGWOOD — Jewell, Keeling, Kay, Henderson, Taylor, Jackson, McComb, Fisher, Abbott, Neil, St. Onge, Keith, Hamsley, Watts, Alexander.

BELLEVILLE — Holmes, Boddy, Marineau, Jones, Gould, Bernier, Mackenzie, Cherevaty, Marsh, Baker, Cherevaty, Plaus, McCreary.

Referee - Keith MacDonald, Picton.

Linesmen - Jones, Picton, Brewer, Trenton.

FIRST PERIOD

1. Belleville - Smrke (Plaus) 12.30

Penalties: Kay (hold) 2.22.

SECOND PERIOD

2. Belleville - Cherevaty (McCreary, Plaus) 13.32.

3. Belleville - Jones (Baker) 13.55

4. Collingwood - St. Onge (Keith) 18.39

Penalties: Marsh (ha) 4.42, St. Onge (ha) 4.42, Gould (ins) 9.39.

THIRD PERIOD

No score.

Penalties: Cherevaty (ap) 2.15, Smrke (hold) 2.46, Jones (board) 5.32, Henderson (hold) 13.32.

SHOTS ON GOAL

Collingwood ... 42

Belleville ... 44

Taking Ralph Plane's pass to blast the puck from inside the King's baseline.

It was a nip-and-tuck struggle from here in, the Kings stung by the early setback going all out to even the count.

The Mo-Hawks met them man-for-man and in the last half of the first period the goalies, Holmes and Jewell, were the standouts.

Mickey Cherevaty put the game on ice after 19 seconds of the second period on a fine passing play with Mc-Connell and Eddie Marineau.

EDDIE MARINEAU

Then Davey Jones wrapped it up, for the moment, when he upped the score 3-1 on a fine passing play with Shaker Baker.

Collingwood had the fans on edge when Fern St. Onge fired the only goal of the game behind Holmes, assisted by Johnny Keith.

Then came the third heat and the fans held their breath.

Up 3-1 and could they hold it?

The Mo-Hawks have been known to blow a three or four goal lead — but would history repeat itself?

It didn't.

The Mo-Hawks, as was noted, came through with a brilliant third period to project the 3-1 lead and that's the way it ended.

It was, as was noted, the best game the Mo-Hawks have played this season. They vindicated last night the faith that Coach Crawford and Manager Bob Temple and this writer have in them.

They proved beyond a doubt they can play hockey if they want to play hockey. I hope they're on their way up.

Bobby Hull's World Of Hockey

Bert Olmstead is one of the combative characters in hockey, once a vigorous left winger for Montreal and Toronto. Now he was named to coach California Seals, it was not surprising to see him draft players for the rugged game his brothers.

Consider the California defence. Olmstead has two who were experienced in the grinding game at Toronto — Bob Baun and Kent Douglas.

He has two others who are big and capable of riding off enemy forwards — Larry Cahan, up from the New York farm in Vancouver, and Ant Erickson, who once played for us in Chicago, then wound up in the Toronto organization.

These robust players form the blueline protection for goalies Charlie Hodge and Gary (Suitcase) Smith. They are the front four, as the football people say.

Olmstead didn't obtain as high-scoring bunch of forwards as, say, the Pittsburgh Penguins. He got a stick centre, like Bitty Harris from Detroit, and a digging forward in Bill Hicks from New York.

He picked Wally Boyer as a terrier-type centre and Norm-Boom-Boom Caron as a hard shooter, both from Chicago. Caron scored 74 goals for St. Louis in the Central Pro League four years ago, but dislocations in his shooting and checking kept him out of the NHL until now.

Olmstead selected Terry Clancy from Toronto as a young forward with plenty of heft, and traded to get Gerry Ehman from the Leafs as a veteran right wing with sauvy.

The success of the Seals, however, seems to hinge on the defence and goal. If the people in those positions can stand up to 60 minutes of a game, California will be hard to score on.

But on their first Eastern swing, the pressure seemed to crack the Seals' defence early in the third periods. They'd be about even at that stage, then fold when the other team overwhelmed the California forwards.

Hodge, who can be exceptionally nimble, was constantly bombarded in the late stages. People who saw him say he was playing better than at any time since he won the Vezina Trophy as the best goalkeeper in hockey, for Montreal Canadiens in 1963-64.

Today's One Per Kids: Even good penalties like Hodge sometimes give up rebounds, which allow the attack another shot on goal if the players are in position to cash in. Some players, after a try on goal, skate right past the net as if their job is finished. I believe that after every shot, you should stay in front and be ready for a rebound. When a goalie has stopped a shot, he is usually out of position, either down on the ice or off to one side. That's the time to grab the puck and shoot fast. Snaring rebounds can make the difference in scoring 25 goals a year instead of only 15.

Bruins Missing Big Bears Orr And Green

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Milt Schmidt and Harry Sinden must feel like men running up hill in sand as they try and keep their Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League Eastern Division race.

Other coaches are having their problems with injuries as well, but none has lost both his first- and second-string goalies in one week.

Tuesday Eddie Johnston broke a bone in his right hand during practice then Wednesday, Gerry Cheevers suffered a dislocated shoulder in a collision with Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks are the team that this week took over the division leadership after Boston faltered with the loss of key defencemen Bobby Orr and Ted Green. Green eventually got back into action, but Orr will be out for several more games with a broken collarbone.

Playing the last 10 games after taking over from Cheevers, Johnston had been the big reason for Boston's maintaining their lead, allowing only 2.5 goals a game during the period. Orr, playing the slack, Schmidt Friday announced that Andre Gill probably will be elevated from the Hershey Bears of the American League for Saturday's game against the Rangers in New York.

It will be the big test for Gill, a 26-year-old native of Sorel, Que., who turned pro with the Bears in the 1963-64 season, splitting his time between Hershey and Minneapolis of the Central League.

He is leaving Hershey with a 3.58 goals-against average in 15 games this year, but if he follows the example set by the last rookie goalie to answer an emergency call, Boston could well be back in first place before long.

In November Merv Edwards went into the Detroit Red Wings nets after veteran Roger Crozier announced his sudden retirement and went six games before being beaten.

It's not beyond Gill to do the same thing since the 5-7, 165-pounder shared the AHL shutout lead with four last season and posted the lowest goals-against average among regular league goalies—2.90.

While the Bruins are in New York tonight, the Hawks will be going against Philadelphia Flyers, leaders of the Western Division in what could be preview of the April playoffs.

Oakland Seals are in Montreal against the Canadiens, Detroit is in Toronto against the Maple Leafs, Minnesota North Stars play the Penguins in Pittsburgh and St. Louis Blues travel to Los Angeles to meet the Kings in other games tonight.

The league gets Christmas Eve off before playing another full schedule Monday then getting Boxing Day off.

Montreal is at Chicago Monday, Oakland is in Boston, Toronto is at Detroit, New York is at Philadelphia, Los Angeles is at Pittsburgh and St. Louis at Minnesota.

Punch Imlach, Toronto coach, Friday said he would use Bruce Gamble in the home-and-home weekend series with Detroit, giving veteran John Bower a rest.

He said there was nothing significant in the move, which had been planned for some time.

But, he is concerned with leg injuries to Mike Walton and Allan Stanley. Both are under treatment but both are expected to play in the games, although Stanley missed Wednesday's 5-0 loss in Montreal.

Sid Abel of Detroit also has injury worries and is worrying Jimmy Peters, Gary Marsh and Ron Anderson as replacements for injured regulars.

Among those are Howie Young, out with an ear infection, Ted Hampson with a pulled groin muscle, Dean Prentice with a damaged shoulder and Bruce MacGregor with a broken nose.

MacGregor, Hampson and Prentice could see action in the series, although none would be expected at top form, but Young will not.

Flyers Crush Nats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A goaltender's task in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series is never easy—particularly if you lose.

In three games Friday night, losing goalies handled 108 shots as Niagara Falls Flyers crushed London Nationals 14-3, Hamilton—Ra...ers clipped Oshawa Generals 6-2 and St. Catharines Black Hawks rapped Ottawa 6...7-3.

Belleville Meets Port Arthur

TORONTO (CP) — Six teams will compete in the All-Ontario centennial peewee hockey tournament Dec. 27-29, it was announced Friday.

Entered in the round-robin series are West Ferris, Belleville, Cornwall, Port Arthur and two Toronto teams.

In the opening games, Belleville will meet Port Arthur, Ottawa plays West Ferris, and Toronto - Wexford will tangle with Toronto Young Nationals.

The top four teams will meet in the semi-finals.

Tournaments will also be held at the same time in Ottawa for bantams, Walkerton for midgets, and Kapuskasing for juveniles.

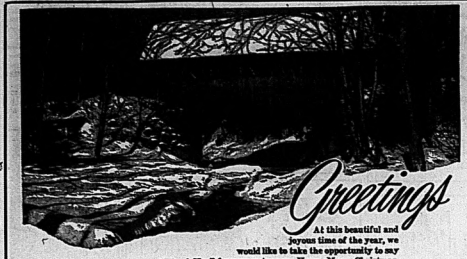
Nationals, Russians Battle To Exhibition Tie

VICTORIA (CP) — Canada's national hockey team and the Moscow Selects rated the No. 2 hockey team in Russia, battled to a 3-3 exhibition tie here before 3,895 fans Friday night.

It was the first meeting of the season between the two clubs, who play again tonight in Vancouver.

The Selects had opened their Canadian tour by losing 5-2 to the Ottawa-based nationals, which had been reinforced by five members of the Winnipeg-based nr. No. 1 Canadian team.



Minus defencemen Barry MacKenzie and Harry Smith, both out with leg injuries, and forward Bill MacMillan, bedded with an attack of flu, the Canadian team was outplayed for most of the game and fortunate to escape with a tie.

The Canadians had only four shots in the first period and were lucky to get away with only one goal, which was scored by Victor Jarvalavtev.

The Canadian team opened the second period with a rush and just missed tying several times in the early minutes.

From there the game settled down to a more even struggle but it wasn't until midway through the third period that Canada pulled even.

The tying goal came unexpectedly on a sudden chance deep in the Russian end when was deflected high into the net Garry Pinder took a shot which by Brian Harper.

At this beautiful and Joyous time of the year, we would like to take the opportunity to say "Thank You" for your patronage. Have a Merry Christmas.

Eyes Of Texas Workout

The Eyes of Texas figure to get a berry workout tonight and Sunday as Houston oilers and Dallas Cowboys shoot for Eastern supremacy in pro football's emotion-charged Super Bowl countdown.

The title-thirsty Oilers can clinch the Eastern Division crown in the American Football League tonight at Miami by beating or tying the improved Dolphins. If the Oilers stumble, New York Jets can force an Eastern playoff next week by getting past San Diego Chargers Sunday on the West Coast.

Oakland Raiders, who pocketed the Western Division title three weeks ago, will entertain the Eastern survivor in the AFL championship game either next Sunday, if there is no Jets-Oilers playoff, or the following week.

At Dallas Sunday, the Cowboys tackle Cleveland Browns for the Eastern Conference berth in the National Football League.

The winner will play the survivor of today's showdown between Los Angeles Rams and Green Bay Packers.

TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

When Christmas Decorations Brighten up your street,
When hearts are warmer, closer
Wherever good friends meet,
It's time to send a greeting
So simple, yet so sweet.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

Astrological Forecasts

By STUART OMARR

For December 24

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Strive for understanding between yourself, mate, partner. Then figure out how you can make yourself more comfortable at home. Key to success today is diplomacy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Quarter-month position accents necessity of adhering to routine. If holiday spirit causes you to veer, carelessness could prove costly. There is stress, strain. Key is balance.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): You may have romantic intentions while one close to you is concerned with practical matters. This could pose a dilemma. Stick to principles. Be ultra practical.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Home, family situation dominates. You are going to have to act on faith. Early, it appears as though you stand alone. But if determined, you gain support late in day.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 23): Not wise to embark upon journey as result of family tiff. Means base actions on logic, not on anger or impulse, on your intuition. Correct answer comes from within.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 — Sept. 22): May be difficult this time of year but remember budget regulations. No need to be moody. Real friends will appreciate sincerity, not extravagance. Act accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 — Oct. 22): You are sensitive to moods of others. Holiday tension may create minor incident with family member. Pace yourself. Genuine joy, satisfaction is due. Give yourself a chance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): If in past you contributed to welfare of individual, you are due for a most pleasant surprise. Don't wander too far. Be sure to create where holiday celebration is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Check invitation, gift lists. Some you may have overlooked deserve consideration. Ties with friends, special groups are emphasized. Be diplomatic at special social affair tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): May be conflict between duties and desires. You may be given added duty which calls you away from home. Sense of balance enables you to handle family, social and business obligations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Keep plans flexible. You may not find this favorable for dealing with people at a distance. Key is to focus, to concentrate forces. If you scatter efforts, result is confusion.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Best today to keep a secret. Means be discreet. Don't reveal all you know. Someone may be testing you. Could involve financial transaction. Holiday spirit could make you ultra-talkative.

If today is your birthday . . . you've been through a period of creativity, involvement with opposite sex. Now is time to settle down, to make domestic adjustments, to change residence if necessary. You sometimes are too trusting.

For December 25

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Be with the public, advertise, publicize. Main, partner should be permitted to initiate project, push through red tape. Observe rules but don't be bound by tradition.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Some dependents require private consideration. The more you give today, the more you receive. Pleasure is highlighted. Be responsible. Live up to promises. Fulfill potential.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Romance favored, also recreation, activity connected with children. Personal magnetism soars. People are attracted to you. Day to enjoy numerous benefits without being extravagant.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Strengthen ties with family, associates, neighbors. Now is time to plan for future. Be especially alert for long-range investment bargains. One who enters your home proves of aid.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 23): Your ideas are fine, but you should expand upon them. Result first push can be ignited into creative flame. But you have to have faith, confidence. Choose to you has good information.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 — Sept. 22): You add to possessions, no doubt by receipt of unique gift. Day to avoid extravagance. Relax. Enjoy holiday spirit. Emphasis on money, goods, ideas connected with income.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Good social contacts make this an stimulating day. You are expansive, in holiday mood. Relatives surprise you with what appears extravagant gift. Be gracious, not overly modest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Don't forget favorite charity, special organization. Work quietly behind the scenes. You do more by staying out of spotlight. Let others have field day. Then thoughts for you are warm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Afternoon friend lends spice to your day. Excitement indicated if you socialize. Pleasure indicated within family circle.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): You get what you desire today. Popularity soars. Chance presents itself for you to be more position. Enjoy friends, holiday spirit. But keep in mind professional obligations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Communications with those in uniform emphasized. Keep lines clear. Take first step toward reunion with those who have been away. You can make this a fine period for appreciation of loved ones.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Surprise element is strong today. Mate or partner reveals something which was previously unknown to you. Be gracious. Expand sphere of interest. Finish pet project.

Thailand, Laos Fear Attacks

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand's army commander said today three Communist battalions — including North Vietnamese — are poised on Thailand's northern border. One is trying to cross.

In neighboring Laos, the government declared it faced a general North Vietnamese offensive.

The battalion trying to cross into Thailand totals about 600 men and includes Thai insurgents drilled in North Vietnam, men of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao movement in Laos and Meo tribesmen, said Gen. Praphas Charusathien, commander-in-chief of the army.

To check the threat, Praphas said, helicopters flew to Nan province carrying government troops from Chiengrai, in northern Thailand and units from the 3rd Army Headquarters. The area is 250 miles northeast of Bangkok.

The Laotian defence ministry reported in a communique late Tuesday attacks during the weekend on government army posts at Nam Bac, in Luang Prabang province, and at Phalane and on the outskirts of Nong Boualao, both in Savannakhet province, in southeast Laos.

"Our forces have been able to contain all these attacks," the communique said.

The communique also said that two North Vietnamese battalions had been ordered to move from Mahaxay toward Thakhek, a town on the Mekong River opposite Nakurn Phanom, a Communist hotbed in northeast Thailand.

In Washington earlier, sources at the Pentagon and the state department were inclined to see nothing particularly serious in the report of Communist activity in Laos.

However, no U.S. official would discount the possibility that major military activity might be in the offing in Laos.

There was no immediate comment from these officials on the situation in Thailand.

Egypt Agrees To Free Ships

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has finally agreed to clear the southern half of the Suez Canal and release 15 foreign ships trapped in the waterway, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram indicated today.

Al Ahram, which often speaks for President Nasser, said Nasser's government "undertook an extensive study of the problem in all its aspects" and established that clearance of the southern part of the waterway is "feasible."

The paper said the government made the study in response to repeated requests from Poland, France and British, which have ships trapped in the canal, and from India.

Egypt turned down a similar request last September, insisting that no part of the canal could be cleared until Israeli troops withdrew from the east bank of the canal and other territories they occupied in the June war.

Litvinov's Grandson Defies Police

NEW YORK (AP) — The grandson of a onetime Soviet foreign minister, acting in defiance of the Soviet security police, has sent to the West transcript excerpts from a closed-door Moscow literary trial, The New York Times says.

The manuscripts include what is termed the final plea of Vladimir I. Bukovsky, a writer, who was convicted with two other defendants Sept. 1 for participating in a Moscow street demonstration last January, the newspaper says.

Pavel M. Litvinov, 30-year-old grandson of the late Maxim M. Litvinov who served as foreign minister from 1930 to 1939, says the KGB security police warned him he would be "criminally responsible" if his trial records were published, it says.

U.S. Move Feared

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (Reuters) — Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk today warned he will seek help, if necessary, from China, North Korea and Cuba if American troops cross into Cambodian territory.

He also said Cambodia will call for an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council to hear a statement by him.

His country, Sihanouk said, will not allow itself to be "butchered in silence by the Americans."

He said the U.S. threatened major attacks under the pretext of the right of pursuit.

His warning, the third from Cambodia in a week, followed reports from Washington that the U.S. is considering plans for pursuit of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese who allegedly flee from Vietnam across the border into Cambodia.

Cambodia has denied that its territory serves as a sanctuary for Viet Cong or North Vietnamese.

Big Raids Follow Yule Truce

SAIGON (CP) — U.S. pilots Tuesday followed up the Southern allies' Christmas Day truce with the most concentrated day of raids on North Vietnam in five weeks, a U.S. spokesman said today.

He said they flew 150 missions against the North although bad weather limited raids to the southern coastal strip, 190 miles of coastline running down to South Vietnam.

Miami Gets Tough

No Release From Morgue Negroes Told

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police Chief Walter Headley say that community relations programs in the city's Negro district have failed so his officers are under orders to combat with shotgun and dogs "young hoodlums who have taken advantage of the civil rights campaign."

"Folks will learn that they can't be bonded out from the morgue," Headley told reporters at a press conference.

Criticism from civil rights leaders was swift even as strengthened patrols in the Negro district began enforcing the city's "stop and frisk" law — searching persons on the streets without arrest or warrant.

"Ninety per cent of our Negro population is law abiding and wants to eliminate our crime problem," Headley said. "But 10 per cent are young hoodlums who have taken advantage of the civil rights campaign."

Headley, chief of the department for 19 years, said he took his action after the Christmas holiday weekend in which there were 38 violent crimes in the area, including three murders.

"In only three, white criminals were involved; the rest were Negro men," Headley said.

"Where have you been?"

Chinese Test Radioactivity Passes Japan

Bradley Will Fight Extradition

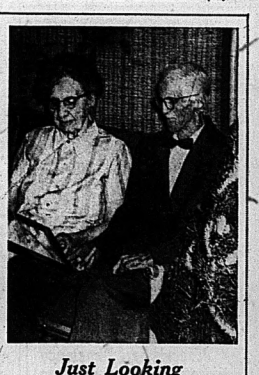
LOS ANGELES (AP) —His lawyer says Edgar Eugene Bradley will fight extradition to face charges by District Attorney James Garrison of New Orleans that he (Bradley) conspired to kill President John F. Kennedy.

"I will fight extradition tooth and nail," lawyer George Jensen said Tuesday. "I will not let him go to Louisiana."

The lawyer said Bradley will surrender today in Los Angeles.



The Los Angeles district attorney's office issued a fugitive complaint Tuesday against Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood.

The complaint was based on a Louisiana warrant obtained by Garrison charging Bradley with conspiracy to commit murder.

In a news conference Tuesday in New Orleans, Garrison said Bradley worked in 1964 to drum up presidential support in California for FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

He also declared that Lee Harvey Oswald, identified by the Warren commission as Kennedy's assassin, was an agent of the Central Intelligence Agency and that Oswald had tipped the FBI about the assassination plot five days before it happened. He said Oswald was a "patsy."

Turkey Dinner Escapes 70 Inmates After Electrical Foul-up at Prison

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

WARKWORTH — Hydro problems short-circuited plans for the first Christmas dinner for inmates at the recently-opened medium security penitentiary here.

A traditional turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, had been laid on for the 70 or so inmates now occupying cells in the federal prison which opened this summer.

Then, early Christmas morning, electric gremlins stymied plans for the yuletide meal.

Warden William Westlake said the institution's main power transformer, located outside the perimeter fence, aborted out on fire.

The penitentiary standby generator first failed, but later Monday afternoon was put in to operation.

To complicate Christmas culinary confusion, the auxiliary unit didn't provide sufficient power to operate heavy-duty prison kitchen equipment.

It was left to the ingenuity of the prison staff to provide a menu fit for the Christmas season.

A number of portable charcoal barbecues were donated by penitentiary guards, and after a perusal of the food stores, a steak barbecue substituted for the traditional fowl table.

The cooking was done outside, but served indoors.

While federal Department of Public Works representatives tried to locate the source of the power blackout in the 1500 feet of wire servicing the prison, inmates sat down to what may have been the only Christmas steak cookout in the land.

Field kitchens were on hand from Camp Picton, in the event the power failure would be prolonged.

And Warden Westlake promised if turkey dinner would be forthcoming, as soon as the prison's electrical foul - ups have been corrected.

The blackout was also responsible for giving prison inmates a "long weekend" for Christmas observance.

Warden Westlake said movies and television-viewing took the place of many routine vocational and labor duties scheduled for Boxing Day at Warkworth.

"It's been somewhat of a holiday for the men," he noted.

No Parking-not Even Horses

Riding a horse on Christmas Eve may not be as warm as going for a drive but with slippery roads perhaps it is a little safer. Walking down the sidewalk is acceptable but the no parking sign on Pinnacle Street still is in force.

JURY — In loving memory of our dear mother Dorothy Jury who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.
I had no words to give,
I'd give it, yes, and more,
But John Knew best, he took,
And grant her at the door,
To go and meet our mother,
Dear Lord, keep her safe and sure,
Until we meet together,
To love, Dr. Dear Lord, we ask it made,
I like to think when life is done,
Wherever heaven may be,
Mother will be waiting there for me.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear son Norman Taylor who passed away December 27, 1964.
Beautiful memories are wonderful treasures
They last till the longest day,
Sad memories are sweet but never pass away
And can never be given away,
Dear Norman, you left a forgotten,
To others a part of the past,
But to us who loved you the most you will last,
Your memory will always last.
—Fondly remembered and sadly missed by Mother and Dad.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear son Norman who passed away December 27, 1964.
We'll never forget you dear son,
And your voice since you have gone,
And though no longer we see you,
We know you're always near,
Memory remembered and sadly missed by sister Lorraine and husband Roger.

TOMS — In loving memory of Fred A. Toms, who passed away December 27, 1965.
Sadly missed by wife and dear son,
His loving voice is still,
His gentle hands at rest,
His love in death's cold chill,
His heart we know is true,
When I am all alone,
I speak to him, only thing,
That I can do is pray,
—Lovingly remembered by June Orr.

Winter's Ice ... Hockey Season

Herchimer Hill Scene ... Toboggans Speed on Belleville's White Christmas

White Christmas Dream Comes True

"I'm dreaming of a white Christmas," was the dream of a lot of people on Christmas Eve.

What better day for their dream to come true than on Christmas Day itself — Belleville was coated with a thin layer of snow in the morning and by evening the weather had made a complete reversal from a few days before Christmas.

With Christmasy weather comes wintry conditions. Temperatures on Christmas Eve hovered around a high of 25 but they didn't stay there long after the snow began to fall on Christmas Day.

Temperatures did reach 25 on Christmas but dropped sharply after the snow to 13 degrees. The combination of one inch of snow and a ¼ inch of rain, usually frozen, coated the roads with a sheet of ice and made driving conditions hazardous.

Even Highway 401 was a sheet of ice the day after Christmas when the low for the weekend was recorded at 10 degrees.

Nobody except the drivers minded the change in weather. It gave youngsters a chance to try out their sleds, toboggans and skis and for the second time this year there was enough snow to support snowmobiles speeding across fields.

Maybe the weather is here to stay this time. The forecast according to Gordon Fraser of the Department of Lands and forests is cool weather for the next couple of days with moderate snow flurries.

"Within 36 hours, Mr. Fraser said, "we expect more precipitation in the form of snow."

Temperatures around the Belleville area should be remaining fairly constant and comparable to the weather of the last few days. North of Belleville, especially the Tweed area, temperatures will be going down — from five below zero in Tweed to 17 below in Bancroft.

Skyway and Madoc Bypass Major Highway Projects

Completion of the three-million dollar Quinte Skyway at Deseronto connecting Hastings and Prince Edward counties across the Bay of Quinte, and opening of the Madoc bypass on No. 7 highway, were the major provincial highways developments in the Quinte area during the past year.

The two local projects were part of a department of highways program which cost Ontario $405,761,000 during the current fiscal year.

Of this total, Highways Minister Hon. George E. Gomme in a year end report said that $172,903,000 was for construction and $69,668,000 for maintenance of the highway system.

Also the department provided $164,930,000 in assistance to municipal road building programs throughout the province. Included in this figure is an expenditure of $19,000,000 for direct aid in connection with the department's "development road" program.

Under this program the department of highways contributes 100 per cent of the cost of reconstructing county and township roads which, because of traffic requirements, call for a higher standard of construction than the municipalities' financial capacity will permit.

Development roads in Hastings on which work was done during the past year include county road No. 12 north from Madoc, and the Cordova Road north of Marmora.

Work on the Crookston Road will be carried out next summer. The design for development roads through Marlbank and from Foxboro to Plainfield are nearly complete.

Provincial highways construction work in the Belleville area during the past summer also saw building of the Plainfield bypass on No. 33 highway.

Stork Run Misses City On Dec. 25

The annual Christmas day "stork run" was slightly off schedule this year at Belleville General Hospital with result there were no Christmas babies born in the city.

The nearest to being a Christmas Day gift was a baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kehoe of Tweed.

The Tweed baby missed the Christmas deadline by nearly half an hour. Time of arrival was 12:25 a.m. December 21.

Christmas Exchange Reaches Goal on Time

Workers at Christmas Exchange headquarters slammed the drawer shut Thursday, with every one of the 414 families needing their care matched with a concerned donor.

"No family woke up Monday to a dreary Christmas," Mrs. Selma Bochnek, exchange director said. "Belleville should be proud of itself this Christmas."

"When I took on this job, my research of similar central clearing houses for Christmas aid showed only 50 per cent success in meeting requests could be expected the first year," Mrs. Bochnek explained. "We have achieved 100 per cent success. This is community responsibility of the highest order — could be matched in other centres."

Two weeks ago Mrs. Bochnek was less elated. She had 223 families remaining on her list and only 11 days to go before food hamper delivery date.

At that time she said, "I've been told Belleville has a big heart and I'm counting on it to reduce the size of our file."

Her appeal touched it — and Belleville's proverbial big heart opened to take in all the families in need. The exchange has provided for 414 families and eliminated duplication in 27.5 per cent of the names originally filed. It has forwarded the names of 1042 children under 13 to the fire department for gifts of toys, provided and repaired by the Kiwanis Club and packed and delivered by the firmen.

Donors flocked in with contributions of food hampers and cash. The congregation of Sons of Jacob Synagogue made an impromptu collection at its Chanukah service. The Salvation Army offered help to a large number of families beyond those they normally care for. The teenagers of the city proved their youthful idealism by mounting blitz campaigns in the schools. Business, industry and individuals rallied to help.

"I can't pay too high a tribute to the Salvation Army," Mrs. Bochnek said. "They have worked with us throughout to ensure the success of the exchange."

"The toy boxes we packed this year are better than ever," added Chief Ted Poste of the Fire Department. "The men of the Kiwanis Club, who since early fall gave up their evenings to repair toys, deserve to be commended."

Even after Mrs. Bochnek closed her file Thursday, three more registrations came in. But donors were at hand the families were matched immediately.

Mrs. Bochnek and a Salvation Army worker stood by all Christmas weekend for emergency calls. These were relayed to them by Telephone Answering Service, which volunteered its switchboard.

Police Chief Appointment Expected in January

A new police chief for Belleville likely will be appointed next month.

Police commission chairman Judge J. C. Anderson today said interviews already had begun to fill the post—vacant exactly two months.

The judge said there were about 25 applications before the commission, but not all would be granted personal interviews.

"We hope to make the appointment early in the new year," said Judge Anderson.

The post fell vacant Oct. 27 with the resignation of Chief J. R. McLaughlin.

Since that time the force has been administered by Insp. Harold Reid, a veteran officer of the department, in his role of acting chief.

Belleville Family Hurt

A skiing trip to the Northern United States was cut short for a Belleville family yesterday when their car was involved in a 10-car pile-up on the Macdonald-Cartier Freeway, eight miles west of Brockville.

Dr. Peter Harris, 37, of Lambert Drive, suffered a broken right arm, facial cuts and sore ribs, while his wife had a broken cheekbone and facial cuts.

Four other persons in the Belleville car, the three Harris children, and Dr. Harris' sister Elizabeth, suffered minor injuries. The injured were taken to Brockville General Hospital.

Dr. Harris is an employee at the Entomological Laboratory on Dundas Street.

Criminal Code

The overhaul of the criminal code in a bill given its first reading in the Commons last week contains measures that recognize both the rights and privacy of the individual and the security and welfare of the State.

The bill's recommendations regarding abortion, that it be allowed when pregnancy endangers the life or health of the expectant mother, and homosexuality between consenting adults are in line with contemporary thought and mores.

If these two issues have been under most discussion in recent times, there are others in Justice Minister Trudeau's presentation that are of prime importance too.

The proposal to introduce breathalyzer tests is one. They are being made compulsory for drivers suspected of being impaired. For a long time now the problem of the drinking driver is one that demanded more stringent counter measures. It is a major factor in Canada's rising accident rate and anything that brings home to drivers the dangers of impairment is to be commended.

The comprehensive nature of this overhaul of the criminal code is illustrated by a new clause on harassing telephone calls. It is aimed at discouraging invasion of privacy and could include, for example, repeated calls by sales and other organizations that solicit business by telephone.

Perhaps most important of all are the new provisions for more effective control over the possession and use of firearms and other weapons. If these can maintain Canada as a substantially law-abiding society and protect citizens from the kind of excesses that afflict the Americans they will be well worthwhile.

A measure of the problem in the United States is the fact that 17,000 people die violently every year — that is, in acts of homocide. And one reason for this appalling toll is the fact that guns and weapons of every description are far too easily available.

All in all these measures to update the criminal code are a reflection of enlightened and responsible thinking. There may be others still remaining on the statute book that could bear examination. The liquor laws for instance are not yet commensurate with general attitudes in the western world. But that is another matter and a provincial rather than a federal responsibility.

Times Have Changed

Gunboat diplomacy used to go a long way when the British Empire held sway. All that was needed to bring any malcontents to heel was the appearance at strategic points of vessels of the Royal Navy.

Today power politics are not that simplified and Britain, though still a force to be reckoned with militarily finds itself the target of humiliating abuse from all and sundry. Canada and even the United States are in a similar position with regard to relations with countries like France, Cuba and of course Vietnam.

Consider a recent example where Britain is concerned. The Royal Navy frigate Minerva fired four warning salvoes in the direction of a French freighter carrying oil and jet fuel to Beira in Mozambique. This was in accordance with Britain's UN-backed blockade of neighboring Rhodesia.

The French captain knew that the frigate did not intend to hit his ship "because one shot landing on us would have turned us into a huge bonfire." Then he delivered himself of this barb, in an exchange of messages with the frigate: "President de Gaulle might like to hear of a French ship being sunk by the Royal Navy."

Ah yes, what has become of the Entente Cordiale? But in relations between people, nations (like Britain and France) are not always on terms of undying friendship.

Another example of British wings being clipped is reported from Havana. There the captain of the freighter Antarctica, John A. Kerbyson is awaiting passage home and appointment of a new captain after being attacked by his Chinese crew. The latter had been chanting slogans and plastering the bridge with pictures and thoughts of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

That is the way things are nowadays. Every nation has its say. Some have more say than others, but even the small and the weak can shout and thunder provided they have the support of one of the big powers.

Politician Paul Martin Hiding in Diplomats Clothing

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The Loyal and Ancient Order of Friends and Boosters of Paul Martin — and is political foe Lester B. Pearson — is without question Parliament Hill's biggest and most deeply devoted — soldiers will be in entry in the great Liberal leadership race has been waiting so agonizingly long to slip into his running shoes.

The others — Finance Minister Sharp and Transport Minister Hellyer — have been waiting out for most of the year.

Warming up quite openly, too, in the full view of the taxpaying public who regard these leadership derbies as a great spectator sport, so that the Liberal delegates may study their track form.

And hopefully, having seen the style and pondered the pace, perhaps get some idea in advance of how they might put their votes when the closing odds are posted on the three favorites.

Some of the efforts on the Liberal track team, not so highly favored — Edgar Benson (could be more), Joan Marchand (has Quebec going for him), Joe Greene (for the fun of it) and John Turner (along with the rest — have been doing a bit of unofficial warming.

Maybe Paul Martin, as an veteran in two previous leadership chases, figured he'd slip into his training gently until all his political kits.

With nearly 33 years of parliamentary experience, Paul Martin, who never takes his eye off the main chance, should be in superb form.

But peak though his condition doubtless is, he has been showing some of it.

In fact, not only hasn't he been displaying it, he has actually commended the supremacy of his fitness.

Trade Minister Winters, who supposedly has little to do politics on the backbone or friends who saw him as a front-runner, hasn't been showing anything of his form, either.

Simply, it has been explained by some of these friends that he hasn't really been interested, either in the leadership, or perhaps even the political field itself. Not any more.

But Paul Martin is. Interested to the very depths of his being. Convinced that he has the true spark not only of party, but of national leadership, he has built his whole life around it.

But he has continued doing business in that never - never world of international diplomacy, which may be a very important sphere of non-political activity, but leaves most of the voters yawning.

Full after public opinion poll has shown that people just are not all that interested in diplomacy at the second power level where the external affairs department operates — not when there are so many burning domestic issues, like the housing crisis, soaring living costs, ever higher taxes, the shrinking dollar and a hundred other "bread and butter" items.

Then, too, he seemed completely captivated by foreign aid.

In fact, all the politicians are — still in the face of the public opinion polls which have shown them as isolated from the thinking of the bulk of the taxpayers who, if not actively hostile to foreign aid, are bored by it.

And hasn't Le Grand Charles made something of a joke or worse of foreign aid, with Paris dishing it out with lofty condescension to "poor under-privileged and under-developed" Quebec?

Since he took over external affairs, Paul Martin has seemed to cut himself off from political reality, taking little if any part in the Commons cut-and-thrust over taxes and budget deficits, big spending, the Company of Young Canadians, defence unification, post office strikes and work stoppages in other public services, pensions, medicare and all the other urgent things that have engaged Parliament's time and attention and the interest of the voters.

What has bothered the Loyal and Ancient Order of the Friends and Boosters of Paul Martin was that when he takes off those striped pants there is no fiercer political fighter than the man who almost single-handedly brought down the Diefenbaker government with his incessant and unremitting parliamentary attacks in the Commons five years ago.

On the odd occasion when he has been Acting Prime Minister during Lester Pearson's absences from the Capital, he has led his party and Parliament like it hasn't been led since the long and successful years of Mackenzie King at whose knee he learned the beatics of leadership.

No now take off that cutaway coat, Paul Martin, put on that political grin suit and show 'em your stuff.

New Cities in Britain Point Way to Solution of Canada's Housing Problems

Windsor Star

New ideas and new practices are required if Canada is to cope with housing shortage and other difficulties which are plaguing our larger urban centres. Adherence to old ideas is only aggravating conditions.

It was suggested, at the federal-provincial conference on housing, that satellite towns be created to take the pressure off existing cities. An even better idea would be to create entirely new cities.

A satellite town is likely to be in proximity to a city. They would tend to grow together, compounding the problem rather than curing it. Nearness to a city would mean high land values, high taxes, traffic congestion, air pollution, etc.

New cities are not an entirely new idea. They are being built in England, though there they usually are developed around existing towns. One also is planned in Northern Ireland, a large project which will encompass the present towns of Portadown and Lurgan. It will relieve Belfast.

Incorporation of an old town within the new city would be necessary in over-crowded Britain. It is not so in Canada with its vast open spaces.

This gives Canada an opportunity to do something distinctive. It can create entirely new cities, well-planned in all the modern ways, quite separate from present-congested areas. They could avoid most, if not all, of the difficulties causing trouble in the towns.

Preferably the new cities would be in districts which haven't developed rapidly in the past. Cheap land could be selected, cheap in the financial sense and also in that it is not productive farm land.

There are plenty along Lake Huron and Georgian Bay which could be selected; or in the Haliburton area or along the St. Lawrence; or in the Canadian sites in Northern Ontario, close to the raw materials required by industries that have moved to, or been created up there, amid the wilderness, such as Marathon and Elliot Lake.)

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 27, 1967 . . .

George Washington was granted dictatorial powers for six months 191 years ago today—in 1776—by the Continental Congress, on the same day he won the Battle of Trenton. He had been chosen commander-in-chief in 1775, when the American War of Independence started. He marched on Trenton with about 2,400 men, surprised the unprepared Hessians and after confused street fighting killed the commander, Rall, and captured 1,000 prisoners, with arms and munitions.

1939—Earthquake killed 23,000 at Erzingan, Turkey.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—British repulsed a Turkish attack near Jerusalem and advanced two miles on a nine-mile front. Germans retreated before British forces into Mozambique.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—Russians captured Sarapul, 20 miles north of Kotelnikovski. Allied airmen shot down 15 Japanese planes over New Guinea; AP unofficially records 172 sinkings in the Western Atlantic since Dec. 7, 1941.

Vacation Spending

Hamilton Spectator

More realists sniff knowingly at those books which describe how to live in Europe on five dollars a day. Humbug, they say, or worse.

Well, maybe they're wrong about that, for a report from London says that 4,000,000 tourists visited Britain in 1966 and that each of them spent $9 a day and stayed for 27½ days.

As it's common knowledge that well-heeled tourists can and do spend as much as $40 a night on accommodation in London alone and $20 for a meal for two at a better restaurant, it seems very dubious that a lot of tourists must be living in Britain on less than $9 a day. Say $5 a day? Or maybe even $4?

Clergy and the War in Vietnam

Peterborough Examiner

Should our clergymen preach against United States involvement in the Vietnam War? Should the church in Canada lead its members in a campaign to end the war? Is it "immoral" for a church leader not to take a strong position on Vietnam?

To the Reverend James Allman of Grace United Church, and a number of Examiner letter-writers, the answer to all these questions is a resounding, unequivocating yes. As Mr. Allman and his supporters see it, the United States is conducting an immoral war in Vietnam and it is therefore incumbent upon our religious leaders, as guardians of public morality, to speak out from the pulpit against the war.

Mr. Allman makes two assumptions, both of which may be questioned. First, he argues that United States involvement is immoral. He would have us believe that our longtime ally has deserted all mons' principles to wage a vicious and unjustifiable war on the North Vietnamese. There are those who accept this simplistic view, but there is also a body of responsible opinion, both in the United States and out, that holds that U.S. involvement was justified and that, without it, much of Southeast Asia, including Laos and Cambodia, might already have come under the influence of Red China.

Mr. Allman must, therefore, concede that the question of U.S. involvement in Vietnam is a political one whose correctness or otherwise must be decided by the individual.

This is not to suggest that an individual minister should not feel free to comment on the war in whatever way he chooses. He should not, however, expect his congregation' to accept his views in the same way they do his opinions on matters of economic morality. By involving himself in a political issue, the clergyman himself becomes political in the same way he would become political (and this is no far-fetched analogy) if he publicly endorsed a Canadian political party.

Mr. Allman's second assumption is that all ministers are duty-bound to take a stand on any one moral issue. Why should they? There is no law that says a man of the church must touch all bases in his 30-minute sermons. The church simply lets its ministers to preach on whatever subject they choose. It is left to the individual clergyman to decide what aspect of morality would have the most meaning for his congregation.

The Vietnam War is, by all odds, the most controversial war wars in which the United States has ever engaged. In our regret and condemnation of this conflict, it is necessary that we not go overboard — that we not delude ourselves that it can be brought to a quick and easy end, or that the United States, which is paying heavily in dollars and the lives of its young men, would not like to extricate itself from this unfortunate struggle.

We do not, therefore, disagree with Mr. Allman's right to take a moral stand on this issue — only with his insistence that other ministers take the same view.

Other Members Upset

Only France Stands Against UK's Common Market Bid

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Steadfast refusal of France to consider British membership in the European Common Market will cause sharp discomfort during coming months in both Britain and the Common Market—perhaps even in France.

Despite official insistence in London and Brussels that Britain's membership applications remains "on the agenda," France has effectively blackballed Britain for the foreseeable future.

France—against the opinion of West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—insists Britain must overcome economic health before the application can even be discussed.

But beyond the immediate problems of the British economy, France made clear its opposition more fundamental. France expressed the view that enlargement of the Common Market from the present six countries would profoundly alter "the nature and operational methods of this community," said the Common Market communique following Tuesday's ministerial meeting in Brussels.

The most optimistic forecasts since the 14.3-per-cent devaluation of British currency last month projected Britain's recovery into a future several years away. The French veto on market membership talks will make British recovery even more difficult.

The possibility of market membership—the prospect of a new direction in public affairs —could have helped Britain bear more easily the painful program of retrenchment to be introduced in the new year. Without the morale - lifting knowledge of at least normal advance towards Europe, the task of talking Britons into more austerity will be tougher.

For the Common Market, the disruptive repercussions of French stonewalling are already evident.

Although none of the six market members believed Britain was ready to join the club immediately, the five could see little point in pacing negotiations alongside British recovery efforts.

French refusal to see things the same way appears to the partners —notably The Netherlands and Belgium—as another example of the tendency to turn the market into a French-run show rather than a six-way partnership.

A meeting of Common Market farm ministers has been suspended and a scheduled session of social affairs ministers postponed as a result of anger, if not deeper anger, at the French action.

If that mood persist, it would make nonsense of President de Gaulle's claim Wednesday that France has saved the market from a period of paralysis.

Common Market programs due for decision soon include some that France insists are essential—harmonized tax systems, revision of common farm policies and removal of preferential treatment for former French colonies.

MISS VIVIAN ANN ARNOLD

Funeral service was to be held today for Vivian Ann Arnold, who died Tuesday at the Ontario Hospital School in Smiths Falls.

She was the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Vivian Arnold and the late Ralph Arnold.

Miss Arnold is also survived by a brother, Donald and a sister, Susan, both at home.

She was predeceased by a brother, Brian.

The funeral service was scheduled for the John R. Bush Funeral Home.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

Buddhism's strength in 1966 was estimated at 150,000,000 to 500,000,000 people.

Employees And PUC In Accord

Negotiations between the Public Utilities Commission of Belleville and the Canadian Union of Public Employees, CUPE, Local 1102 have ended and it is expected an agreement will be signed within a week.

The bargaining began last September to develop a new contract but until recently no real progress had been made.

The main points of contention were work clothing for men, wages, holidays, sick leave and leaves of absence.

On the point of wages the union accepted the increase offered by the commission at the beginning of negotiations. The exact amount of the increase has not been announced as the contract has not yet been signed but the increase will be retroactive to September.

Compromises on the other points made by both parties led to the settlement which will be valid until Dec. 31, 1969.

Trenton Accidents All Minor

TRENTON — If there were any motorists trying to become Christmas safety statistics, they didn't do it around here.

Local police enjoyed one of their quietest Yule seasons, without a major road mishap to investigate, and no serious occurrences of other natures.

But no serious injuries were reported, and the highest damage estimate of $1,200 resulted from a single-car mishap west of Trenton in which the driver received only cuts and bruises.

The local fire department was similarly unharried, receiving no serious calls for assistance to mar the holiday period.

Damage Extensive In Road Accidents

Police representatives from the OPP and the Belleville city force described this week-end's activities as typical of Christmas.

However, an accident near Kaladar yesterday afternoon took the lives of two Toronto residents, Mrs. John McLean Sr. and John McLean Jr.

Police spokesmen list the number of minor accidents from 6 p.m. Saturday to 6:00 p.m. Tuesday at 25. Damage for the total was assessed at $10,875. Add the damage concerning two accidents near Tweed and the figure soars over $12,000.

The Belleville city police reported the largest damage bill, although officers had fewer accidents to contend with than the Belleville Provincial Police department. Damage within the city limits amounted to $7,895. In 13 accidents. The OPP had 13 incidents which were estimated at $4,000.

T. K. Franklin of 16 Cedar Street called the police to his home about 10 Sunday night to investigate the occurance of three youths in his house.

According to police Mr. Franklin was downstairs and heard noises in the upper part of his residence. He went to the side door and found two youths on the staircase and a third at the door.

The youths were described as between the ages of 16 and 18. All had long hair observed Mr. Franklin.

The youths then fled the house, two running out the side door, another finding himself trapped, through the aluminum door. The only damage was to the door.

The Government of Ontario introduces...

H.I.R.B.

(Health Insurance Registration Board)

If you have either Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan (OMSIP) or Ontario Hospital Insurance (OHI) you will soon be hearing of the Health Insurance Registration Board (HIRB).

The Health Insurance Registration Board has been set up by the Province to act as an agency for both OMSIP and Ontario Hospital Insurance.

HIRB will be the central registration office which will handle enrollment, billings and premium collections, and answer inquiries about Ontario's medical or hospital insurance plans.

OMSIP and Ontario Hospital Insurance will continue to provide their present coverage. The only difference is that, from now on, when you see HIRB, you'll know it means the Health Insurance Registration Board is serving you on behalf of Ontario's health insurance plans.

If you have any questions about provincial health insurance enrollment or premiums just write to:

Holiday Herring Tree Suitable for New Year

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I am getting panicky. We have invited house guests for New Years weekend and my mind is a blank. Any suggestions would be welcome. — Joan McC.

ANSWER: Simmer down, Joan. A previous recipe for Holiday Herring Tree can be made in advance and stored, Saran-covered, in refrigerator. Serve it early in the evening with beverages and crackers to your New Years Eve crowd. Tomorrow I am giving New Years dinner menu and a party angel cake which may be made in advance. Friday I have ready details for roasting duck.

To avoid serving fowl, I have chosen Cantonese Pork which serves 16 and the major preparation can be done in advance of your New Years Eve party.

Dinner Menu

Sauteed Liver and Ham Slices; Onion Milk Gravy; Mashed Potatoes; Spinach Vinaigrette; Cole Slaw; Fresh Frozen Strawberries or Raspberries over Blanc Mange Pudding; Coffee.

CANTONESE PORK
(Serves 16)

8 lbs. raw pork from shoulder or rib chops
8 small eggs
½ cup flour
4 tsps. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 1-3 cups butter or margarine or oil
12 green peppers
16 medium stalks celery
4 cups boiling water
8 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups canned pineapple chunks
2 cups pineapple juice (drained from canned pineapple)
¾ cup cornstarch
2 cups sugar
2 cups white vinegar
¾ cup soy sauce
4 cups long grain rice
2 2-3 cups boiling water
2 tsps. salt
Almonds

Trim most of the fat and bone (if any) from pork and cut into 1" pieces. Make a batter by mixing together the eggs, flour, salt and pepper with a rotary beater. If eat the batter or margarine or oil in very large kettle. Coat the pieces of meat with the batter and drop into hot fat and fry gently to a golden brown. Pour excess fat from pan. Prepare vegetables by cutting celery diagonally in ¼" pieces and green peppers in 1" squares. Add to pan. Dissolve the bouillon cubes in the boiling water and add 1 cup of this broth to pan. Add pineapple chunks and juice. Cover pan and simmer about 10 min. but do not cook vegetables tender — they should still be crisp. In another saucepan mix together the cornstarch, sugar, soy sauce, vinegar and 2 cups leftover bouillon broth. Cook, stirring until thick and clear. Stop everything at this place and chill. At 11:45 p.m. on Dec. 31, prepare rice by boiling together, covered, the rice, 6 2-3 cups boiling water with 2 tsps. salt until all water is absorbed. Boil rice hard, then turn off heat for 5 min., then turn it on low to finish. Now go back to your guests and welcome in the Nex Year.

At 12:15 a.m., January 1, 1968, pour cornstarch-sugar-soy sauce over meat and vegetables and bring to boiling and serve over hot fluffy rice, accompanied by pitcher containing soy sauce, matching bowls containing generous portions of finely chopped green onion, finely chopped shiitess peanuts and a larger matching bowl containing shredded Chinese lettuce.

To bring it to a sweet finish a beautiful tray of assorted, thinly sliced Christmas cake and shortbread could be arranged in advance and stored Saran-covered. Be sure to provide generous amounts of strong coffee with cream and sugar.

Put It On

MACAO (AP) — Topless dancers, the antidote for a poor tourist trade in this riot-troubled Portuguese colony, have been declared poison to the "minds of the Chinese people" by local Communist leaders. The colonial government, wary of antagonizing neighboring Red China, has ordered the dancers to "put it back on."

Ann Landers

Negative Attitude May Affect Children

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fritz is a good provider and has high morals. When I look around and see what some of my friends and relatives put up with from their husbands, I feel guilty about complaining but here goes.

The problem is that Fritz is a chronic knocker. I don't mind for myself because after 30 years I am accustomed to it, but I'm afraid his negative attitude is bad for our children. He knocks the school system, the city officials, the church, the neighbors, the federal government, the A.M.A., the U.S.O., the A.D.A. and the D.A.R. He is neither reactionary nor liberal. He is simply against everything.

When we sit down to dinner it's one destructive statement after another. I hate to say to the children, "Don't listen to your father." But I am deeply concerned that they will pick up his sour outlook on life. Comment, please. — THUMBS DOWN ON EVERYTHING.

DEAR THUMBS: Attitudes are caught, not taught. When the conversation at home is weighted heavily on the negative side, the children are bound to grow up cynical and pessimistic.

Don't argue with your husband, change the subject. Turn the conversation to something you want the kids to be for. Praise the people who are doing the constructive things in the world. Talk about courage and justice and honesty. Kids need something to look up to more than they need something to look down on.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can two women get married? I don't wish to go into detail as to the reason I am asking this question. You may assume it is either a gag (I like to win a bet) or perhaps the women are lonely and wish to live together as "man" and "wife." What I need to know is would a marriage between two people of the same sex be considered legal.

Please don't toss this in the circular file. I am serious. — G.C.N.Y.

DEAR G.C.N.Y.: If you know a couple of women who want to get married, tell them O.K., but not to each other. The word marriage means the state of being wedded to a person of the opposite sex.

In Illinois, failure to consummate a marriage in the sexual sense is grounds for annulment. Since it is understood that marriage guarantees the privileges of a heterosexual relationship, two members of the same sex could not possibly be considered suitable marriage partners.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was fascinated by the letter in your column from the mother whose son was going to Vietnam. She was annoyed with the relatives who came to his going-away party because not one brought a present.

Does this mother believe that going to war is something to celebrate? Does she think it is like going away to college, or being married? Perhaps the relatives understood the grim realities of the situation and this is why they did not come laden with gifts. Please tell her so. — NO HAWK.

DEAR NO: I did not feel (as the mother did) that the guests were clods because they did not bring gifts. Nor do I agree with you that gift-giving under these circumstances would be inappropriate. A gift need not be a memento of a celebration. It could be a thoughtful token or a little remembrance which might be useful.

WEDDINGS

McINALLY — SMITH

A recent wedding was solemnized in Frankford United Church, when Joan Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barclay Smith of Frankford was united in marriage to Frank James McInally, son of Mrs. John McInally of Frankford and the late Mr. J. McInally. Rev. John Weese officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a short styled chiffon bridal dress enhanced with rhinestone trim around the neckline. Her headdress was of white rosebuds adorned with rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

She was attended by Miss Barbara Dunkley of Trenton who wore a mauve chiffon dress with the bodice and sleeves enhanced with pearls and she carried a nosegay of white gardenias.

Groomsman was Larry Aquino of Picton and the ushers were John McLaughlin and Mike Baker of Trenton.

A reception was held in the Frankford Legion Hall where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a turquoise dress with lace sleeves trimmed with silver, white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a rose colored dress with matching lace coat, black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

For the wedding trip to points east, the bride chose an autumn gold dress with white coat and matching brown accessories. On return they will reside in Batawa.

Successful Living

Doris Helps with Sympathy Message

Dear Doris: We would like to know how to approach a family that has lost their father. He died a month ago and this daughter phoned us the news. We sent a spray of flowers and never received any acknowledgment.

We checked with the florist and he said that the flowers were delivered all O.K.

I hesitated to send just a Christmas card, but now I want very much to know how they are getting along. Please help me to word something to them and would it be all right to ask about the flowers? — Anxious for Word

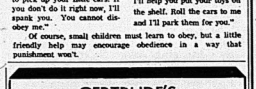
Dear Anxious: Write something like this:

"You are much in our thoughts I know this cannot be a merry holiday time for you, with the sudden loss of your dear father, and we are praying that God's peace will support you and help you all to face the future with courage.

"Please remember that we want to help in any way we can. We will look forward to seeing you before long."

Then you might add a P.S. like this: "Our florist assures us that the flowers we ordered at the time of the funeral were sent all right. I know you must have many kind messages to acknowledge, but when you do find a minute, we would be glad to hear that they did arrive safely. Besides, we are anxious to know how you all are."

• • •



Confidential to Isobel Ann:

Do you earn any extra? Is your pension your whole income? In general, a person whose income adds up to less than $1,000 pays no tax. But you need a ruling on your special case, which you can get by consulting your local office of the Department of National Revenue.

Confidential to Army Sick: Your heart throb wanted somebody to talk to and since you were handiest, you were elected. He hasn't written or phoned in two months, which means that's that, is most anybody's language. Look around for somebody slightly more available.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Larry, I told you to pick up your little cars. If you don't do it right now, I'll spank you. You cannot disobey me."

Mother: "Come on, Larry, I'll help you put your toys on the shelf. Roll the cars to me and I'll park them for you."

Of course, small children must learn to obey, but a little friendly help may encourage obedience in a way that punishment won't.

ENROLMENT CEREMONIES

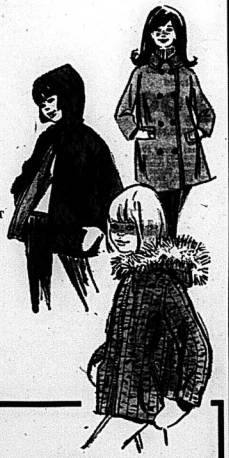
WHITE'S DISTRICT — Enrolment ceremonies for Bayside Guides. During the first enrolment of Bayside Guides at Bayside Upper School, Patti Ackerman, Jasmine De Rey, Shelley Cossel, Susan Cooney, Rennie Cutting, Debbie Gray and Marilyn Groves received their enrolment pins from Commissioner Joanne Miller.

Three Guides Elizabeth Watson, Sandra Penley, and Kim Herman who were trying for their hostess badge served lunch and tea.

During the second enrolment of Bayside Guides, Patsy Herrington, Vicki Stickle, Catherine Oliver, Tracy Malkin, Joanne Tidmarsh and Lynn MacDonald received their enrolment pins from Commissioner Joanne Miller.

Captain Sharon Schlegar, Lieut. Mildred Brougham, and Lieut. Joyce Herrington were present at both enrolments.



On Monday evening the Bayside Guides met at the Green Acres Nursing Home with their leaders Captain Sharon Schlegar, Lieut. Mildred Brougham and Lieut. Joyce Herrington. They sang Christmas carols with Guide Debra Jones as accompanist. Following the sing-song the Guides served cookies and presented each patient with a gift.

All convened at Bayside Upper School where they enjoyed a Christmas party. Games were played and lunch was served.

Vietnam '67: Curtain-raiser to A Military Showdown

What changes have taken place in the Vietnam war this year, and what is the outlook for it as appraised from an Associated Press reporter who has been in Vietnam nearly six years.

AP News Analysis
PETER ARNETT

SAIGON (AP)—The Vietnam war rose to new heights in 1967. A year of action from one end of the country to the other has left knowledgeable Americans concerned at the possibility of bigger and bloodier battles ahead.

Both sides claimed numerous victories this year. In the terms of reference both sides used, both were right.

U.S. commanders tend to analyse Vietnam in terms of the Second World War. The Communists see the war in terms of the fight to oust the colonial French in the 1950s.

As this year ends, military tacticians cannot determine that even one decisive battle has been fought. At the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam, both sides are bogged down in the mud and slush of the monsoon season. Hill 881 and the other headlined heights of Dak To are being taken over again by the jungle and avoided by both sides since the bloody battles of November.

Many persons see 1967 as a curtain-raiser to a military showdown in 1968. This year's developments tend to support this thinking.

The Communists put to a severe test the tactics of attrition espoused by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. military commander. At the demilitarized zone U.S. marine officers estimated that casualties taken by both sides were on a one-to-one basis all year long.

Optimism about an early end to the war is based partly on the huge total of Communist dead—more than 80,000 this year by southern allied reckoning. But the Communists continued to commit men in seemingly pointless battles right up to the year's end.

Killings of more than 100 Communist troops at a time were recorded, particularly along the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

An American brigade commander said: "Don't let us forget that the Viet Minh lost an estimated 500,000 dead in the struggle against the French. They are much better organized now, and they have lost nowhere near that number in this war."

The near-suicidal commitment of men to battle appears to be just one of half-a-dozen tactics used in the Communists' greatest offensive of the war. This began in late October and is continuing.

The most experienced observers say that the Communists' firepower and willingness to sacrifice troops point to the most significant factor in 1967: An apparent Hanoi decision to launch a fight-to-the-finish struggle.

To this purpose the Communists are sending men and supplies openly down the Ho Chi Minh and Sihanouk trails into the South despite a fantastic bombing campaign. By December, the United States had dropped more bombs on North and South Vietnam than it dumped on Europe during the Second World War—about 100 pounds of explosives for every man, woman and child in the two Vietnams.

The Communists have placed Gen. Westmoreland and his allies in what could well be a critical position in 1968.

Increased intensity in the conventional war has overshadowed the pacification program. Winning the hearts and minds of the population had to suffer while the Southern allies halted Communist troops slipping into the Dak To hills and across the DMZ.

The commitment of Southern allied troops to the borders and away from the people may have fulfilled a Communist aim. If this was the plan, it succeeded to a large degree in the 1st Corps region, to a limited degree in the 2nd Corps.

These factors may shape 1968 into the war's climax:

—North Vietnam has matched the Southern allied troop buildup almost battalion for battalion. With the U.S. troop commitment stabilizing, the Communists might try to open more fronts, battering at American units necessarily spread thin across the country.

—American casualties could rise even more than in the last year. Communist forces are being exhorted by their leaders to strike first at the Americans. Communist weaponry will become more sophisticated.

—Pressure will continue to mount for Southern allied troops to invade Laos and Cambodia, and possibly North Vietnam, particularly if infiltration continues at the present level.

—If the war gets larger, the confidence of the Vietnamese people in the Saigon government will be tested. Many observers expect anti-war sentiment to rise among the population.

Recent American troop arrivals, including the rest of the 101st Airborne Division, have for the first time in months given Gen. Westmoreland an effective striking force. He is expected to use it in spectacular style early in the new year.

But the Communist troop buildup threatens to neutralize even the 101st by spring, forcing American commanders to forego the offensive mobility that characterized American operations in 1966 and early 1967.

Increased Communist capability may frustrate Gen. Westmoreland's plans to establish a 4th American corps headquarters at Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta, early in 1968. Each of the delta's 16 provinces, except the Hoa Hao religious sect's province of An Giang, has as many armed guerrillas and Communist cadres as did the whole of Malaya at the heights of its insurgency in 1950. Gen. Westmoreland is known to be anxious to start cleaning the delta out with U.S. forces.

American dead in the tougher fighting this year rose to an average of 193 a week, against 92 in 1966. Troop commitments increased by one-third this year.

Casualties doubled.

American strategy is to keep casualties to a minimum by the maximum use of supporting air and artillery power, but the Communists' creation of battlefields in the periphery mountains tended to neutralize the effectiveness of supporting fire.

The rising sophistication of Communist weapons is worrying American commanders. They find that some of their infantry units are outgunned in head-on clashes in the jungle. Communist troops carry the highly effective AK-47 automatic rifle.

One knowledgeable American has expressed fear that Vietnam is becoming a contest in weaponry between the United States and Russia. The Soviet Union provides all the sophisticated weapons in the North Vietnamese arsenal.

The confidence of the Vietnamese people in the government that it elected this year is being carefully watched. Approximately 4,000,000 people, or one-quarter of the population, have been uprooted from their homes. By the best available estimates, 25,000 civilians were killed this year. Hundreds of villages were burned to the ground by both sides, and an estimated five per cent of the land under cultivation was defoliated with herbicide sprays to prevent the Viet Cong from using it.

A senior American civilian in the 2nd corps region told a reporter this month: "If the people in my area had the choice of continuing the war, or living in peace under the Viet Cong, they'd take the Viet Cong." This was an extreme viewpoint but an indicator of how depressing the war has become to many of the people.

Many observers in South Viet. nam detect no groundswell of popular feeling against the Communists, no new vigor toward fighting the war among the population. President Nguyen Van Thieu is facing a political crisis because of his decree ordering partial mobilization.

Gen. Westmoreland said this week: "I believe the best measure that I know of progress that has been made in 1967 is the improved attitude of the people." He depicted 1967 as a year of great progress in the war.

Reporters in frequent trips outside Saigon this year found that optimism expressed by Gen. Westmoreland, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and other senior American officials is often not shared by Americans dealing with the Vietnamese at the grass-roots level.

THE PICK OF Punch

"We're going to look pretty damn silly if we have to recall troops from Vietnam to cope with this!"

Romney Contends Military Victories Not Being Matched

SAIGON (AP) — Governor George Romney of Michigan said today that "military victories are being won" by the United States and its allies in South Vietnam but the Communists are winning the so-called other war.

"Our military victories are being won without correspondingly victories in the political, economic and social fields," Romney told a news conference at the end of a three-day visit.

Romney also criticized the proportion of the U.S. effort in South Vietnam, saying "there remains the problem of the United States tending to do too much of the job themselves."

Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said again that he had been misled on his previous visit to South Vietnam more than two years ago but that he had got a more rounded view this time.

"I indicated very frankly that I was given a conducted tour last time and that this did mislead me," he said. He expressed anger over the criticism of his statement in a television interview last fall. A that U.S. military and diplomatic officials had "brainwashed" him on his previous visit.

During the present tour, Romney said he felt that "generally" he was treated with candor by U.S. military and diplomatic officials and by representatives of the South Vietnamese government, including President Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Van Loc.

He was asked about a report that Robert L. Pisor, the correspondent in South Vietnam of the Detroit News, that U.S. marines ordered just outside Da Nang had been briefed on what to say to Romney the night before the governor visited them.

Romney said he did not know that the marines had been briefed before his arrival, but added: "What we discussed there was not a particularly important aspect of the situation."

Romney also was asked about a report in The New York Times that former president Eisenhower has eliminated the Michigan governor as a serious contender for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I'd prefer to rely on what Gen. Eisenhower wrote me before I left," he replied. "In essence, he was pleased that I had announced as a candidate and he was also pleased that the Republicans would have an opportunity to choose."

The Times report from Eisenhower's winter home at Indio, Calif., said the 78-year-old general had told a friend Romney, a one time his "brainwashing" charge in September, "has been on so many sides of so many questions that one begins to wonder just where he does stand."

"He...sounds like a man in a panic, as a man who panics is not the best candidate for president."

Though The Times story by Felix Belair Jr. was written throughout as if obtained from friends of Eisenhower, a Times dispatch from Saigon today said Eisenhower made his remarks in an interview.

Liberal MP Succumbs

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice Rinfret, Liberal member of Parliament for the Montreal riding of St. Jacques, died Tuesday in hospital.

Mr. Rinfret, assistant deputy speaker in the Commons, underwent three operations recently but returned to the House before its Christmas recess.

He was first elected to the Commons in 1962.

Mr. Rinfret's death leaves the Liberals with 131 members in the Commons. The Conservatives have 95, the NDP 22, Creditistes eight, Social Credit four, and independents, three. There now are two vacant seats.

Cambodia Reassured By U. S.

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The U.S. has reassured Cambodia it has no hostile intentions toward it but remains concerned about the use of Cambodian territory by the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam and North Vietnamese troops, the state department said Tuesday.

It said a note forwarded to Cambodia [illegible] called for "an amicable settlement" of the problem resulting from what the U.S. government claimed was the infiltration of Communist forces through Cambodia into South Vietnam.

The state department said Cambodia sent a reply to Washington late last week, but it did not release the text. But U.S. officials said the reply constituted a rejection of the U.S. approach.

Child Beating Deaths About 20 in Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — About 18 or 20 children die each year in Ontario from beatings and probably the same number die in cases where beatings are suspected as the cause of death, says Dr. H. B. Cotsman, Ontario supervising coroner.

Most physically-mistreated children die as a result of a number of beatings but even when a coroner's jury attaches blame to the parents for an infant's death, few cases end up in court.

"The problem is nothing new. This has always been with us—it probably always will be. Many of the people who beat their children are in serious need of psychiatric help."

Despite legislation which went into effect a year ago to protect persons who report mistreatment of children, there has been an increase in the number of battered babies.

In 1966, the first year a provincial registry on such cases was kept, 225 cases were reported so far, compared with 3,000 last year.

The Royal Automobile Club said the Christmas death toll was just slightly above the normal daily averages and called it "a welcome reversal of the disastrous trend last Christmas."

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents called the figure "encouragingly low."

The auto club reported that traffic volume was down, indicating that drivers were staying off the road to avoid being stopped by police and ordered to take a mechanical test to measure their blood-alcohol content. The test has been legal since October.

Britain's Stiff Law Cuts Accident Toll

LONDON (AP) — Britain appears to have reversed the rising trend of Christmas traffic accidents by applying a stiff new law designed to keep drinking drivers off the road.

Not all the reports were in for the holiday weekend, but so far the year's death toll showed some dramatic decreases after rising steadily for several years.

The transport ministry gave a provisional estimate of 96 killed on the roads from Friday through Monday, compared with 133 for the first four days of last year's Christmas weekend. There were 2,720 accidents

Single Agency Handles OMSIP, OHS Plans

TORONTO (CP) — Starting Jan. 1, a single agency will handle enrolment, billing, premium collection and inquiries for the Ontario Hospital Services Commission and the Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan.

Provincial Treasurer Charles McNaughton said Tuesday that the health insurance registration board will act for the other Ontario government agencies.

By July 1, target date for introduction of the federal medical care insurance program, OHS' and OMSIP charges will be on a single bill.

Mr. McNaughton said the Ontario government will continue to resist the federal plan on the basis that housing is a higher priority and those who can afford to pay for medical services should do so.

When asked if the health insurance registration board was a step toward federal medical care, Mr. Macdaughton replied:

"Premier John Robarts said that in a time of peace we must prepare for war."

He added the decision to use the single billing agency was made because it was apparent the national medical care was becoming inevitable and Ontario had to be ready.

Laos Claims Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Laotian military sources said today that recent attacks on government posts in Laos were conducted by seven battalions of North Vietnamese troops probably on their way down to infiltrate South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese regulars, possibly 3,200 men, were moving south heavy mortars and some artillery, the sources said.

The Laotian embassy said it had received no official word from its government since the defence ministry statement Tuesday night which reported two government posts had been attacked by North Vietnamese regulars.

The report over Vientiane radio said: "The military situation is very critical and tense."

Military sources in Saigon said the attacks were launched against the post of Nam Bac, north of the royal capital of Luang Prabang; and Phalane, in the Savannakhet region close to the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Saigon Seeks Hanoi Talks

PARIS (AP) — South Vietnam's foreign minister said Tuesday night that Saigon wants direct talks with Hanoi on ending the Vietnam war and a letter containing South Vietnam's proposals "may already have been sent" to Ho Chi Minh.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Do, winding up a one-day visit here, said contents of the letter from South Vietnam's president, Nguyen Van Thieu, would be made public after it had reached Ho, North Vietnam's president.

"We propose direct conversations between Saigon and Hanoi, for it is a Vietnamese problem to be resolved among Vietnamese," he said.

He said the basis for the conversations would be "that we have no intention of overturning the regime of North Vietnam nor of invading it."

Do said Saigon would be willing to settle the war on the basis of a return to the pre-1954 status quo. He said that means withdrawal from the South of North Vietnamese military units.

Preston Grandmother Builds Own Hovercraft

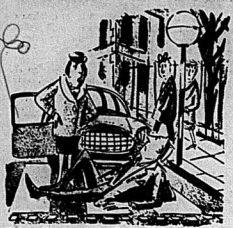
PRESTON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Charles Turner's centennial project did not get off the ground until November although the Preston grandmother had planned to complete it for the community's July 1 celebrations.

The project? A 100-pound air cushion machine.

Mrs. Turner built the craft — which rides over ground, water or snow on a cushion of air produced by a motor-driven fan — because she felt Canada was slow developing air-cushion vehicles.

Without her husband's help, Mrs. Turner started her project last January. She wrote Chrysler Corp. of the United States seeking advice on the best engine to power the machine and received an eight-horsepower gasoline unit from the firm. A lightweight 36-bladed fan was found in the United States.

Although she did all the work herself, Mrs. Turner received engineering advice from her husband, a service manager with a Brantford air conditioning company, and from an engineer friend.



She learned the carpentry needed to build the vehicle by helping her husband build a 36-foot sloop on which they travelled to Expo 67.

Realizing she would not have the machine built by July 1, Mrs. Turner built a car patterned after a Model-T Ford for her daughters, Faith, 6, and Charmaine, 4, to drive in Preston's July parade.

During the test flight in November of the air-cushion vehicle, the machine lifted off the ground with Mrs. Turner at the control and moved slowly ahead. Several other short trial hops were made but bad weather hindered the test program.

Mrs. Turner said the machine is designed to travel at between 30 and 40 miles an hour, "but I'll be happy if it does five."

TWEED — The Recreational Centre Committee of Cloyne met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Snowden, Loon Lake Lodge, to discuss ways and means of raising money for the arena. It was decided to hold weekly card parties in 1968.

Cloyne Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. John Meeks with Mrs. Eric Nowell in charge. Christmas gifts were collected for the Children's Aid.

Moscow Gas Blast Kills Nine

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass said Tuesday nine persons were killed and several were injured in a gas explosion that ripped through a Moscow apartment building Christmas night.

The six-storey building was reduced to rubble around a crater in the frozen earth, and to many the official Soviet news agency's death toll report seemed low.

One witness at the scene said a policeman told him more than 20 persons were killed and another bystander reported 10 to 12 bodies had been removed from the wreckage.

The building was believed to have contained 24 apartments housing about 100 Russians.

The blast occurred at about 9:20 p.m., when many of the apartments presumably were occupied.

Survivors are being moved into new apartments and given material aid, Tass said.

Meanwhile, Soviet photo censors refused to permit the wirephoto transmission of a photograph of a car belonging to Henry S. Bradsher, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow.

An explosion underneath the parked car Monday night—only about 15 minutes and a quarter-mile from the apartment house blast—blew off the right front fender, damaged the car's body and smashed windows up to the fourth floor in an adjacent building. The motive was unknown.

The photo showed two Soviet bomb experts examining the car. The censors objected to the photo's caption, which said a bomb had gone off under the car. The investigation was still under way, the censors said.

Ton of Marijuana Record Seizure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Seizure of $2,000,000 worth of marijuana — described by U.S. treasury officials as the largest in history — was announced Tuesday. Five men were arrested.

After being arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Russell R. Hermann, the five were ordered held in lieu of bail pending a preliminary hearing Jan. 19.

The arrests took place Saturday in Los Angeles following the seizure of the marijuana at Calexico, Calif. The five were charged with knowingly receiving and transporting 985 kilograms of marijuana—about 2,000 pounds.

The customs bureau said the five men, all of Los Angeles, were the intended receivers of the shipment of marijuana seized at the Mexican border at Calexico. Arrested at the border was Santiago Ayon-Medima, a Mexican national, who was arraigned at El Centro. His bail was set at $5,000.

Officials figured the retail value of the haul, on the illicit market, at about $2,000,000.

The customs bureau said Michael Kenny, a customs inspector at Calexico, discovered the large quantity of marijuana, wrapped and packaged in brick form, concealed in a specially constructed co mpartment of a 10-ton truck bearing Mexican license plates.

Trooper Survives Death Chute Drop

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — A New York state trooper searching for a young girl feared drowned slid helplessly down a 500-foot-long chute Tuesday into the Niagara Gorge a short distance from the raging Niagara River. He emerged with only minor injuries.

Trooper Kenneth J. Troidl, 27, of nearby Cheektowaga, had entered the conduit with a length of rope tied around his waist. The rope broke, he later said.

"I may have hit some ice, more water seemed to be coming. . . It seemed to be getting faster."

He finally slowed his fall by pushing his arms against the sides of the four-foot-wide conduit and grabbed a barrier at the exit.

He was found by workmen and treated at a hospital.

Troidl was helping in a search for Lynn Atchison, 7, whose mother had told police she believed the girl fell through ice covering a creek that feeds into the chute.

The chute drops sharply into the gorge after running under a parkway.

Police said they feared the girl had been swept into the Niagara River.

Doctors in Rome Fear Greek Queen May Lose Unborn Child

ROME (Reuters) — Doctors maintained a close medical watch today on 21-year-old Queen Anne-Marie of Greece after announcing that there were signs the might lose her unborn child.

The queen's general condition was reported as satisfactory.

Other members of the Greek royal family lunched with her Tuesday.

News of the Danish-born queen's illness came amid developments which pointed to her husband, King Constantine, making an early return to Athens and his throne.

The 27-year-old king and Queen Anne-Marie fled to Rome 13 days ago with their two children—Prince Alexia, 2, and six-months-old Crown Prince Paul —after collapse of an attempt by Constantine to topple the army-backed Greek government.

The strain of her husband's exile was understood to have affected the queen's health.

Her personal physician, Dr. Butifaris Colifaris, said in a statement Tuesday night "she has shown since Christmas morning certain signs of danger to her pregnancy."

He added that her general condition was "absolutely satisfactory, but these signs were still present today."

Earlier in the day Constantine's chamberlain, Leonidas Papagos, flew to Athens, heightening speculation that the king's return to his capital was imminent.

Papagos's flight followed Christmas Day talks in Rome between the king and Air Marshal Haralabo Potamianos, latest of several seminaries who have been apparently negotiating for the king's return.

Potamianos said before returning to Athens the king, who demanded speedy restoration of parliamentary democracy in Greece, would certainly be going home, possibly in the next few days.

The king's demands appeared to have been partly met by a Christmas Eve amnesty for political prisoners and an announcement by the Greek government that a referendum on the new constitution will be held Sept. 8.

Gang of White Men Attacks Two Kenora Indians

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Race rioting has been predicted by two Indian brothers attacked by a group of white men Saturday night.

Peter Kelly, 31, and his 25-year-old brother Fred, made the prediction after police broke up a brawl at the Alcohol and Drug Addiction Research Foundation centre in this community 145 miles east of Winnipeg.

The brothers, who say they are leaders of their people, were flown to Toronto by the CBC and appeared on a network program Sunday night.

Fred Kelly said the brothers were at the addiction centre when a drunken white man entered with two bottles of beer. When they followed him to make sure he left, the white man called to about a dozen men in two nearby cars, who assaulted the brothers.

"It was a planned attempt to get us," Peter said.

Police charged Donald Zabas, 19, with causing a disturbance, assaulting police and violating the Liquor Act. William Trickle was arrested for having liquor in a public place.

Crown Attorney Edward Burton said independent witnesses said only four men were fighting with the brothers and "the Kelly brothers have been taking race riots for a long time. I think it is a lot of malarkey."

Peter Kelly said he had been known as a "good Indian" who avoided controversy, "but not any more."

"The next time I see blood running down my brother's face, blood will come running down a white man's."

Peter Kelly is a community development officer at the provincially - supported addiction centre. Fred is a former arts student at Lakehead University, a former worker with the Kenora Children's Aid Society and a former staff member for the Company of Young Canadians.

The addiction centre in Kenora — only one of its type in Ontario — was opened about eight months ago as a result of a 1965 protest march by about 400 Indians. Fred Kelly was one of the leaders of the March.

There are 24,000 Indians in northwestern Ontario, about 5,000 in the Kenora area.

Proposal for Confederation of Europe Described as 'Touching but Useless'

BONN (Reuters) — Finance Minister Franz-Josef Strauss of West Germany Tuesday night dismissed a plan for a confederation of East and West Europe, worked out by one of his advisers as "touching but useless."

The plan was published Tuesday in the French weekly magazine Paris Match, which ascribed it to senior West German government officials.

But Klaus Bloemer, Strauss's foreign affairs adviser, said Tuesday that he thought up the plan privately after being approached by the Bonn correspondent of Match.

Bloemer said the plan was to be understood as a further development of Strauss's own ideas and referred reporters to an article in which the minister dismissed national restoration of Germany as impossible and called for a "European solution" to the division of Germany.

Strauss told reporters he knew nothing of the plan, but considered it useless in view of Soviet aims.

The plan foresaw a confederation of East and West European states, excluding the Soviet Union, as part of the Atlantic Alliance after it is reorganized in 1969.

Tweed District News

TWEED — The centennial rink at Arden is under way. A number of high school and public school boys worked at it on a recent Saturday together with Dartiff Way. Dances again have been held to raise money.

Mrs. Wendell Sedgewick, Queensboro, spent a few days recently in Toronto, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Keay, returned home with her.

Mrs. Nelson Munroe, Arthur St., Tweed, has returned home after a two-week visit with her daughter, Jean, Mrs. Arthur Monahan and family in Halifax. The Monahans are leaving this month for Ireland, where Mr. Monahan will continue his studies and research at Dublin University for a six-month period.

Dow Will Continue Making Napalm

SARNIA (CP) — The Dow Chemical Co. in the United States has no intention of stopping production of napalm for use in Vietnam despite widespread protests, says Herbert D. Doan, president of the company.

In an article in the company's magazine, Maple Leaf, Mr. Doan says the company intends to continue to produce the jellied-gas weapon "because we feel that so long as the United States is sending men to war, it is unthinkable that we would not supply the materials they need."

Mr. Doan says the firm produces it because it feels it should produce "those items which our fighting men need in time of war when we have the ability to do so."

He said the company rejects arguments being advanced by some that Dow is no different from the German industrialists of the Second World War who were "just following orders."

He said his company has made a "moral judgment" on the long-range goals of the U.S. government and supports those goals.

Lung Disease Death Rates Show "Alarming Increase"

OTTAWA (CP) — Death rates for lung diseases associated with cigarette smoking continue their "alarming increase" in Canada, the health department said in a statement Tuesday.

Extensive use of data provided by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show, more than 5,400 Canadians died in 1966 from lung cancer, chronic bronchitis and emphysema, the department said. This was an increase of 400 over 1965.

Lung cancer, the leading cause of death from cancer in Canada, took the lives of 3,296 men and 548 women last year. Emphysema, with and without chronic bronchitis, caused the death of 1,332 men and 207 women.

In the last 16 years the death rate per 100,000 persons from lung cancer more than doubled among men and almost doubled among women. In 1950, when 1,034 men and 208 women died, the death rate was 13.8 men per 100,000 and three women. In 1966, the rate was 29.9 for men and 3.5 for women.

The increase in deaths from emphysema—a swelling or inflammation of the lungs caused by air in connection tissue—was even more startling. In the period between 1950 and 1965 the male death rate rose to 12.7 from two. The female death rate between 1950 and 1966 rose to two from four-tenths. The department said that the emphysema increase was partly due to a growing awareness of the disease by doctors.

Trip to the Arctic

Igloos, Dog Teams Are Out-- Eskimos Now Live Civilized Life

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T.— The igloo and dog-team seekers wouldn't wear out any cameras in Eskimo communities like this one, typical of the changing face of Canada's arctic.

There's at least one snowmobile parked in front of each of the 21 prefabricated homes occupied by Eskimo families in this village of 150.

Situated five miles from a joint U.S. - Canada weather base all-white community, this settlement actually began in 1953, when natives of two other arctic areas were brought here because their home grounds would not support a larger hunting population.

Richard Bill — a 28-year-old Department of Northern Affairs area administrator whose "parish" as he calls it, covers some 100,000 square arctic miles — says Resolute families are typical of average Eskimo communities, with about 6.5 members in each unit.

Eskimos boast low mortality and high live birth rates, despite life in a climate that spans both ends of the thermometer, and an alarmingly frequent occurrence of tuberculosis among their infants.

Even the most untrained eye can spot the blend of the traditional and the transforming in Eskimo society.

"About half of the families here live from hunting," says Mr. Bill. "About one - third work for the government, 10 per cent are on welfare . . . and another 10 per cent don't want to do anything."

"Nowadays virtually any Eskimo under 20 and over four can speak English fairly well."

By one of those unique turns of fate, the Eskimo learned the written form of his own language (called "syllabics") from white missionaries.

Before the white man, the arctic natives had little need for written communication.

"Comic books" distributed by the Department of North-ern Affairs depict such lessons as the evil of needless animal slaughter — all in the Eskimo script devised by the white man.

Bell Telephone's northern directory gives directions "how to dial" in the Eskimo syllabics, because most families in settlements like Resolute now have their own telephones.

Two young Ontario teachers have the task of providing formal tutoring for the 50 children of Resolute.

Twenty - one - year-old Jen-Donnelly of St. Catharines has been teaching up to the grade three level here for 1½ years.

"The main problem, of course, is teaching non-English-speaking pupils in English. Other than that, we're pretty much the same as any school you might find in southern Ontario," she says.

David Keenleyside of Toronto teaches the remaining students up to the grade six level.

After that, it's corresponden-ce courses, or, if any child shows further academic promise, a D.N.A. high school in Churchill, Manitoba.

"The children don't talk too much about what they want to be when they grow up," says Jen Donnelly, "but then, Eskimos don't talk about themselves too much at any time.

"If anything, some of them talk about a future away from hunting."

Nowhere is the Eskimo's transition from a hunting to the white man's society more readily seen than in his handicraft.

What was once a rare recreational, or even religious amusement is now a hastily-produced sales item — priced at whatever the southern market will bear.

And with his initiation into a society where he can earn $2 hourly, the Eskimo feels the thrust of the white man's bureaucracy.

Eskimo mothers, like any others in Canada, receive monthly "baby bonus" cheques, but they come addressed to a number — the number allocated to each native from Ottawa.

"The Eskimo has come to think of government as Ottawa — the vague fount of all money," notes administrator Richard Bill.

And the French-English tags that mark each piece of "genuine Canadian Eskimo handicraft" are curiously minus any sign of the native tongue of their producers.

"Not, perhaps, in the true spirit of bilingualism," quips Mr. Bill.

The administrator estimates about 80 per cent of Resolute Bay's population regularly attend the small mission of St. Barnabas here, where lay preacher Johnnie Eckalu doles out a highly moralistic, sometimes superstitious brand of Anglicanism.

"There is no moderation in Eskimo morality," says Mr. Bill. "And men are by far the dominant figures in the community."

He cited the example of an unemployed prospective groom, who had no intention of seeking a job.

"His bride's father has announced he is only too happy to bring his son-in-law under his roof."

According to official D.N.A. literature, the administrator's job is to assist in the social, political, and economic development of the indigenous population.

As Mr. Bill sees it, his principal task is to direct the reticent, unorganized natives toward being their own spokesmen.

As a director of a co-operative — which credits villagers for handiwork and sells them food and clothing — he is a behind - the - scenes advisor, leaving the Eskimos to set their own prices and govern their own finances as much as possible.

Similarly, as chairman of the recently - created village council, he will act as mediator and counsel until such time as the body gains impetus from knowledgable participation of its four elected members.

All this takes on increasingly more importance, as more of the white man's amenities and customs make their way into the once-isolated northland.

Particularly in settlements like Resolute, 300 miles from the North Pole, where there are now at least two weekly incoming air flights from points south.

Arctic People Need Water

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T.— Water — about 5,000 gallons a week — would make an ideal, if belated, Centennial gift from Ottawa for the 21 Eskimo families of this arctic settlement.

Department of Northern Affairs area administrator Richard Bill says the shortage of clean water poses a constant health problem in this village of 150.

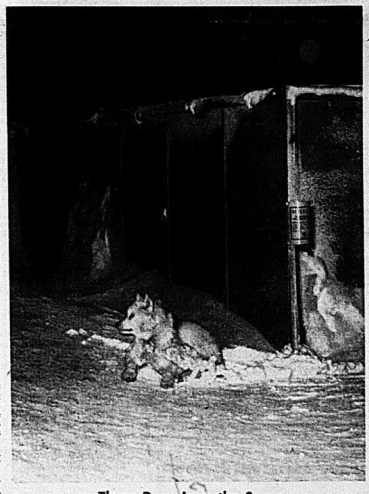
"Most people melt ice or snow, and you know how long that takes, and how little water it yields.

"In the summer, they have to carry buckets to a lake several hundred yards from their homes, but even that's dirty — to say the least."

Five government - owned homes in the village, including his, says Mr. Bill, obtain a fresh water supply from the Department of Transport weather station, five miles away.

"We pay 12 cents a gallon, and use about 900 gallons per month," he noted.

"The villagers could easily use 5,000 gallons a week. A health problem exists, and, in many instances, it's simply because somebody doesn't have enough water to wash with."



"Next year, I'll be asking the department for a water supply.

Sanitation is another everyday matter turned dilemma by the arctic environment.

"Homeowners can't dig holes and bury their sewage — we have six inches of permafrost in the ground most of the year."

Only recently, sewage and garbage has been collected from the Eskimo homes on a twice-weekly basis.

Trucks dump their loads on-to the expanse of ice on Resolute Bay, to sink as the ice melts in summer, or be carried away as the ice breaks up into floes.

These Dogs Love the Snow

Pudluk Earns $6,000

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T.— Pudluk might be called a "transition Eskimo."

Known affectionately in Ottawa as E-5776, the 24-year-old father of four is adapting to the changing northern blend of Eskimo-white culture.

Pudluk abandoned hunting and fishing for a livelihood when he came to Resolute Bay from Pond Inlet in 1959.

He now earns about $6,000 annually from the Department of Northern Affairs, employed as a part-time mechanic, school caretaker, and carpenter.

Four years after arriving, he bought his prefabricated home from Imperial Oil for $1,000, and has since added two rooms to meet the needs of his growing family.

He pays 70 cents per gallon of oil to fuel the space heater in his home, and buys a monthly food ration for his family from the government for $35.

Pudluk knows every nut and bolt on a bombardier half-track and could probably down a polar bear with a single shot, although he confesses "I don't get out to hunt much any more."

More important, he is working, and living, in his own arctic backyard, even if playing by the ground rules of a changing society.

Two Persons Killed at Kaladar In Three-car Collision Tuesday

Dead are Annie McLean, 44, of Toronto, and her son, John McLean Jr., 13. The victims were passengers in a westbound car driven by John McLean Sr.

Mr. McLean suffered scalp lacerations and a possible concussion in the three-car accident on Highway 7.

An eastbound car, driven by Charles Rastin, 44, of Downsview and a third car driven by Charles Douglas Taylor of Ottawa were also involved in the accident. The Taylor car was headed west.

The cars collided on Highway 7, one mile east of the county line between Lennox and Addington and Hastings Counties about 12:30 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

Seven people were taken to Belleville General Hospital following the collision. Mr. McLean; Mr. Rastin and his wife, Olough, along with Mrs. Iva Rastin, 67, of Ottawa; Mr. Taylor, his wife, Laliza and their child, Gillian.

All of the Taylors were treated and released yesterday. Mrs. Iva Rastin is reported to have suffered scalp lacerations and is still in the hospital here in Belleville. The other Rastin family members have been released.

An Ontario Provincial Police spokesman at Kaladar stated that the cause for the fatal accident has been ascertained as yet.

"We're still investigating," the spokesman said. No charges have been laid.

Holiday Mail Bag

Dear Sir: — I am a mother of three hockey-playing youngsters and I note with pleasurable pride, the fine work being done by the managers and coaches of some of the city's minor hockey clubs.

I am referring to the Smith Pauls peewees; the Kinmen bantams and the Belleville novice all-stars teams. I might say that none of our three Bobby Hulls is a member of either of these teams.

All these young teams have excellent records thus far and are looking to the top honor of all, the all-Ontario championships.

There records to date are evidence of fine coaching, training and administration. I also note there, is some, sort of a system of graduation, caused by age-limit regulations, but which keeps a lot of the boys together. It seems a bit of a shame the boys were all not of the same age so they could mount the ladder of graduation as a team entity.

However it seems the "feed-boxes" — as you quote them — are producing youngsters of the same potential and consequently the teams are not suffering too much as far as replacements go.

I wish these fine young squads the best of luck in their quest for championship honors.

But behind the whole minor pictures hovers a saddish note. In the words of the old war song, "Where Do We Go From Here, Boys?" Or where do these fine youngsters go — hockey-wise — after they reach juvenile age?

At the end of the juvenile trail there's a yawning precipice. Is it possible the boys know it and is that the reason there are so few juvenile teams in the city and district. Eight, I believe in this part of Eastern Ontario?

Hockey it seems to me has developed into a two-tier circus; the professionals: aging pros playing senior and junior "A" with a smattering of junior "B" thrown in. Intermediate hockey is being played but the ranks are crowded and there's no place for ambitious youngsters.

It seems passing strange that youngsters brilliant in peewee and bantam play seem to shed their potential when they reach midget and juvenile ranks. It appears there is no place for the most of them to go — and they shed their gear for good.

Junior "B" hockey, here at least, is teetering on the brink of oblivion. True its showing has not been of the best but it is safe to say that even if we had a league-leading team the general apathy of the public towards this calibre of hockey would remain unchanged.

MRS. KDR.

• • •

Speaking of Junior "B" hockey here's a letter from a playing member of the Belleville B's which speaks for itself.

"Dear Sir: — I think that it is about time that hockey fans realized that Junior B hockey in Belleville is slowly fading away At the present time the junior team here is badly in need of ice time and more support. For instance we have had two home practises in about five weeks. Surely ice time could be arranged for a team of young spirited hockey players representing our city.

If hockey games were won on spirit alone, our club would be at the top, but unfortunately we need the ice time for practice in order to ice a winning team.

We've got a great coach who knows his hockey but he cannot teach the boys unless we get practice. Our manager and other team executives spend countless hours working to keep junior hockey in Belleville but they can't do it alone. They need fan support to help keep the club financially supported.

Please, let's get down to the games and support the junior club. Remember your support today helps a team in the future. Keep junior hockey alive for the hockey stars of tomorrow."

Signed — a Junior "B" player.

Mikita Tops Hull In Points Race

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Mikita, centre on Chicago Black Hawks' high-scoring Scooter Line, is taking aim at yet another National Hockey League scoring title.

The 28-year-old Czech-born, a three-time winner of the Art Ross Trophy as the league's top scorer, took over first place in the 12-team league's scoring race during the weekend from team-mate Bobby Hull.

In statistics released by the NHL on Monday, Mikita now has 30 goals and 21 assists for 41 points, one ahead of left winger Hull whose total includes a league-leading 27 goals.

After a slow start, Mikita appears headed for a repeat win of the scoring title he won last year with a record-tying 97 points during a season in which he was also awarded the Lady Byng Trophy for his gentlemanly conduct and the Hart Trophy as the NHL's most valuable player.

When the Hawks invade Boston against the Bruins tonight, Mikita will be attempting to extend a consecutive point-scoring streak that has been his since 12 goals and 18 assists in Chicago's last 15 games.

He has only two minutes in penalties.

Two Bruins are locked in third place behind Hull. Left winger Johnny Bucyk and centre Fred Stanfield, both with 37 points, lead linemate John McKenzie by two.

Zen Wharram, Mikita's right winger on the Scooter Line, follows McKenzie. Two goals and two assists last week brought his season output to 31 points.

Veteran centres Phil Goyette of New York Rangers and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings are tied for seventh place with 36 points, one more than Mike Walton of Toronto Maple Leafs, Gordie Howe of Detroit and Phil Esposito of Boston.

Art Stratton and Andy Bathgate, each with 28 points, are tied for 12th place.

Christmas week was a good one for goaltenders. Seven shutouts were recorded in the 19 games played. After 133 games goaltenders had registered 28 shutouts.

Veteran Lorne Worsley of Montreal Canadiens and Cesare Maniago of Minnesota North Stars lead with three apiece.

The combination of Bernie Parent and Doug Favell of Philadelphia Flyers lead the netminders in the goals-against average at 2.10. Parent is the individual leader with an even 2.00 average.

Don Awrey, Boston's aggressive defenceman, leads in penalties with 91 minutes, while the Bruins are team leaders with 462.

Minor Hockey Results

Despite a few close games, one-sided contests featured Saturday's play in the O.H.A. Pee Wee and Bantam play.

In Pee Wee, a close game resulted in a 0-0 tie between Unioyal Indians and the Aces, Ken Kerik getting the shutout for the Indians, and Ricky Hutchinson for the Aces. Another hard-fought contest found the Pirates edging the Bisons 3-2 on goals by P. Hoey, J. Mason and S. Montgomery. G. Reid and G. Sly scored for the Bisons.

The Amerks dumped the Barons 4-1, with B. Holway getting a pair of goals and H. Mercer and E. Duffy one apiece, while L. Matis counted for the losers. Another 4-1 game saw the Canadiens topping the Leafs on goals by B. Flynn, T. Bridge, S. Cowan and T. Bateman, with G. Scott scoring the only Leaf goal.

The Hawks blasted the Rangers 7-0, with B. Duffy getting the shutout, and goals going to D. Sullivan, with four, and A. Hayward, M. Rollins and J. Muldoon with one apiece. An even larger margin of victory belonged to the Firemen Brutins, who took a 9-0 decision over the Wings. Steve Hale had the shutout and goals went to M. Watt, with five, S. Treacy, with two, and P. Meagher and W. Gibson one each.

In Bantam, the closest score was 4-2, the Wings taking the ANAF Dukes. B. Menard paced the winners with a pair of goals, L. Kirby and M. Sullivan getting one apiece. C. Duffy and P. Landmour scored for the losers.

The Bears defeated the Amerks 4-1, K. Vos leading the way with three goals, while A. Wright had one and J. Clapp scored the only goal for the losers. The Leafs drubbed the Canadiens 6-1, with a pair of goals each going to M. Rushley, S. Farrel and D. Pamber, and singles to D. Johns, A. Andrews and P. Scott. D. Taylor scored twice for the Canadiens.

The Bruins crushed the Rangers 10-0. Goal-scorers were K. Gardener, with four, R. Herrington, with three, K. Evans, with two, and R. Watt, with one. Rodger Lamore recorded the shutout.

Finally, it was the Aces 11-1 over the Hornets, J. Masterson and T. Hunt each scored three goals for the winners, while K. Taylor had two, and P. Healey, M. Bradshaw and S. McDonald one each. Gresham scored for the Hornets.

Ellis Midgets Beaten Twice

Belleville Richard Ellis midgets were eliminated in two straight games at the Peterborough midget tournament yesterday.

The Belleville team suffered two shutouts, losing 4-0 to the Peterborough Church League and 3-0 to the Peterborough City League teams.

Eight teams took part in the tournament.

Senior OHA

Hornets Defence Stingy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Hornets' inability to score goals is matched only by their ability to prevent them.

The Hornets edged Guelph 1-0 on home ice Tuesday to hold on to second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

In 23 games this year, the Hornets have scored 47 goals, a mark unsurpassed only by Oakville is 72, but Oakville is tied for eighth place in the 10-team league.

The difference is that the Hornets have given up a league low of 53 goals—the next best mark is 66 against Toronto Marlboros, who hold down third spot in the league with 30 points, one less than Galt.

Kingston is top with 30 points, but it has played four games more than either Toronto or Galt.

Reg. Whaley scored Galt's goal at 13:26 of the first period and the defence did the rest. Goalie Norm Defelice registered his sixth shutout of the year.

Marlboros scored four goals in the last period in Collingwood and defeated the fourth-place Kings 6-3.

Gary Milroy and Grant Moore scored two goals each for Marlboros. Other goals were scored by Bob Forhan and Earl Balfour.

Collingwood scorers were Fern St. Onge, Garry Collins and Bill Abbott.

Fuels Score 26 Goals In Two Games

Smith Fuels peewees are in Toronto today taking part in the OHA Centennial Tournament.

But they should be in good scoring practice for they ran wild in two exhibition warm-ups over the weekend.

They defeated the Fort Henry team of Kingston by a 16-0 score on Saturday and the day before walloped Trenton Flyers peewees by an 11-5 count.

Practically every player on the Fuels fattened his scoring average in the free-wheeling tilts.

In the 16-0 win Steve Kirby had two goals and two assists; Peter Sunrke, three and two; Mark Coates, one and two; Grant Goegan, three and four; Andy Ricketts, two and two; Peter Molaski one and one; Tim Whelan two assists; Wally Dainard two goals; S. James, one assist; Sutherland one assist; D. Flesch one and one; John Edwards one assist; Menard, one assist, and Barrett, one and two.

The Fuels racked up 37 scoring points in the game.

In the Trenton tilt Grant Goegan ran wild with five goals; Peter Sunrke had two, Peter Crawford, two assists; Sutherland two assists; Steve Kirby one and one; John Edwards one assist; Mark Coates one and three, Tim Whelan one assist, W. Dainard one goal, A. Ricketts one and one.

Glover, Shaw with two, McLean and Martin scored for Trenton.

Manchester United Widens Gap; Defeats Wolverhampton 4-0

LONDON (CP) — Reigning soccer champion Manchester United increased its lead to three points in the English League's Section after scoring a 4-0 victory over Wolverhampton Wanderers Tuesday.

The biggest crowd of the season—52,450—saw United take an early hold on the game with Northern Ireland international George Best, with two goals, and Brian Kidd giving the club a 3-0 half-time lead. England World Cup ace Bobby Charlton rounded off the scoring after the interval.

Liverpool jumped into second place, holding Coventry City to a 1-1 draw, despite being reduced to 10 men for an hour when Scottish international Ian St. John was sent off the field after appearing to punch winghalf Brian Lewis.

Manchester City slipped down to third place on goal average behind Liverpool after losing 3-2 against West Bromwith Athlon. A goal four minutes from time by Jeff Astle ended Citys undefeated run off 11 games.

In other First Division matches, Alan Birchenall scored both his club's goals in its 2-1 win against Arsenal.

Tottenham Hotspur, without a league victory since Nov. 18, led Fulham 2-0 with first-half goals by Welsh international Cliff Jones. But Fulham earned a point by equalling before the end of the game.

West Ham's Brian Dear scored three in a 4-2 win over Leicester City, which was leading 2-0 at one time.

Another man in scoring form was Martin Chivers of Southampton who hit two goals in a 3-3 draw with Sheffield Wednesday.

Although Third Division leader Walsall lost its unbeaten home record, going down 1-0 to Stockport County, it still has a one-point lead. Its nearest rivals, Torquay United and Swindon Town drew 1-1, Robin Stubbs scoring his 100th league goal for Torquay.

A goalless draw against lowly Workington Town was enough to keep Chesterfield on top of the Fourth Division.

Baby Habs Whip Generals

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oshawa Generals fought Montreal Junior Canadiens on even terms in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Tuesday night, but when it came to playing hockey it was no contest.

The Canadiens trounced the Generals 14-3 to move into a fourth - place tie with Hamilton Red Wings, six points behind leading Niagara Falls who have 38 points.

The result was in doubt for about 28 seconds at which point Andre Gaudette scored for Montreal. Within two minutes and three seconds the score had mounted to a 3-0 and then it started getting rough.

Dunc Wilson replaced Bill Yeo in the Oshawa net after the latter let the first three shots at him go in for goals. Shortly afterward, Wilson was given a major for fighting with Paul Lessard. Yeo returned in the, second period.

In the second period, Bill Prentice and Bernard Gagnon were penalized for fighting and in the third Pete McNamee and Guy Lapointe were given fighting majors.

Meanwhile, Canadiens were banging in goals at regular intervals. Michel Jacques scored three, while Jean-Guy Gratton, Jean - Pierre Bordeleau, Gaudette and Lessard scored two each. Single goals were added by Gagnon, Gilbert Perreault and Pierre Bouchard.

Bryan Slywchuk, Brian Morenz and Ron Duesslaume scored for Oshawa.

Meanwhile in Toronto, the Marlboros blew a chance to move into a first - place tie with Niagara Falls, losing 4-3 to St. Catharines Black Hawks after leading 3-2 at the end of the second period.

John Fisher scored two first - period goals for St. Catharines while Bob Channell and Skeeter Teal scored in the final-period rally.

Doug Acombe, Tom Martin and Terry Caffery were the Toronto scorers.

A power - play goal in the third period by Ron Plumb gave Peterborough Petes a 2-2 tie with London Nationals in London. Tony Featherstone scored the other Peterborough goal.

Brian Murphy and Barry Boughner scored for the Nationals.

Women's Hockey League

In Ladies' Hockey over the holiday weekend, Mel Barrigage Landscapers defeated Blinkie Lumber 4-2, Pictou 4-2, and South Shore Rockets topped Richard Ellis Printers 2-0.

For the Landscapers in their victory, goals went to Anne Dafoe, Sharon Lamie, Darlene Cross, and Betty Boomhower. The Rockets got goals from Linda Wiggins and Marg Roblin in their shutout win.

Phoenix Ties With Buckaroos

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Last-place Phoenix Roadrunners scrambled to a 3-3 tie Tuesday with Portland Buckaroos in one of two games in the Western Hockey League.

Portland used the single point to climb into a first-place tie with Seattle Totems.

In the other contest, Vancouver Canucks trimmed San Diego Gulls 5-1 to move three points ahead of the fourth-place Gulls.

At Phoenix, before 3,519 fans, Portland managed to shoot the score 3-3 with less than three minutes remaining in regulation time on a slapshot from centre ice by Wayne Smith.

Sweden Shades Nationals

HULL, Que. (CP) — Sweden, led by a standout performance from goalie Leif Holmqvist, defeated the eastern section of Canada's national team 4-3 in an exhibition ice hockey game Tuesday.

It was the Swedish team's first game on a Canadian tour.

Holmqvist turned aside 29 shots during the game, 13 in the last period. The Eastern Canada Nationals went into the period trailing 4-2, but could only manage one goal.

Canadian goalie Steve Rexe was pulled for an extra forward in the last minute play, but his team failed to score.

Yesterday's Fights

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami Beach, Fla.—Bob Cassidy, 181¼, New York, outpointed Linnes Johnson, 165, Miami, 10.

Goteborg, Sweden—Buster Mathis, 243, Grand Rapids, Mich., knocked out Gerry De Bruyn, 197, South Africa, 1.

Clippers, Aces Stage Brawl

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was the season of peace on earth and the night of war on ice in the American Hockey League Wednesday.

Baltimore Clippers and Quebec Aces played to a 2-2 tie and battled to a Mexican standoff while Cleveland Barons and Springfield Kings finished off a 3-3 deadlock with a free-for-all.

The climax of the Baltimore-Quebec contest came with 1:10 remaining in the game when players from both benches piled onto the ice for a 15-minute donnybrook.

Fred Glover of Cleveland was the big loser in the game against Springfield. Glover took 31 minutes in penalties and a gash in his forehead after both benches also emptied near the end of the game.

Mathis Wins 23 In Row

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Buster Mathis had his 23rd consecutive victory in the ring today, and it was one of the easiest in the unbeaten giant's meteoric boxing career.

Mathis, 23 years old from Grand Rapids, Mich., scored a mechanical knockout victory over Gerry De Bruyn, the South African titleholder, only 36 seconds after the opening bell Tuesday.

The American, a leading heavyweight contender, connected with two right-left combinations and then floored his opponent with a hard right.

Mathis weighed 243 pounds and De Bruyn 197.

Kinsmen Bantams Eye Title

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

There's a galaxy of young hockey stars in the city upon whose shoulders the mantle of championship does not rest lightly.

The taste of titular glory set well on young palates and, this year they're bungling for more.

They're the alumni of the Smith Paul peewee all-Ontario champions of a year ago and this year they've donned the togas of the Belleville Kinsmen bantam hockey club.

And bolstered by a starry collection of young stalwarts they're eyeing—and on their way to the 1967-68 all-Ontario bantam championship.

The Kinsmen bantams are managed by Dick Elston, a man who knows boys and hockey and coached by Tom Miller who won his golden spurs last year when he took the Smith Fuels to the Ontario title.

They are one of three outstanding minor hockey teams of the city who appear headed for the high places. The others are the Fuels and the Belleville Novice All-Stars.

As of now the Kinsmen have won thirteen of their fourteen seasonal starts, the only defeat coming last week when they lost a 2-1 squeaker to Burlington in a Peterborough tournament.

The Fuel graduates have not slackened speed in their new role as bantams. This becomes, of OMHA age-limit regulations.

Danny Lapinette is the leading goal-getter with nine; the leading points-getter with 16 and teams with former Fuel mates David Smith and Jim Richardson as the top line with 41 points. Ricky Meagher has the most assists to date, eight.

Bruce Clarke is the leading goalie of the Eastern Ontario Minor Hockey Association with a goals average of 1.30, and Cliff Baldwin is the best lover of the penalty box with 44 minutes.

The bantams play 40 games not counting the OMHA playdowns.

They won the "B" title in the recent Peterborough bantams tournament and on Tuesday play in Trenton. They're booked for the Scarboro tournament for March 10 and another at Georgetown March 1, 16 and 23.

Messrs. Elston and Miller are not leaving any stones unturned in the bantams' quest for the Ontario title.

The new year sees them practising twice a week and listening to informative chalk talks.

Said manager Elston: "While we are hopeful of winning each tournament our real target is the all-Ontario OMHA bantam championship and it is to this end we are planning our strategy."

Here'll bow the youngsters line up:

Bantams Beat Port Hope, Novices Lose

The Kinsmen bantams ran their record to 14 wins and one defeat over the weekend stopping the Port Hope team by a 4-3 count.

The Kinsmen spotted the Port Hopers a goal in the second period then took over, hitting for all four goals in the third, best as against a single return.

David Smith, Phil Kirby, Mike Rollins and Doug James scored for the winners with Danny Lapinette, Rollins, Bob Foster and Kirby drawing assists.

Cawker and Stanly scored for Port Hope.

In a novice exhibition game, Peterborough took a 9-decision from Belleville.

Bobby Crawford scored the Belleville goal.

Tough Schedule Ahead; Minnesota Brings Up Shooting Stars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Minnesota North Stars, facing three of the National Hockey League's unbeaten East Division clubs during the next four days, added a couple of minor league sharpshooters to their roster Tuesday in an effort to bolster their impotent attack.

Fourth in the expanded West Division, the Stars have scored just 65 goals in 31 games. They invade New York for a game against the Rangers tonight and then play Montreal Canadiens Thursday and Boston Bruins Saturday.

Tuesday they picked up Jean-Paul Parise and Milan Marcetta from Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League. They received as well a player yet to be named.

In return, the Amerks got Ted Taylor, Duke Harris, Murray Hall, Len Lunde and Don Johns outright, and the loan of goalkeeper Carl Wetzel from the Minnesota farm club at Memphis in the Central Pro League for the remainder of the year.

Montreal visits Toronto Maple Leafs tonight, while Chicago Black Hawks travel to Boston, Oakland Seals play the Penguins at Pittsburgh and Los Angeles Kings visit St. Louis Blues.

Marcetta, 30, a 195-pound centre, is undoubtedly the key man in the three-for-five trade. The Cadomin, Alta., native scored 40 goals with Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League last season and had produced 15 goals in 25 games with Rochester this season.

Parise, 28, of Smooth Rock Falls, Ont., also figures high in the plans of Minnesota manager-coach Wren Blair.

"He is tough and hard-hitting and digs for the puck," Blair said.

Parise had two goals in 18 games with Boston last season and assisted on a goal during a game with Toronto earlier this season.

Meanwhile, an injury to Paul Henderson has forced Detroit to align rookie Doug Roberts with veterans Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio for a Thursday night contest against Philadelphia Flyers.

Henderson suffered a shoulder injury against the Leafs last Saturday and will be lost to the club for 10 days.

The Chicago-Boston contest is a battle for first place. The Hawks currently lead the East Division by two points, but the second-place Bruins have three games in hand.

Toronto is third in the East with 37 points, three less than Boston, New York is fourth with 34, Detroit has 32 and Montreal trails with 31.

Philadelphia and Los Angeles are tied for the lead in the West with 35 points, while Pittsburgh has 30, Minnesota 28, St. Louis 23 and Oakland 19.

Has Face Ailment

Confident Maris Will Play

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris says he'll have to wait and see if the ailment affecting the right side of his face will clear up, but St. Louis Cardinals are confident Maris will be well by spring training.

The Cardinals said they had no plans to have Maris come to St. Louis for an examination of the Bell's palsy which has affected vision in Maris' right eye. Maris said Tuesday that he has been suffering from the disorder for some time.

He said the ailment prevents him from blinking his eye and has caused some pain. He said he has developed a film over the eye.

Cardinal team physician Dr. C. C. Middleman said Bell's palsy is "something that can clear up in four to six weeks. It's almost 100 per cent curable."

The 33-year-old right fielder had informed the Cardinals some time ago that he would undergo surgery for removal of polyps from his throat, a spokesman said.

Maris scoffed at reports he had lost almost all sight in the eye. He said he was taking medication for the nervous disorder.

In 1961, when Maris hit a record breaking 61 home runs for New York Yankees, he began losing patches of hair because of the strain. He said he didn't know if his current problem was related to that.

Nationals Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's National team trounced the Western Canada Junior League All-Stars 11-4 in an exhibition hockey game Tuesday. Ted Hargreaves, Morris Mott and Garry Begg each scored two goals for the National team.

POPULATION ESTIMATED

The United Nations estimates the population of mainland China in mid-1968 was 718,000,000, an increase of 10,000,000 in one year.

Packers' Wounded Will Play

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packer coach, said Tuesday his injury-riddled squad is no worse off now than it was before last Saturday's Western Conference playoff victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Three Packers were hurt in their 28-7 victory, but "they're all okay now," Lombardi said. Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr hurt his hip, but stayed in the game. Defensive back Bob Jeter suffered a bruised knee, and centre Ken Bowman was knocked groggy.

Kidney Transplant Preceded by Tests

NEW YORK (AP) — A kidney transplanted from a dead person to a young woman here was the first known U.S. case preceded by extensive testing of the donor's and recipient's tissues to determine these compatability, doctors said Tuesday.

The recipient, Sylvia Salak, a 20-year-old German-born daughter of concentration camp survivors, was reported "doing splendidly," Tuesday at Bellevue Hospital, four days after the transplant surgery.

Miss Salak's own kidneys had been rendered useless by disease and had been removed last October. She was connected to an artificial kidney machine at Bellevue at the time a possible kidney donor was located in the hospital's emergency ward.

A four-hour series of tests indicated the patient donor had tissue "reasonably compatible" with that of Miss Salak. Based on her own tissue type, she had only about one in 20 chances of locating a compatible donor, doctors said.

The donor, a 45-year-old woman who had suffered a stroke, died Friday evening. Her kidney was removed immediately and transplanted into Miss Salak in a 90-minute operation.

Since then, doctors reported, the transplanted kidney has been functioning normally. The only problem, they said, is that Miss Salak has been exposed to flu and was running a slight fever.

But they said her body's resistance to infection "has not been impaired seriously" because—due to the tissue compatibility factor—she has needed less drug and radiation treatment. Such treatment is given to forestall the body's normal rejection of foreign tissue, but it often leaves the body defenceless against other infections.

Holiday Traffic Toll Below Prediction by Safety Council

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 89 persons met accidental death in Canada during the four-day Christmas holiday weekend with traffic taking the heaviest toll, accounting for 61 deaths, 21 fewer than the Canadian Highway Safety Council prediction.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday local times showed that 21 died in fires, five in miscellaneous accidents and two by drowning.

Ontario topped the list with 28 fatalities—23 in traffic, two by fire, one drowning, a fatal fall and an asphyxiation.

Metropolitan Toronto, however, was fatality-free for the first time in 10 years.

Quebec reported 22 fatalities —18 in traffic, three in fires and a woman who fell under a subway train.

In Nova Scotia, four persons were killed on the highways and four died in a fire. Newfoundland had three traffic deaths and one drowning. New Brunswick reported two traffic deaths. Prince Edward Island was fatality-free.

Five persons were killed on the road in Saskatchewan and four died in fires. Manitoba had two deaths by fire and one in traffic. Alberta reported six deaths by fire and three in traffic. British Columbia had two air fatalities and one traffic death.

The survey does not include natural or industrial deaths, known suicides or slayings.

Consecon Personals

CONSECON — Miss Diane Elmy, Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elmy.

Saleni UCW was held at the home of Mrs. Harold O'Hara for the Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Viva O'Hara, Mrs. Jean Ellis, Mrs. Ilene Weese and Mrs. Ernie Hayes accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold O'Hara to Orillia recently and visited their aunt, Mrs. Hattie Goodmurphy. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Groves.

Mrs. Nora Burris underwent surgery in Trenton Hospital on Thursday.

Several girls and their mothers attended the County Homemaking clubs Achievement Day in Picton, recently. This was the conclusion of the Centennial Projects for 4 H Homemaking members in Prince Edward with 135 members competing a study of various national foods and food customs. There were ten club members who were presented with county honors. Two girls received provincial honors and one was presented with $100 scholarship from the W.I. The county home economist was Mrs. Margaret Woof assisted by Mary Lou Black, Picton and Mrs. Jane Anderson, Kingston.

Border Commuting Curtailed

WASHINGTON (CP) — Legislation introduced by Senator Edward Kennedy in the dying days of the U.S. Congress would tighten regulations for "green card" holders—Canadians or Mexicans regularly commuting across the border to jobs in the U.S.

"What it would attempt to do is provide that holders of green cards will not use what is continuing privilege in such a way as to depress working and living conditions within the U.S.," says the Massachusetts senator.

But Kennedy stressed "there are few difficulties, if any, along the border with Canada." The main concern is the inflow of low-wage Mexicans who, he said, may help keep area wages low for American citizens.

He said of his legislation it "in no way would ban the use of green cards or terminate the commuter system."

He listed figures showing that a year ago more than 43,000 Mexicans and 19,700 Canadians carried green cards.

TRUDY

Scouting activities

AROUND THE DISTRICT

Nearly all the various units in the district have closed their meetings for the holidays. When meetings continue in 1968 there will be considerable activity preparing for Boy Scout Week Feb. 18-25.

One of the groups showing considerable activity with new meeting ideas is the 17th Belleville. A visit to the West Moira Drive-in station was arranged by Capt. Bruce Diamond, who is ACM of Pack, proved to be of considerable interest. A short film entitled False Alarm was shown and the tour was followed by refreshments. Transportation was furnished by parents and friends.

The same Pack held its annual Christmas party at Eastminster Church Hall. The cubs brought gifts for the Rideau Regional Hospital School at Smiths Falls and placed them under the Yule tree. The collection of gifts was sponsored by the District Association for Retarded Children. A special guest was Cpl. S. Pitman of the Belleville detachment RCMP, who showed colored film of the RCMP in Northern Canada, which was followed by a question and answer period. Cub Donald Tucker thanked Cpl. Tucker on behalf of the Pack.

At the regular meeting A.D.C. A. Welch presented the Religion in Life Emblem to Siver Grant Brunet of Pack A. The meeting closed the Cub Pack for 1967, and the boys are looking forward to more such gatherings with more delicious refreshments served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Troop 17-B at its special meeting had as its guest F. H. Sowell, amateur herpetologist extraordinary, who captured his audience with a presentation of facts and experiences about snakes, lizards, turtles and reptiles in Ontario. A collection of preserved specimens of each species and adult reptiles made the talk all the more interesting. A lively discussion followed, indicating the scouts interest in the stories narrated by the Lecturer.

Another special night featured a talk by C. DeClerq, representative of the explored the physical fitness and training program (unarmed combat etc.) of the Canadian troopers. It was brought home to the boys that a healthy and sound body contributed to an alert and sound mind and the skills learned in leadership are skills that can be used to advantage all through life.

Learning about paratroopers and their work obviously interested the scouts, but most of them expressed the feeling that they would rather fly a plane than jump from one. These special meetings will be a feature of the 1968 program.

Questions and Answers Through the Years

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

In Canada the first taxis appeared in Vancouver, then gradually moved east to Toronto, the first eastern city to have them.

In the early days, the first cabs were called jitneys. The original cab in Toronto, named the Glen Rood Jitney, started operation on the February of 1907. The service conveyed the Rosedalites who didn't want to walk a few blocks to the Toronto trolley cars.

Quite a number of cabs began to appear that summer and thus the first taxi company was formed.

• • •

The air cleaner was introduced on the Richenbacher car. It was considered at that time an interesting gadget but few prophets foresaw any real future for the seat of the thing; in fact, as late as 1930, one of the makers of high-priced cars omitted the feature.

• • •

In 1933, the government was going to charge an initial fee of $3.50 for a licence to operate a radio. However, it was suggested that this would interfere with the future purchases of radios and also the tourist trade if tourists had to pay this additional fee for the short time they would be in Canada. Hence, this plan was not put into effect.

Question: We are driving to Florida this winter. What will it cost to drive down? Also, what is the average cost when you arrive in Florida?

Answer: The average cost for gas and oil would be $70 return. The average cost of motels for two nights each way would be an additional $60. Once you are there the average tourist will spend around $18 a day for accommodations, food and entertainment. Full prices stay in effect until Dec. 15. After that you pay top prices everywhere. Municipal golf courses charge $6 green fees during the winter season. During the off season, it is about half of that.

• • •

Answer: If you are a member of the Ontario Motor League, we have booklets which list all the places of interest in Florida and on the way down. These list 1,000 things to see and do. Here are a few of the main things to see:

Key Largo, on the way down the east coast of Florida, there is the city of St. Augustine, the oldest city in the U.S. It is more than 400 years old and has one section that has been restored to look like typical colonial days. There is Marineland at Daytona Beach and the Everglades to stand. Each has dolphin acts and much marine life. Cypress Gardens, near Winter Haven, is very similar. It has exotic tropical plants and a water-skiing show by a team of champions. There is the Monkey Jungle south of Miami which is very interesting. There is the Parrot Jungle, Tampa, Tropical, Hialeah and Gulfstream race tracks, and, of course, the Florida Keys.

ANAF News

Among the recipients of the Canada Centennial Medal were six members of the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 and No. 49 Ladies' Auxiliary, Dominion President J. C. Lundberg; unit president G. Christopher and unit vice-president Pte. R. Burns were awarded medals for distinguished service during centennial year and for their representation of the Canadian veterans at the World Federation of Veterans Convention held at the Hague in Holland a short time ago.

Cdr. Lundberg was the official appointed delegate. The other two comrades left Belleville on the 9th of September, 1967, on a twenty day tour of Holland. A platform had been built ready for the arrival of any distinguished guests. It was all lighted and decorated tree created the Christmas atmosphere. Mrs. Ethel Reynolds was present: Donald Holmes, chairman of the fire, water and light committee and J. Tree of the local office of the Department of Lands and Forests, who ran the Christmas tree farm at Stirling. These had been secured from the National Film Board; they were on the Christmas theme.

Santa Claus appeared and from his decorated chair handed out gifts to each child, also a bag of treats. Mr. Holmes acted as a local host.

A buffet supper, beginning with turkey, rounded out the evening.

Firefighters Entertain at Yule Party

NAPANEE — The Napanee Firefighters' Association held its first Christmas party early this week, and it was so much fun that they hope it will become an annual event. The fire hall had two pieces of trucks, which were transferred to the building at the back, accessible to Bridge St. in case of alarm.

To Your Good Health

Patient Likes Doctor But 'Freezes'

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl 15, and recently discovered that I am a diabetic. My problem is that every time I go see my doctor I freeze up and can't talk to him.

I like him very much but he thinks I don't like him, and I know he is a well respected physician. I would like to tell him my problems, but I need some advice on how to do it. — R. M. K.

You aren't the only one who freezes up. Lots of people do until they get used to regarding the doctor as a friend.

You can just keep going to him until you unfreeze.

Or you can just blurt it out. Tell him you freeze, and you really like him but don't sound like it.

Or you might even clip out this column and say, "This is the trouble with me." And I think you'll find that everything unfreezes easily.

Diabetes, of course, is a disease which you will have all your life, so it is important for you to be able to ask the questions that are puzzling you.

I've seen a lot of youngsters like you, and I know some of the questions they ask. If they need insulin (young diabetics usually do) they want to know exactly how to take the insulin, how to take care of the syringe, whether to keep the insulin in the refrigerator.

They want to know what to say when other youngsters offer them candy that has to be refused, or what to order instead if the others are having ice cream or hamburgers, and the diabetic diet doesn't allow it.

Or how they can tell if they've been eating too much, or how, and how often, to test themselves for sugar. Oh, there are plenty of questions. How much exercise? What if you miss a meal? And plenty of others, and to live a healthy, happy life in spite of diabetes, you have to know the answers.

There are answers to all questions. Don't swamp your doctor with too many questions at once. You'll get so much information at once that you probably can't absorb it all.

But show him this column next time you see him, and have clearly in mind (or even noted on paper) the two or three questions you need the answers to most.

You'll be seeing him regularly in the future, and you can take up other problems when or if they crop up.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: As I write this letter, my 19-year-old daughter is in hospital from poisoning. He ate an almost full bottle of sleeping pills last night. Two mornings ago he got out of his room, went downstairs, drank the bottle out of the kitchen cabinet and ate them.

He is going to be all right, but he is a pretty sick little boy. I hope people reading this will learn a lesson that I learned the hard way. Please put all medicines in the safest place possible. A child's curiosity is amazing. Parents should be aware of this. I was not aware, but I am now.

— Mrs. W. M.

there a weakness for it? — self.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: What advice would you give a young couple who are anticipating marriage and the mother of the girl is an epileptic? Isn't there a tendency for it? Isn't there a weakness for it?

M. F.

Only in some cases is there an inherited factor. In many there is none at all. Anyway, the young man marrying into the family, not the mother, and the girl doesn't have epilepsy so I'd just wish the young couple happiness.

Broadway Bound Musical Said Totally Impractical

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"This is a totally impractical show," says Gower Champion of his Broadway-bound The Happy Time. "It is an absurdly expensive it's a wonder that David Merrick isn't going out of his mind."

Oddly enough, producer Merrick is doing no such thing. It's not difficult to see why. After all, Gower Champion created for him Hello, Dolly! possibly the biggest gold mine in theatrical history. The show already has run more than three years on stroadway, and the new Pearl Bailey—Cab Calloway version is likely to last as long.

"I warned David that this new project was insane," says director-choreographer Champion. "This will probably be the most expensive musical ever produced, and yet there are no sets, no costumes except of a very simple nature, no panoply, no pageantry. The big expense is in the film.

"David just keeps telling me not to worry about the costs. But, boy—when he gets the bill for the film!"

It is the film that first attracted Champion to The Happy Time, which was based on a play by Samuel Taylor and a novel by Robert L. Fontaine about a family in a French-Canadian town. The adapter of the musical version, N. Richard Nash, had remarked that it could be presented in "multimedia."

That intrigued Champion. As the project developed, he hired a Canadian photographer, Christopher Chapman, whose work brightened exhibits at Expo 67. Since Robert Goulet, who began his career in Edmonton, plays a photographer, it worked out well for his photos to be flashed on a screen at the rear of the stage. But the mechanics of such a device were enormously complicated.

"We have only a 30-foot throw from the projector to the screen," Champion explained. "The film is in 70-millimetre, so that required a huge projector lens that cost $8,000 a year to rent.

"Shooting the film was a tedious affair. And since the cast members are shown on the screen, the film has to be changed every time a new actor is hired. We are now breaking in the third leading lady, and new film will have to be shot of her.

"To make things even worse, I got the idea I wanted to mix movie film in with the slides at the end of the show to illustrate the boy's growing up. That meant a trip up to Santa Rosa, where I shot film of the boy, Mike Rupert, on Fred MacMurray's ranch, although Fred didn't know about it. The caretaker let us on the property."

The impracticality of the film technique is demonstrated by the fact that only three New York theatres have enough backstage space to permit the projection of slides. There is none in Washington, Boston, Philadelphia and most other cities; hence some changes in the presentation will be necessary when the show tours.

Champion isn't worrying about that now. He has been working 16-hour days to prepare The Happy Time for its official run in Broadway opening. During its five-week run at the Music Centre here, he eliminated two numbers, added three, made cast changes and extensive alterations of the script. He'll continue his efforts during two weeks of New York previews.

This is the first time Champion has tried out a show in his home town, and he admitted the move was a mistake.

"Starting the show here probably added $100,000 to the cost," he explained. "The costumes ran 25-30 per cent higher. All the technicians had to be flown in from New York. Los Angeles simply isn't equipped for staging a big musical show."

Should Be Good In The Pinches

NAPANEE — The Napanee area has a new hockey team, still unnamed. However, since sweaters and socks have been donated by Hicks Motors, the men are hoping with the idea of calling themselves the Hicks Road Runners.

The approximately 20 members are made up of members of the Napanee Police Department, the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, and the greater number from the Napanee Firefighters' Association. Coach and manager-driver Maurice Rankin of the Fire Department.

The team has played one game, beating Picton 12 to 4 and will play a return game, also in Picton, on December 28.

The teams split the gate 50-50, each team paying its own expenses, and the proceeds going to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Coach Rankin states that the new team is willing to take on any other team on those terms.

Proposed U. S. Safety Rules Make Head Rests Obligatory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. transportation department called Tuesday for comment from industry, research and other interested groups on 12 proposed new safety regulations for motor vehicles.

The tentative regulations would require anti-theft devices, ban potentially dangerous exterior protrusions, order the installation of head rests and set standards for concealed headlights, among other things.

The department set Jan. 26 as the deadline for submission of views by the outside groups.

The National Highway Safety Bureau then will evaluate the comment, and develop final standards. These will be made official by action of the federal highway administrator.

Proposed new regulations to apply to 1969-model vehicles manufactured after Dec. 31, 1968 would:

1. Require installation by the manufacturer of headrests on all passenger cars to reduce the frequency and severity of neck injuries in rear-end collisions.

2. Require passenger car locking systems to minimize accidental opening of rear doors by children from the inside and prevent opening from the outside.

3. Require improved hood-latch devices to reduce the possibility of accidental opening and obstruction of the driver's view.

4. Establish standards to assure that headlights that can be concealed would be in open position in the event of failure of the shielding or rotating device.

5. Extend to multi-purpose passenger vehicles, trucks, buses and smaller cars, now exempt, present passenger requirements for windshield wiping and washing systems, including a two-speed wiper.

6. Establish performance standards for windshield defrosting systems and extend requirements for proper defrosters to trucks and buses.

7. Limit the use of ornamental exterior protrusions to no more than one-half inch from the surrounding surface, unless constructed to break away under a force of 10 pounds or more.

8. Require that every passenger car have a vehicle identification number on a permanent part of the car in such a way that removal or alteration would show evidence of tampering. The number would have to be inside the car but readable from the outside.

Proposed new standards to affect new vehicles manufactured Dec. 31, 1969, would:

1. Require that all passenger cars have an ignition locking system that would warn the driver, when he opened his door to get out, that the key had been left in the ignition; have a locked position that would prevent the operation of the engine and either the steering or mobility of the car when anyone tried to start it without a key. A further requirement would be that the system make it impossible to remove the key without activating the locking device.

2. Extend to multi-purpose passenger vehicles safety standards for door latches, hinges and lock that now apply to other vehicles.

3. Specify standards to minimize injury when glove compartment and other doors in passenger cars pop open in crashes.

4. Require that windshields on passenger cars be installed in such a way that they would not become dislodged in an accident. The would be aimed at preventing occupants from being thrown through the windshield opening.

Nursery Operator Charged With Poisoning Her Son, 19

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — A preliminary hearing for Mrs. Janie Gibbs, charged with murder in the arsenic poisoning death of her 19-year-old son, has been postponed and authorities have indicated the bodies of four other members of her family—all of whom died in the last two years—may be exhumed.

Superior Court Judge Leroy McMurray Jr. postponed the hearing Tuesday after Mrs. Gibbs' two court-appointed lawyers requested more time to study the case.

A short time later, the state prosecutor, Solicitor-General D. E. Turk, said the bodies of Mrs. Gibbs' husband, two other sons and a grandson might be exhumed. However, he gave no indication as to when this action might be expected.

The plump, blue-eyed Mrs. Gibbs appeared briefly in court Tuesday. Officials said she broke into tears while in the courtroom.

The Dec. 23 arrest of Mrs. Gibbs, who currently is being held without bond, has shocked many residents of this south central Georgia town. Some pointed out that only last week the wife of a local law enforcement officer allowed Mrs. Gibbs to baby sit with the couple's small child.

Others mentioned that at least 25 working mothers had brought their children to Mrs. Gibbs' small nursery.

Officers said the arrest came after an autopsy revealed several milligrams of arsenic in the body of Mrs. Gibbs' 19-year-old son, Roger Ladean Gibbs. The Georgia Bureau of Investigation said the son died last Oct. 28 in Laspital.

Just three weeks before his death, the bureau said, his month-old son also died.

Mrs. Gibbs' husband, 40-year-old Charles Clayton Gibbs, died in January, 1966. Officials said his death was attributed to a heart attack.

No investigation is being made as to these deaths," the bureau said.

Biologist Fears Fertilizers Put Too Much Nitrate in Food

NEW YORK (AP) — A biologist said today he is worried whether too much nitrogen used in farm fertilizers is getting into store-bought baby foods.

If it is, then certain nitrogen products might be killing some babies, or making others turn blue, he said.

The biologist, Dr. Barry Commoner of Washington University in St. Louis, said he did not know if this is really happening. But he said it should be looked into.

He spoke at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on the subject of hazards from radioactive fallout from nuclear tests.

Atomic fallout started a controversy as to what it really was doing or could do to human health, Commoner said.

Many things that man does or invents have unexpected or even obvious, results, he explained. Badly polluted water or air from various sources are two obvious example.

Commoner raised the question whether nitrogen, used now in prodigious amounts to grow more food, also could be harming health.

He said it is well known that nitrogen produced in farms—and from city sewage plants as well—can over-fertilize lakes. This can change nature's normal balance in ways that had not been predicted, such as a pea-soup type of growth of tiny plants or suffocation of game fish from lack of oxygen.

Nitrate from nitrogen is usually harmless in the body, he explained. But under certain conditions, bacteria in the intestines can change nitrate to nitrite.

If nitrite reaches the bloodstream, it can decrease the ability of hemoglobin to carry oxygen. This could lead to insufficient oxygen, particularly in infants, causing a pale blue appearance, or even death.

Two Experts Agree

U. S. Economy Expansion to Be Matched by Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two private economists, both former federal officials, predicted Thursday that the record-U.S. economic expansion will continue next year but with more inflation and unemployment.

The predictions came from Dr. Gerhard Colm, chief economist for the National Planning Association, a non-profit, non-political research group, and Dr. Carl H. Madden, chief economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Both foresee price increases next year of about 3½ per cent compared with this year's three per cent, and Madden predicted an unemployment rate over-all of 4.2 per cent during 1968 largely because of "a less strong second half."

Colm gave no exact prediction on unemployment but said it should rise slightly from last year's 3.8-per-cent average of this year.

Both said prices will rise even higher—Colm predicted an additional two per cent if Congress does not pass the 10-per-cent tax surcharge requested by President Johnson and no brakes are placed on credit.

Colm is a former senior economist for the president's council of economic advisers while Madden is a former economist for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Colm was slightly more bullish than Madden in predicting continuation of the longest period of economic growth in U.S. history which now is in its 82nd month. Previous record was the 80-month expansion which accompanied the Second World War.

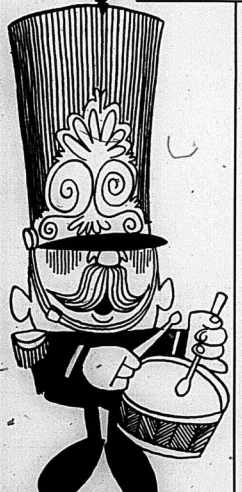
Colm forecast a gross national product next year of $844,500,000,000, including a growth rate of four per cent and price increases of 3½ per cent.

Madden predicted gross national product at about $800,000,000,000, split about evenly between real growth and inflation.

Gross national product, which is expected to reach $785,000,000,000 this year, is the value of all goods and services produced in the economy and is the most comprehensive measurement of economic activity.

Both men foresee almost identical increases in federal spending next year despite efforts to trim non-defence items. Madden fixed the increase at 10 per cent above calendar 1967 and Colm at $17,000,000,000.

Colm predicted a "mildly expansionary" money policy by the Federal Reserve System next year to help finance the government's budget deficit. Madden said the deficit puts pressure on the Federal Reserve to maintain an easy money policy to insure the success of U.S. treasury borrowing efforts. Colm said inflation and international developments will prevent adoption of easy money.



Madden said continued increases in living costs have fortified pressure for a wage-price upswing next year when labor leaders are expected to seek higher wages to offset increases in consumer prices.

All Quinte Region Blanketed by Snow

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

Nobody in the Quinte district is going to have to worry about not having a white New Year's.

Snow, which began early yesterday morning in the southern regions of Prince Edward County, has now spread to all the Quinte region.

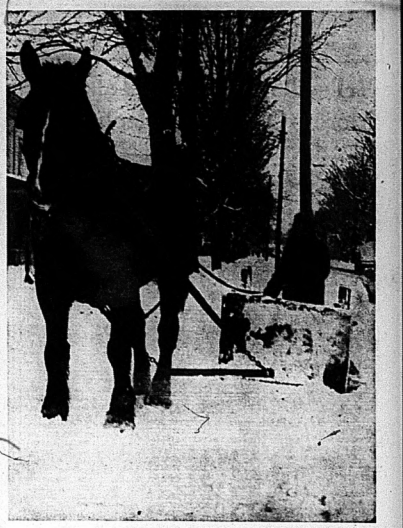
Snow came fast and heavy in Prince Edward yesterday and by noon there was four to eight inches on the ground. The afternoon and evening saw the fall continuing, until the total fall was eight to 12 inches.

Although the evening saw some areas of the county getting a reprieve, it didn't last for long.

In the Belleville-Trenton area the snow began around 2:15 a.m. this morning and already two inches are on the ground.

Simultaneously, Prince Edward's hill ended. At 10 a.m. today the Department of Lands and Forests estimated up to 14 inches of snow had fallen on the Outlet since yesterday morning. What's more — it is still coming down.

The areas along Lake Ontario in Prince Edward County are suffering the worst. Bloomfield and Wellington each have 10 to 12 inches of snow and it has been falling lightly all day.



Doug Istead of Bloomfield reported this morning that the fine snow is not building up as quickly as yesterday and Mrs. Vernon MacDonald in Wellington made the comment, "It's not really snowing — just plain miserable."

Further south in the county the problem is more acute, although traffic is getting through. West Lake and The Outlet received most of their snow yesterday and last night.

Milford, south of Picton, reported a foot of snow away from the lake and up to 18 inches immediately along the shore.

Main roads were sanded and salted throughout the night according to the department of highways at Bloomfield, and the main arteries are in good condition for careful drivers. Many

More Traction Than Tractors

Cecil Fritz and his horse-drawn sidewalk plow provide one of Wellington's most reliable public services, keeping the sidewalks and back streets clear of snow. During the summer months the horse changes jobs and pulls the garbage wagon.

Quakes Blamed On Well

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Renewed interest is being focused on a deep well drilled at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal and any possible connection with a five-year series of earthquakes in the Denver area.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced a study is being made to determine if waste fluids standing in the deep well should be pumped out.

Denver had its heaviest earthquakes last August, registering 5.5 on the Richter scale and causing considerable property damage. Another jolt last month was nearly as severe. No injuries have resulted.

A Denver geologist, David M. Evans, has contended for more than two years that pumping of waste fluids into the 12,000-foot well at the arsenal northeast of Denver set off the earth shocks. Before that, quakes had been unknown in Colorado. Some scientists agree with Evans, but others are skeptical.

Somebody in Port Credit Has Snakes as Neighbors

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP) — Four months ago, Larry and Shirley Trafford smuggled a pair of boa constrictors into their apartment in a bag.

Now the Traffords want to swap the nine-foot reptiles for a pair of seven-foot Indigoes so they can breed the "more affectionate" snakes in the building. They also plan to raise mice to feed them.

"Nobody in the apartment building knows we have them," Mr. Trafford said in an interview.

Mrs. Trafford, who bathes the snakes once a week in the bathtub, said they are good pets, "just like babies."

"I've always wanted to raise snakes and when I was 15 I ran away from home to join a carnival where I could work with them," Mr. Trafford said.

News Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Carpenter August Cedarliz, who didn't know a word of English when he came to Canada from West Germany in 1956, said Wednesday a Senate-Commons Committee has informed him that 500 sets of lyrics for O Canada received from people across Canada have been narrowed to eight — and his set is among them.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson began a short holiday today amid reports of resignation threats by a minister and two service chiefs over plans to slash military spending.

Double Murder Suspected

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — A man and woman were found shot Wednesday night following a fire in a badly renovated farm house near here.

Police are investigating the possibility of a double murder after firemen found the bodies in a second-floor den.

The home, owned by Wilfred Bitzer, owner of a local real estate firm, is located near Breslau, five miles east of here. Mr. Bitzer and his wife are holidaying in Louisiana and the house was reported to have been vacant.

Fire Chief Loree Bareham said it appeared as though several fires had been set throughout the 12-room house. Police said there was no fire damage in the room where the bodies were found.

Mrs. Carl Moerth, Mr. Bitzer's secretary, said she checked the house and noticed the lock on the front door was slightly pried when she discovered the fire.

Coroner Dr. Gerald Lynn-Davies said an autopsy will be performed today.

Boys' Parliament Assails Canada's Status Quo Policy

HAMILTON (CP) — A stinging attack on Canada's "don't rock the boat" foreign policy was delivered during sessions of the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament at McMaster University Wednesday.

Finance Minister Bill Easter described Canada as a "silent, frozen neighbor of the United States which has always supported the status quo."

This nation sells arms to the United States, claims to be neutral on Vietnam and supports the American position "even though we know they are wrong," he said.

Greek Junta Divided

ATHENS (AP) — The Revolutionary Council behind Greece's regime is reported beset by an internal conflict between moderates and extremists.

The moderates, headed by Premier George Papadopoulos, favor a softer line against opponents of the army group that seized power April 21, informed sources said.

The extremists, the sources said, want repressive measures continued; a continuation of press censorship and persons they consider hard-core leftists to remain in jail.

This situation was underlined by the regime's about-face on the Christmas amnesty announced Saturday by Papadopoulos.

The premier said that all political prisoners arrested after the April coup would be freed.

About 2,000 such prisoners are being kept on the Aegean islands of Leros and Yioura, and Papadopoulos said they would be among those freed. But 24 hours later the military dictatorship's chief security officer, Col. John Ladas, said those on the islands were "hard-core Communists" who were not included in the amnesty and only about 200 persons would be freed.

GIs Accidentally Land Right Atop Viet Cong

SAIGON (CP) — A nine-hour battle erupted when helicopters accidentally landed American paratroops right on top of two concealed Viet Cong companies, an American spokesman said today.

During the battle in thick underbrush about 250 miles northeast of Saigon Wednesday 12 Americans were killed and 31 wounded, the spokesman said.

He said 31 Viet Cong were killed.

The fight began when troops of the 173rd Airborne Battalion were landed in a suspected guerrilla stronghold in foothills 25 miles west of Tuy Hoa and immediately began exchanging fire with the Viet Cong, the spokesman said. Helicopters circled above to strafe Viet Cong positions, he added.

The battle ended when the guerrillas withdrew

In Quang Ngai province, a government battalion ran into a Communist outfit of unknown size, drew back and called in howitzers. A government spokesman said 40 of the Communists were killed, almost all by the artillery, while government losses were light.

Sporadic fighting also continued along the coast just below the demilitarized zone where the Viet Cong 416th battalion was cut to pieces in a battle Tuesday.

Thieves Steal Armored Truck

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Thieves escaped with $301,000 in an armored truck Wednesday by driving it out of a parking lot crowded with people while the two guards were in a department store.

The truck was found within 30 minutes abandoned about 1½ miles away from the shopping area, in nearby Boardman, with $32,000 still inside. Police said the thieves switched the rest of the loot to a getaway car.

Authorities said someone evidently had keys to open the truck doors that locked automatically when closed. There was no sign of forced entry into the Kane Secret Service Co. truck.

The two guards, Steve Sulik, 66, and James Lockhart, 63, were in Aimart's Department Store about "four or five minutes," Police Chief Don Hawkins said.

Several witnesses outside the store said a man disuniform got into the truck and drove away. It was found abandoned in a park.

At Dau Tieng, near the Cambodian border, the Viet Cong battered a brigade base camp of the U.S. 25th Division with 120 mortar rounds in 15 minutes Wednesday night, the spokesman said.

Thirty-nine American soldiers and a Red Cross worker were injured in the barrage, which was accompanied by small-arms fire.

The Littlest Skater

The fact he's little more than two years old doesn't discourage Greg Fettes from turning out for skating practice. With brother Doug, 4½, Greg tried on his first pair of skates yesterday, taking to the ice on Belleville harbor with scores of other Christmas-holidaying youngsters.

St. Jean Baptiste President Urges Federalists Speak Up

QUEBEC (CP) — Guy Lefebvre, president of the Quebec City branch of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, says in a New Year message that supporters of Canada's federal government should speak up at a time when separatism is growing in Quebec.

The leader of the 63,000-member branch of the French-Canadian patriotic and nationalistic Quebec organization says:

"Faced with the increasing volume of independence propaganda, the federalists are remaining silent as if they were hoping that the storm would end by dying down."

He thought the storm would not die down and that the public so far had heard only one side of the question, even if those in favor of Quebec's secession did not always agree on the method of their political action.

New York Prepares for Subway Strike

NEW YORK (Reuters) — Major companies began making elaborate plans to try to maintain business as usual in the expected chaos of a strike by New York bus and subway workers scheduled to start Jan. 1.

The 29,000-member Transport Workers Union voted Wednesday night to strike at 5 a.m. New Year's Day if a new contract satisfying their demands is not worked out by the time the old contract expires at midnight New Year's Eve.

A major disagreement is over a pension plan which the union describes as a must, but it also wants major pay increases and reduction of the work week.

After the experience of a 12-day transport strike which cost business an estimated $1,000,000,000 last January, big companies were taking steps this time to try to ensure that their employees can get in from the suburbs.

The Chemical Bank of New York rented seven fishing boats to ferry its personnel across the Hudson and East rivers.

About 4,000 New Yorkers have reserved hotel rooms for the duration of any strike.

Some companies chartered fleets of buses and taxis, as well as parking facilities.

The Chase Manhattan Bank planned to convert its spacious vice-presidential suites into bedrooms and move about 80 camp beds into the carpeted lounges of its Lower Manhattan headquarters.

The union said its members would work until 8 a.m. Monday to let New Year's Eve revellers get home, despite the fact the contract expires at midnight.

Under the pension plan demanded by the union, 20-year employees could retire at half pay. The union also seeks a 20-per-cent across-the-board pay raise, reduction of the work week to 30 hours from 40 and other benefits. Motormen now are paid $4 an hour and bus drivers $3.73.

Cost Estimated at $170,000

Top Priority Sought for Services to Loyalist Site

An early start on the installation of sanitary sewer and watermain for the Loyalist College campus in Sidney Township is hoped for following approval received yesterday from the Ontario Municipal Board for the issuing of debentures to cover the cost of the work.

The cost of the sewer and water installation amounting in all to an estimated $170,000 will be shared 75-25 by Belleville and Sidney township. Cost of the actual work is estimated at $140,000 with the remainder made up of engineering costs and debenture interest.

Belleville will debenture its share of the cost while Sidney is expected to pay its share out of current revenue.

Mayor J. R. Ellis said that consulting engineers Totzke and Storrie would now prepare detailed plans for the services installation, following which tenders for the work will be called.

"The actual starting date for the installation will be up to 1968 council, but it is hoped the work can get under way in time to take advantage of winter works grants," the mayor said.

The sewer and water mains for the college site will run north from Avondale Road to the proposed extension of Bridge Street West and then west to Avonlough Road.

The sanitary sewer will be a force main intended for use only by the college.

Mayor Ellis said it was important that services to the college site be installed as soon as possible as the college board of governors planned some construction on the site during the coming summer.

Belleville Residents Talk More--On The Telephone

A surefire way to spread the news seems to be to tell a Bellevillian — with a telephone.

Providing, of course, the line isn't busy.

For another consecutive year, Bellevillians, along with the rest of Canada have held the record for the talkingest telephone subscribers in the world.

In fact, if all the words spread by telephone were played back, Canadians would have the longest-playing record in history, Bell Telephone officials indicated in Belleville today.

Records released by the company show that Canadians once more held the record in 1966 — for the 16th consecutive year.

In fact, Canadians are talking more than ever.

In 1966 they averaged 664 conversations per person — 29 more than the previous year.

The statistics also are enough to leave a U.S. citizen speechless.

Compared to Canada, in the international talkfest stakes, the U.S. is running a poor second — with only 648 conversations in 1966.

However, on a global basis, the world rapidly seems heading toward one vast telephone exchange.

In 1966 there were 208.5 million telephones in operation around the world.

This is double the number in service only 11 years ago and more than six telephones for every 100 people.

The national spread ranges from 58.8 million telephones in the U.S. to the recently - installed system on the tiny British Pitcairn Island settlement in the Pacific.

The 98 islanders share 15 telephones.

Nature Turns Decorator

A row of trees along Highway 33 in Prince Edward County turn white under the onslaught of 12 inches of snow since yesterday morning. The snow, which came down heavily, was very dry and light and made for easy plowing and shoveling.

Disadvantage Emphasized

It is a good thing the weather forecast is for the storm in Prince Edward County to taper off this evening. Otherwise, the owner of this sports car might have to start poking in snow banks to find his car.

Fund Chairman Appointed

Mrs. A. H. McFarlane has been appointed campaign chairman for the 1968 United Community Fund drive. Her appointment was announced today by United Community service spokesmen.

Mrs. McFarlane came to Belleville last September, bringing with her 14 years of experience as a vice-chairman of the Montreal Red Feather campaign. For five years she was a member of the Red Feather budget committee and of the board of directors of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies.

MRS. A. H. MacFARLANE

Mrs. McFarlane is a graduate of McGill University in psychology and has been active in the Alumnae Society and the University Women's Club. A director of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, her special interests have been senior citizens and mental health work, urban renewal and low rental housing.

"I'm also interested in politics," she says, "And I hope in the future to make a contribution in that field."

Mrs. McFarlane is married to A. H. McFarlane, director of student services at Loyalist College, and has a son and a daughter, both at university.

Bruce Amos Rhodes Winner

D. Bruce Amos, a final year engineering student at Queen's University and son of a former minister at Bridge Street United Church in Belleville, has been awarded a Rhodes Scholarship.

Mr. Amos is the son of Rev. Donald C. Amos who was at Bridge Street United Church from about 1946 until 1951 and now has a charge at Brampton. The Queen's student is a former Ontario Scholar.

Missionary To Speak At Services

A British missionary, held in solitary confinement after the Chinese collapse of Tibet, Geoffrey T. Bull is principal speaker this week at a Christian youth conference in Belleville.

Mr. Bull next week also will conduct special services at Bethel Chapel, which is sponsoring the current conference at Albert College.

The services will be held Dec. 30 to Jan. 4, excluding New Year's Day.

Captured by the Chinese in Tibet, he was imprisoned for more than three years, subject to thought reform processes and solitary confinement.

He has recounted his experiences in two books — When Iron Gates Yield and God Holds the Key.

Man, Wife In Hospital

Two Belleville people, a man and his wife, were sent to Belleville General Hospital following a two-car collision yesterday afternoon on the corner of Macdonald and Pine streets.

The accidgg occurred at 4:55 p.m. when a car driven by Gary Clayton Cole of 398 William street came into collision with a vehicle driven by Clarence D. Boyce of Tweed.

Two passengers in the Boyce automobile were taken to hospital, Robert Denham sustained lacerations to his forehead, while his wife received chest lacerations.

Damage resulting from the incident totalled $375.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt gratitude to our relatives for their thoughtfulness and kindness during the funeral illness and passing of our dear son and brother Joel. A special thank you to Reverend McConnell for his comforting words. — Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bush Family.

Phyllis, Harold Heacock and Gail Chapman.

Exchange Workers Find Need Not Restricted to Christmas

In the course of arranging for the delivery of more than 300 hampers and 140 cheques to families in need in Belleville and Trenthaven, Belleville and District's Christmas Exchange learned of a young family whose need was for more than a hamper of groceries.

Working until 11.30 p.m. on Christmas Eve, volunteers from United Community Services came across a very young couple who had hardly a stick of furniture in their tiny cottage. A makeshift bed all but filled the little bedroom and the only other furniture in the living room was an automobile seat. Two chairs were placed by the side of the wood-fed Quebec heater in the centre of the living room — the only source of heat, and a small end table was against the wall.

Although two frozen chickens were in the hamper of groceries delivered to the couple, they were unable to cook them, having neither saucepans nor oven. The volunteer worker cooked the chickens for them and brought them back for Christmas dinner. When he returned Christmas Day, he found that the young couple had been waiting for several hours: they had neither clock nor radio, and didn't know what time it was.

This family needs both clothing and furniture. According to Mrs. Selma Bochsak, director of the Christmas Exchange, clothing needs will be met through the Women's Hospital Auxiliary Opportunity Shop, but the family still needs furnishings for its three - room cottage. A 110 volt rangette, small kitchen table and chairs, sofa, bed chest of drawers, bed, chest, refrigerator, pillows, mop, and dustpan are needed.

Maurice J. Stotesbury, President of United Community Services, indicated that a Furniture Exchange has been set up by his organization, that he hoped it would begin operations immediately after New Year's, "but," he said, "we shouldn't wait until then to help this young couple."

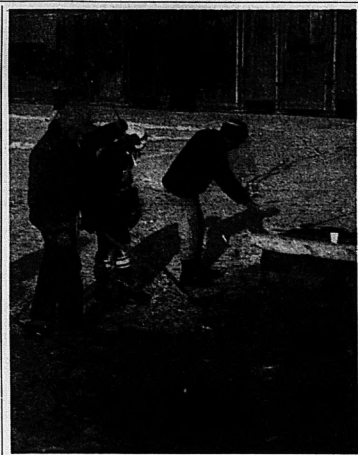
Anyone who is able to help this family by providing used furnishings or appliances is asked to call the Christmas Exchange at 962-9697.

Sky-diver Describes Freak Plane Accident

NAPANEE — After having been hospitalized since early October as the result of an accident when he was sky-diving, T. W. Cox is only now available to describe that accident.

Mr. Cox and a pupil who was about to make his first jump were outside the plane at the Kingston Airport. Mr. Cox prepared to follow the pupil as soon as he had jumped. Suddenly the plane went out of control and went into a spin and it was essential for both men to remove their weight from the plane so that the pilot could regain control.

Mr. Cox who has made 573 jumps was more aware of this than the pupil, and so literally shoved the student off the wing. Unfortunately, when the man's weight was removed the plane lurched, and when Mr. Cox jumped his left leg was caught in the wheel. He managed to free himself and make a perfect landing on the good leg. It was only after reaching the ground that he realized that his leg had not been completely torn off.



A team of surgeons restored the shattered knee. Although the knee is still stiff, the surgeons have assured him that therapy will remedy this and eventually he will walk without a limp.

Mr. Cox, who has been skydiving since '58, was for two years the safety officer of the Canada Sports Parachuting Association and is now its president. He states that this is a freak accident, one that had been anticipated, but had never previously occurred. Nothing daunted, he expects to be sky-diving again by spring. He felt no panic at the time, he says, and relied automatically to training.

Mr. Cox has not changed his opinion that sky-diving is the safest sport in the world.

Snow Blankets Quinte Area

of the rural roads have not been plowed and are almost impossible to traverse.

Wintery weather has not been the cause of any serious accidents yet, according to the provincial police at Picton.

A single-engined aircraft, flown by Keith Williams of Picton, made a forced landing near the Picton Flying Club late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Williams was enroute from Brockville to Picton and was slightly east of the club when the heavy snow prevented him from finding the landing strip.

He landed in a field, damaging the undercarriage of the privately-owned plane. Mr. Williams, alone in the plane, did not suffer any injuries.

North of Belleville, temperatures were lower but the snow scene was in sharp contrast to the Lake Ontario shoreline area of Prince Edward.

Light snow covered the Bancroft - Dacre area, where the mercury slipped to an overnight low of zero.

The snowfall also helped raise temperatures in the bayshore area with an overnight low of 17 and an expected high today of 25.

Although the snow has been falling most of the day in the district the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base in Trenton predicted the storm would taper off this evening.

Assessment Boosted

Building Keeps Pace With 1966

New construction in Belleville this year added close to three and a half million dollars to the assessment role.

City building inspector Grant Stickle said today that 312 building permits have been issued with a total construction value of $3,421,528.

By comparison the value of new construction for 1966 totalled $3,684,661.30.

The total taxable city assessment at Dec. 31, 1966 was given as $106,302,550.

During December, 19 permits have been issued for a total of $260,980. The month's building list included 14 new dwellings with a value of $260,980.

The biggest single building projects for which permits were issued this year were the new plant addition at Mead Johnson and the new plant of Superior Electric in northeast Belleville. The permit for the Mead Johnson building was for $400,000 and the Superior Electric building $262,000.

Commercial structures erected during the year included the Hartt building on East Dundas Street costing $87,000, and the new restaurant building on North Front Street at $85,000.

Picton Plant Lays Off 26 Workers Temporarily

PICTON — Proctor-Silex Ltd. has laid off 26 assembly line workers at their Picton plant. The layoff was attributed to pressures on the export market.

Plant manager James Findlay said yesterday the labor needs of the plant are cyclic, and there is usually a brief slump in the company's labor requirements at this time each year.

The layoff, affecting female employees chiefly, began Friday. Mr. Findlay said he hopes to have workers called back as soon as possible.

The devaluation of the pound in Great Britain and the "Kennedy Round" tariff set-up have had an effect on the plant's decision, the plant manager said.

Before Friday's layoff, the plant employed 236 men, not including management and office staff. A new wing was added to the existing building last year, Proctor - Silex manufactures electrical appliances for household use.

Man Hurt In Crash

BRIGHTON — Provincial police are still investigating a car-truck accident that sent a Brighton man to hospital late yesterday.

Harold Blakely, 36, was admitted to Cobourg hospital suffering back injuries after an oil truck he was driving was involved in a collision on county road 25 near Colborne. Driver of the car involved, Irma McComb of R.R. 1, Castleton was unhurt in the crash.

An estimated $1,000 damage was incurred on the oil truck, which police say was empty at the time of the mishap.

Damage to the McComb car was estimated at $800.

Political Arts

One of the arts of politics is to appear convincing in unconvincing situations.

Prime Minister Pearson is an old hand in this sphere, although ironically he is not always that convincing. Faced for example with the French "fact" in Quebec he has been at pains (the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism et al) to assure Quebecers they are just as Canadian and equal as any other group.

The Quebecers of course are quite sure of this these days without having to be told by Mr. Pearson.

President de Gaulle has said it in much more pungent and effective terms, and that is why Mr. Pearson and our smooth-talking man in external affairs, Paul Martin, often find the rug being pulled from under them.

Consider Mr. Martin's recent talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville (even the French names accent French arrogance and haughtiness on the international scene). External affairs minister came away from the tete-a-tete insisting that relations between Canada and France are "harmonious and friendly."

And this only a short time after de Gaulle had been in this country exhorting Quebecers to seek independent statehood — a breach of international protocol and hospitality (since he was here on Ottawa's invitation) described by Prime Minister Pearson as unacceptable and intolerable.

How can we reconcile these two contradictory positions? It just can't be done.

Or take the recent federal-provincial housing conference which most of the provincial premiers considered unproductive if not an outright flop. Certainly it inspired no new ideas on how to solve either the housing shortage or the problem of building homes within the reach of the average Canadian wage scales.

Now we have Mr. Pearson saying the conference was not a failure and did not break up prematurely. At the same time he does not say it was a success — only that it achieved its purpose of examining problems of housing and urban growth and that further meetings will be held.

Quebec Premier Johnson was more to the point when he said there should have been preliminary meetings of officials to prepare the ground for an ultimate meeting of the leaders.

Lack of foresight and preparedness, as well as the kind of political know-how and initiative that are a match for anyone, de Gaulle included, are qualities often lacking in Ottawa. Until they are acquired, as I said in as Mr. Martin suggests, Canada one day will outstrip both France and Britain.

The Rural Scene

A possible switch in the Moira River Conservation Authority's policy of acquiring land for reforestation has merit.

The idea involves acquisition of blocks of 500 acres or more rather than isolated lots of sub-marginal land. At the same time forestry advisory chairman Kenneth Holland suggests the authority sell isolated lots under its jurisdiction. To have any value, he believes, reforestation plots should be of at least the 500-acreage mentioned above.

Complementing the work of conservationists are the farmers and it is interesting to note a theme related to conservation in a conference to be held at Kemptville Agricultural School in the new year.

Agriculturalists from eleven eastern Ontario counties will discuss soil and crop improvement under the headings of field crops, weed control, soil fertility and livestock. Practical information and ideas on farm land policies are two other subjects scheduled for discussion by more than 800 delegates to the conference.

One other topic of considerable urgency the conference might include is the flight of population from rural areas to the cities. If as a result of such discussions measures can be taken that will help maintain and extend the farm industry and agriculture generally so much the better.

Traffic

The Quinte area is fortunate in not having experienced any serious accidents over the four-day holiday Christmas holiday.

We are reminded, however, that in recent weeks two youngsters have died in accidents. They were girls of eight and nine years respectively, killed in separate accidents in the late afternoon. One was struck by a car as she walked along College Street and the other was hit while returning from a Brownie meeting.

The period between 4.30 p.m. and 6 p.m. when traffic is heavy is a dangerous one for small children, especially at this time of year. Where possible parents should arrange to collect their children and drive them home.

Golden Silence Saves Paul Martin From Battle Scars

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — You know why Paul Martin kept himself so far above the din of battle, asked the voice-on-the-phone?

To keep from being wounded, that is why.

Through four - going - on - five years, in fact, ever since he and Jack Pickersgill together pulled down the tottering minority Diefenbaker government, he has concerned himself almost exclusively with international affairs.

None of the successive government crises so much as brushed him.

Others, from the Prime Minister on down through the ranks of the cabinet, collided head-on with one crisis or another . . . There has been a wide choice of disasters — some of them fatal.

The cabinet fatality rate has been high — Maurice Lamontagne, Guy Favreau, Lucien Cardin, Yvon Dupuis, Watson MacNaught, Harry Hays, Rene Tremblay, Jean-Paul Deschatelets, even Jack the Pick — all departing for a variety of good and not-so-good reasons.

Paul Martin goes on forever, as he has these past 20 years, ruffled.

Benign and beaming, "Hi'ya Beatitude," as they fondly call him.

Until now, he has remained majestically remote even from the Liberal leadership race in which public opinion polls, already handicapping the entries, have made him the easy effortless front-runner.

"What leadership race?" he liked to ask with a becoming if unconvincing air of innocence.

How does he manage it, this pro of old pros?

He has remained in the isolation of external affairs, splendidly sanitized from the dangerous infections of domestic political warfare, said the voice-on-the-phone, simply because he has too much to lose.

So when the Liberals need a new leader — which is now — he is able to present himself as the one candidate acceptable to all segments of the population in all sections of the country, with no points off for ever having said, much less done, the unacceptable thing.

Smart, what?

Just look at the competition.

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, roundly hard, may never overtake and erase his image in the public mind of the big spender.

Yes, conceded Prime Minister Pearson at his pre-minibudget press conference, his Liberal MPs and Senators were very concerned — as who wasn't — with the cost of living and the accelerating rate of government spending.

He had ordered a cut — hundreds upon hundreds of millions of dollars, as he phrased it — in spending, stopping in as prime minister to do a job that should have been done by the finance minister.

And the still rising cost of living?

Well, said the PM, it was not as bad as in some countries and worse than in others.

Worse than the United States?

Yes, he replied frankly, if a bit bleakly, in full realization that the less-inflated American economy was financing a multi-billion dollar war.

Big spending and inflation, expanding Canada's social net and a shrinking dollar — the finance minister again.

And what about the other competitor in the leadership field of "the big three," Transport Minister Hellyer?

Leaving the defence department for the transport department hasn't been doing him any great good.

Among the MPs there is a disposition to scorn something about having pulled down the Navy, Army and Air Force, scrambling them into one unified service and then casually walking away from it while somebody else finished the job of putting the pieces together.

Smacks a bit, they grumble, of abandoning ship.

And for what? Transport with czar Jack Pickersgill really the boss of the show. In defence there was so much still to do — and do well.

But Paul Martin's remarkable talent for avoiding any unwelcome responsibility damaging involvement has extended even into his many never-never world of external affairs.

For who took the lumps when Le Grand Charles marched in unbelievably on Gaullic arrogance across Quebec crying that it be "free"? Not you-know-who. The PM, that is who.

Even when U Thant evicted Canada's peace-keepers from Sinai and Gaza and ended the dream of Canadians serving as international policemen for the whole world, Paul Martin remained clean of the stain of policy failure.

With sheer genius like that, only Paul Martin holds the leadership aces, leaving his rivals with the deuces.

Jap Economy on the Move

Japan Times Weekly

Japanese industry still wants to increase its capital spending so that it can compete better on home and world markets — despite the Government's tight money policy, a Government report said last week.

Japan will be briskly developing into "a high-income and high - welfare society" between this year and 1970, according to a recent Sumitomo Bank forecast.

The bank says the national economy will continue to grow briskly between fiscal 1967 and fiscal 1970 at an annual average of 12.7 per cent. in nominal terms and 9.3 per cent. in real terms. It is somewhat less vigorous than an average of 11.9 per cent. in real terms between fiscal 1957 and 1961.

The Gross National Product in the target year, fiscal 1970, will reach 60,670,000 million yen, 1.6 times higher than in fiscal 1966.

National income per capital will go up to around $1,800 a year, close to the present level for advanced West European nations.

The national economic growth will be led by private demand. Industrial capital spending, personal consumption and private housing construction will set a decidedly new pattern. The export trade will be growing faster than the average for the whole world and Japanese products will be claiming larger shares of the world market.

Education Their Goal

Calgary Albertan

The operators of a speed-reading school which recently opened in Calgary expected an initial enrollment of less than 100. They are said to have been surprised when they received nearly 400 applications, and one of them has attributed the figure to Calgarians' "interest in self-improvement."

The Expo Tourist Boom

Ottawa Journal

Expo did much for Canada in every way but in the wake of governmental belt tightening and higher taxes the fair's $250,000,000 deficit might seem a stiff price for national slim.

However, the Department of Trade and Commerce reports that visitors to Canada spent close to one and a quarter billion dollars in Canada during 1967 — $400,000,000 more than in 1966. Trade Minister Winters expects a travel account surplus of $350,000,000 to $400,000,000 this year and thinks the future bodes well too:

"Canada's travel industry is now — with those of Italy, the United States and Spain — one of the big four money earners in the world of tourism. We can justifiably expect that our annual travel income in the future will continue to stay above one billion."

Mr. Winters' figures show that the cynics complaining of Expo's deficit owe Expo an apology. Admittedly, that $400,000,000 in increased travel revenue is not a net profit — but it is a large chunk of revenue, thanks hugely to Expo. And that. Expo put Canada on a lot of maps in favor of to remain a continuing source of revenue.

Education Costs Mount

Hamilton Spectator

No one knows exactly how much education costs these days. The taxpayer pays for it via all levels of government. In a current daily bulletin the Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives a glimpse of university grants on the provincial level and the rate at which they have been increasing in recent years.

In Ontario in the year 1965-66 the provincial government's support to universities totalled $176.7 million. This was a considerable advance from four years before when the total had been $56.4 million. This sharp increase, no doubt reflected, in part, the coming to university age of the first students from the high birth rates that immediately succeeded the Second World War.

This cost is certain to increase in the next five years until the peak is reached.

At the same time as the increase in the total cost, there has been a considerable rise in the proportionate operating grants made per student. In Ontario, the amount of provincial government grant per full time student in 1962-63 was $752; in 1965-66 this had become $1,254.

What was, a few years ago, a modest meal has become a huge banquet with the taxpayer picking up the check without having chosen the menu or having the faintest idea of whether the meal is worth what it costs.

Today in History

The last ruling monarch of Italy, Victor Emmanuel, died 20 years ago today—in 1947—while in exile in Egypt. He had divested himself of all powers in 1944, after the Allies entered Rome and established in favor of his son, Humbert, three weeks before the population voted to end the monarchy. In the First World War he did not interfere in the conduct of the war but lived the life of an active soldier. # Russia's Secret Police From Stalin's Day to the Present

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet secret police, Stalin's terrible weapon against his own comrades in the Great Purge of the 1930s, now is intensifying its formidable resources on spying abroad and spies at home.

This seems to be the meaning of publicity for the 50th birthday of the organization now known as the Committee for State Security, or KGB from its Russian initials.

Articles and speeches celebrated the catching of enemy spies. They told of elaborate cat-and-mouse games with foreign intelligence organizations.

Nothing was said about the Soviet Union's own spies, although double agent Harold Kim Philby, a Briton, described his services to communism.

Many internal security functions of the secret police seem to be increasingly handled by a new government ministry established last year. This ministry for the protection of public order, or MOOP from Its Russian name, has moved into such fields as trying to check thefts from the state.

It has acquired its own army-type troops. These may be taking over the role once played by KGB troops, who crushed the last known uprising in the Soviet Union. That was the food price riots at Novocherkassk in June, 1962; more than 300 persons were unofficially reported killed.

KGB will controls border security troops and guards Soviet leaders. But an anniversary editorial in Pravda, the official party newspaper, showed that the basic job is espionage and counter-espionage.

The secret police mission, Pravda said, is determined by the Communist party "on each new stage of the country's development."

In other words, the mission has changed, as usual.

Just before the Dec. 20 anniversary, the Soviet press was full of articles on counter-espionage and warnings of the need for vigilance.

Western intelligence services are constantly trying to learn Soviet secrets and discredit communism, an unnamed KGB official told Pravda. Many spy stories were retold to create suspicion of any foreigner, whether diplomat, tourist, businessman or exchange scholar.

These articles contrasted with an article last year in Izvestia, the official government organ, which accused U.S. officials of "sordid provocations" for saying Soviet spies had been caught. It said the American FBI invents stories of Soviet spies and "stirs up clamorous anti-Soviet orgies in an attempt to make John Doe suspicious of Soviet people."

The number of Western announcements of Soviet spy rings broken up has been running heavier than usual, from northern Norway to South Africa.

Economic Activity to Dip in First Half Says Exchange Head

MONTREAL (CP) — Economic activity in Canada will probably slacken during the first half of 1968, says Charles B. Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

In the last half of the year, however, productivity may be improved to the extent that "we will at least hold our own," he said today in a year-end message.

Among the "variables" which would affect the economy in 1968 were:

—The curtailment of expenditures after Centennial projects and Expo 67.

—"Costly wage negotiations" during 1967.

—The completion of several huge government public works projects.

—The devaluation of the pound sterling and the increased cost of money.

—Lagging wheat sales.

Unemployment is high and the recently-announced closing of the Sydney, N.S., plant of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. Ltd., and its subsequent takeover by its provincial government indicates the seriousness of the situation," Mr. Neapole said.

"In addition, completion of such projects as the dam on the Peace River in British Columbia and the earth dam on the South Saskatchewan River would put more people on the labor market.

A more difficult time for Canada's export market also was forecast by Mr. Neapole.

"The sterling devaluation plus the increase in prices of Canadian manufactured goods have and will bring about weaknesses in our ability to meet competition in the export market."

Furthermore, the "productivity gap" between United States and Canadian manufacturing had been growing in the last several years.

Mr. Neapole predicted that consumer spending, which showed an increase during the last half of 1967, would continue at a high level well into 1968.

"It may very well be that consumers will provide much of growth into the next year and beyond."

He said he hoped the government is resolute in its announced plans to cut back government spending and that this attitude will permeate provincial and municipal governments.

"However, in spite of these measures by the federal government, expenditures will be higher than in 1967, since many of the revisions were not real cutbacks, but a reduction in the proposed expenditures."

Guy Hudon, chairman of the Montreal Stock Exchange, said in his year-end review that while the "political situation" both federally and provincially may have caused some alarm domestically, "there is very little reason to believe that foreign investment will be curtailed."

"With the current devaluation in sterling, some investment may well be channelled to the U.K. and Europe," he said.

However, it "should not be misconstrued as a shift away from Canada and more particularly Quebec."

Government Spending Out of Line: C of C

MONTREAL (CP) — From an economic standpoint, Canada is entering 1968 in a relatively well-balanced position, William M. Anderson, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"The only sector running at an unsustainably high level in the government sector," he said in his year-end message. But there are "pressures, political, financial and administrative, that are operating to cut back government spending to a more sustainable level."

Mr. Anderson said the most urgent problems facing the country in 1968 are in the financial field and in the area of costs and prices.

"There is an obvious necessity to break the strong inflationary trend without precipitating a financial crisis. This is a delicate and difficult task

"Canada is of course strongly influenced by developments in the United States and much depends on how the inflationary problem is tackled there."

The chamber president said the government must take a firm hand on its spending programs. There should be an indefinite postponement of compulsory universal medical care insurance.

For their part, management and labor must work together on the cost problem. If wage costs keep rising far ahead of productivity gains, Canada faces the danger of being priced out of markets and jobs.

Turning to business prospects next year, Mr. Anderson said there has been some slackening in the rate of capital spending by business. This reflects some catching up of productive facilities relative to demand.

He said business had reason to be cautious during 1967 because of uncertainties raised by the Carter commission on taxation and the Kennedy Round agreements on tariff reductions.

While all the uncertainties have not been dispelled, business welcomed the federal government's indication that tax reform would be made on the existing tax structure.

Exports next year should be reasonably well maintained, Mr. Anderson said, but there was some doubt about the firmness of external demand for wheat. Sterling devaluation, too, could restrict sales in some areas.

Liquor Assured

Hundreds Set for New Year's Eve Festivities

The New Year will come in with a bang for hundreds of people attending celebrations throughout the Quinte area.

Both public and private parties and dances are scheduled in Trenton and Belleville. Many residents are also planning the usual house parties.

The fact that New Year's eve falls on Sunday night isn't bothering people — tickets to many of the year end festivities are almost "sold out."

With a recent ruling by the Liquor Control Board, party goers were assured liquor will be served from ten o'clock Sunday night until one o'clock Monday morning at most dances.

Buffet lunches will also be served.

One of the largest dances in the area is slated for the Belleville Armory where 2000 couples are expected to celebrate the occasion. Dancing to the Troubadors starts at 10 o'clock and runs through until two o'clock Monday morning. A buffet lunch will be served at 12.30.

A spokesman for the "Garrison Ball" said this morning that tickets are still available.

Reservations are also available at the Sun Valley Motel where Danny Coughlin will provide music for the 75 couples attending the dinner-dance. The cost of tickets is $15 per couple and the bar will be open throughout the evening.

Spokesmen for all organizations said party favors such as hats and horns are included in the price of admission.

At the Army, Navy and Air Force Club a few tickets are available for the dance. Music will be provided by Charlie Kammer and a buffet lunch will be served.

One of the few clubs "booked-up" in the Quinte area is the Club Cedars on the Canniffon Road. Music for the 200 couples will be supplied by The Musicmakers and a buffet will be provided. Price of the tickets is $15.

The Red Lion in Trenton is also sold-out, a spokesman said this morning.

A second dance in Trenton will be held at the Country Club where music will be supplied by Records. The price is $2 per couple.

The usual dances will be held at Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

Other dances and parties in Belleville are slated for the Curling and Yacht Clubs. Admission to the Curling Club is $3 per couple while the admission at the Yacht Club is $12.

Dances and parties will not be held at the Royal Canadian Legion, the Quinte Hotel or the Tops Motor Motel this year.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils were mixed and other major sections of the market higher in moderate mid-day trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Western oils fell .39 points on index to 218.64, with Scurry-Rainbow, down 1¼ to 53¼, leading the decline. Pacific Petroleum lost ¼ to 12½ while Husky gained ¼ to 23¼.

Inco gained 1⅛ to 126⅛ to lead industrials higher. Falconbridge rose ¾ to 93 and CPR ¼ to 58¼. Bank of Montreal and Bell Telephone climbed ¼ each to 11 and 44⅛.

Labrador advanced ¼ to 31¼ in base metals. Campbell Chibougamau gained 10 cents to 7.30 while Hollinger lost ⅛ to 28⅛.

Kerr Addison dropped ¼ to 18¼ and Giant Yellowknife 15 cents to 9.95 in golds. Campbell Red Lake gained ¼ to 27.

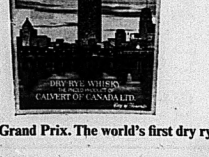
On index, industrials rose .32 to 161.82, golds .78 to 203.13 and base metals .47 to 105.99.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 733,000 shares compared with 581,000 traded at the same time Wednesday.

Golds and western oils dominated a strong market on Wednesday.

Golds rose 6.70 points on index to 202.35 while western oils gained 3.15 points to 219.23.

Analysts said the rise in golds was a continuation of investor speculation that the price of gold would be raised by the United States from $35 an ounce.



Kerr Addison rose ⅛ to 18¼, Dome Mines 2¼ to 40 and Giant Yellowknife 40 cents to 9.80 in golds. Kerr Addison, Dome and Giant Yellowknife are listed on the gold index of 12 stocks, and are the most heavily weighted issues in the group.

Scurry-Rainbow gained 5¼ to 55 in western oils. Canadian Superior rose ⅛ to 47⅛, while Hudson's Bay %Oil and Gas climbed ⅛ to 42⅛.

How Calvert found a new way to make rye incredibly smooth.

The name of the rye is Grand Prix.
We made it incredibly smooth by making it dry.
And we made it dry by discovering a new way to make rye without any cloying sweetness.
This makes Grand Prix a full-bodied rye so smooth you can actually sip it straight. And like it.
Nobody ever made a rye as smooth as Grand Prix before because nobody ever knew how. It took Calvert ten years to do it, and naturally our Master Blender is pretty proud of it.
But try it yourself. In ten seconds you'll know why he's so proud.

Calvert Grand Prix. The world's first dry rye.

Thieves Flee Restaurant

The Belleville Police Department has commenced a search for persons who broke into Pepe's Steak House last night and attempted to make off with a quantity of liquor and cigarettes.

According to William Pape, owner of the steak house at the west end of Belleville on Highway 2, he left his establishment and then, remembering he had failed to put two locks on the door, returned.

Mr. Pape spotted a man in his steak house crouched by the liquor cabinet, He called the police.

When police spokesman said he expected the thieves spotted Mr. Pape and fled, leaving their booty behind. Everything was recovered. There was no substantial damage.

Sweet Prizes to Win

Leading the sales in Belleville for the annual YMCA World Service Candy sale was Jo-Ann Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Green of 21 Centre St.

Calling on friends, relatives and strangers she sold peanut brittle to aid the YMCA service work in some 40 countries around the world. Each year YMCAs in Canada and the United States endeavor to raise funds for overseas and the Belleville "Y" has conducted its annual candy sale for this exclusive reason.

Mrs. J. L. Acton, chairman of the local World Service Committee awarded prizes of an instamatic camera set to Miss Green and a transistor radio to second place winner, Slyvia Copeland, also of the Hillcrest area.

Tied for third place was Shelley Godfrey and Steven Vesterfelt who both received watches for their efforts.

Judy La Marsh Is Most Newsworthy Woman

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

Judy LaMarsh, the outspoken secretary of state who travelled 100,000 miles to attend ceremonial events but still managed to find time to stir up some controversy, has been chosen Canada's most newsworthy woman in Canada in 1967.

The Liberal cabinet minister whose most celebrated outburst was an attack on the management of the CBC, for which she reports, to Parliament, was a runaway choice in a Canadian Press poll of women's editors of newspapers, radio and television stations.

The 89 women's editors in all 10 provinces also named Miss LaMarsh most newsworthy in the public affairs category.

In every other category but sports it was French Canada's year, and all choices were by overwhelming margins.

Sports-Skier Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C.

Literature and art-Author Solange Chaput Rolland of Lac Marois, Que.

Music-Singer Monique Leyrac of Montreal.

Stage, screen, radio, TV-Actress Geneviève Bujold, formerly of Montreal now making her home in Toronto.

Editors also picked the abortion and birth control debate as the major Canadian news story of the year directly affecting women.

Miss LaMarsh, whose cabinet portfolio includes cultural affairs, began Centennial Year as emcee at the Parliament Hill ceremony in which Prime Minister Pearson lit the symbolic flame that was to burn all year.

Between then and Dominion Day she was all over the country attending at least 60 centennial events.

In April she was reported to have told the Liberal caucus she intends to leave politics. She has represented Niagara Falls since 1960. But in December, when asked whether she would run for the Liberal leadership, she said she could see no reason why a woman shouldn't, adding that she would decide after winding up her centennial duties.

"Then I'll revert to being a politician and make a decision."

In the fall she took become pretty political, stirring up a storm when she declared the CBC was rotten management in the CBC. Despite pressure from opposition MPs and demands from CBC management, she refused to disclose the facts on which her charge was based.

This was the third time Miss LaMarsh had been named woman of the year in the CP poll, previous occasions being 1963 and 1964 when she was minister of health and welfare.

Nancy Greene, previously chosen by sports editors as female athlete of the year, was ranked No. 1 woman skier in the world after winning the World Cup with a come-from-behind victory over Europe's best.

A student at Notre Dame University in Nelson, B.C., and a member of the national ski team, she has been described by Jean-Claude Killy of France, the world's greatest male skier, as the only woman who skis like him.

Author Solange Chaput Rolland won wide public attention when her book, My Country, Canada or Quebec?, was published early in 1967. Mrs. Rolland, a journalist and broadcaster, spent six months travelling across Canada trying to find a common denominator between French and English-speaking Canadians. Her book told why she couldn't.

She said she found veiled animosity and indifference to Quebec throughout English-speaking Canada, and declared that Quebecers have talked enough about independence and now must prove themselves for the sacrifices independence would demand.

The book was dedicated to the late Gwethalyn Graham, with whom she has written Dear Enemies, a book in dialogue form about Canada's problems.

Monique Leyrac, winner in the music category for the second consecutive year, drew a standing ovation at her first concert in English-speaking Canada, held in Toronto in February.

She had cancelled a Toronto concert the previous year because she felt it necessary to achieve success abroad before facing English-speaking Canadians would accept her. That she has done, being hailed in France, Moscow and New York.

Mme. Leyrac, married to Jean Gascon, entertainer and director, is the mother of one daughter, Sophie, 12.

Geneviève Bujold also gained fame abroad, winning praise for her title role performance in the one-hour NBC television production of Shaw's Saint Joan after achieving her first important success in three films shot in France.

She said she has turned down an offer to play Juliet at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival next summer and is waiting for another film role.

Miss Bujold married Toronto director Paul Almond in March, having worked with him for two years in CBC Festival dramas. In the spring he directed Isabel, a film starring Miss Bujold and filmed in the Gaspe. It is to be released in 1968.

Stroke Leaves Young Social Worker Partially Paralyzed

TORONTO (CP) — It started out to be a great year for Lorna Fraser. There were skiing trips, champagne parties to usher in 1966 and work on a master's degree in social work to be completed.

On Feb. 23 she sat at her desk stunned, unable to comprehend the numbers on her telephone; her right arm immobile; a numbing pain in her head. She had suffered a stroke which left her unable to speak or walk.

A hemorrhage had destroyed the brain cells controlling her right arm and leg and ability to speak.

She had worked in the department of physical medicine at Toronto General Hospital before returning to university to do post - graduate work. Now, she was to return as a patient.

"I woke up with my head shaved and I didn't know how to move. I understood where I was, but I couldn't speak.

"I thought about whether I could still die but I knew the time had passed when I could die of the stroke. I decided to fight."

But being wheeled in to the department where she had worked was the worst part of all.

"It hit me . . . . I was a patient. I started being on the receiving end instead of giving."

There were many times when she was angry with the therapists, "I couldn't seem to do what they wanted, but they urged me anyway."

Now, she walks slowly around an outpatient clinic, a metal brace on her leg, her right hand tucked into her coat pocket.

It had taken her about a year and a half to return to a normal life; work and live alone.

Again she listens to the problems of patients. But, she says, it is difficult to learn to live in a society that worships youth and physical perfection.

Socially, you take your looks and normality for granted until something happens to change them.

"I'd always gone ahead without a setback. Then, suddenly, I felt I wasn't any good . . . I was haunted by the fear that my mental capacities were not the same."

At home she does her own housework and cooking with the aid of special devices. She presses and sews her own clothes. "Once," she said, "it took me an hour to thread a needle."

Cactus Plants Are Fun to Grow

Do you have problems with house plants dying from lack of water? If you do, horticulturalists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food suggest growing a cactus plant. These succulents store moisture in their tissues and can withstand long periods of drought. Because they are able to take warm, dry air, they do extremely well in the modern home. They only become shriveled or unhealthy looking when given too much water.

Cacti are slow growing, long living, and need potting only every two or three years. A recommended potting mixture consists of equal parts of garden loam and sharp sand. To help these plant bloom, place them in a bright location where they will receive plenty of light during the winter months. Most cacti in full growth will benefit considerably from an application of week fertilizer solution.

If you want to grow cacti from seed, fill a 5-inch flower pot to one-half inch from the top with a potting mixture and drop in the seeds. Lightly cover them with fine soil. For germination, place them in a warm room between 70 and 80°F. Cover the pot with glass to help keep the surface moist during the critical germination time. As the seedlings grow, gradually remove the glass. When they are about 1½ inches high, they should be transplanted to small pots.

Many different species of cacti, in a wide range of shapes, are available on the market today. Growing them can become a fascinating hobby for the ardent collector.

Club Activities

ELMBROOK FRIENDSHIP SOCIETY

The December meeting of the Elmbrook Friendship Society was held at the home of Mrs. Reg Moore, and took the form of a Christmas party.

Mrs. Herbert Lister was in charge of the devotional which opened with a Christmas reading given by Mrs. Arnold Welbanks, pertaining to the religious use of candles at this particular time of year.

Thank-you cards from Rose Fox, Lois Brooks and Kathleen Keech were read. A most interesting stewardship reading was given by Mrs. R. Jinks.

The same officers were returned for the forthcoming year as follows: president, Mrs. Arnold Ackerman; vice-president, Mrs. Raymond Jinks; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Sione; secretary and press reporter, Mrs. Orval May and card secretary, Mrs. Arthur Stone.

The next meeting is to be held in February. Santa Claus distributed the gifts from "Secret Pals," and new "pals" chosen for the following year.

PARTY ANGEL CAKE DESSERT (serves 12 - 16)

Batter:
1½ cups sifted cake flour
2 cups granulated sugar
1¼ cups egg whites (about 12) room temperature
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons cream of tartar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon almond flavouring

Filling:
2¼ cups apricot nectar or pineapple juice
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
9 egg yolks
4 teaspoons plain gelatine
6 tablespoons cold water
½ pint 32 per cent (whipping) cream
½ cup drained chopped maraschino cherries
Add 1 cup sugar to the sifted flour and sift the two ingredients together four times. Sift the remaining sugar. Beat egg whites in large bowl with salt until foamy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until egg whites are stiff but not dry. Add remaining sugar slowly. Add flavoring. Fold flour-sugar mixture into egg white mixture, 2 tablespoons at a time. Do not lift spoon from mixture, but fold flour in with an over and under motion. Pour into 4½ x 10" ungreased tube pan. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 60 minutes. Invert pan on wire cake cooler until cold. Carefully remove cake by loosening from sides of pan with a long slim knife.

To make Fruit Cream Filling: beat together fruit juice, sugar and salt. Beat egg yolks thoroughly. Add a little of the fruit juice to yolks, stirring, then stir egg yolks into hot juice and cook stirring until mixture is thinly coats silver spoon.

Meanwhile soak gelatine in water 5 minutes. Stir until dissolved into cooked custard, removed from heat. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in stiffly whipped cream and drained cherries. Chill until half set.

Cut Angel cake into 3 layers. Put together and frost sides and top with cream filling. You may decorate top with shaved unblanched almonds and 2 more tablespoons of chopped cherries. Chill in refrigerator 3 to 24 hours.

No Reason for Student To Put Up with "Kook"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A recent letter in your column from a college student who complained about his roommate gave me the needed push to write to you about my roommate who is slowly driving me insane.

ANN LANDERS

The first week we straightened out the problem of music around the clock. Of all the guys on the campus, I had to draw a nut who has special albums for studying, special music to fall asleep by. He said he really couldn't get off. After five consecutive sleepless nights I told him to knock off the lullaby or I was going to the Dean.

Now, he is on a food binge and this room of ours is like a delicatessen. I am nauseated from the smell of pickles and corned beef and cowrige bananas. Also, the roaches and fruit flies are a matter for the Board of Health.

I have thought of a solution to the problem but it is against the law. What do you suggest? — A GREWSOME TWOSOME.

DEAR GREWSOME: If your school has a Head of Housing go there and request a change. If there is no Head of Housing, go to the Dean. It's tough enough to get through college these days when you have everything going for you. No kid should have to fight around-the-clock music, fruit flies and the smell of corned beef and pickles.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a woman in my middle thirties who has had to do a lot of doctoring in my life.

Last year we moved to this city and I didn't know anyone here. My doctor in Minneapolis recommended two doctors in Detroit. Well, I went to a doctor the first week we moved here and he said there was nothing wrong with me and suggested that I get a job or do something to take my mind off myself. I have seen enough doctors to know that this is what they always say when they are not smart enough to diagnose the case.

The following week I went to another doctor who gave me three prescriptions — pills for my nerves, a tonic for my blood and something to help me sleep. I feel much better already.

This morning I received a bill from the first doctor. He charged me $20 for doing nothing. I wouldn't mind paying the other doctor twice that amount because he helped he, but I see no reason to pay $20 to a doctor who didn't do one thing for me. What is your advice? — DOUBTER.

DEAR DOUBTER: The first doctor did something for you whether you think so or not. He saw you.

Pay the bill, Lady, and don't go to him again. You obviously have a psychological dependency on medicine. Unless a doctor gives you a prescription or recommends surgery, you feel you aren't getting your money's worth.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband had an affair with a good friend of mine. This happened many years ago, long before we were married. They were both single at the time. I'm sure the romance is a thing of the past, yet whenever I see her I get nervous. If I know she and her husband are going to be somewhere I make all kinds of excuses why we can't be there.

I told my husband about my feelings and he says I am acting like a child. I say I am smart to recognize danger. What do you say? — R.S.P.

DEAR R.S: I say the best way to rekindle an old flame is to poke around in the ashes. Stop making an issue of this dead romance or you may give your husband ideas, Girl.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "You're a big boy now so you can sleep in this bed and we'll put the baby in the crib."

Child: "I don't want to sleep here. I want my own bed."

Mother: "We'll bring your old crib down from the attic and put it in this room so it will be ready when we bring the baby home. Would you like to help me scrub it clean?"

Make any shifts in living arrangements for an older child a few months ahead of time when you are expecting a new baby. Then the older child will not feel displaced by the tiny newcomer.

Grandfather Rebukes Columnist for Advice

Dear Doris: I am a grandfather but always read your column. But I am amazed at some of your answers; some I think are real good.

You say sex between two people in love, before marriage, is not sinful. If you are a Christian I don't belive you could say that. You would have a wonderful opportunity to help these couples know right from wrong. The Bible says: "Thou shalt not commit adultery." — Gramp.

Dear Gramp: I am a Christian and I didn't say that. When I say marital sex is not sinful, I refer to intimate relations between two people who are married to each other. If I were talking about any other type, I'd call it "extra-marital". O.K?

I'm publishing this just so no one else misunderstands me.

Dear Doris: I've lived in Canada for about 40 years and am due for old age pension. Now my problem is I lost my birth certificate and there is no way of me getting one as my parents and the rest of the family perished in concentration camps. — Fay

Dear Fay: Don't let the lack of a birth certificate stop you from applying. The authorities will accept other things — such as the evidence contained in your passport or marriage certificate. Had you thought of writing a letter to your place of birth, giving the date and year as close as you can come to it?

For guidance in doing this, or for help in establishing your proper age, visit or write to the regional office of Old Age Security, Department of National Health and Welfare. This is located in the capital city of your province.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I am a 13-year-old who still wets her bed. I have tried everything I know and it still happens. This causes my mother twice as much washing and we are too poor for an operation.

What can I do? I cannot even spend the night with some of my friends when they ask me. — Ashamed.

Dear Ashamed: Has someone said you need an operation? In most cases, the cause is something psychological — but very real — which has happened to you during the early years.

I would suggest that you get your mother to take you to the Public Health Clinic which helps people with such things, right where you are.

Dear Doris: Thanks for sending the diet sheet a few weeks ago. It was very good. My husband lost 25 pounds and his doctor says he has given himself the chance to live an extra five years. — Mrs. D. S.

Dear Mrs. D. S.: Praise be! So often those extra pounds So often those extra pounds You two deserve a medal for doggedly — and triumphantly — sticking with the diet.

A guy needs a gal who will help, and vice versa.

Greeks, Turks Urged to Seek Cypriot Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada, with other countries concerned will keep gentle pressure on Cyprus, Greece and Turkey in the next three months to move toward a settlement of the Cyprus problem, informants said Wednesday.

The United Nations Security Council last week approved a resolution to keep the UN force in Cyprus for another three months. Canada contributed about 900 men to this force.

The usual Security Council extension has been six months. This time, however, three months was set to ensure a security Council review of the Cyprus situation before next March 26, expiry date of the latest renewal. Canada is a member of the council.

The UN force was sent to Cyprus in March, 1964, after communal rioting broke out between Greek and Turkish Cypriots on the Mediterranean island.

The latest council resolution invites the Cypriots to avail themselves of the good offices of UN Secretary - General U Thant and urges them to make a new effort for a permanent settlement.

Informants said nations contributing to the UN force are not threatening to withdraw from the contingent if the Cypriots make no advance toward a political agreement in the next three months.

But there was a possibility of a tougher Security Council resolution in March if no advance was made.

Canada has long been concerned that searches for political settlements have not gone hand in hand with UN peacekeeping missions.

Sources said Canadian officials have been in touch with their counterparts in Nicosia, Athens and Ankara since last summer concerning possibilities for political settlement. This close consultation would continue in the next three months.

Indians Get Rail College

TORONTO (CP) — A railway college for Canada's Indians is expected to begin travelling among reserves in Eastern and Central Canada next July.

Alan Clarke, national director of the Company of Young Canadians, said the project is still in its rudimentary stages and is entirely of Indian origin.

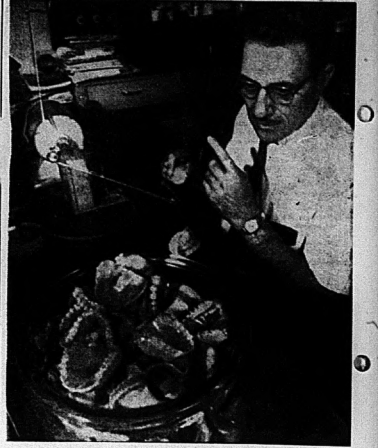
Ernest Benedict, an Indian of the St. Regis reserve near Cornwall, hired as a CYC staff member last October to develop the project, said the train will not be a one-year project.

"We intend to run it forever, he said.

The CYC will support it for the first year and then we hope to get help from industries, universities, foundations and private donations."

The college, to be named the North American Indian Travelling College, will be managed by Indian groups and spend two to three weeks at each reserve.

Although no curriculum has been set, Mr. Benedict said arts and crafts, marketing and English might be taught at Northern Ontario reserves while business courses and Indian law may be taught in southern Ontario.



Two modes of education are proposed—classes for adults when the train visits reserves and classes for about 20 younger people who would travel with the train for a time, then get off to make room for new students.

A board of directors for the proposed college is expected to be selected at a general meeting of Ontario Indians Saturday at the Six Nations reserve near Brantford.

Dad Kills Four Girls Because World Wicked

JONESBORO, La. (AP) — A father, who told neighbors he considered the world "too wicked" for his four little girls, delivered their bodies to a funeral parlor Wednesday and said he had killed them.

The father, Earl Clinton Watson, 31-year-old worker at a Jonesboro meat processing company, was taken to a mental hospital for observation and examination.

Tina Charaine, 9, and Karen Hope, 8, had been killed with a 30-06-calibre rifle, Margaret Wendy, 4, and Faith Erline, 3, had been strangled.

Townspeople said Watson frequently announced that the "world is too wicked a place for my kids to grow up in." He had talked of studying for the ministry.

Watson told his wife, Margaret Ann Watson, Wednesday morning that he was taking the four girls to visit his mother.

Later he drove to the funeral parlor, owned by Mrs. E. L. Edmonds.

"I didn't know anything was wrong," Mrs. Edmonds said. "He appeared calm. I asked if I could help him."

She quoted Watson as saying: "I've had an accident. I've killed my babies."

He sat quietly in the waiting room until officers arrived.

Watson was discharged from the Central State Hospital in Pineville six weeks ago after undergoing psychiatric treatment. He was taken to the East Louisiana State Hospital in Jackson for treatment and observation. He will remain there until the next grand jury convenes, probably in March.

No charges were filed.

College Papers Gain in Stature

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the Canadian University Press says college newspapers are becoming increasingly involved in the intellectual and political life of the nation and are determined not to be merely pandorers of campus hilarity and school spirit.

Elizabeth Spry, former editor of the University of Saskatchewan Sheaf, made the statement in an interview Wednesday at CUP's annual conference at Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby.

CUP is a federation of 50 university newspapers with a combined circulation of more than 200,000. CUP also operates its own nationwide news distribution service.

"Student newspapers should be asking questions, not just recording what is happening," said Miss Spry.

She stressed that college newspapers are getting away from being disseminators of nothing but raccoon coat college spirit, football information and social frivolity.

Miss Spry said one of the dilemmas college papers face is striking a balance between editorial objectivity and interpretative reporting—how far a paper should go in influencing opinion by offering opinion.

She said the perennial argument has led to a number of resignations among student editors. Last year 14 campus editors quit following battles with other editors or university administrators.

"This year, only five have quit so far," Miss Spry said. "Maybe we're having a better year."

North Bay to Become Canada's Second-largest City in Area

NORTH BAY (CP) — By next Monday, this city's attractions will include—all within city limits—moose and bear hunting, a nudist colony, a missile site and a cottage resort area.

North Bay will increase its area Jan. 1 by more than 38 times—to 137 square miles from 3,260 acres—through amalgamation. It becomes the nation's second largest city in area, after Calgary.

With the move will come such possibilities as city firemen fighting forest fires and city policemen hunting for children lost in the bush.

After 10 years of off-and-on talks, North Bay will amalgamate with the neighboring townships of Widdifield and West Ferris. In the process, the city's population will almost double to 42,000 from 23,000.

For a decade, North Bay and the two townships were unable to agree on amalgamation or some other mutual arrangement. During this time the city became land-starved, ending up with about 700 acres to spare, most of it unsuitable for development.

Then Mayor Dickerson moved in.

"I just took the bull by the horns," he says, explaining how he persuaded city council to pass a resolution to annex choice industrial land in Widdifield Township.

But council later had second thoughts about its annexation application and called in a Toronto consulting firm to draft an annexation proposal. The firm's report last May said all three municipalities essentially were one economic unit, and while the city's population might be static for two decades, the township's population would triple.

The report recommended the city annex parts of both townships. The city submitted this to the Ontario Municipal Board and in October the board ordered total amalgamation for the good of all three municipalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland McCoy were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy.

U.S. Labor Mediator Dies at 91

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian-born Cyrus S. Ching, a giant in the field of U.S. labor-management mediation, died Wednesday of a heart attack at the age of 91.

The craggy-looking six-foot-seven Ching was 71 when President Harry S. Truman named him to head the federal mediation and conciliation service when it was established as an independent agency in 1947.

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, commenting on Ching's death, said he "was a labor statesman in the fullest meaning of those words."

"His was a lifetime dedicated to developing and strengthening a free and democratic industrial society.

Ching, a native of Red Point, P.E.I., had a major role in settling some big strikes and averting others in the period after the Second World War as head of the mediation service. Truman drafted him to head the wage stabilization board during the Korean War and afterward he returned to the mediation service, where he remained until September, 1952.

A year later, President Dwight D. Eisenhower appointed Ching chairman of the atomic energy labor - management relations panel. He held that post at the time of his death, continuing active although confined in recent years to a wheel chair because of a physical disability.

Before becoming the government's top mediator, Ching had been director of industrial and public relations for the United Rubber Co. for 28 years.

Staff Sportswriter

By Garry Alexander

The saying goes "close only counts in horseshoes".

In that case, the Belleville Mo-Hawks would be running on near the top of any horseshoe league in the country.

A look at results of games played during the current OHA Senior "A" campaign discloses some startling facts as far as the local outfit is concerned.

And the facts back up the belief that the Mo-Hawks are a much better club than their 7-1-17 won-tied-lost record indicates.

To begin with, 20 of their 25 games have been decided by a difference of two goals or less.

But if that is rare, here about this: No less than 12 have resulted in one-goal spreads — and that does not include their loss tie game.

Yes, close decisions have been the story of their lives this winter but unfortunately, the Mo-Hawks have been on the wrong end of them too many times.

The Mo-Hawks have won three and lost nine (yes nine) games by a single goal and in one stretch of 18 games, they lost six by the silkiest of margins.

It sounds hard to believe even for those of us who knew they were dropping some lengthies.

When it comes to two-goal decisions, Belleville has won's pair and lost five more, including one where the clinching goal was scored late an empty-net against six Mo-Hawk attackers.

Add it up, 17 defeats and 14 of them by one or two goals. At least if Belleville fans are not wealthy in winner they are not seeing one-sided contests.

Typical is the club's play against Kingston Aces, the loop's first place team. They and the Mo-Hawks have clashed five times to date. The Aces have won all five games. But check these scores.

The Aces won 4-3 in Kingston, copped two overtime 3-2 decisions, one here and one there, took a 6-2 nod here and won the other meeting 7-2 in Kingston. The 7-2 game is only one of two that the Mo-Hawks have been badly outscored in this season. The other one was a 7-3 loss in Toronto. And the 17th. setback was by three goals (7-4) in Woodstock.

Even a split of the nine one-goal losses would have boosted the club to at least two notches or more in the 16-team standing.

And the boys are still looking for their first overtime win too. As well as the 3-2 losses to the Aces they dropped the 5-4 overtime tilt in Galt and grabbed a 3-3 split in points in Barrie.

One place that the slim difference between winning and losing is reserved is in the team's goals-for-and-against record. Despite having lost 16 more games than they have won, the Mo-Hawks have been outscored by only 10 goals. They have scored 88 and allowed 98.

With 15 games left to play, eight of them on home ice, the boys from the banks of the Moira are due for some breaks when it comes to winning the close ones.

And if they play the brand of hockey everyone says they displayed against Collingwood here last Friday, they could still get up into a fight for say fourth or fifth place.

A glance at individual records show that Larry Holmes has the best goals-against average in the league after taking part in only four games. He has given up just six goals for a 1.38 mark. Holmes beat Guelph 5-3 and lost to the Regals 1-0, nipped Barrie 4-3 and was in the net last Friday in the 3-1 win over Collingwood. His can keep going at that pace you can bet he'll see plenty more action.

Scoring-wise, Minnie Menard has run into a slump resulting in only one goal in the last 10 games (plus one assist) and trails Dave Jones by six points in the club points race. Dave has 15 goals and 14 assists for 29 points and Minnie is 14-9 for 23.

Some of the forwards counted on to score "big" have simply failed to produce. Left-winger Bob McAlpine, one of the club's top scorers last year, has just seven points including two goals this year. Both goals came back in the fifth game of the season. John "Shakey" Baker has also scored but twice and three of "Weiner" Brown's eight came in one game. Ralph Plane with four in six below scoring par but making up for it in his role of club policeman. Wayne McConnell has but five goals and has not scored in six even games. George Godson, who had six goals in the early going, has added only a pair in the last 11 games. Mickey Chervenky recently broke his gall famine and has seven.

So, Jones' and Menard's total of 29 represents over a third of the team's total goals, not exactly a balanced attack.

But as we said, last Friday may have been an indication of things to come. If this club ever jells we still think some of those "upper" clubs will wish they were playing horseshoes before the season ends.

Bruins Barrage Blasts Hawks 7-2

By GRAHA MCOX

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Genial Milt Schmidt was the talk of the National Hockey League early this year, dealing with reckles abandon to add beef to his Boston Bruins.

But those deals have placed the 49-year-old general manager among gambling's elite as his Bruins have sailed along at or near the top of the NHL's Eastern Division since the season opened on the strength of those decisions.

One of his more astute moves prior to the season opener was a trade with Chicago Black Hawks that saw Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Fred Stanfield don the Bruin colors while Pit Martin, Gilles Marotte and minor league goalie Jack Norris moved to Chicago.

Wednesday night Esposito scored three times in leading Boston to a 7-2 victory over Chicago at Boston. Eddie Shack, another recent arrival via Toronto Maple Leafs, added two with Ed Westfall and Tommy Williams picking up one each. The Hawks, who had won their 10 previous starts, opened and closed the scoring on goals by Doug Mohns and Stan Mikita.

The victory moved Boston back into a first-place tie with Chicago with three games in hand.

In other NHL games Wednesday, Montreal Canadiens snapped back from a two-goal deficit to tie Toronto Maple Leafs 2-2, Minnesota North Stars and New York Rangers battled to a 3-3 tie, and St. Louis Blues took the measure of Los Angeles Kings 4-2.

Esposito's splurge brought his goal production for the year to 15 and moved him into the league's top 10 scorers.

Another of Schmidt's shrewd moves saw him dip deep into the minor pro ranks for goalie Andre Gill of Hershey Bears in the American Hockey League.

Gill was required on an emergency basis when both the regular Bruin netminders—Ed Johnston and Gerry Cheevers—were injured during the last two weeks.

The Bruins, who were reeling from injuries to other front-line players such as Bobby Orr, recovered in front of the veteran minor leaguer and ran their win string to three in a row with the Sorel, Que., native in goal.

The Chicago trade was Schmidt's first major move after taking over as Boston general manager from Hap Emms.

Stanfield, on a line with John Bucyk and John McKenzie, also is among the top 10, tied with Bucyk in third place, with McKenzie fifth, two points behind. Theirs is the only line in the top 10.

Both Chicago and Boston now have 42 points. Chicago has scored only 104 points compared with 119 for the Bruins.

At St. Louis, Gary Sabourin scored twice to start the Blues on a come-from-behind victory before Gerry Melnyk and Don McKenney salted the game away. Terry Gray and Ed Joyal scored for Los Angeles.

In Toronto Leaf goalie John Bower appeared headed for his third shutout of the year and 34th of his career on early third period goals from George Armstrong and Pete Stemkowski.

But rookie Danny Grant and Montreal captain Jean Beliveau, scored with less than four minutes remaining in the game for the tie.

The game was costly for the Canadiens, already missing Yvan Cournoyer and Ralph Backstrom with groin injuries. Henri Richard was belted by Toronto defenceman Tim Horton late in the first period and limped off the ice. He did not play again.

Ray Cullen scored twice and assisted on the third Minnesota goal by Parker MacDonald. New York scorers were Rod Gilbert, Jean Ratelle and Reg Fleming.

Gilbert's goal was his sixth goal in five games.

At Pittsburgh, Garry Smith of Oakland registered his first NHL shutout while Les Binkley of the Penguins chalked up number three. Both are rookies this year.

Montreal and Detroit Red Wings battle it out for the Eastern Division cellar tonight —both have 32 points—as the Canadiens entertain the North Stars and the Wings have Philadelphia Flyers as guests. The Flyers are tied in the Western lead with Los Angeles.

NHL Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Phil Esposito made Milt Schmidt look good Wednesday night before a capacity Boston Garden crowd, scoring three times as the Bruins blasted Chicago Black Hawks 7-2 to tie the Hawks for first place in the National Hockey League.

Esposito, centre for Chicago's Bobby Hull last season, was one member of a controversial offseason trade between the two clubs. But Wednesday gave weight to Schmidt's judgment in going for size in his revamped forwa d lines.

The three points moved Esposito among the league's top 10 scorers with 15 goals and 17 assists for 32 points in 32 games.

But he's still far behind Chicago's Stan Mikita, who added a point on his 21st assist to go with 21 goals for 42 points in 33 games.

Hull's two points behind Mikita on 21 goals and 13 assists in 35 games, was shut out for the fourth game in succession as the Bruins moved into a points tie with Chicago.

Score Was 3-1

Aces Defeat Finns

DAVOS, Switzerland (CP) — Kingston Aces scored three goals in the third period Wednesday night to defeat Finland 3-1 in a four-country round-robin hockey tournament here.

Kingston now has a 1-1 record in the tournament, having lost to Locomotiv of Russia 2-0 Tuesday.

Finland led 1-0 after the second period but then the Canadians scored their goals in the space of 11 minutes.

Bob Graham, 21-year-old right winger, scored the tying goal within th' first two minutes of the third period. Defenseman Jim Gebhardt, 34, scored the winner at the 13-minute mark.

Finland fell 4-0 before Switzerland Tuesday.

Bears, Aces Battle To 2-2 Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Americans got an early return on their investment Wednesday in one of two American Hockey League tie games.

Ted Taylor scored from Duke Harris and Murray Hall for the first Rochester goal in a 3-3 tie with Buffalo Bisons. In the other game, Hershey Bears and Quebec Aces battled to a 2-2 tie in Hershey.

Hornets Shade Oaks 5-4

OAKVILLE (CP) — An overtime goal by Vance Millar gave Galt Hornets a 5-4 win over Oakville Oaks Wednesday in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A action.

Millar scored twice with singles goals by Joe Hogan, John Beechey and Fern Belanger. For Oakville, Obie O'Brien scored twice and Terry Holmes and Jerry Maney each had one.

Hiram Walker's Special Old Canadian Whisky is blended first, aged later.

That's what makes it Special.

So special, in fact, that no one is allowed to enter our blending room except the handful of people who belong. After all, there's a whisky being born in there.

Because a whisky is born when it's blended. (Most whiskies are blended just before they're bottled. Like maybe last week.)

But Walker's Special Old was blended long ago. The very day that its ingredient whiskies were distilled. They were carefully and painstakingly combined.

Preblended. To reach that elusive point of perfection that creates Walker's Special Old. Only then were they sealed in white oak casks. To age and mellow. Together. The result is incomparable bouquet, flavour, and character.

Our people take the longer, more difficult route to make Walker's Special Old. Because how else could we call it Special?

At $30,000 Per Head, Cowboys Aim To Corral Packer Herd

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Besides $30,000, which they might make if they beat Green Bay Packers Sunday, Dallas Cowboys also have another little matter to consider—they need to topple the Packers to remove their greatest detractors.

Never do Dallas defeated Green Bay when the chips were on the line—National Football League play.

They have met four times under these circumstances and on each occasion the Cowboys lost. Only one other team in the NFL holds a shutout in league series with Dallas. That is Baltimore, but the Colts have won only three times.

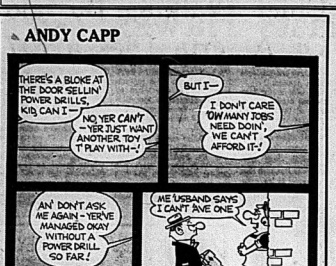
Dallas has met Green Bay in 12 exhibition and league games since entering the NFL in 1960. Green Bay won six of the eight pre-season games.

And now the Cowboys go to Green Bay to meet the Packers for the NFL championship the second year in a row.

Coach Tom Landry has taken the view that playing Green Bay for the title last year has helped the Cowboys' chances this time.

"Defensively we are a year older and we will have profited from what happened in last year's championship game," said Landry. "I think we can handle the outside receiving of Carroll Dale and Boyd Dowler will be a determining factor."

Dale and Dowler took touchdown passes in last year's 34-27 victory by Green Bay.



He said if Dallas could move the ball and be as alert as it was in the 52-14 thrashing of Cleveland Browns last Sunday when the Cowboys won the Eastern Conference championship and got into the playoff against Green Bay "we should stand a good chance."

Landy also said Dallas would have to find a way to throw the ball against a pass defence that had held its opponents under 100 yards per game.

Dallas' front four, the defensive trouble-makers who lead the league against rushing and were second in quarterback traps, are being looked upon as a strong factor in the Cowboys' bid.

But Landry was reminded that Green Bay had just finished whipping the highly publicized Fearsome Foursome of Los Angeles Rams, who had been almost as effective against rushing and throwing the quarterback for losses as Dallas' Doomsday Defence.

Hawks, Bruins Wings Win Midget Tilts

Elks Hawks defeated the Rangers in BMHA midget action last night by an 8-3 count.

R. Mitchell led the Hawks with four goals with J. Drummond with two, D. Belcher and B. Codling also scoring.

Assists went to Allen, Quiven (2), Conley, Cowling, Wilkinson and Marshall.

G. Watson, A. Inson and R. Lauckx scored for the Rangers with J. Rushlow and G. Garland getting assists.

The Bruins defeated the Maple Leafs 3-1, R. May scoring twice for the Bruins and J. Morton once. Assists went to R. Woodley (2), D. Steer and M. Thompson.

Wings thumped the Canadiens by an 8-2 score. Lynch had two goals for the winners with Muldoon, Wilson, Curry, Wilson and Latchford also scoring. Assists went to Muldoon (2), Goulan (3), Simmons (2), and Latchford.

Defeat Spain 4-1

Davis Cup Retained By Australians

BRISBANE (CP) — Australia completed its successful defence of the Davis Cup, emblem of world tennis superiority, by outlining the last two singles matches today to defeat Spain four games to one.

The Aussies clinched the best-of-five series Wednesday when they won the doubles for their third straight win in the challenge round.

Today, Roy Emerson beat Manuel Orantes 6-1, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 in the final match.

Earlier Spain gained its only point in the tie when former Wimbledon champion Manuel Santana beat the current holder of the title John Newcombe, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

The cup victory was Australia's 15th in the last 18 years.

Australia's top three tennis stars—Emerson, Newcombe and Tony Roche—are expected to turn pro in the near future.

The 19-year-old Orantes gave Emerson a big test and the crowd a big thrill when, after being drubbed in the first two sets, he came back in the third with brilliant play and led 4-1 in the fourth.

Emerson had to pull all his shots out of the bag to level at 4-4 and battle through five deuces to hold his own service, then to break Orantes when the Spaniard netted twice.

Santana's victory over Newcombe was reminiscent of his defeat of Emerson in Spain's 1965 challenge at the While City, Sydney, when the fate of the cup already was decided.

In today's game, as in 1965, Santana played tremendous tennis, getting back seemingly impossible shots and hitting beautiful winners past his opponent.

Newcombe led 5-3 in the first set but Santana broke him in the vital ninth game, held own service and then won two consecutive love games for the set.

Again in the second set Santana was down 1-4. Then he began a sequence of winning games that left Newcombe a badly beaten player.

Santana won five straight to take the second set and continued his streak into the third set to lead 4-0, having won nine games.

Eyes New World Mark

SASKATOON (CP) — Bob Seagren, who established unofficial indoor pole vaulting marks three times last winter, is returning to the scene of his first effort.

Seagren, from the University of Southern California, first set the mark last winter in Saskatoon, vaulting 17 feet, one inch. A month later, in a meet at Albuquerque, N.M., he reached 17-2. Then, last March in Cleveland, he improved it again, vaulting 17-3.

Smith Peewees Romp to 16-1 Victory

The Smith Fuels ran roughshod over their first rivals in the Ontario Centennial Peewee Tournament in Toronto yesterday.

They defeated the Port Arthur Westfalls of the Thunder Bay Minor Hockey Association 16-1 in the first round of the tourney.

They led 2-0 in the first period, 9-0 in the second and romped home in the third.

The team divided some 26 assists.

AFL Title Battle

Special Thrill For Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — American Football League championship games are nothing new to Bob Talmini but the veteran Houston Oiler defensive coach says preparations for Sunday's encounter at Oakland are providing him with a special thrill.

"This time, we were down so long and everybody said we'd finish last again this year, so it has to be a bigger thrill," said the former Kentucky star.

Talamini was a rookie when Houston won the first AFL championship in 1960. The Oilers won again in 1961 but lost the title championship to the old Dallas Texans in pro football's longest game.

Since early championship games were exciting but they didn't draw as much as this to the people because nobody knew whether the American League was going to survive or not," he said. "We won the Eastern Division this year when nobody believed we could. Many still find it hard to accept."

Safety Jim Norton and defensive end Don Floyd are the only other Oilers remaining from the original 1960 squad.

George Blanda and Billy Cannon, two of the Houston stars of those early championship games, now are Oakland Raiders.

In directing the Houston attack in the three title games Blanda completed 57 of 117 passes for 722 yards and five touchdowns. He also kicked three field goals and six extra points.

With The Trotters

Rules No Prizes For Toronto Rink

TORONTO (CP) — A ruling by the Ontario Curling Association has pre-vented the runner-up from collecting their $800 prize for the CBC-TV world curling championships two weeks ago.

Alfie Phillips' rink from Toronto qualified as runners-up for snowmobiles worth $800, but an OCA rule disqualifies players who receive more than $125 retail value in prizes.

The association, at a meeting last week, ruled that the rink of Phillips, John Ross, Ron Manning and Keith Reilly must decide what to do with their prizes by Dec. 28 if they wanted to protect their amateur status.

"We've decided to go along with them," Phillips said Tuesday night. "I think we've made our point and it looks as though the rule is going to be changed, although no one knows how much, of course."

Minor Hockey Results

Hornets defeated Aces 4-3 in BMHA novice action last night. B.- Masterson scored twice for the Hornets with singles going to M. Ferris and B. Thompson. Ed Grills had three assists, G. Goegan, one. P. Wishes assisted by B. Adamson scored for the Aces.

The Bears turned back the Leafs 4-2, S. Jiaspopulos scoring twice for the winners. S. Sprague and G. Grant also counted. M. Bennett and G. Mole tallied for the Leafs.

Canadiens handed Americans an 8-2 setback, R. Sullivan leading the winners with three goals. M. Maloney and B. Sullivan each had a pair with T. Caslan also counting.

M. Allison and Burke scored for the Americans, assists going to Sisson and McIntyre.

In the tyke division Rangers took the measure of Hawks 3-1, J. Jiaspopulos, D. Bennett and T. Christopher scoring for the winners with the former getting an assist. There was no record of the Hawks score.

Bruins and Seals battled to a 2-2 tie, D. Archer scoring twice for the Bruins and M. Crawford getting the Seals goals.

Canadiens defeated Aces 4-2, D. Giddings getting three goals and J. Murphy one for the winners. B. White got both Aces goals and an assist going to B. Miller.

Barons shaded Leafs 4-3, B. Cunningham getting three goals for the winners and T. Coates the other. Burkholder scored all three goals for the Leafs.

Mohawks turned back the Penguins 6-1 with Richardson scoring five goals and E. Marineau the other. Gee had two assists, Miller and Duffy with each. Taylor assisted by Shaw scored for the Penguins.

Wings shut out the Flyers by a 1-0 score, Randy Cox getting the goals assisted by R. Chase. Mike McDonald had the shutout.

The Phillips' rink won the Canadian curling championship last year. They lost the televised competition to Doug Wankel of Elbow, Sask.

In Winnipeg, Dominion Curling Association president Jim Lumsden said Wednesday he will bring up the question at the annual meeting of the association's March 6 in Kelowna, B.C.

Lumsden said the Ontario and New Brunswick curling associations went against a DCA annual meeting at Victoria three years ago not to place prize-limit restrictions on curlers.

"They were part of the discussions and should accept the majority decision," Lumsden said, stressing this is his personal opinion.

"The tail shouldn't wag the dog.

"It seems inconceivable that a curler eligible on a national basis should be declared ineligible on a provincial basis."

Lumsden said he hopes delegates to the Kelowna annual meeting will agree to abide by DCA regulations.

Suspected Poisoner's Husband, Sons Exhumed

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — Authorities have exhumed the bodies of three members of the family of Mrs. Janie Gibbs, a plump brunette whose arrest on a murder charge has shocked this southwest Georgia community.

Mrs. Gibbs, who spent her 35th birthday in jail Christmas Day, has been charged with murder in the arsenic poisoning death of her 13-year-old son, Roger Lodean Gibbs. His death sparked an investigation into the deaths of four other members of the family, all of whom died within the last two years.

Mrs. Gibbs operated a small nursery and at times cared for more than a score of young children.

Wednesday authorities ordered the bodies of her husband and two other sons exhumed.

Authorities are awaiting the result of an examination of those bodies.

Mrs. Gibbs was jailed, authorities said, after an autopsy revealed several milligrams of arsenic in the body of Roger Gibbs. His body and that of his infant son—Mrs. Gibbs' grandson—are in the same cemetery but were not exhumed.

Roger Gibbs died Oct. 28 in hospital; his son three weeks earlier.

Another of Mrs. Gibbs' sons, 16-year-old Melvin Gibbs, died Jan. 13, 1967, of what was listed as a rare muscular disease. Aug. 28, 1966, Marvin Gibbs, 13, died of what was described as hepatitis.

Her husband, Charles Clayton Gibbs, 40, died Jan. 21, 1966, in hospital of what was believed to be a heart attack.

Authorities said an autopsy was performed on the body of Melvin Gibbs some months ago. But the physician who performed the autopsy, Dr. Fredrick H. Thompson, said Wednesday night he would have no comment on the results of the autopsy or the exhumation of the bodies.

The Crisp County coroner, J. D. Rainey, who also is an undertaker, directed the funerals of the members of the family. He petitioned Crisp Superior Court for the order to open the graves at the request of the state prosecutor, D. E. Turk.

Rainey said results of the examinations are not expected until next week.

Authorities declined to comment on any possible motive in the alleged slaying.

Manufacturers To Receive Help As Tariffs Cut

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will offer loan insurance as the main element of a three-point assistance program to manufacturers affected by Kennedy Round tariff cuts, Prime Minister Pearson announced Wednesday.

He said in a statement the government will not shoulder the main burden for the expansion and adjustment of Canadian plants.

This will be left to private resources, with carefully - regulated government help to mobilize those resources.

Ottawa will insure the "major share" of risk in loans by banks and other institutions to firms seriously injured or threatened with injury by loss of tariff protection.

A second element of the assistance program will be direct loans—limited to $10,000,000 next year—to firms which cannot borrow privately.

The third element will be help to small and medium-sized firms in drawing up plans to adjust their operations to increased competition and export opportunities.

Manufacturers are expected to bear the brunt of adjustment as Canada begins lowering tariffs Jan. 1, 1968, as a member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Over the next four years tariffs on $2,500,000,000 on imports will be reduced. Canada's rates of duty on final manufactures will generally be from 17½ to 20 per cent, compared with 22½ to 25 per cent at present.

The statement said a watch will be kept on the impact of Kennedy Round changes on primary producers and other sectors of the economy, and no special assistance is being offered during the first phase of the Kennedy agreements.

Mr. Pearson also forecast a "few cases" of layoffs caused by companies reorganizing their operations. The usual retraining, placement and mobility assistance would be available, and the statement announced that unemployment insurance benefits will be increased later in the current session of Parliament.

The Kennedy Round changes will affect $3,000,000,000 in Canadian exports, bringing the average level of tariffs for manufactured goods to less than 10 per cent in Canada's major markets.

In the three-year negotiations completed last spring, Canada retained a comparatively high tariff wall, but one that may be breached by efficient foreign manufacturers.

The prime minister's statement said some firms will have to reorganize and re-equip just to survive. Even where safe operations remain, the forward-looking firm would want to "respond to the challenges and opportunities of the new world trading environment" by setting up for export.

Pearson To See Rusk

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson is expected to confer with State Secretary Dean Rusk and other U.S. officials tonight during a brief, unofficial visit to Washington.

After an overnight stay at the Canadian embassy, the Prime Minister and Mrs. Pearson will continue on to Florida for a vacation.

The meeting between Mr. Pearson and Mr. Rusk will take place at a private dinner in the embassy, it is understood. Canadian Ambassador A. E. Ritchie will be the host.

Man Ready To Receive New Heart

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Mrs. Philip B. Blaiberg, the wife of the South African dentist who is scheduled to have a heart transplant operation, said today: "As far as we are concerned the sooner it is done the better."

Mrs. Blaiberg confirmed a Washington report from the South African heart transplant surgeon, Dr. Christian Barnard, that the operation would be in the second or third week of January. The exact date would depend on the availability of a suitable healthy heart.

"My husband agreed to the operation right from the start," she said. "We have known that he would have the heart from the day Louis Washkansky was first operated on."

Mrs. Blaiberg said her husband dropped his dental practice about nine months ago when his heart "gave in completely." She said that he had his first heart attack about 14 years ago but it was only recently that his heart had deteriorated badly.

Chief Walking Buffalo Of Alberta Dies at 97

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Chief Walking Buffalo of Alberta's Stony Indians is dead at 97.

He died Wednesday in hospital after suffering another in a series of strokes that afflicted him during the last few years.

Funeral arrangements were not announced but it was expected he would be buried in the tribal cemetery at the Morley reserve, his lifelong home, 40 miles we. of Calgary.

Born March 29, 1870, he soon was orphaned. But Rev. John MacLean, one of the West's first Methodist missionaries, adopted him in 1881 and christened him George MacLean.

He was elected chief of the Stonys in 1920 and stepped down in 1935, becoming the tribe's elder statesman and adviser to later chiefs.

He had two great loves: man and nature. He believed that if man understood nature, he would understand himself and bring about the brotherhood of all mankind.

The old chief was deeply religious and referred to the outdoors as God's university.

In 1959, he embarked on a 62,000-mile world tour on behalf of the Moral Re-armament Movement, meeting kings and queens and other top state leaders.

He had two prized possessions: an ancient medicine stick that was said to have been carried by the first Chief Walking Buffalo many generations ago, and an album of photographs of his hand-shake with Hitler.

Endowed with a generous sense of humor, the chief referred to Anglo-Saxons as "white savages," and in the interview last winter, when a reporter said he didn't understand Sioux, the chief replied with a twinkle in his eyes:

"Yeah, you not bilingual."

Among survivors are a son, several daughters, many grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and at least two great-great-grandchildren.

PARENTS AND TEENS

BRIGHT CHILD — POOR GRADES — by Barry Brickha, Phd.

A substantial number of intelligent children fail in school and many more fall below their potentialities. In this penetrating study, the author explains how parents unwittingly demand contradictory responses for their child, making him fear his own angry feelings and come to identify his total sense of self worth with his ability to be a perfect accomplisher. He gives up before he begins. A good book for parents who need to understand their child, his problems, and themselves.

TEENAGERS' GUIDE FOR LIVING — by Judson and Mary Landis.

Young people will appreciate and respect this book because it does more than just give sets of rules for them to follow; it provides facts and techniques designed to help them think through for themselves the things necessary for getting the most out of their lives in all their relationships. Other chapters give information on physical and mental health, point out the values of hobbies and leisure-time activities, and offer aids to success in part-time jobs.

YOUR TEENS AND MINE — by Eleanor Roosevelt.

How does a teenage girl grow to be a gracious lady? This is the story of how one girl did and what she did will help every girl facing the same problems today. How Mrs. Roosevelt overcame her shyness and learned to face her fears will help teenagers today who, like she did, feel awkward and self-conscious, or unhappy with their families.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR BOY — by Father Flanagan.

In understanding your boy, Father Flanagan speaks simply and factually to you about boys. His knowledge of boy guidance is of inestimable assistance to anyone who shares the responsibility for a boy's training. Bringing up a boy is a job that calls for understanding, and this book will be of interest not only to parents seeking answers to specific problems but to those who needs a general guide.

WAY TO WOMANHOOD — by W. W. Bauer, M.D.

During the teenage years your daughter is faced with the amazing and beguiling problems of growing up. Doctor Bauer has straightforward advice on dating, going steady, good grooming, drinking, smoking and drugs. "Way to Womanhood" is a sensible, practical manual for any mother to give her daughter to read.

THE SEVENTEEN BOOK OF FASHION AND BEAUTY — by The Editors of SEVENTEEN.

For years Seventeen magazine has been the young girl's best friend — her bible of fashion and beauty, her confidant and favorite counselor. Now the editors have assembled in a single book the cream of their collective knowledge. Here are color guides and calorie charts, complexion care and make-up magic, even a beauty routine the girl who wears no make-up. There are pointers on developing a dazzling smile, a soft voice, the tact and taste that are the intangibles of beauty.

YOUTH — The Years 10-16 — by Arnold Gesell, M.D., and Frances L. Ilg, M.D.

This book is based on first-hand studies of a selected group of normal adolescents. It traces the development of behavior in the setting of home, school, and community. By interpreting the patterns and trends of successive stages of growth, the psychology of youth becomes more understandable and many of its problems less formidable and more interesting.

YOUR FUTURE AS A WIFE — by John L. Schimel, M.D.

First, the author describes what your husband will be, what men are basically like — their wishes, hopes, expectations, moods. In this study you will also learn a great deal about what women really want, what their attitudes and aspirations are. Dr. Schimel examines the ingredients of good marriages and bad and presents many helpful hints to the married as well as the about-to-be-married.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. W. A. Jeffery opened her home Tuesday afternoon for the December meeting of White's UCW with Mrs. Lawrence Dafoe presiding. Mrs. Gregor Bilham sang a solo, and Miss Mansfield gave a Christmas address.

Mrs. Georgie Cotton was hostess Wednesday for the Bible study group.

Miss Mabel Willows and Miss Mansfield have left to spend Christmas with the former's sister in Carleton Place. Before their departure several women of the community met and presented each with a gift.

Engine Block Warmers Definitely Reduce Wear

By RAY STAPLEY

A READER WRITES:

"I am about to purchase a new car and am considering an engine heater. I realize there are many types available, and was wondering what you considered the most efficient."

Also, do they really help keep the engine in good running order, or are they just another worthless gadget?"

A block warmer most definitely reduces engine wear in cold weather starting, and also aids starting when the mercury drops. The most effective unit is the immersion type that either fits into a frost plug hole or replaces a cylinder head bolt. On some V-8 engines it is necessary to install one on each bank. Check with your dealer to find out whether you need the second one.

A word of warning: make sure the wiring in the house circuit you plan to plug the unit into is heavy enough to take the load.

When it is known the temperature is going to drop below 32 degrees, it's wise to plug it in just before retiring and unplug it just before starting the car in the morning.

Point Anne Personals

POINT ANNE — On Sunday evening the members of St. John's Sunday school and choir held a Christmas party. The children were served hot dogs, drinks and candies. The tree was the centre of attention for the distribution of the gifts. The Sunday school teachers, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Wright and Miss Fraser supervised the games and Mrs. Harwood was the pianist for the singing of the carols.

Tuesday evening the United church held its Christmas party with a program and exchange of gifts.

Thyroid Regulation Can Be Tricky

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: After an examination a doctor put me on thyroid and said I would need it the rest of my life. After several months, and after cutting the dosage, he took me off the thyroid medicine because my blood pressure was high.

Six months later another doctor put me on iodine and did not need thyroid. In six more months I again felt tired and gained so much weight, and I was listless, so I went back to the first doctor. He said I needed thyroid and started me on two grains a day, but said it would have to be regulated, but I would have to take it all the time.

I am concerned as to which to believe. Both are good MDs. — Mrs. H.

I would find it in my mind to believe both of them — at the particular time of the res.,ective examinations.

Establishing the correct dosage of thyroid quite often requires gradual adjustment. It isn't like filling the gas tank of your car, with a gauge to show when it is full.

Neither does thyroid medication lose its effect instantly when you stop taking it.

One cannot say positively that you will need thyroid pills all your life — but I'll say this: in my experience, the person who needs such medication usually needs it infinitely.

Your thyroid gland was not sufficiently active. The medication brought you up to normal. Then you stopped. After some months your old trouble returned.

This is not at all unusual. A patient is restored to his former alertness and energy, feels so much better that he stops the pills. After a variable length of time he returns to his doctor with the same old complaint.

Why? Because the thyroid pills supply what the gland itself should supply. Then, without the pills, the sluggish thyroid gland gradually causes you to slip back below normal. And the fatigue and other symptoms return.

It will cause disappointment if people with thyroid trouble keep these two points in mind. You can "coast along" comfortably for a while after the medication is stopped. To arrive at the dosage which keeps you exactly "in balance" requires some regulation of the amount, and that takes time.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 24 and in the best eight months, spots have appeared on my arms and I notice about the size of the nail on my ring finger. They appear to be ruptures of very small blood vessels under the skin. There is no external bleeding. After about the third day they fade and eventually disappear. Should this be considered serious? What could be the cause? — Mrs. R. D.

This is not unusual in older persons. The spots could be bruises from minor injuries. There could be increased fragility of the capillaries (small blood vessels). Another possibility is a disturbance in your blood clotting mechanism — deficiency of platelets, calcium, or Vitamin C.

I wouldn't be unduly alarmed, but your doctor may want to order certain blood tests to determine whether a blood condition is involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible to become pregnant with the hymen still intact? — L. M.

Yes, and it has happened.

Note to Mr. I. A.: I doubt that dogwood poisoning was your trouble. It can produce much the same symptoms poison ivy does.

Point Anne Personals

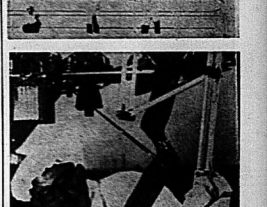
Mr. and Mrs. Milton Akey spent Sunday in Cannifton with relatives.



Mrs. Doug Dunstaor was supply teacher for a few days due to one of the regular staff being ill.

The Canada Cement Company held its annual Christmas event in the canteen at the plant on Sunday afternoon. The choir this year was made up of members from St. Anne's, St. John's and the United church choirs. Mrs. Horwood was the pianist. The jolly old Santa then gave out the gifts to the children and he was ably assisted by the men from the volunteer fire department, who also supplied the drinks for the event.

The members of St. John's Friendship Group held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Hart. It was a Christmas party and the usual exchange of gifts and a social time was enjoyed by the members. Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Breach were the hostesses and served lunch.

The Cubs held a party on Wednesday evening and the Brownies had a party and program on Monday afternoon.

Red Star Says Ship 'Bombed'

MOSCOW (AP) — A U.S. Navy two-engined tracker plane has buzzed a Soviet Navy ship in the Mediterranean and dropped exploding devices that sounded like "bombs" and bathed the vessel in blinding light, the Soviet defence ministry newspaper Red Star, reported today.

Because the captain of the supply ship Magomet Gadhiev could not immediately tell if it was a "prank" or a real attack, the newspaper said, he would have been within his rights to open fire on the American plane.

But apparently, the ship's captain took no action and the plane flew off.

The accusation was one of several such charges made in a recital of alleged harassments of Soviet ships in the Mediterranean by the U.S. 6th Fleet.

It was the first such accusation from Moscow since the Soviet navy began to fly in the Mediterranean began just before the Arab-Israeli war and possibly was prompted by a U.S. charge Dec. 15 that Soviet ships had been harassing 6th Fleet ships.

Centennial Tournaments.

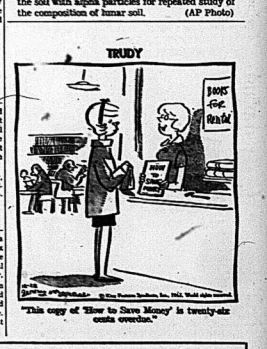
WALKERTON, Ont. (CP) Ken Cree scored five goals and assisted on two others as Sault Ste. Marie thumped Cornwall 15-3 in the first game of the Walkerton centennial midget hockey tournament which opened Wednesday night.



In other games Wednesday, Toronto defeated Port Arthur 6-4 and Oshawa tripped Scarborough 4-2.

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Teams from Toronto and Sarnia and Sault Ste. Marie each won six games in the opening day of the all-Ontario juvenile centennial hockey tournament Wednesday.

Toronto and Sarnia each won two games. Atikokan and Sault Ste. Marie each won one and lost one. Teams from Sault Ste. Marie and Kapuskasing lost both games.

New Surveyor Ready

Engineers check over test model of Surveyor 7 spacecraft, built at Hughes Aircraft Co. in California. Surveyor 7 is scheduled to be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., early next month. At bottom engineer looks at gold-plated box in which is a compact chemical analysis laboratory. The metal claw holding the box will, on signal, trench the moon's surface while the box will bombard the soil with alpha particles for repeated study of the composition of lunar soil.

Sex Revolution in Films

Spencer Tracy, Mansfield Deaths Top Hollywood News Stories

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie world underwent violent change during 1967, and it can look forward to more changes in the coming year.

Despite economic pressures, competition from shrold and attacks by censors, Hollywood manages to survive. And the film city still manages to produce news to stir life instead of newspaper readers around the world. This year brought an unusually wide variety of happenings, ranging from personal tragedies to industry trends.

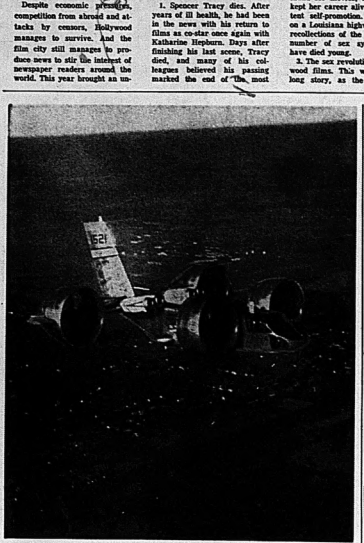
1. Spencer Tracy dies. After years of ill health, he had been in the news with his return to films as co-star once again with Katharine Hepburn. Days after finishing his last scene, Tracy died, and many of his colleagues believed his passing marked the end of the most brilliant acting career in American films.

2. Jayne Mansfield killed. The would-be successor to Marilyn Monroe no longer was in demand for movies, but she had kept her career alive by persistent self-promotion. Her death on a Louisiana highway brought recollections of the remarkable number of sex symbols who have died young.

3. The sex revolution in Hollywood films. This was a year-long story, as the traditional moral attitudes were increasingly challenged by movies that dealt frankly with sex. More bare flesh was seen in major films during 1967 than in all previous years of movie history.

4. The Oscars. Always one of events, the 1967 Academy awards featured a second victory for Elizabeth Taylor, the first for her co-star of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? —Richard Burton. His fellow Welsh, Paul Scofield, won for A Man for All Seasons, which also was named best picture.

5. Networks into films. The entrance of CBS and ABC into production of feature movies for theatres was considered by many observers to be the most important industry trend of 1967. The long-established film-makers responded by asking the government to half the move on anti-trust grounds.



6. Elvis Presley marries. One of the most famous and wealthy bachelor married Priscilla Beaulieu for the movieland wedding of the year. And now the singer expects to be a father early next year.

7. Merger of Toronto-based Seven Arts and Warner Brothers. "The Last Tycoon," Jack L. Warner, stepped down as production boss at the studio that bears his name. He was replaced by youth Kenneth Hyman, whose father, Eliot Hyman, founded Seven Arts.

8. Sinatras split. Hollywood's No. 1 news-maker, Frank Sinatra, made the headlines with a surprise separation from his young wife, Mia Farrow.

9. Jennifer Jones' near-fatal plunge down a cliff. The Academy Award-winning actress' big career mishap seemed like a scene from one of her dramatic movies.

10. Connie Stevens' baby. The birth of a daughter to the blonde actress coincided with the announcement that she had been secretly wed to the child's father, Eddie Fisher.

Cruising Along

The X22A vertical takeoff and landing plane, built by Textron's Bell Aerosystems Co., soars over the Niagara Falls countryside on its 100th flight. The craft, constructed for the U.S. Navy, made its first flight last Jan. 26 and has been airborne a total of 40 hours. (AP Photo)

Allen, Winters Use Same TV Sketch

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the top younger comedians by acute shortage of subjects to get funny about — used the same topic as the basis for a sketch in variety programs Wednesday night.

The comedians were—in order of appearance—Woody Allen in a Music Hall revue on NBC and Jonathan Winters in the premiere of his CBS weekly variety show. The subject was wife-skits, worn respectively by Lisa Minnelli and Abby Dalton, both playing the wives of the male stars.

Although the treatments of the subjects were different, the basic joke in both sketches was identical, and were summed up in a line given to Abby Dalton: "Men want every girl in the world to dress like Jane Fonda, except their wife."

Winters' opening program was a well-paced mixture of sketches and in the first one he successfully pulled out of stock Ma Kettle character.

Winters has a gimmick in which he is given a single prop and improvises around it. He has done it a number of times before on television and it is always interesting if not always a complete success. His prop Wednesday night was a towel and he did pretty well.

Members of the television audience, most likely, will either adore the Winters' brand of outrageous humor or they will be left cold.

Woody Allen's alleged Review of 1967 was a bright funny hour that didn't review much of anything but was notable for Allen's debut on television playing assorted characters in sketches. And Allen, the actor, is pretty good and pretty funny whether he was the outraged spouse of the girl in her first mini-skirt or a spoiled child movie star having a tantrum.

Allen's hour had one strange interlude when the star sat down with William F. Buckley Jr., a conservative political writer, and engaged in a battle of wisecracks. Some of the exchanges suggested there was a prewritten script and some of the "questions from the audience" certainly were planted.

Kingston Defeats Oil Kings

TWEED — A five-goal second period gave Kingston a 7-4 win over the Belleville Oil Kings in OHA intermediate hockey here last night.

The Oil Kings led 2-1 going into the second period then wilted before the five-goal onslaught of Kingston with a single return. The teams split a pair of goals in the third period.

The Oil Kings travel to Brockville on Friday where they take on the Brockville Braves junior "A" squad.

Kingston drew eight of the 13 penalties last night, D. Keller drawing a misconduct for the Oil Kings in the fateful second period.

The Oil Kings outshot Kingston 41 - 35 on the night's play with the latter holding an 18-12 edge in the second period.

Kingston tucked the game away in the second period when they scored four straight unanswered goals before the Oil Kings could get back into stride.

Bob Bruce and Jim Stinson led the Kingston attack with two goals each. Terry Lasdon, L. Lavallee and "No. 18" scored the others.

L. Lavallee and Clancy each had two assists. Landon, G. Lavalee, Hynes, Travis, Driscoll and O'Sullivan getting singles.

J. Woodcock, H. Bryant, Terry Lesage and C. Boonbower scored for the Oil Kings, J. Woodcock, Keller and G. Rowbotham drawing assists.

May Affect Contract

Lonborg Surgery Success

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Jim Lonborg, mainstay of the American League Boston Red Sox's championship pitching staff, successfully underwent surgery Wednesday to repair his left knee that was twice as seriously damaged as was expected.

The six-foot-five right-handed pitcher suffered the injury in a skiing accident at Lake Tahoe, Nev., last Saturday.

Lonborg had suffered two torn ligaments instead of only one as originally thought.

Lonborg will be in a cast for six weeks. He is due to start pre-season work with the Red Sox Feb. 24.

Vice president Dick O'Connell of the Sox said the case "will trigger some changes in the baseball contract.

At the time Lonborg signed his 1968 contract for a reported $50,000 two weeks ago, O'Connell asked him to quit skiing.

Cotton Bowl

Snow Fell On Alabama

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Better weather for the Cotton Bowl drama is expected today after workouts in snow and rain for Alabama and indoors for Texas A and M.

Alabama had a tough workout Wednesday as the Crimson Tide tried to get in a needed hard practice session in view of a loss of a couple of days at Tuscaloosa because of rain.

Snow fell throughout the day and was coming down at its hardest when Alabama went through a two-hour drill at a high school stadium.

Texas A and M didn't take any chances with the weather. Coach Gene Stallings worked his squad, which is entirely free of injury, indoors in tennis shoes and had the boys outside only for a little running.

While the weather was due to clear today, more snow was anticipated tonight and Cotton Bowl officials started worrying about what to expect Monday when the two teams clash in the football game.

LITTLE TO DO

George Lindsey, of the Andy Griffith Show, says there isn't too much to do in his hometown of Jasper, Ala. "On Saturdays we watch the food truck unload and then we go to the bakery to smell bread."

Rose Bowl Battle

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Indiana's defensive end Cal Snowden goes from one tough problem to another.

"Against Purdue we had to contain Leroy Keyes and now we have to try to contain O. J. Simpson," says Snowden in assessing the Rose Bowl battle against South California Trojans on New Year's Day.

Snowden, a 222-pound junior from Washington, and his fellow end Tom Bilunas, a 215-pounder from Gary, Ind., were big reasons the Hoosiers beat Purdue 13-14 in the traditional finale of the season to win the Rose Bowl trip.

Keyes and Simpson won all-American honors this season with the latter second in the Heisman Trophy voting and the former third.

Coach John Pont closed the Indiana practices to spectators today except for news media and the official party. Kartier drills had been open to the public.

Ontario's Road to Prosperity Is Growing Bumpier--Robarts

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts said Wednesday that Ontario's road to prosperity, while still moving forward, "has become a little bumpier."

"As we enter 1968," he said in a year-end statement, "the difficulty in anticipating what lies ahead is much more pronounced than in other years because of the number of unknown factors preventing us seeing clearly what is in store for us."

Mr. Robarts said housing could well be a major generator of growth "but it will be greatly affected by policies set during the year and the availability of federal funds."

The Ontario government recently told the federal government it would need about $40,000,000 for 1968 housing projects and Stanley Randall, minister of economics and development, said Dec. 14 he was confident the funds will be available.

Mr. Robarts said the state of the United States' economy would be important to Ontario.

"A continuation of the recent increased buoyancy in the U.S. will improve Canada's export potential, with direct implications for Ontario manufacturers.

"The devaluation of the British pound may also have an effect."

Mr. Robarts also predicted that consumer demand would rise with an increase of young persons marrying and establishing homes and a continued influx of immigrants.

"This should result in an increased tempo in manufacturing production and, at the same time, an increase in our productivity.

"From this we anticipate higher profits and a quickening of the economy."

The premier said the gross provincial product will increase more than eight per cent in 1968.

"More than five per cent of this should come about through an expansion of production as opposed to increases in prices —resulting in another year of prosperity for Ontario."

He called 1967 "a most successful and rewarding one for the people of Ontario."

"Marked by the enjoyable and economy-spurring events of the centennial year, the people of Ontario are entering the second century of confederation with confidence and vigor."

Highlights of the year were Ontario's participation in Expo 67 and Robarts' Confederation of Tomorrow Conference here late in November, he said.

The 1967 gross provincial product, which began its climb in 1961, is expected to reach $25,000,000,000, an increase of eight per cent.

"Our economic growth, when compared with that of the Canadian average, was impressive.

"For example, the growth of the Ontario economy, aside from price increases, exceeded four per cent while the Canadian average barely reached three per cent."

Mr. Robarts said an important element in strength was the direct result of the export of automobiles from plants in Ontario to the United States market under a free trade agreement.

The labor force expanded more than four per cent in 1967, he said, compared with three per cent for all of Canada.

"This expansion ensured an adequate supply of labor and prevented a repetition of the labor shortages of the previous two years."

Although the Ontario economy continued to move forward, "the rate of advance was reduced slightly from the immediately preceding years."

"This reflected a mood of caution, paralleled the performance of the rest of Canada, and was typical of the economies of the U.S. and many of the other industrialized nations.

Public Employees Fight Move to Civil Service

TORONTO (CP) — About 80 members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees demonstrated in front of the Ontario legislature Wednesday in protest a government move that would soon make them civil servants.

The government announced Dec. 11 it will assume all costs of administering justice Jan. 1. To accomplish this it will take over the province's 35 regional and two city jails and municipal courts.

Employees now represented by the CUPE would become members of the Civil Service Association.

Wally Higgins, president of CUPE Local 79 that represents about 400 Toronto court workers, said:

"We don't care who our boss is. We just want to retain the union of our choice."

Workers at Ontario's other city jail, in Hamilton, also were represented.

Mr. Higgins told reporters he had sent a telegram to Premier John Robarts asking for "a stay of execution" but as yet had received no reply.

Mr. Higgins said talks last Friday with Allan Grossman, minister of reform institutions, convinced him the takeover could not be legislated until it had approval of the legislature.

However, Mr. Higgins quoted Mr. Grossman as saying Jan. 1 was the best time to make the move because that's when current bargaining agreements expire.

Britain Cuts Road Accidents

LONDON (AP) — Britain recorded 98 traffic deaths during the five-day Christmas holiday —40 fewer than last year—and Transport Minister Barbara Castle Wednesday credited a tough, new law with keeping many drinking drivers off the road.

Mrs. Castle, who fought pub keepers and others to get the law enacted, said: "It's a dramatic fall compared with Christmas 1965, but we cannot afford to be complacent. Any death is one too many."

Britain's top motoring organizations, staunch defenders of drivers' rights, were impressed. A spokesman for the Royal Automobile Club said a number of factors could have contributed to the drop in fatalities "but there can be little doubt that the new drink-driving law kept many people off the roads."

The law became effective in October. Motorists suspected of traffic violations became liable to be asked to take a test and given a "breathalyzer" test to measure the alcohol in their blood.

The test is administered initially by making the motorist blow into a balloon with a special mouthpiece containing crystals that turn green if the alcohol content is higher than 80 milligrams to 100 milliliters of blood.

Eisenhower Denies Criticizing Romney

NEW YORK (AP) — Former president Dwight D. Eisenhower said Wednesday that Governor George Romney of Michigan had taken forceful, logical positions on many vital domestic issues and denied ever saying that Romney was unfit to be U.S. president.

Eisenhower also denied saying that the governor had been on too many sides of too many issues or that he would panic in an emergency.

Eisenhower, interviewed by Palm Springs, Calif. for the Columbia Broadcasting System's Walter Cronkite news program, was commenting on a story which appeared in the New York Times on Christmas. It said Eisenhower, in his own mind, had eliminated Romney, a candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, as a serious contender for the presidency.

"He has been on so many sides of so many questions that one begins to wonder just where he does stand," the Times quoted Eisenhower as saying:

"He sounds like a man in a panic, and a man who panics is not the best candidate for president."

South African's Pelvis Amputated From Waist

EAST LONDON, South Africa (Reuters) — A man's pelvis was successfully amputated from the waist here last month, a spokesman for Frere Hospital said Wednesday.

Christoffel Strydom, 21, was working as a railroad brakeman when he was crushed between two train engines early in November, the spokesman said.

His spine was fractured and the spinal cord cut, he said.

All his pelvic bones and his upper thighs were crushed and the main arteries to his legs were severed.

He said the lower part of his body was amputated in a five-hour operation. As the bladder and bowel were severed from his pelvis, artificial aids had to be fashioned.

During the first weeks after the operation, Strydom suffered two attacks of meningitis but recovered.

Most Gls In Vietnam Smoke Pot

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — John Steinbeck, 21-year-old son of the prize-winning American novelist of the same name, said Wednesday 75 per cent of American troops in Vietnam smoke marijuana.

"Pot" is generally smoked during leisure time and not when the men expect to go into battle, Steinbeck said, but added that as units are often attacked without warning some men are under the influence of marijuana during combat.

However, he said, smoking marijuana has not affected the performance of the troops in Vietnam.

Steinbeck was acquitted by a Washington court last week of illegally having marijuana in his home.

He was discharged from the U.S. Army Dec. 7 and spoke at a press conference to publicize his article, titled "The Importance of Being Stoned in Vietnam," which appears in the current edition of he Washington magazine.

Turbo Train Test Runs Expected Within Month

Cold weather test runs for the new turbo train scheduled to go into operation next April on the Toronto-Montreal run are expected to be made some time this winter, according to a CN official in Belleville.

Kenneth Fleming, CN passenger sales manager for the Rideau area, said the test runs for the turbo train were expected to commence within a month or so.

The turbo train, with special engine and passenger coach equipment, is expected to cut top half hour off the present four hours and 30 minutes which the Rapido trains now take over the 335-mile Toronto-Montreal run. The train will not stop at Belleville.

The turbo train was originally expected to go into operation in time for the Expo trade, but production problems arose and the equipment did not become available.

The new train will be capable of up to 140 miles per hour but until certain improvements are made, the initial schedule is expected to be considerably below this speed.

Secondary School Teachers Told to Seek More Power, Money

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation was told Wednesday that teachers must demand more power and more money next year.

Charles McCaffray of Ottawa, president of the federation, said the province's school structure will collapse if students get more rights while teachers still are treated as second-class citizens.

Mr. McCaffray was speaking at a news conference after addressing the opening session of the federation's annual meeting.

Earlier, James Russell, chairman of the salary committee of the OSSTF, suggested increases of eight to 10 per cent next year for the province's 28,000 high school teachers. He said they should seek "quality salaries for quality teaching."

Mr. Russell said the teachers' negotiating committees should be asking school trustees for a salary range of $6,600 to $14,600. The current range is $6,000 to $13,600.

Mr. McCaffray said all school boards should reserve two positions for teacher members to be elected by the public on a separate ballot.

Mr. McCaffray said he also supports a resolution that the OSSTF should aim to "control the entrance requirements and curriculum of secondary teacher-training institutions."

T. H. Smith, a Port Arthur high school teacher and member of the commission tendering the resolution, said control will have to be shared with faculty members of teachers' colleges.

Thomas Washer, chairman of a committee of school trustee representatives of the OSSTF members, said unless financial aid is forthcoming from the provincial government, Ontario will find itself in September, 1969, "with a drastically decreased supply of teachers."

A shortage is expected to occur when the six-week teachers' courses which each summer provide quick-trained teachers for Ontario's high schools are abandoned next year.

Maine Plans to Heat Ocean to Suit Lobsters

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Aided by ideas from aerospace industries, the state of Maine is laying scientific groundwork to turn the tide on mother nature and halt a declining lobster supply.

Experts claim a gradual drop in ocean temperature during the last few years has caused the annual Maine lobster catch to dwindle. They have chosen a first experimental site to see if shoreline coves can be warmed artificially by discharge from power plant coolant systems.

If successful, other coves along the northeastern United States coastline may be heated to improve the over-all lobster crop.

"We propose to apply in the field information we have gained over the last 20 years," said Robert L. Dow, director of research for the Maine department of sea and shore fisheries.

"We think we have enough background to develop information on how lobsters could be produced in greater number at reduced cost."

Ideally, the average annual temperature for Maine lobsters, Dow said, in an interview, is between 41% and 49% degrees. For 1967, however, the average water temperature will be between 44% and 45 degrees, he predicted.

Scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology blame the cooler offshore waters on a change in solar activity, which has shifted zonal westerly winds to lower latitudes. They claim it may be another 20 years until a warming trend begins.

"The cooler water has not only affected lobsters, but other shellfish—oysters, clams, shrimp and scallops," Dow said. "And it is not only peculiar to Maine. Other Northeastern states and Canada have had similar problems."

Statistics tell the story. In 1957, Maine's lobster catch totalled 24,500,000 pounds. In 1965, it was down to 19,000,000 pounds. Dow predicted the 1967 total will be about 15,000,000 pounds.

The large marine crustaceans grow by shedding their shells. But they "molt"—or grow—less often in colder water.

In an experiment to see if the tide can be turned against mother nature and in favor of lobster fishermen, the Maine department of sea and shore fisheries is considering plans to raise the water temperature in a cove on Cousins Island, Casco Bay, by distributing heated water discharged from the coolant system of a nearby power plant.

In addition to engineering problems created by the task—complicated by ocean tides which give the cove a 100,000,000 - gallon capacity at low tide and 200,000,000 — gallon capacity at high tide, there also is the problem of getting federal funds to finance the project, Dow said.

Meanwhile, the test area, located in eight-feet-deep water 500 feet offshore, will permit studies to see how much the lobster population can be concentrated. If a sizable number of lobsters are lured to the area by the rock and concrete blocks, which experimenters say make excellent shelter for the crustaceans, similar lobster-attracting rocks probably will be deposited in other coves along the Maine coastline.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I'm not a landlord and my other habits are also good. I'm a student who doesn't sit - in, lie - in, love - in, or smoke pot. Also, I take a shower every day.

There is one irritation, however, that's enough to cause me to rush out and picket. The chap who owns my pad forced me to give him $100 deposit when I moved in this September. Everybody else in the building also had to cough up $100. I don't like this real estate law. — Mr. P. C.

ANSWER: There is no law that requires you to give a landlord a security deposit. Equally, however, the landlord does have a right to demand that anybody desiring to occupy his apartments give him a deposit.

Accordingly, the prospective tenant has an absolute legal right to refuse, but the landlord has a similar absolute legal right not to rent his apartments to anybody who refuses. In student language: The landlord insisted and you wanted the apartment, so you coughed up $100.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: For five years, I had a deep secret — I wasn't paying any water bills. I was a blank in the computer and they didn't know I existed.

One day my wife told the secret to her sister, who in turn told it to her husband. They thought so much of the story that he told it at work. Result: Not only am I now getting water bills, but they insist I pay the bills for five years back with interest. Let my experience be a warning to readers. — Mr. B.

ANSWER: I'm told most people can keep a secret, but the folks they tell it to can't. I have similar trouble. My wife thinks that there is no such thing as a secret. Either it's too good to keep or not worth keeping. My sister-in-law's idea of a secret is to tell it to only one person at a time.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Every morning my husband drives out, leaving the door of our attached garage open. It stays that way all day.

I've been telling him that the oil burner runs more on these days. He ridicules me for claiming his practice costs us money.

Is the heat loss significant enough to let it cause a family quarrel? — Mrs. K. F.

ANSWER: Depending on the degree of insulation of the exposed garage wall, and the severity of the climate, your husband's carelessness is causing a 10 to 20 per cent increase in your heating bill. I don't know whether it's enough to justify a family quarrel, but I can tell you it's enough to amortize an automatic garage doorcloser.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Whenever a faucet is closed, a dull thump vibrates the house. I've used leather, rubber and plastic washers. Nothing helps! What type washer would you recommend? — Mr. S.

ANSWER: A thump when the faucet is closed is caused by water hammer — it has nothing to do with washers. Moving water has momentum, and closing the faucet causes the water to slam against the pipe. Result — a thump.

The cure is to install an air chamber in each supply line. The air in the chamber absorbs the water momentum. Result—no thump.

Installing an air chamber involves cutting the pipes. It should be done by a registered plumber and is no job for a hobbyist.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I and my former wife own a property which will become mortgage-free in February, 1968. I haven't lived in the house for 10 years, but I have been making all the mortgage payments and have been paying the bills.

My wife has done a fine job in raising our children. I would like to show my gratitude by giving my share of the house to her as a gift. Is there a lot of red tape to do this, and how much will it cost? — Mr. A.

ANSWER: Giving your share of the house to your former wife is a simple procedure. Any attorney can prepare a deed transferring your share. The legal fees will run from about $50 to $100. The recording fee is about $5 in typical cases.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The household tip read, "The newest way to seal a water leak is with glue." When I followed the advice, the result was a flooded basement. Imagine trying to glue up a leak! The writer must have been on LSD. — Mr. S. P.

ANSWER: It is possible to glue up a leak — without even using a pot — provided the right method is used. It will work with small leaks.

First, it is necessary to shut off the water and drain the pipe. The area around the leak must be dried thoroughly.

Then a two-part epoxy adhesive is applied—an equal amount is squeezed from each tube, mixed and applied. Once the epoxy glue dries, the water can be turned on.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Last year, we froze all winter. After spending a small fortune having three plumbers check out the heater, we took your advice and installed a new thermostat. We're still freezing! What now? — Mr. C. M.

ANSWER: If the thermostat is adjusted properly, then the most likely source of trouble is the close proximity of heat-producing appliances like T.V., lamps, radio, etc. The heat thrown off by these appliances causes the thermostat to shut down the heater too soon, resulting in a cold house.

Relief Costs Climb As More Aided Here

Jobless Here Up A Quarter

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Seasonal unemployment, believed up at least 25 per cent over last year, is resulting in heavier relief costs in the city this winter, it was learned today.

Figures for December are still not available, but the number of Belleville people (family heads and dependents) receiving welfare assistance at the end of November was three times that of a year ago and the city's budget for relief assistance had already been exceeded.

Yesterday, city manager J. R. Reynolds reported that the year's relief assistance budget of $112,000 had been exceeded by $26,000 by the end of November.

Mr. Reynolds said that welfare payments by the city were subsidized 80 per per cent by the province.

On November 30 there were 405 heads of families and dependents on city welfare as compared with 131 on the same date a year ago. And it was admitted that the number of people on welfare had increased during December.

In 1966 when employment conditions in the area were good, the city paid out only $69,635 in subsidized relief assistance.

A worker at the Belleville welfare office said disappeared as though at least 50 per cent of the heads of families on city welfare were employable.

Mr. Cecil Hisner, manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission office for the Belleville, Hastings and Prince Edward area, said the number receiving insurance benefits as of Nov. 30 was up approximately 25 per cent over last year.

The number of persons receiving benefits at the end of the month was 1,858 as compared to 1,484 a year ago.

The Quinte area under Mr. Hisner's office includes Hastings and Prince Edward and the urban municipalities of Belleville, Trenton and Picton.

Applications for insurance benefits were up proportionately, Mr. Hisner said.

Greek Queen Loses Baby

ROME (CP) — Queen Anne-Marie of Greece suffered a miscarriage Thursday night and lost the baby she was expecting in June, the Greek embassy announced today. It would have been her third child.

A spokesman at a Rome clinic where she was taken Thursday night said it was impossible to save the child.

He said a routine surgical operation was performed.

The condition of the 21-year-old Danish-born wife of King Constantine was described as "completely satisfactory."

Anne-Marie has two other children, Princess Alexia, 3, and Crown Prince Paul, seven months.

The royal family have been staying at the embassy since fleeing Greece Dec. 14 after Constantine's attempted counter-coup against the Greek junta failed.

1968 Year of Decision For Quebec--Johnson

QUEBEC (CP) — Next year will be a year of big decisions for Quebec and "its partners," Premier Daniel Johnson said Thursday night.

The premier said in his New Year's message that 1968 "will show us to what degree we shall succeed in building this country about which we have been dreaming for so long."

"Whatever happens," Mr. Johnson said, "Quebec will not turn away from the responsibilities it bears as the principal home of the French-Canadian nation."

He said that politically and economically, the province will always be aware that it is essentially part of North America.

However, culturally, Quebec will always feel the need of strong ties with other French-language countries.

Ice Cream and Ice

Snow is nice — especially when you can sit back and enjoy a cool vanilla cone. Elizabeth McNevin, a visitor from Toronto, doesn't get much of a chance in the city to enjoy the snow, so she makes up for it when she comes to the Quinte area.

Nine Children Perish In Fire

MONT LAURIER, Que. (CP) — Nine children died when fire swept through their two-storey frame house in nearby Lac des Iles early today.

Nine other children in the family and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Girouard, escaped by jumping from bedrooms on the second floor.

Three children and the parents were taken to hospital in Mont Laurier, 125 miles northwest of Montreal.

Five bodies have been recovered. Names and ages of the dead children were not immediately known.

Extent of the injuries to those who survived was not known. Some of the children were reported to have suffered cuts and bruises when they jumped from bedroom windows into a foot of snow.

Police said one child managed to run to a neighbor's house where he telephoned for help.

Shooting Victims Identified

KITCHENER (CP) — Coroner Dr. Gerald Lynne-Davies said Thursday the slaying of a young couple in a farm house near here were apparently a murder-suicide.

The couple were identified as George Cardinal Jr., 27, son of a co-owner of the farm, and Judith McCaw, 24, of Thetford Mines, Que.

An autopsy showed the woman had been shot in the chest and head and the man through the mouth. Police said the bullets came from a .22-calibre pistol found at the scene.

Turk Cypriots Name Council

NICOSIA (AP) — Concern over the possibility of war was visible between the Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots grew today after leaders of the Turkish minority named an 11-man "provisional administrative council" Thursday night to run the affairs of the 100,000 Turkish-Cypriots scattered over the Greek-dominated island.

Cypriot government circles, made up entirely of Greek-Cypriots since communal fighting four years ago, interpreted the action as a proclamation of a separate Turkish-Cypriot government.

But a Turkish-Cypriot spokesman called the move an administrative matter, and Turkish government officials in Ankara sought to play down the council's establishment. They said it was only temporary and would not alter the 1960 accords that gave the island independence.

Turkish-Cypriot leaders said the council will perform the administrative tasks the Turkish-Cypriots have, in fact, been handling for their own enclaves since the UN peace force arrived in 1964 as a buffer between them and the island's 500,000 Greeks. There are about 900 Canadians in the force.

A particular source of concern for the Greek-Cypriots was the appointment to the council of Rauf Denktash as vice-chairman under Dr. Fazil Kutchuk, the chairman and holder of the now-powerless vice-presidency allotted the Turkish-Cypriots in the government of Cyprus.

Now living in Ankara, Denktash is considered an extremist by the Greeks and a leading spokesman for the view that partition is the only guarantee for the rights of the Turkish-Cypriots.

Bombs Hit Friends

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force Canberra bombers mistakenly strafed a company of South Vietnamese irregulars locked in a jungle fight with the Viet Cong Thursday, killing four of the irregulars and wounding 32 and two American advisers, the U.S. command announced.

It said the South Vietnamese force was battling a Viet Cong force in the jungled coastlands of Binh Thuan province about 125 miles northeast of Saigon.

Negro Riots in Northern U.S. Likely

NEW YORK (AP) — Riots by Negroes in northern U.S. cities "will continue until the well of available cities runs dry," a psychologist declared today.

Explosive violence born of frustrations in Negro ghettos will go on, said Dr. T. M. Tomkinson, unless:

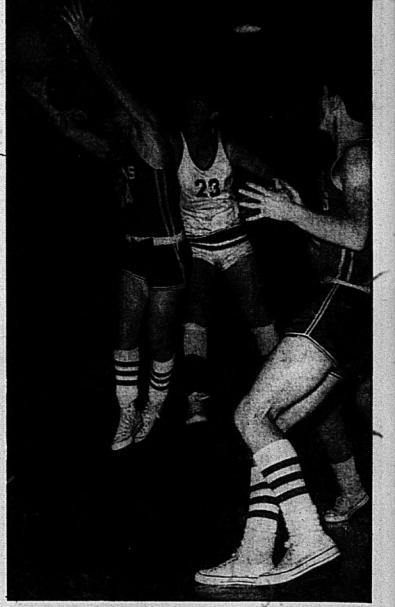
—Massive funds, at least $30,000,000,000 to $25,000,000,000, are made available to combat poverty and other intolerable living conditions. He said this "would not happen in an election year."

—White society demonstrates its "faith in the concept of Negro equality. Negroes have lost faith. They no longer believe that whites will allow them to take their place in society.

"Negroes are given the chance to organize around economic and political projects that allow all Negroes "to pursue the constructive goals of political and economic power."

Dr. Tomlinson, now with the office of economic opportunity in Washington, was teaching at the University of California at Los Angeles when the 1965 Watts riot erupted, and was a co-investigator soon afterward of its causes.

That study, plus some from other riot-torn cities, shows that many whites still entertain dangerous myths, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.



The myths, he said, are that few Negroes take part in riots; that few sympathize with rioters; that most Negroes regard riots as haphazard and meaningless; that Negroes expect and are afraid of white retaliation and a worsening of interrace relationships.

The Los Angeles riot in Watts "had the purpose of letting the whites know 'how it is' for Negroes," Dr. Tomlinson said.

It "took the lid off by disinhibiting a riot response to the conditions of Negro life that had always existed," and riots now "have assumed the shape of a popular movement."

"There are no deterrents sufficient to expunge the outrage that gives birth to Negro violence, except their own fear, and that comes after the fact," Dr. Tomlinson said.

Riots have exploded where they weren't expected—as in Detroit with "relatively high Negro employment and wage rates"—indicating that "what is unacceptable about Negro life does not vary much from city to city, and the differences in Negro life from city to city are irrelevant. The unifying feature is the consensus that Negroes have been missled by whites."

Province Bears Cost

Hospital to Construct Million Dollar Services Building

The Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital today confirmed plans for the construction of a new hospital building costing an estimated $1,173,000 and expected to get under way next summer.

The new building, to be constructed on the site of the present East and South wings, would house hospital administration offices, the medical records department, laundry, and hospital library.

It is expected the new building will be constructed at no cost to the city of Belleville or the county of Hastings.

The announcement regarding the proposed new construction was as follows:

"Harleigh A. Hamilton, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital today announced that Ontario Hospital Services Commission has authorized an amount of $1,173,320.50 as a special loan for building purposes.

"In view of the fact that the Belleville hospital already has a loan from the Commission, there are certain forgiveness features about this second loan and it is not anticipated that the hospital will have to repay this amount."

"The loan will enable the board of governors to submit a project to Ontario Hospital Services Commission for the demolition of the 19th Century south and east wing sections of the existing hospital and the construction of a new building to house administration offices, medical records department, laundry and hospital library, and will connect up the existing hospital to the new hospital."

Mr. Hamilton in his statement said it was hoped that construction can get under way in May or June of 1968 and be completed by the fall of 1969.

He said that approval by city council and Hastings county council will be necessary for the proposed arrangements.

A hospital official said that certain preparatory work could be done before it would be necessary to demolish the old East and South hospital wings.

Under the proposal the present main entrance to the hospital would be demolished. Demolition of the old wings is not expected to be started until the spring of 1969.

The additional $1,173,000 from the Ontario Hospital Services Commission became available to Belleville General Hospital as the result of a change in the provincial grant structure about 18 months ago.

When the $8,000,000 hospital addition was started, two years ago the hospital grant structure was based on the number of new beds being added — 320 in the case of the Belleville addition.

However, under the new grant structure the province bears two thirds of the cost of proposed construction. The new grant structure has been applied to the new $8,000,000 hospital addition, making the extra funds available to the board.

Loyalist First Semester Review Cuts Enrolment to 85 Per Cent

Loyalist College may be striking for new horizons in education.

But it has forcefully emphasized it is not departing from at least one school tradition: scholastic success equals work.

Loyalist today reported it was dropping 15 per cent of its initial September enrolment following a review board scrutiny of student work response.

President John K. Bradford emphasized that most of those to fall showed lack of interest in attendance and assignments.

Results of the first semester's work are now in the mail and show 85 per cent "have been granted permission to continue" for the second half of the academic year.

"One or two" of the failing 15 per cent found the courses "beyond their capability," revealed Mr. Bradford.

Then he drove home the message in what Loyalist expects from a student.

"... the majority of those who failed to make a satisfactory standing unfortunately demonstrated that they had a lack of interest in the work that they were doing . . ."

Further, "they showed it by their failure to attend classes or to turn in assignments."

The theme was supported by J. G. Burrows, chairman of Loyalist's arts and business division.

"In some of the business subjects", said Mr. Burrows, "there was almost exact correlation between percentage of attendance and the marks obtained by the student".

The decision of the review board may serve its own lesson.

Loyalist does not insist on compulsory attendance. But, each student is given the responsibility to reach his potential "measured by his own degree of motivation", says Dr. Bradford.

The results of the first semester were encouraging, he emphasized.

Loyalist's staff is "striving to create an educational institution that would continue to bring credit to the community . . ."

Cold Weather Expected Throughout Quinte Area

All the hearty hoopla of New Year whoopings will fail to warm the Quinte area's date with 1968.

The bells may peal—but the populace will button-up — against chilly, below normal temperatures.

In fact, the mercury may skate down an icy temperature scale to as low as ten degrees above in the Belleville-Trenton area, the weatherman predicted today.

This means it will be that much colder in Quinte's northern hemisphere.

However, there's one bright spot.

While there may be some snow flurries in the next five days, there's no sign of any disturbance similar to yesterday's weather blitz.

Today, the southern region of the district has recovered from the snow dropout that swirled around the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte shorelines.

It dumped up to 14 inches in exposed areas of Prince Edward County, petering out to a mere 1.1 inches in the Belleville district.

Despite poor driving conditions there were no serious accidents — although hydro authorities lost two poles in separate mishaps last night.

South of Frankford $200 damage was caused an automobile driven by Michael Wynne, 23, of Bayside, when his car struck a pole on Highway 33.

On Highway 2, about five miles west of Belleville a similar mishap caused $400 damage to a car driven by Lawrence Furlong, 25, of Canadian Forces Base, Trenton.

Neither driver was injured.

Fire Inspector Probes Scene

MADOC — An Ontario Fire Marshal's inspector today here was to probe the gutted shell of a small frame house where the body of a 69-year-aged occupant was discovered Thursday.

Andrew Alexander, whom police believed to be 84, was found on the floor of his bedroom, moments after firemen put out a blaze which left the Seymour Street residence a shell.

OFM inspector Del Hope, stationed in Belleville, was called in last night to seek the cause of the fatal blaze.

Provincial police said he would begin his investigations today.

The blaze was spotted at 1.55 p.m. by Ron Hyde, a member of the village's volunteer fire brigade, as he walked by the house.

The volunteers had the fire under control about 15 minutes after answering Hyde's alarm.

The residence's several small rooms were heated by a combination wood-oil stove.

A bachelor, Mr. Alexander had lived in the Madoc area all his life.

He was born north of the village at Queensboro, worked as a laborer, and moved into Madoc five years ago.

He leaves a sister — Mrs. Sarah Henry, of R. R. 2, Madoc—and was predeceased by a sister and three brothers.

He attended the United Church and was a member of the Queensboro Loyal Orange Lodge 127 and the Royal Black Preceptory.

Funeral service for Mr. Alexander will be held Saturday at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, with interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Council Caucus Wednesday To Appoint Board Members

New appointments to the many city boards and commissions are coming up and members-elect to the 1968 council will hold an informal caucus meeting next week to consider appointment possibilities.

Mayor-elect Dr. J. Russell Scott has called the caucus meeting for Wednesday, Jan. 3.

At the meeting new appointments to the hospital board, the city parks and recreation committee; the Industrial Commission, Transit Committee, the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board and others will be considered.

The normal procedure is for caucus appointments to be confirmed at the inaugural meeting of council, this year schedule for Jan. 8.

There will be one aldermanic appointment necessary for the Industrial Commission. Last year's aldermanic representative, Thomas Carruthers failed in his bid for re-election. Mayor-elect Scott will be ex-officio member on the commission.

Two city appointments are necessary for the hospital board. Both members whose terms are now up, Magr. J. P. Sullivan and J. B. Corke, could be re-appointed.

Frankford Ends Centennial With Wind-up Dinner for 300

FRANKFORD — Members of the Frankford centennial committee last night wound up centennial year activities with a banquet which attracted over 300 people in the Dr. Dan McMullen Community Centre.

Centennial scrolls were presented to about 15 persons for centennial year activities. Included among the recipients were Reeve Ray Moran, past reeves and councillors, Frankford college student John Boyarchuk, Mrs. Frank Rebel, and singers of the Frankford Centennial Choir.

Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson and Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South, made the presentations.

A feature of the evening program was a talk by William Chesher, president of the Frankford Royal Canadian Legion, who urged the municipality to provide more sports and recreational facilities for village young people.

With only natural ice in the village, young people had to go outside the village for hockey activity and for most of their skating, he said.

The village centennial choir sang several numbers, while Frankford bank manager Robert Demeester, entertained with guitar and solo numbers.

The women's associations from the several Frankford churches catered to the banquet.

G. H. Meadows to Head Moore's Trenton Plant

TRENTON — Moore Business Forms Ltd., this town's newest industry — perhaps destined to be its biggest — today announced appointment of its local plant manager.

He is G. H. Meadows, former manager of Moore's Toronto operations.

Company officials announced recently they expected to have the Trenton operation in production by late 1968. It will eventually employ up to 250.

Mr. Meadays, born in Nashville, Ont., started with the Moore organization in 1931 and has lived in Toronto most of his business life.

He was appointed Toronto plant manager in 1957 after eight years as assistant manager.

He will reside in Trenton from next summer.

IN MEMORIAM

PETRIE — In ever loving memory of a dear son, David, who passed away December 29th, 1963.
Days of sorrow we still come to see,
Years in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you near and dear
Though you died two years ago.
—Ever loved and never forgotten by Mom.

KETCHESON, Harry — In loving memory of my dear father who passed away one year ago today.
The silent one is great, for short or never.
We little thought his death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The sorrow of parting without farewell.
—Ever remembered by wife Howard and family and grandson Gordon.

KETCHESON, Harry — In loving memory of my dear husband who passed away one year ago today.
The rolling streams of life flows on,
But still the vacant chair,
Reveals the face we love and smile,
Of one who once sat there.
We never remembered by wife Gertrude, daughters Helen and Sheila.

CARTER — In loving memory of two brothers, Clare who lost his life on December 29th, 1944 and Bill who passed away on December 29th, 1966.
They shall not grow old,
As we are left to grow old,
Age will not weary them,
Nor the years condemn,
As the years go passing down the sun and in the morning,
We shall remember them.
Bill McGowan, Mrs. Marasco's brother and owner of the house, suffered burns to his hands, head and face when he attempted to reach the children.

A fire department spokesman said the blaze is believed to have started in a kitchen gas stove.

BIRTH

LAVENDING — At and Mrs. Elmore Lavlenden, 173 Wright Avenue proud to announced the arrival of their daughter Sandra Michele on December 26, 1967 at the Belleville General Hospital. A sister for Kent Jeffery.

Hamilton House Fire Kills Four

HAMILTON (CP) — A mother and her three children were killed today when a fire burned through a two-story home here.

Margaret Maracle, her son, Mark, 7 and two daughters, Justine, 5, and Margaret, two, died when they were trapped on the second floor of the duplex.

Bill McGowan, Mrs. Maracle's brother and owner of the house, suffered burns to his hands, head and face when he attempted to reach the children.

"It Works Like So..."

Pte. David Standing of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment gives Vincent Moase the rundown on how to operate a 303 rifle. This model was converted to a .22 calibre for target practice. The Hasty Pee display is part of its recruit presentation on Front Street which is open from noon until nine in the evening.

Less Traffic

Railroad Employment Down

A lower volume of rail traffic, together with a reorganization of maintenance forces has resulted in a slack period this fall for many Belleville railroaders.

As result, running crews are getting fewer times out, while the re-grouping of section crews and other workers has resulted in some layoffs.

"Traffic is down and this has affected the running crews", states Rideau area manager Harry J. Fast at Belleville.

According to Mr. Fast the railway slack is general across the entire CN system and not confined to the Belleville area.

He said however, the overall railway employment picture was sort of a "give and take" proposition. Some workers in some branches were being laid off while others were being taken on as new jobs opened up.

With the opening of the new master agency in Belleville last summer, a new system of freight and express handling went into effect in the Quinte area.

Freight and express offices in many of the smaller centres have been closed, and while pickup and delivery service remains as before shipments are now sorted and shipped out of Belleville.

Specialized equipment speeds up the sorting process while the paper work such as documenting shipments and making collections is more efficiently done from the one central office.

But there have been lay-offs in the bridge and building department and also among the section crews as mechanized track maintenance equipment sees increased use.

The lay-offs involving section crews are the result of re-organization of crews adjusting the number of men to fit in with the new track maintenance machinery.

In the old days and up until the advent of the mechanized ballasting and track laying equipment, the make-up of section crews remained largely unchanged.

The policy was for one foreman and two or three section men having charge of about 10 miles of track.

Now that is changed.

Section crews are being regrouped with machinery operators for each crew and instead of gangs having charge of 10 miles of track, their areas have been expanded to 25 and even 50 miles of track.

Mr. Fast was unable to say just how many men had been affected by the changes.

"But there has been no mass lay-off — it is not serious," says the Rideau area manager.

Trenton Council

Committees, Boards Undergo Shuffle

TRENTON — Year-end personnel changes took precedence at last night's windup 1967 town council session.

Clerk - comptroller G. W. Larry outlined plans for the 1968 inaugural council meeting, to be held in the town courtroom Wednesday morning, Jan. 3, and followed by a special luncheon of civic officials.

The initial meeting's main task will involve the swearing-in of Russ Burtt, Gerald Weaver and E. M. "Ted" Parker as councillors for two-year terms.

They replace J. D. Kinney, C. V. Graham and D. R. Fraser, defeated incumbents in the municipal elections earlier this month.

Mr. Larry also reminded councillors last night they had two major municipal vacancies to fill as soon as possible, following the recent resignations of town engineer Eric Aldersey and local welfare administrator Gordon Davis.

Both resignations are effective De.. 31 and no prospective replacements have yet been officially considered by council.

The 1968 edition of council will also have to assure that some 27 positions on nine municipal boards and committees are filled as soon as possible after the new year.

Councillors agreed at last night anyone at present serving on a town committee is automatically eligible for council consideration to retain their job.

Only four letters have been received from others interested in civic participation, in response to recent advertisements, the clerk told council.

Mayor James MacDonald added that appointees to town boards not wanting to continue should inform council immediately.

Mr. Larry said he would have a complete list compiled of prospective appointees for council's consideration by next Wednesday's inaugural 1968 meeting.

Among the municipal bodies on which vacancies have arisen are the parking authority (three to be appointed for three-year terms), the recreation committee (five one-year appointees needed), and the board of parks management (two vacancies for three-year appointments.)

Council committees will also undergo drastic changes, after the defeat of three of the six sitting members at the polls.

The public works committee, for example, will lose the services of councillors Fraser and Graham, as well as Mr. Aldersey.

Only Councillor Paul Tripp, with one year remaining on his two-year term, remains the only member of 1967 public works committee.

A Street by Any Other Name....

TRENTON — What's in a name?

Quite a lot, if it's to identify a street, town councillors found out last night.

In declaring a north Trenton roadway off Sidney St. a public thoroughfare, council had to decide on a suitable name.

The road will service the site of the new Moore Corporation plant, to be built within the next year, and lying in the heart of property designated by council as prime industrial property.

Councillor Paul Tripp, chairman of the industrial committee, said the street, crescent or avenue, should bear the Moore name.

Other councillors objected that the name might not be appropriate in the future, in the event other industries located in the same vicinity.

Mayor James MacDonald said company officials, for a similar reason, had declined a town proposal that the street be named after a leading Moore executive.

"How about 'Industrial Avenue'," offered Councillor D. R. Fraser.

Hickory Street was tossed out, as was Arbour Drive.

In the end, "Douglas Road" was agreed upon, in honor of Councillor J. Douglas Kinney, defeated at the polls in this month's municipal elections.

Only Councillor Tripp opposed the motion.

Council Briefs

A pair of public works committee recommendations to last night's final 1967 town council meeting will be dealt with by the 1968 council.

The committee recommended striking a fixed fee frontage rate for the installation of sanitary sewers. Councillors have been of the opinion that some property owners, in difficult-to-service areas, have been penalized by higher excavation costs in wanting to install basic services to their land.

A second recommendation called for council to make an offer to purchase a portion of St. gravel pit from Lorne Carr, at a price to be determined.

The pit, lying adjacent to Mount Pelion parks board property, has been blamed for making erosion problems in the area more acute.

Its presence also hampers parks board plans to face-lift the mountain into a major night-seeing park attraction.

Council has approved Clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry's attendance at a special conference of municipal delegates on taxation in Toronto Jan. 12-13.

Principal guest speaker for the conference will be Ontario Premier John Robarts.

In addition to discussion of the Smith Report on taxation, conference topics include local assessment and regional government.

The lowest of four tenders received to assume janitorial duties at the town office is a $3,200 bid, the town clerk told last night's council meeting.

Man Jailed For Having Stolen Item

Gary Roy Foster, 22, of R. R. 7 Belleville was sentenced today in city magistrate's court to nine months definite and nine months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate T. Y. Wills. Foster was given another three months sentence to be served concurrent to the other sentences.

Foster pleaded guilty last week to a cty police charge of possession of stolen goods under $30 and to a county charge of possession over $50.

Foster was arrested while in possession of an alarm clock which had been stolen from the Bellevelle General Hospital.

The nine and three months' sentences were for the county charge while the three month concurrent sentence was for the city charge.

Napanee Woman Killed

NAPANEE — Mrs. Jack (Marjorie) Walmsley, 48, of 189 Second Ave. was killed instantly in the two-car accident on the outskirts of the community. She was driving one of the accident vehicles.

A passenger in the second car, Larry Thompson, 12, was taken to hospital and leg injuries at the Lennox and Addington hospital and treated and released to Kingston General Hospital. He is reported to be in serious condition.

The driver of the vehicle, Eric Wide, was treated for bruises and lacerations at the Lennox and Addington Hospital and released.

The accident occurred on Highway 41 near the town limits. Mrs. Walmsley was driving north when the collision with the Wilde car occurred.

Police Chief Joseph Paquette reported driving conditions were hazardous although the highway had been sanded prior to the collision.

A post mortem was held in Kingston but coroner Dr. Robert A. McLellan says no decision has been made regarding an inquest.

Mrs. Walmsley taught typing at night school. Her husband is vice-principal of Napanee District Secondary School. The couple had no children.

Obituaries and Funerals

Immigrants From U. S.

Americans who discover that Canada offers the good life they were accustomed to at home with less of the tension, violence and insecurity so prevalent in the U.S. today are among the reasons this country is entering 1968 with greater potential than ever.

The United States now ranks third among countries sending immigrants to people to Canada. This year there have been 14,000 arrivals, an increase of 12 per cent over 1966.

Of 103,000 immigrants entering Ontario this year, 54,000 have come from Britain, and another 25,000 from Italy.

If population growth is being discouraged in the world at large, that is not the case here where only 20 million inhabit the second largest land mass on earth. Canada can absorb population for years to come.

The opportunities are here too. For instance, the 1967 research index of the Ontario Economic Council shows an increase of nearly ten per cent in research projects being sponsored by private industry and government.

Transportation Needs

The Brockville Recorder and Times has been lamenting the small pickings the Leeds County area has been receiving of late from the provincial government.

An earlier letter to the newspaper had spoken of rebuffs handed to Brockville by Queen's Park and the editorial goes on to note the city also lost a bid for a direct link with Ottawa via Highway 16. Instead, this projected new freeway will run between the capital and Johnstown, east of Prescott.

Next the editorial complains of a change in mail service that will put some parts of the county "three or four days away from Brockville and moves us back to the pioneer state."

To make matters worse for the area 100 miles west of us, the Brockville-Westport bus line is being discontinued. Of this development, the newspaper says: "First they killed the B and W Railway, saying that buses and trucks could do the job more efficiently and at less cost. Now the government is about to make a move that will kill this link with the north end of Leeds."

If local sentiment and needs are not being served, Brockville and the county at least may feel some satisfaction at the prospect of Ottawa having a freeway link with the St. Lawrence region at large. For a capital city the highways now serving Ottawa from the south are a good deal less than adequate.

Once Highway 416 is completed, attention should be given to Highway 2 east and west from Johnstown. Here is another narrow, undulating and twisting highway that invites traffic accidents between Belleville and Trenton we have the same circumstances, on the same highway. However, it is encouraging to note that survey crews are working on this 10-mile stretch now. There is room for improvement along the entire route.

Insurance and Accidents

Ontario drivers, believe it or not, are to benefit next year from an average drop of 6.8 per cent in auto insurance.

As if to celebrate this recent announcement of the Canadian Underwriters' Association and show they are worthy of such a concession, the drivers of Metro Toronto came up with a fatality-free Christmas period. It was the first time in ten years that no one was killed.

Deputy Chief John Murray's analysis of Metro's success is worth remembering as another year draws to a close: "We policed a little harder than usual and the news media gave excellent co-operation, but it was the serious attitude of the public itself which gave us a fatality-free holiday and which cut the number of accidents by almost half."

Across the country the picture was less bright. In all fifty-seven persons died in traffic accidents.

Still, Toronto's experience is encouraging. It is indicative of what a concentrated effort by police, with the co-operation of public and news media can accomplish.

To return to the subject of car insurance, there will be an average drop of 2.3 per cent in premiums in 1968. Again, this is an overall figure which will not apply uniformly across Canada. Some persons will get bigger reductions, while others will pay more.

Newfoundland for some reason will be hit hardest of all. Drivers in the island province, with a population of little over half-a-million, will pay an average of 12.2 per cent more for their insurance. This does not say much for Newfoundland drivers. With such a small population and a total land area of more than 140,000 square miles accidents should be rare enough there.

Shades of the Election

Peace No Nearer But LBJ Shows Power of Presidency

By ARCH McKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — Peace is no nearer in Southeast Asia after President Johnson's help of more than 27,000 miles to Australia, Thailand, Vietnam, Pakistan and then Rome and a chat with the Pope.

But the 1968 presidential election campaign is better defined.

The master politician, as the New York Times observes, brushed all the bases. A sincere decline, to attend Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt's funeral was the start.

Thereafter is was a demonstration of the unique powers built into the office of the American presidency — and the fact the 1968 election campaign has opened unusually early.

The president is head of state, commander in chief and a party leader, a hard combination to beat. This is the more true when coupled with the Johnson comprehension and grasp of what power is all about, the shape of the American political machine and the special Johnson concept of how both should be run.

It helps explain why only two American presidents have ever been denied their party's renomination, none this century.

The American president actually wields more power than any Soviet leader since Josef Stalin, more than any Western-world prime minister and as much at times as President de Gaulle of France.

"The presidency seems to me to be a seed bed for, and already to have in it some of the seeds of, the most refined of all absolute systems: Caseysuperman," observes English Journalist Henry Fairlie.

He defines Caseysuperman in an attempt to Europe's post-Roman period to "work out the relationship between people, emperor, pope and God in one constitution."

Fairlie, an observer of the American scene from Washington for two years now, presents some thoughts on the presidency in a recent issue of a publication called The Public Interest.

He scoffs at any suggestion the presidency is a hard-and-fast institution by pointing at the contrasting personal styles imagined by Lyndon Baines Johnson, Dwight D. Eisenhower or the late John F. Kennedy.

"We are not, in fact, going on an institution at all but an arbitrarily-flexible instrument of political will," he contends.

"More and more, it seems to me, the presidency in the U.S. having originally received power from below — and it is already acting . . . as if power is confirmed to it from above, by the law, the nation, the allegedly masiffest... goals or the organic people."

He says the U.S. president, similar to de Gaulle, "increasingly acts in day-to-day matters under the claims that he represents a superior national will — a claim which, in a moment of national crisis, President Lincoln felt bound to assert."

Support for the Fairlie theses conceivably could be found among politicians including Senator J. W. Fulbright, who says he fears erosion of Senate influence on foreign policy, or Senator Eugene McCarthy who seeks to rally Vietnam war dissent as a force to change the president's war policy.

The power of the president wielded in a public relations sense only, however, is displayed by the latest Louis Harris opinion poll showing how a tougher public line on controlling the war is being built up. This will stand the president in good stead at the voting booths next November.

Quebec Surveys Immigration Scene

Montreal La Presse

Statistics published by the Quebec immigration service do not teach us very much new about a situation we have deplored for years but which we haven't tried very hard to change. It was generally known . . . that 90 per cent of the new Canadians who have arrived here since 1945 enlarged the Anglophone group. In Montreal, always described as "the second largest French-language city in the world," the proportion reaches 98 per cent.

From 1945 to 1966, the number of British immigrants arriving in Quebec was double the number of French immigrants, that is 94,726 against 49,682. . . . In addition, immigrants such as the Germans, Austrians, Dutch and Americans—about 100,000 newcomers, all told—appear to have integrated "almost naturally" in the English sector. Thus from the outset, more than 50 per cent of the immigrants who elected in the last 20 years to live in Quebec were already enlarged to the English language and culture.

That is a severe handicap to overcome, even in a province where French is the language of the majority. . . .

There is something still more serious, since 30 per cent of others, that is to say, French, Italian, Belgian and Swiss immigrants, have opted for the English school and the English milieu, attracted as they are by the better economic prospects. To . . . re-establish an equilibrium appears to be a long and difficult undertaking.

Decree French unilingualism, say the supporters of radical solutions, who believe that reality bends like a reed before the wind of official edicts. They forget that in a democratic regime people cannot be forced to learn a language that is not strictly necessary to earn their livelihood. They can be pushed by the force of persuasion, but the process is slow. The situation can only lead to pessimism, because in this field there is, one might say, no more time to lose.

Resourceful Housewife Aids Ice-bound Trucker

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

The male ego notwithstanding there are women who can give a nail one gentle tap, to set it this point in the wood, and then drive it home with a second swing of the hammer. There are also ever-rare few who spend more time pulling out the nails they drove crooked than they do driving nails straight.

It is seldom easy, though, for the male to admit that some female does excel him in the arts that are supposed to be in the male province. Least of all is a husband willing to believe that his wife might possibly be more adept than he is at driving the family car.

The natural tendency of the male is to growl and snort at any suggestion that any woman might be able to back a car into the narrow garage where the male has just dinted a rear fender.

There was a real test of male composure in the incident in which a Preston woman came to the rescue of a truck driver whose vehicle was stuck on ice. When Mrs. Peter Wehrle decided to help the trucker, who had been trying salt, sand and every other trick known to him, shovel little gratitude.

Mrs. Wehrle helped anyway, even if her offer had not been welcomed. She had a spray can of de-icer, which she applied to the truck tire that was helpless on ice. Then the truck moved.

We commend Mrs. Wehrle, naturally, for her tactful insistence that she could help. Even more, we commend the truck driver. He was able to swallow his masculine pride and give proper credit to the woman who got a truck moving when he had been unable to. He must have done so, because she got a letter of thanks from the trucking company.

The 'Folks' One Meets In Prison

Windsor Star

Folk singer Joan Baez, going to Jail because of participation in protest manoeuvres in Oakland, Calif., rather liked the idea. She had been in prison before and commented: "I met some fascinating people. There was a dope addict in the cell — my left and a girl who had killed her husband to my right."

Miss Baez has a point, if that be her interpretation of fascinating people. Most, however, will be content to meet less fascinating people and in other circumstances. Dope addicts and murderesses aren't our concept of the people we would like to have in adjoining rooms.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 29, 1967 . . .

Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, was murdered in his own cathedral 797 years ago today—in 1170 —by supporters of King Henry II. The son of a London merchant, Thomas became chancellor (prime minister) of England at 37 years old, the first English man to occupy the post since the Norman Conquest. He proved an excellent politician and lived in splendor rivalling the king's. He generally believed the murder followed Henry's wild cry: "Who will rid me of this turbulent priest!"

1845—Texas admitted to the United States.

1848—Gas light installed in the White House.

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—Birch and other villages north of Jerusalem were captured by British troops; Bessarabia declared itself independent with the intention of joining the Russian federated republics.

Second World War

Two years ago today—in 1943—British patrols attached to German rearguard west of Wadi Bel el Chebir, 195 miles from Tripoli; British force pushing into western Burma reached a point near Rathedaung, about 25 miles from Akyab; Russian armies drove ahead on a 300-mile front from the Ukraine to the Kalmyck steppes in the Caucasus.

'Le Pub' Is A Big Hit In Montreal

Peterborough Examiner

Montreal's latest rage 'le pub' which is very similar to a British pub, is likely to expand throughout Canada. University students and staff have been pressing for such establishments on campuses in Sudbury and Port Arthur. The British pub at Expo 67 was a rollicking success and has been successfully repeated in the downtown area of Montreal. Support has not been restricted to the English-speaking Montrealers. All indications are that 'le pub' is now displacing the discotheques as the go-go dancing spots as the 'in' public establishment.

Housing Crisis Solutions Could Have Been Found

Ottawa Le Droit

With the best intentions in the world, we have vainly sought reasons that could justify the meeting of 10 provincial premiers and the prime minister of Canada to discuss the problem of housing.

The conference produced no concrete result. Everyone recognized the gravity of the housing crisis in Canada. Everyone expressed compassion for the lot of the small taxpayer who is confronted with an untenable position, but no one was willing to take the initiative in finding a durable solution. The provinces realize that the problem comes within their jurisdiction, but they have no money. Invited to Ottawa to take a closer look at the problem, they rightly expected some concrete proposal by the federal government. They were disappointed.

Ottawa claims its coffers are empty. . . .

Fast and simple solutions could have given a spurt to the housing industry: Reduce the tax on construction materials, first of all; arrange a system of rebates on interest rates of more than seven per cent; take steps to eliminate speculation on housing lots on the outskirts of cities.

$1,020 Per Man Canadians in the Hole To the Tune of Eight Billion Dollars

Peterborough Examiner

The fact that we are all broke — in fact, hopelessly in debt — will come as no surprise to any one. But the extent of our indebtedness, on the average $1,020 for every working Canadian, might cause a few eyebrows to raise.

But how can we help but owe money? The banks, the finance companies, the department stores with their revolving credit, the used-car dealers with their low down-payment plans, the appliance stores with their nothing - to - pay - until - after - Christmas offers and the airlines with their go - now pay - later schemes are all fighting each other to lend us money. To refuse their offers would only depress the economy.

Personal mortgages aside, we owe a total of $8,000,000,000. The interest charges on this sum must be somewhere in the vicinity of $960,000,000 per annum. Does anyone seriously think we can keep up with payments like that? Does anyone believe we have a ghost of a chance of ever seeing financial daylight again?

It was the department stores and finance companies with their easy terms that got us into this mess. So it's up to them to get us out.

Women in Ascendancy Except in Prairies

Brantford Expositor

Canadian society is not only becoming more urban but more feminine as well and there is a connection between the two. The 1966 mini-census shows 101 males for every 100 women in Canada, the lowest ratio since the Dominion Bureau of Statistics started keeping a record in 1901.

Though there is an odd man out in every 100 couples as a national average, in municipalities of 10,000 people or more, women outnumber men 100 to 98. A wupple of per-cent chance of getting a man by rural areas where males out-number females by 108-100, Saskatchewan in particular is far from being a lonesome prairie for the fair sex. With 102 men to every 100 women, the matrimonial chances for women are mathematically better there than in any other province.

Reduction in Available U.S. Money Could Affect Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Central Bank has sent a small but significant burst of grapeshot across the bows of the American economy by reducing the money available for bank loans.

The signal is tighter money—less credit. It will cost Mouse Jaw, Nova Scotia and Quebec Hydro more to borrow investment capital in Canada's favorite money market if the signal spreads, as it is designed to do.

This step is part of the psychological warfare effort by the U.S. on the economic home front and for the benefit of critical foreign financial interests.

That is the general view of economists, many of whom are gathered here this week because of assorted professional association meetings.

But there is a lot less certainty about what to do or how it will affect Canada and other countries sensitive to what the U.S. economy does or does not do.

Much of the American psychological effort is designed to maintain confidence in the American dollar by promising to curb the chronic dollar drain. There has been growing criticism from Europe, in particular, that this deficit is a bad thing.

U.S. spending, lending, investment and fighting abroad in 1967 seems certain to produce a deficit of more than $2,000,000,000 — a phenomenally sore, contrasting with last year's payments gap of $1,400,000,000.

President Johnson still is engaged in a domestic shoving match with Congress. He still wants a tax increase of 10 cents on every income-tax dollar. Congress would like to see the size of his budget slashes first.

While there are numerous forecasts of a pickup in economic activity, including motor car sales, guarantees of sustained economic clamps on steadily-rising prices are less evident.

Along with word of inclusive official deliberations about the dollar drain come reiterations that no new weapons lie at hand to do anything more.

Ending the Vietnam war—costing $2,000,000,000 monthly or $30,000,000 in a full year—is cited as a sure but non-likely solution.

On Dec. 16, the treasury asked 700 corporations to restrain further their foreign investments—to a ceiling of $2,400,000,000 in 1968. Direct new U.S. investment in Canada alone last year was at $1,617,000,000, the U.S. commerce department reports.

There have been congressional proposals to reduce the annual tourist deficit by a head tax or some other discouragement. This is bad political medicine in an election year.

There is some talk of tax manoeuvres to get U.S. subsidiaries in Canada and elsewhere, already under instruction to repatriate as much of their earnings as possible, to send home even more. The companies also are urged to go into the local money markets for investment capital, competing with native users.

Foreign aid has already been cut to the lowest level since the program began after the Second World War. Most of this aid goes ahead of the American-made goods anyway, not dollars.

Intensifying the exports drive is a sure bet. Tighter money in the U.S., coupled with a tax increase, could be expected to reduce demand for U.S. goods.

Air Canada Expects to Show Another Operating Profit in 1967

MONTREAL (CP) — G. R. McGregor, president of Air Canada, said today the airline will record another profit in 196, its 16th in the last 17 years."

In a statement containing a review of 1967 operations, he said the company "expects another healthy year of growth in 1968."

In 1967 Air Canada carried 6,368,000 passengers on scheduled flights, an increase of 22 per cent over 1966. Air freight increased 15 per cent to 85,653,000 ton miles.

Air express rose nine per cent to 6,883,000 and air mail 11 per cent to 21,133,000, both ton miles.

Twelve 96-passenger DC-9 jets and three 196-passenger DC-8 jets expanded the airline's fleet to the aircraft operating on 66,314 miles of routes.

In 1968 and 1969 a further delivery was expected of 21 DC-9s, eight 196 - passenger DC-8s and three 136-passenger DC-8s.

Four supersonic Concorde jets on order for flying 4,450 miles are now due on order for 1973-74 and six supersonic Boeing jets capable of 1,200 miles an hour were to be delivered in 1977.

To smooth air freight operations a new cargo terminal had been opened at Calgary in April, the capacity of the Toronto air cargo terminal was being doubled and new freight terminals were to be built at London and Winnipeg in 1968.

The $1,500,000 Air Canada pavilion at Expo 67 had attracted more than 2,000,000 visitors.

Beef, Eggs Cheaper

OTTAWA (CP) — Beef and eggs may be cheaper in January, economists of the federal agriculture department said in a report Thursday.

The food outlook for the month:

Eggs: Prices will be down seasonally because of heavy supplies.

Chicken: Broiler prices steady with supplies inadequate.

Pork: Supplies appear plentiful and prices in the immediate future may show little change from current levels.

Beef: Supplies are becoming more in balance with demand and soon may weaken from current levels.

Apples: Stocks in storage are slightly greater than a year ago with quality good and prices firm.

Potatoes: Stocks are much smaller than last year but adequate for needs. Market is orderly and prices are firm.

Other vegetables: Root vegetables, cabbage and onions are in adequate supply.

Packaging Silent But Effective Sales Tool

MONTREAL (CP)—Effective packaging is a silent but high-powered sales tool, says executives of Montreal-based container-making companies.

New package designs can sharply increase consumer appeal, while decreasing production costs, president of Provincial Can, adds, a spokesman for Consintental Can Co. of Canada Ltd. of Montreal, parent company.

Huges 463: Grade A at Toronto 28.10-29 currently at Toronto 29; others 27.50.

Sheep and lambs 171: Good handyweight lambs 25.50-26.50; few lights to 40; sheep 5-11.

New developments in packaging are spreading through producers of paperboard products, plastics, glass and metals.

E. H. Gibson, vice-president in charge of the container division of Consolidated-Bathurst Inc. Ltd., says several packages which were in the experimental stage last year are now being produced, with plans for greater expansion.

One of these is "skin-packaging", made of corrugated card board or plastic covered with polyethylene. When heated, the polyethylene drapes over the article, and a vacuum sucks air out, creating a rigid holding cover.

The process is being used to protect small articles like razor ware and glass, and will soon be used for electric motors and automotive parts.

Steve Ellis, marketing director for Consolidated Bathurst, says the day of a "total packaging concept" is arriving.

"It will no longer be a case of selling a product, rather the product and its package would be considered a single co-ordinated item.

Continental Can Co. recently opened a $7,000,000 plant principally to manufacture plastic and soft drink cans and aerosol containers.

Neil Darrach, vice-president for the company's metal division, says the aerosol can has been a "tremendous future." He explained that they contain an aerosol-shaped plastic inner-bottle surrounded by gas.

When the nozzle is pressed to release whatever is in the inner-bottle, the product—for example whipped cream, toothpaste, or shaving lather—comes out without direct contact with the gas.

Similar packages in the past allowed the gas to mix with the product, causing changes in color, taste and consistency.

A company spokesman said within five years metal drink cans will be obsolete.

POLICE INCREASED

Storm Hits New England

NEW YORK (AP) — A winddriven snowstorm swept through the Northeastern U.S. today, burying many inland sections in knee-deep snow and pelting some fringe areas with rain, sleet and freezing rain.

The storm extended into New England after a quick sweep across the South Thursday.

Virginia and western Maryland were hobbled by up to a foot and a half of snow. Northeastern Pennsylvania and northern upstate New York were paced with four-foot-deep snow during the night.

Nickel Largest Producer

Mining Passes $Billion Mark

TORONTO (CP) — Mines Minister Rene Brunelle announced Thursday Ontario's mining industry in 1967 passed the $1,000,000,000 mark in mineral production for the first time.

"The Dominion Bureau of Statistics preliminary estimate of the total value of minerals produced in Ontario was $1,-192,773,628, representing an approximate increase of 25 per cent over the 1966 figure of $957,857,765," Mr. Brunelle said in a statement.

Precious metals, nickel was the largest single producer at nearly $353,000,000, an increase of more than $85,000,000 over 1966.

Copper values increased by more than $75,000,000 to reach nearly $257,000,000.

Zinc ore production was up by $54,000,000, silver over $2,000,000, cadmium by $5,000,000 and lead by $1,000,0.

Golds were down $2,452,000 and uranium by $35,000,000.

The output of non-metallics increased by nearly $4,000,000. Salt was the leader of more than $20,000,000, a gain of about $5,000,000 over the 1966 total of $14,500,000.

Production of natural gas rose slightly and petroleum fell but the net result was a loss of about $250,000,000.

Structural materials remained about the same as last year. Sand, gravel and stone made gains but clay, cement and lime production fell.

Total value of those materials was $131,440,466.

GM to Pay for Cost of Harness

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. Thursday became the first U.S. auto-maker to announce a price increase to cover the cost of front-seat shoulder harnesses—required by federal law on new cars after Monday.

The firm said that starting with a shipment Sunday all cars will have the shoulder harnesses and that the price of the harness, at an option, now only on most models, will become part of the list price.

The firm said the harness costs $22 on all models except the Buick Electra and Buick Riviera, which already have them. It costs $25 and the Cadillac, where it costs $20.

A GM spokesman declined to say whether the company was planning a second general price increase on its 1968 models to cover new increases in the cost of labor and steel which become effective after the first prices were announced in September.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our son is getting married soon, and we have been invited to the wedding. We have also been invited to the bride's parents' home for a reception afterward.

Abby, we are not rich people, and we have been saving for a long time to buy a new car. We have enough money saved to buy the car, but we have been looking forward to the wedding and reception, and we would like to attend both.

Should we buy the car and not go to the wedding and reception, or should we go to the wedding and reception and not buy the car?

DEAR ANON: Go to the wedding and reception and buy the car.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH F. GARTH

Garth – Vesterfelt

St. Margaret's – on the Hill Anglican Church, Belleville was the scene of the marriage on Saturday, December 23 at 12 noon, when Helena Joanne Vesterfelt, daughter of Mr. Robert Vesterfelt and the late Mrs. Robert (Sadie) Vesterfelt was united in marriage to Kenneth Frank Garth of Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garth of Hamilton. Rev. A. Dunlop officiated at the ceremony and traditional wedding music was rendered by Scott Bradford.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law Bruce Nickle, the bride wore a floor length sheath styled bridal gown of Egyptian satin brocade which extended into a flowing train. A bouffant veil of tulle illusion was caught to a cluster of organza roses and petals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centred with two mauve baby orchids.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Mary Bristow who wore a floor-length gown of aqua peau de soie with white lace trim. Her headdress was of matching material and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations.

Herb Donovan was groomsman, while the ushers were Keith Haigh and Kenneth Vesterfelt, brother of the bride.

For the reception at Club Canara, the bride's sister Mrs. Bruce Nickle received the guests wearing a gold crepe sheath dress with matching jacket, brown accessories and a corsage of Orange Delight roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a royal blue lace sheath dress with royal blue and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Leaving on a wedding trip to points west the bride donned a mauve crepe sheath dress with matching cape, black accessories and a mauve orchid corsage.

Upon return Mr. and Mrs. Garth will reside at the Skyview Trailer Court, Trenton.

Church Groups

ST. MARGARET'S A.C.W.

The W. A. branch meeting of St. Margaret's A. C. W. was held recently in the Church Hall and took the form of a potluck supper.

A short business meeting which followed was chaired by president M. Collyer. Reports and correspondence were heard and the devotional from the Living Message was read responsively.

The members decided to prepare and deliver baskets of fruit to some of the elderly and shut-ins of the parish.

List of officers for 1968 is as follows: honorary president, Mrs. A. Dunlop; president, Mrs. T. Collyer; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Pickering; treasurer, Mrs. G. McQueen; educational secretary, Mrs. J. Miles; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. C. LaRue; "Living Message", Mrs. G. Westwell; Extra-cent-a-day, Mrs. G. Bell; United Thankoffering Mrs. C. Brown, and Dept. of Family Life, Mrs. M. Hall.

Rev. Dunlop closed the meeting.

Poll Reveals Something to Be Desired in Restaurant Manners

RERA AND BONNIE CHURCHILL

"Mind your manners" — that's the advice of a panel of restaurant owners recently polled. They literally turned the tables on the motto, "The customer is always right," by insisting that sometimes his, or her, etiquette is something to be desired. Number one on their list of do's for diners is how to order. "Most young women have forgotten, or never knew, that she gives her meal preference to her escort, and he relays it to the waiter," the pros remind. Also, 35 per cent of female customers change their minds at least once or ask for a substitution.

"First daters are the most accident prone." One maitre d' explained, "Instead of relaxing and enjoying themselves, they try too hard." As actress Linda Gamble good-naturedly illustrates, if you knock over a cup of coffee or topple a goblet, try to keep calm. The less fuss you make, the less chance anyone will notice it. If you drop your napkin, don't make a grandstand play of retrieving it. Let it lay there, and, when convenient, ask the waiter for a replacement.

Tipping is the Waterloo for most young people. They either try to hide their gratuity under a napkin, fumble and mumble for several minutes figuring out how much, or go overboard and make too great a display. For the waiter, the "going rate" is 15 to 20 per cent of the check. Put aside a little extra if there's also a headwaiter who performs a special service. Linda, who frequently commutes between her home in San Antonio and Hollywood, where she's appearing in the 20th film, "The Sweet Ride," points out a single girl should pay extra change for the maid in the women's lounge, the doorman if he renders a service, securing a taxi, etc., or for the parking lot attendant who brings her car.

Group in India Objects to Mini-skirts

BOMBAY (CP) — India is a country with more than its fair share of "popular causes" —and one more has just been found.

A "modesty front" has been organized by the citizens of Panaji, a town some 250 miles south of Bombay, "to halt the vulgarization of the female form."

The front, led by a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. Faustino De Souza, will campaign against all types of immodesty among women. Its main target is the mini-skirt.

Father De Souza, an Indian national educated in Portugal, says mini-skirts are "indecent and outrageous" and should be banned by law.

The front has prescribed the following test of modesty: Necklines should not be low; hemlines should cover the knees; sleeves should be at least down to the elbows; no part of the female body should be emphasized by the use of "undesirable underwear;" and those wearing saris — the traditional female costume — should not expose their midriff.

Father De Souza is planning to start branches of the front all over India. He feels that the vast majority of India's 500,000,000 population are opposed to mini-skirts and would be happy to see them outlawed.

Though this is the first time that an organization has been formed to fight "immodesty" among women, many official and non-official bodies in India have been trying to discourage the trend towards scanty or "revealing" costumes.

The education ministry of the northern province of Punjab has ordered that girl students should wear "at least" tight-fitting" clothes. The administration feels that such clothes "distract" the attention of boy students.

One Punjab school fined a girl for appearing in "near-transparent" clothing.

The All India Women's Conference, the country's major women's organization, has asked its members to campaign against female immodesty.

Social workers and educationists blame Hollywood films and sexy magazines imported from Europe and the United States for what one of them described as "the steady erosion of traditional Indian moral values."

Some members of Parliament and provincial legislatures feel that the government should not allocate any foreign exchange for the import of "sleazy" magazines from the West. They also want the Film Censor Board to be more strict with films.

But some observers think that Father De Souza and his fellow-crusaders are waging a lonely battle, judging from the growing popularity of mini-skirts in places such as Bombay, New Delhi and Calcutta and the tolerant, if not positive admiration they evoke in the Indian male heart.

Vitamin C Content Is Tested

OTTAWA — An extensive laboratory test to determine the best value in vitamin C content of citrus products is reported as the leading article in Canadian Consumer, the bi-monthly magazine of the Consumers' Association of Canada in a recent issue.

Tests of fresh oranges, canned juice, frozen concentrate, reconstituted orange juice and the synthetic powders turned up some interesting comparisons and the conclusion that frozen orange juice concentrate gives the best vitamin C value per dollar.

The highly detailed report includes a humorous cartoon which implies the orange was really the original fruit offered in the garden of Eden.

The magazine has an article detailing exemptions from provincial taxes which are applicable when buying children's clothing. Titled "Tax exemptions, or, every little bit helps," the story says that "it appears that it is not uncommon to have sales tax charged up on the cash register slip when, in fact, it should not be paid for certain items."

Infant Christened At Ceremony In Trenton

Christening rites took place in St. George's Anglican Church, Trenton, on Sunday afternoon December 24th, when Carrie Lee Angus, two-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Angus of Kitchener was christened. Rev. K. F. Blatchford performed the ceremony and godparents at this time were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ingram of Toronto. Following the event a reception was held at the infant's maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Alex Howie of Carrying Place R. R. 2.

Family Should Share in Care for Grandma

Dear Doris: When my grandfather died in April my three aunts all walked out telling my grandmother to move in with us, which she did. We couldn't hurt Grandma by telling her not to, so you see we had no say in the matter.

In the last nine months not one of them has even asked her if she would like to visit them for a few days. My grandmother is 77 and has become very childish and interfering, and as a result my mother has also no life of her own. She can't do anything or go anywhere without Grandma tailing along. Mom has lost weight and aged ten years.

We realize we will be old some day too, but is there any way to make the rest of the family share this? — Concerned About Mom

Dear Concerned: Am I to understand the aunts engineered the invasion without so much as by-your-leave? Then it is time said Mom asserted herself.

If they live at a distance her letter to each could call for a rendez-vous out of earshot of Grandma; with the not-so-veiled ultimatum that either a plan must be made or Granny will be shipped off to e..ch one in turn.

DORIS CLARK

This ough. to bring them. The thought that Mom's health is in the balance should strengthen her resolve and yours to be firm about this.

• • •

Dear Doris: I feel it is a lack of "Savoir faire" to offer sympathy to afflicted people in the chapel. It is a thing that I can't do. When possible I will visit the family at home or send a sympathy card.

Wish you would comment on this. —Troubled.

Dear Troubled: Much depends on the closeness of the friend; the support already being given by family members; and one's own ability to say the right thing — which isn't easy. So judgment and tact and poise are needed, and I expect we could equate these qualities with "savoir faire."

Very often all the sorrowing ones need is a touch of the hand, right then; or just one's signature on the visitors book. A personal call at the home, in the dark days that follow the loss, may be greatly treasured.

• • •

Confidential to Unhappy Lover: There is an old prejudice against first cousins marrying one another.

My medical adviser tells me that the only time it is not advisable for cousins to marry is when there is some strain of hereditary ill-health in the family. If both you and your cousin are in really good health, and would not have any strain of weakness to pass down to your children (from both sides, and — h e r efore double — threat), there is no reason why you should not go out together and eventually marry each other.

Ann Landers

Reader Objects to Ann's Antiquated Views

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Many people start out by saying, "I never thought I would have to write to you," but I am not one of those. I have long suspected that one day you would go too far and arouse my indignation to the point where I could no longer remain silent. Today is the day.

ANN LANDERS

Strangely enough, it is not your sarcrow, antiquated views on sex that prompt me to write — it is the letter from the girl whose friend was embarrassed by her ragged underwear when she was admitted to the hospital emergency room.

She said, "Luckily Della suffered only a broken shoulder and dislocated hip but she wasn't concerned about her injuries. It was her faded and soiled underwear that caused her the most agony." And then you, like a big boob, counselled: "Check your linen, girls. Are you wearing a girdle and bra you wouldn't mind modeling in an emergency ward!" All I can say is, Good grief!"

Della should have been thankful to almighty God that she was alive instead of worrying about her underwear. And you backed her up!

I could care less about the condition of my underwear. It's way down on the list of things that count. I think you are both crazy. — RAGGED BUT CAREFREE.

• • •

DEAR RAGGED: If this column did nothing but point up the human frailties and kookiness of people it would serve a useful purpose. It is comforting to know that even the most balanced and stable individuals have nutty hangup or two. And incidentally there is something to be said for tidy underwear. If you haven't tried it, don't knock it.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was glad to see a letter in your column which pointed out that a great many people who complain about the free loaders on relief speak from vague generalities. They have no evidence that the "free loader" is really a lazy good-for-nothing who would rather dog it than put in an honest day's work.

I was on welfare for two years and it meant the difference beween life and death to me and my family. My husband smoked out of the house one winter night and left a note saying he was going off with Veronica to make a new life. I had heard about Veronica but I felt sure his passion for her would cool, as it had for the three dollies who preceded her.

My husband left behind four children under six years of age and a stack of unpaid bills. It was December and the coal bin was nearly empty. There was very little food in the house and our relationship, with the grocer was on a cash-only basis. We were what they call "slow pay."

When I married, my family told me I couldn't count on them for any help and they meant it. If I had not had the assistance of which I hate to think of what would have happened to me and my children. So, thank you, Ann, for refusing to run with the herd who condemn everyone on relief. We are not all parasites. — X.Y.Z.

• • •

DEAR X.: From the dawn of history there have always been people who would rather load than work. The shovel-leaner was not born of the W.P.A. in 1933. He was around when they built the Pyramids and he'll be with us as long as man exists. We must not withhold a helping hand to the ones who need it in order to protect ourselves from being taken in — and no one denies that we do get taken in — plenty.

Chinese Influence Applied To Delicate Roast Duck

By MARY MOORE

The Chinese Influence Applied to Delicate Roast Duck CLIP THIS NOW

If feasible buy a six-pound fresh duck — not a frozen one — for this lovely duck dinner but if you must buy a frozen duck make it anyway for it is memorable.

ROAST DUCK WITH ORANGE (Serves 6)

NOTE: 1) The skin is brushed with orange juice and the stuffing contains orange rind. 2) Roast 2 ducks to serve 10 or 12 people.

One six-pound ready-to-roast duck

Stuffing:

¼ cup butter

1 tablespoon chopped chives

½ teaspoon fresh finely crumbled sage

1 teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon accent

finely grated rind and juice from one large orange (reserve juice for brushing skin)

6 cups fine soft breadcrumbs (slightly packed) butter- Dry duck inside and out as well as you can.

In a large frying pan gently melt butter and add chives, sage, accent, salt and grated orange rind, and stir to mix. Remove from heat and add breadcrumbs and gently toss with fork to blend. Spoon into cavity of duck, but do not pack. Skewer opening shut. Tie wings and legs to body with string. With your finger tips spread all upper skin with fairly hard butter. Sprinkle with salt and sparingly with pepper. Place on trivet on rack in roasting pan and bake uncovered at 200 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours. Now remove bird from oven and brush all available top surfaces with fresh orange juice. Cover bird with tent of foil and raise temperature to 250 deg. Fahr. for 5 hours, basting every hour with orange juice until all is used. You may want to remove foil for last 5 minutes but I did not. The skin was pure gold and crisp. Transfer duck. to preheated platter and serve with Giblet Gravy. To make — Gravy simmer duck's gizzard and heart in water to cover, with lid on, until tender — about 3 hours. Ten minutes before removing from heat add liver until it is "set". Chop gib'ets. Return to broth. Tip and discard all but tablespoons excess fat from roasting pan and add 6 tablespoons flour to pan and scrape sediment from bottom and blend with flour. Stir in chopped gib'ets and broth plus 2 cups boiling water until thick.

Many of you know that the Chinese serve a platter full of crisp duck skin as a single course at their genuine Chinese dinners. I told my guests this and they ate the crisp flavorful skin — some of them with their fingers — pinkies elevated!

Teachers Told Incompetents Should Be Fired

TORONTO (CP) — The firing of incompetent teachers should be supported by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, says I. M. Robb, the federation's retiring general secretary.

Mr. Robb, 64, said at a news conference the federation should protect only teachers who are fired arbitrarily.

If a teacher's rating was unsatisfactory, he should be fired.

"If we could succeed in convincing school boards that if they're dissatisfied with a teacher they can dispose of his services, the good teachers can win higher salaries."

In a speech to 500 delegates, he criticized the federation for supporting policies that he said are out of date. But he supported a growing movement in the organization away from trade unionism and toward professionalism.

He told the assembly of the federation it is clinging to salary policy valid 15 years ago when there was a balance between teacher supply and demand.

The federation's salary policy could be summed up as "more money for every teacher, good, bad or indifferent, every year and if possible the same amount of more money for everyone."

A policy favoring an earned but not necessarily uniform rise would put money where it belonged—in the pockets of good teachers.

He warned that the introduction of 30 county education boards by Jan. 1, 1969 would produce a more sophisticated type of salary negotiation.

A teacher for 26 years, Mr. Robb has been general secretary since 1964.

Establishment of county-sized boards prompted R. L. Davis to suggest the federation abolish itself gradually and amalgamate with the Ontario Teachers Federation.

Mr. Davis said the new boards would force teachers to swallow "the bitter pill" of becoming civil servants. He was defeated in the election for vice-president by Jean Aceti of Sudbury.

Incoming president R. M. Smith, a vocational teacher from Burlington, Ont., refused to comment on Mr. Davis' suggestion to "phase out" the federation.

Earlier, resolutions calling teacher training at Ontario colleges of education "demeaning" and "overly concerned with high school course content" were criticized by an Ottawa delegate.

"There's a hippie-authority attitude in some of these motions," said George Heymans, who has taught at OCE. "What we are hearing are student complaints."

Other executives elected were: vice-presidents: R. W. McAdam, Toronto, G. P. Wilkinson, Dresden; treasurer: A. C. Morris, Toronto; superannuation commissioner J. C. McAlpine, North Bay; board of governors: C. F. Campbell, Merlin; R. P. McDonald, Richmond Hill; J. D. McNabb, Peterborough; K. D. Webster, D. P. Whillans, Egansville; board of regents: D. J. Fleurie, Fort Frances; D. M. Ritchie, Parry Sound.

Maritime Trustees Finish Their Job

MONTREAL (CP) — The Board of Maritime Trustees, appointed in a storm of controversy in 1963 to put an end to inter-union violence on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River, is quietly ending its mandate with the clear respect of all those with whom it had to deal.

The mandate expires at midnight Sunday, but already its work is over and only its chairman, Judge Rene Lippe, remains at his desk.

Today he expects to pay his final visit in the downtown office, where he worked with the five unions in trusteeship and the managements of shipping companies to bring peace to Canada's inland shipping industry.

In an interview Thursday, Judge Lippe said the signs for the future are hopeful.

The five maritime unions, now free to act independently without the control of the trustees, met last week, he said, and agreed in principle to the trustees' recomendations for the setting up of inter-union committees to handle problems which led to strife between them in the early 1960s.

In addition, at a meeting in Ottawa last week, unions and shipping companies agreed to meet further on the trustees' recommendation for joint management-union comittees.

Judge Lippe said he is also hopeful that the Seafarers' International Union of Canada will be reaffiliated to the Canadian Labor Congress before the congress holds its annual convention in the spring.

It was largely the activities of the SIU, expelled from the CLC in 1959, that led to a federal investigation in 1962 by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of Vancouver and the decision of the government to put the maritime unions into trusteeship.

In his 1963 report, Mr. Justice Norris said the SIU was lawless and corrupt and its president, Hal Banks, was a thug.

Banks was dismissed by the trustees and constitutional elections were arranged for the SIU.

Banks fled to the U.S. to escape a prison term for conspiracy to assault a rival union leader. Ontario is currently seeking his extradition from the U.S. to face charges of perjury at the Norris inquiry.

Income Tax Will Rise January 1

OTTAWA (CP) — A batch of federal laws and regulations take effect with the arrival of 1968.

Taxes go up. Tariffs go down. Interest rates will probably speed in both directions.

The government's most impressive New Year's message arrives in pay envelopes, taking the form of an extra five-per-cent pinch on basic personal income taxes.

Weekly payroll deductions will increase by $1.80 for a $200-a-week unmarried executive. The extra levy for a $100-a-week employee with a wife and two children will be 25 cents a week.

The changes affect 3,300,000 of 6,600,000 tax-paying Canadians and bring $25,000,000 into federal coffers in the remaining three months of the current fiscal year ending March 31.

Three Aircraft Firms Fight for Airbus Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — One of commercial aviation's keenest competitions is being waged on the drawing boards of three aircraft manufacturers.

The battle—to win airlines' approval for the so-called airbus, a jetliner capable of hauling up to 350 persons coast-to-coast.

The plane is at least two years away from flying.

Stakes in the competition are high in jobs and dollars.

The plane is designed to haul large numbers of persons in heavy traffic air routes.

Contenders in the competition are Lockheed Aircraft Corp., McDonnell Douglas, and a joint effort by the British, French and West German aircraft industries backed by their governments.

Lockheed is staking its commercial aviation comeback on the airbus, but orders are needed before it starts production. Lockheed produced its last airline transport in 1962 when it turned out its 170th four-engined prop-jet Electra. It's been producing chiefly military craft since then.

Robert I. Mitchell, a Lockheed vice-president, sees an airbus market for 300 planes by 1975 and perhaps 800 by 1980. The planes would cost about $16,000,000 each.

McDonnell Douglas has only said publicly it is developing such a plane, to be called the DC-10.

Lockheed calls its airbus the L-1011, a three-engine jet with two engines slung beneath the wings—one on either side—and the third in the tail.

Lockheed's plane, at 175 feet, can carry up to 350 persons, and has a range of about 2,500 at a speed of 620 m.p.h.

Three manufacturers are bidding to build Lockheed's jet engines. They are Pratt and Whitney, General Electric and Rolls Royce.

Eastern, Trans World Airlines and American admit to being interested in the airbus. United is less interested because of its super DC-8 which carries 200 passengers.

The European entry would be a twin-jet job. Involved are Britain's Hawker Siddeley Aviation, Sud Aviation of France and a West German consortium, Detusche Airbus GMBH. It would be a 220- to 300-passenger plane powered by Rolls Royce jets without coast-to-coast capability. The Europeans say they hope to begin building the plane next summer with the first flight planned in 1971.

The European plane will cost $11,000,000.

Educational TV Is Here to Stay

HAMILTON (CP) — Delegates at a conference on television in the university Thursday disagreed on the best ways to use it.

But most accepted that education via television is here to stay.

Speaking to the conference at McMaster University from an 18-foot-high television screen, Education Minister William Davis of Ontario said TV has a tremendous potential for the educational system.

In an interview video-taped for the conference, he suggested to the 125 professors and television technicians that a televised course by a first-class lecturer from one university could be shown by a number of universities.

Nine of Ontario's 14 provincially-assisted universities now are using television for lectures. McMaster became the first Ontario university to use television on a large scale in 1964, and today teaches six first-year courses via TV.

H.I.R.B.
Health Insurance Registration Board

If you have either Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan (OMSIP) or Ontario Hospital Insurance (OHI) you will soon be hearing of the Health Insurance Registration Board (HIRB).

The Health Insurance Registration Board has been set up by the Province to act as an agency for both OMSIP and Ontario Hospital Insurance.

HIRB will be the central registration office which will handle enrollment, billings and premium collections, and answer inquiries about Ontario's medical or hospital insurance plans.

OMSIP and Ontario Hospital Insurance will continue to provide their present coverage. The only difference is that, from now on, when you see HIRB, you'll know it means the Health Insurance Registration Board is serving you on behalf of Ontario's health insurance plans.

If you have any questions about provincial health insurance enrollment or premiums just write to:

Pros and Cons of the Old and New

Sandy is a good quarter-horse but when it comes to keeping up with a 20 horsepower snowcruiser she can't quite make the grade. However, her disdain stems from a couple of advantages, horses don't require gasoline and oil and they don't go fast enough to throw passengers out of the sleigh, which is what happened when the cruiser pulling the cutter reached the gully.

Fun in the Snow Rivals Down South Tan

By DONALD MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

"Some like it hot — some like it cold."

By all laws of nature Canadians should be heading south by the scores during winter months. Although quite a few people leave for the warm and balmy air of the south there is no migration — the snow clad terrain of Ontario, Quebec and the northern United States has lots of appeal.

Reasons for taking a winter vacation (and staying in the snow) vary. The sheer pleasure of walking 10 miles in sub-freezing weather carrying a gun with fingers almost too cold to pull the trigger keeps the deer, duck and rabbit hunters around.

On the other extreme are those residents who plan every year to get out of the cold for a few weeks. "They plan their trips from one year to the next and often have bookings eight or nine months in advance," according to Rolaf's Travel Agency.

Travel agencies in town feel that January, February and March are the big months for business people going south. November and December seem to draw women and retired people.

"The number of people going south remains the same each year," said Rolaf's, "however, more and more people are going to Mexico and Hawaii than before."

Florida, the Caribbean Islands, Mexico and Hawaii seem to be the primary destinations of most southern travellers.

Davison and Davison Travel Agency rated vacationers and their destinations in two ways. "More people stay in Canada during their winter vacations —they're followed up by those going south and to Europe. If you look at the situation in terms of money spent, European travellers rate first followed by the south. The national vacationers spend the least."

Saying around the north in the winter is not only cheaper but it can be enjoyable. Ski resorts and winter spas have been popping up one after the other during the last five years in Canada and the United States.

Since most people drive to these resorts it is impossible to estimate their number. However, based on figures from both travel agencies in Belleville about 1,200 people book trips south through an agency during the winter.

Winter is taking on a completely new aura due to winter luxuries like the snow cruiser, but there are still those who prefer the cutter and horse.

Local ski areas reflect this sport's popularity. Batawa, Napanee, Stirling and Belleville all have slopes within a few miles of their city limits and—with the recent snow they will be getting lots of use.

No matter how you look at it—it is becoming "cooler" to flake out in the "Tahoe".

Thousand Telephone Calls A Day Can Leave TAS Girls Just Buzzing

Story and Pictures By Harry Mulhall

New Year's spells bells.

For one group of girls in Belleville, 1968 will also chime in with bells or the more subdued derivative of the same — the switchboard buzzer.

Subdued is the key word, for the girls who are on round-the-clock duty at the city's Telephone Answering Service are probably the most anonymous service industry in the city.

Its anonymity is underscored by its vitality.

In a year, it may channel as many as 375,000 messages through its communication systems, linking human situations with immediate solutions.

"We try to remain anonymous," explains Ralph Morton who heads the operation. "This is our function. We talk for other people. But I've often thought if we pulled out instantly what kind of breakdown there would be in public services."

His musing might not be so amusing if it ever happened.

When Mr. Morton took over the TAS operation in 1955 it had 30 subscribers.

Today, its switchboard hooks in with more than 180 subscribers.

Its two - way radio system is a link for 40 mobile units. It even is a watchdog for some business burglar alarms.

Its accounts are billed to several of the continent's biggest industries, to some of the district's littlest businesses.

It can find a specialist to solve the sophisticated problems of an IBM machine.

It can post a plumber to patch a leaky pipe or send the city works department to a public problem.

It matches public or private adversity with the diversity of its subscribers roster.

A road accident can see it despatch an ambulance, forewarn doctors for the upcoming emergency treatment and finally contact insurance adjusters to measure the cost.

On an average 24-hour of duty at the switchboard the girls of TAS may channel 1,000 calls.

When a phenomenon fouls the community - like a sudden jolt of bad weather—the calls begin to clock in by the second.

"At times like that, the switchboard can light up like a Christmas tree," says Mr. Morton.

Plumbing, newspaper deliveries, public utilities and private health may all slide sideways at once — and the ensuing rush taxes the telephone lines.

Besides its public and commercial operations, TAS also operates what Mr. Morton calls "community service" lines.

These are laid on for organizations providing crucial community services in child protection, blood donations, even for alcoholics seeking help.

The calm, friendly responses now known to most Bellevillians after more than a decade of TAS operation, mask a wealth of training and natural aptitude.

"Our girls have to be pretty intelligent to start with, but they must also have an ability to role with the punch", reveals Mr. Morton.

The ability to adjust to every type of human situation is imperative in their success.

For the businessmen they represent, they must also have more than passing knowledge of their operations.

What a wonderful town this will be in 1969:

If the Mo-Hawks could knock the "dogs" and the cobs and receive the Old Lady of the Metro in her once proud position of being one of the best baseball cities in the province.

If the gods of financial fortune smiled upon the Bay of Quinte Country Club and brought to reality the dream of a new clubhouse and 12-months operation.

If the veil of public apathy towards the Belleville Junior B hockey club could be lifted and give these spirited youngsters even noisy doubts in "play up — and play the game."

If the proposed new community centre becomes a reality and the piteous pleas for "more ice-time" be relegated to the limbo of oblivion.

If the senseless bickering between minor-pro shinny and softball people could be quietened forever and peace reign once more on the battlefields of the diamonds.

If Bruce Parsons, Peter and Herbie and their gallant crews, could bring home the championship pennant of the Kingston, District Soccer League.

If television soap opera times could be pushed back to 3 a.m. so that ordinary humans could work out their own problems.

If that pregnant lady in that television commercial could have her baby soon and get on and to the weird wailing of "Soon I'll be Two."

If Bobby and Dennis Hull could finish one-two in the National Hockey League scoring race with the clever a close third.

If a lot of people could realize that when a person is down in the world an ounce of help is better than a pound of preaching.

If a lot of athletes could realize the fallacy of the sports cliche "No matter if you won or lost — but how you played the game." Victory is the prime reward of any athletes. Darrell Green said "good guys always finish last" and a former sports editor of this newspaper once told me "Show me a good fellow in sports conflict — and I'll show you a baboon."

If a lot of people of this city could quit "knocking" the Old Gal of the Metro and realize that it is one of the nicest hamlets in Ontario to call home.

If the city fathers could see some way to help revive the fine hockey championship banners that hang dejectedly, dusty and deserted in the north end of the arena. After all, there are not many cities in Canada that can boast senior OHA: all-Ontario; Allan Cup and world championships.

If softball moguls of the city could see back way over the net back into that senior city league stride instead of the what was proven unpopular last year, an interlocking schedule with teams of outside places.

If some of the golf chiselers could see their way clear to take out membership instead of taking an occasional fling "on the house."

If the so-called "posh leagues" of hockey, and softball can keep up the good work and give the working blokes many evenings of enjoyable relaxation.

If "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Man" could become a reality instead of wishful-thinking utterance.

I hope 1968 will bring you all the good things, happiness and contentment that I'm sure you will wish for everybody in this weary-ridden old world.

"HAPPY NEW YEAR."

Hawks Tie Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two of the hottest teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series clashed Thursday night — and the result was a dead heat.

St. Catharines' Black Hawks, riding a four-game win streak, and Hamilton Red Wings, unbeaten in eight games, battled to a 3-3 draw before 2,835 fans in Hamilton Arena.

In the only other game Thursday, Peterborough Peter-rosaded Clarke, 6's 5-1 at Peterborough.

The tie enabled Hamilton to take over fourth place ahead of idle Montreal.

Old Horses Show Way To The Colts

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When young legs are needed, it's nice to have a few rookies on hand, but when goals are needed most it's the veterans who generally come through as two National Hockey League coaches found out Thursday night.

GORDIE HOWE

Montreal Canadiens whipped Minnesota North Stars 6-2 and Detroit Red Wings dumped Philadelphia Flyers 5-3 in the only two scheduled games with veterans doing most of the damage for the winners.

The Canadiens got 11 points, including four goals and seven assists, from a veteran line of Gilles Tremblay, Jean Beliveau and Claude Provost while Gary Bergman scored twice and Gordie Howe got a goal and two assists for Detroit.

Tremblay was the big gunner among the group, collecting three goals and an assist—his first three-goal night in eight N H L seasons—while Provost scored a goal and added two assists and Beliveau, the Montreal captain picked up four assists—his biggest point night of the season.

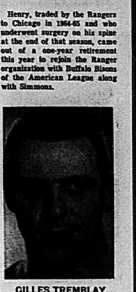
The other Montreal goals went to J. C. Tremblay and John Ferguson while Mike McMahon and Parker MacDonald scored for Minnesota.

Incidentally, both Minnesota goals came on power plays with Ferguson serving penalties in the first period.

Gary Peters and Norm Ullman, with his 16th of the year, scored the other Detroit goals with Claude LaForge scoring twice and Gary Dornhoefer once for Philadelphia.

The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for Detroit and a three-game win streak for Philadelphia as Ed Van Impe of the Flyers took a 16-stitch gash in his head from a puck shot by Alex Delvecchio of Detroit during the third period.

The results did nothing to the standings in either the eastern or western division with Montreal and Detroit still tied at the bottom of the six-team Eastern Division, Philadelphia tied with Los Angeles Kings atop the Western Division in which Minnesota is fourth behind Pittsburgh Penguins.



The game in Detroit also marked the return of veteran Red Wings defenceman Warren Godfrey, called up from Port Worth of the Central Pro League to bolster the club's sagging defence.

The 33-year-old Toronto native, who has a goal and seven assists in 23 games this year, is a 15-year NHL veteran, having broken in with Boston Bruins in 1953-53 after his first pro season in Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

Godfrey was three years with the Bruins, who are leading the Eastern Division with Chicago Black Hawks, before going to Detroit for seven years, back to Boston for the 1967-68 season and then back into the Detroit chain where he's remained since.

New York Rangers also have dipped into the minors for some veteran help, calling up goalie Don Simmons, 36, and centre Camille Henry, 34, for their Saturday visit from Chicago.

The only game tonight has Pittsburgh in St. Louis against the Blues.

GILLES TREMBLAY

Henry, traded by the Rangers to Chicago in 1964-65 and who underwent surgery on his spine at the end of that season, came out of a one-year retirement this year to rejoin the Ranger organization with Buffalo Bisons of the American League along with Simmons.

Sweden Blanks Beavers

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Hakam Wickberg set the pace with three goals Thursday night as Sweden blanked Sherbrooke Beavers 6-0 in an exhibition hockey game played before 2,368 fans.

It was the second victory in as many games for the touring Swedish team, which defeated Canada's eastern national team 4-3 Tuesday night in Hull, Que.

Swedish goalie Christer Abrahamsson stopped 30 Sherbrooke shots for the shutout. The other scorers were Lars Goran Nilsson, with two goals, and Henric Hedlund.

Quinte Hockey League

Stinson's Construction defeated Aluminum Stars 4-1 and Belvedere Hotel shaded Great Realty 3-1 in the Quinte Hockey League tilts last night.

L. McBride with two D. Bishop and G. Genesrave accored for Stinson's, assists going to J. McGuire (2), B. Genesrave, R. Simmons and R. Dainard.

B. Rushlow scored the lone Stars counter assisted by Ron Urch.

Stars drew five of the nine penalties.

B. Tomaso assisted by R. Burrows and D. Hallam and B. Vesterfelt helped by the same pair scored for the Hoteimen.

D. Bolie assisted by D. Rathwell got the Realty goal.

Gas House Hockey Loop

Mustangs shaded the Fire Department 2-1 and Marysville BA edged Mulroney's 3-2 in Gas House League hockey last night.

Bruce Pascoe with two and Carm Milligan scored for the Marysville squad, Olsen, Insley, Summers and Lasier getting assists.

Brian Smith assisted by Richard Ellis counted the Firemen's goal.

Those Bowl Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last big weekend of the college football season begins today, and indications are that the fan who makes a day of it in front of his television set will see passes, passes and more passes.

It will be a battle of quarterbacks all over the country as Penn State and Florida State meet in the Gator Bowl, Texas-El Paso and Mississippi clash in the Sun Bowl, North plays South in the Blue-Gray Game and East meets West in the Shrine Game.

NHL Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings made the only move among the top 10 scorers of the National Hockey League Thursday with a goal and two assists in a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia Flyers.

Howe jumped from a three-way tie for 10th place to a three-way tie for ninth with 32 points on 16 goals and as many assists in 33 games.

Also with 32 points are Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins and Ken Wharram of Chicago Black Hawks, both idle Thursday.

But they sit are 10 points off the pace set by scoring leader Bobby Hull of Chicago, who has 27 goals and 13 assists for 40 points in 32 games.

The big scoring, though, was in Montreal Canadiens 6-2 victory over Minnesota North Stars as the line of Jean Beliveau, Gilles Tremblay and Claude Provost collected a total of 11 points.

Tremblay scored three times and assisted on one, Provost scored once and got two assists and Beliveau set up four goals.

J. C. Tremblay and John Ferguson scored the other Montreal goals.

Mo-Hawks Sharpen Axes

Oaks Here Tonight!

As the OHA Senior "A" hockey schedule swings into the home stretch, a tough four or five-team fight is shaping up for the final few playoff positions.

As predicted before the season started, Galt Hornets and Toronto Marlboros are two of the top clubs, along with Kingston Aces and Colling-wood Kings.

But from there down, it looks like a scrap for the other four positions.

And two of the clubs looking for positions in playoff spots clash here tonight at nine o'clock.

The Mo-Hawks play host to the Oakville Oaks and a win for the homesters would boost them past the Oaks and Orillia, into eighth place — that final "cash" spot.

Fans will recall the Oaks' last visit here when the Mo-Hawks exploded for a 10-1 victory. They would like nothing better than to repeat that performance, tonight but should not take the visitors lightly. Despite the worst for-and-against record in the loop, such players as Bob Bishop, Jackie Price, Larry Shuker and "Obie" O'Brien always make the Oaks a threat to fill opposing nets.

And don't be surprised to see an ex-Belleville goalie, one Ledger Doucet, in action for Belleville. Young George Tracey was the victim of the 16-goal bomb here.

Actually, the Mo-Hawks will settle for a win, be it by one or 10 goals, and if they match their two-way effort of a week ago, they should get it.

With only three points separating the bottom four teams, sixth place is only a few wins away for the Mo-Hawks.

That seems like a modest goal for the club but it can't be done unless those other "lower" squads such as the Oaks are forced to say "uncle".

In Europe

Aces Defeat Swiss

The four-country, round-robin tournament winds up Saturday when the Aces meet Lokomotiv Moscow for first place and Switzerland plays a Finnish selection team for third place.

Lokomotiv and the Finnish team played to a surprising 4-4 tie Thursday, with the Soviet team scoring all its goals within 11 minutes.

Kingston scored its Thursday night victory on a first-period goal by 34-year-old defenceman Jim Gebhardt in the fourth minute and a third-period tally by John Mercer, a 20-year-old right winger who scored with eight minutes left in the game.

The Swiss gave the Aces, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A champions, a tough time of it after Gebhardt's goal, only slackening their defence enough for Mercer to skim the puck netward.

Moscow Stops Rangers

KITCHENER (CP) — Two-goal volleys in the first and second periods powered Moscow Selects to a 6-4 victory over Kitchener Rangers Thursday night in an exhibition hockey game before 1,200 fans.

It was Moscow's fifth win against two defeats and a tie on their current 10-game tour of Canada. Winger Vladimir Yurzov paced the Selects with three goals. Other Moscow goals went to Yuri Chichurin, Yuri Reps and Anatali Mataviov.

The Rangers were bolstered with five players from Toronto Marlboros. Both teams are members of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, one of the most powerful junior leagues in Canada.

Terry Caffery and Tom Martin of the Marlies each scored for the Rangers. Other goals went to Walter Tkaczik, the Rangers captain, and Don Lace.

Selects outshot the Juniors 36-34.

Third In Row; BCI Captures Queen's Basketball Tournament

By STEVE BISHOP

BCI came through with a superb effort to defeat Peterborough's Adam Scott 47-35 for their third consecutive championship at the Queen's University Christmas basketball tournament, in Kingston.

JOHN CHALMERS

The Belleville team had to win three games in order to gain the finals and did so, defeating Loyalist of Kingston 56-31 and Cobourg West 46-34 in the opening rounds, and Cornwall 47-35 in the semi-final round.

Coach Wally Beevor's Collegians got off to a good start in the victory over Loyalist. John Chalmers paced the club to victory as he poured in 26 points, rarely missing a shot from the floor. He received able support from his teammates, led by Brian Harder with 12 points, and Loyalist were never really close.

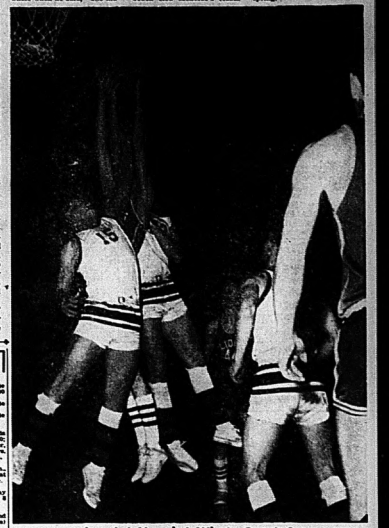
The second game was a different story, however. BCI started well, and led Cobourg 23-20 at the half and 43-31 after three quarters. But Cobourg put on a formidable charge in the final eight minutes to come within four points of the Collegians at the final buzzer. Chalmers once again made the difference with a 24-point performance, while Harder came through with 20.

In the semi-final game, BCI had to fight off a determined Cornwall club for the victory. Cornwall led 19-18 at the half, and 35-34 with little more than two minutes to play, but BCI surged ahead for a decisive win. Chalmers, with 24 points, and Harder with 10, once again paced the winners.

That set the stage for the final with the Adam Scott Lions, a fine team with an efficient, ball-control offence run by an excellent pair of guards in Mike Wright, the playmaker, and Gary Bleecker, and three formidable men up front in Bill Caskey, Art Thornton and Jeff Robinson.

The Lions went into the game at a disadvantage in that they had played their semi-final match, a close 47-46 win over Oshawa Central less than a half hour before the final, whereas BCI had well-over an hour's rest before the game.

Adam Scott took a 12-10 first-quarter lead, but a devastating BCI press took away the ball-control offence, and the Collegians charged back to lead 25-19 at the half.



In the second half, BCI held the lead with their finest all - round team effort of the tournament. Brian Harder scored only 5 points, but did an excellent job of checking Wright by wear down the Lions' offensive leader. David Hunser came up with key plays both ways and scored 9 points.

Ted Shaw hustled continually and came up with 6 points, while Mark Sheridan, improving steadily after a knee injury, played a fine game, especially on the boards, and added 4 points. And, of course, there was John Chalmers, who did some of his best rebounding of the day and scored 26 points, for a tournament total of 76.

"It was a good victory," said Coach Wally Beevor after the game. "We did what we had to, and won."

John Chalmers, named the tournament's outstanding player, spoke for the team as a whole when he said, "The major share of the credits goes to the excellent coaching of Mr. Beevor."

Memorial Cup

Junior B Challenge

TORONTO (CP) — A challenge for the Memorial Cup by a Junior B hockey club from Sarnia will be considered at the January meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Bill Hanley, secretary-manager of the OHA, said Thursday that Sarnia Legionnaires have made application to challenge for the Canadian junior, hockey championship.

"I will read the application to the OHA executive when they meet sometime in January," Hanley said.

The Legionnaires, members of the Western Ontario Junior B hockey league, also forwarded the required $25 entry fee to OHA headquarters.

The Memorial Cup has been limited in the past to teams of Junior A calibre.

"The OHA might shoot us down," said Sarnia coach Ted Garvin.

"To the best of my knowledge, there is nothing in the rule book that says a Junior B team can't take part in the Memorial Cup playoffs . . . other than the regulation that entries be filed by the Dec. 31 noon deadline."

Smith Fuels

Unbeaten In Three

The Smith Fuels are rocketing along in their quest for the All-Ontario Centennial Peewee hockey tournament championship.

As of now they share the lead with the Toronto Young Nationals both teams being undefeated in three starts.

The Fuels clobbered Port Arthur 10-1 in the first game and yesterday dumped Toronto Wexford 5-1 and followed up with a decisive 7-2 victory over Cornwall.

They hooked up in a crucial game with the Toronto Nationals at noon today and go against the Northern Ontario champions West Ferris at nine o'clock tonight.

The Fuels - Nationals game will decide the leader and Manager Don Whelan was confident but careful. He pointed out that the Fuels defeated Cornwall 7-2 while the Nationals were extended to pull out with a 2-1 victory over the eastern champions.

The semi-finals and the final game are scheduled for tomorrow.

In the Fuel - Wexford game Grant Geegan led the way with two goals, Wally Dalsard, Andy Ricketts and Dick Barrett also scoring.

Geegan scored another pair in the 7-2 win over Cornwall as did Crawford, Dalsard, Coates and James also counted.

Dalsard and Ricketts racked up two assists each, Geegan, Barrett, Kirby, Coates and Smrke getting singles.

Packers, Raiders Hand-Picked

By JACK HAND

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay and Oakland should meet in the Super Bowl Jan. 14 at Miami if form holds up in the two league championship games to be played Sunday.

The past records in the picking league and the won and lost figures don't mean a thing at this stage so let's toss them out the window and concentrate on the job at hand.

Both games will be played Sunday with national television coverage in a doubleheader that will call for a flick of the dial.

The Packers-Dallas Cowboys game at Green Bay for the National Football League title goes on first at 2 p.m. EST, and will be seen on CBC's national television network. The Oakland Raider-Houston Oiler game at Oakland for the American Football League crown starts at 5 p.m. EST.

Here's the way it looks to the Hand picker, who went down with the Rams and won with the Cowboys last week:

NFL

Offence—Cowboys may have the edge over Packers with erratic Don Meredith apparently back on beam and runners like Dan Reeves, Don Perkins and young Craig Baynham plus receivers like Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel. However, Hart Starr is winging the ball again and adding defensive punch like he did last year after a so-so season.

Injuries forced Vince Lombardi to shuffle his thin crop of running backs, but he has a big winner in rookie Travis Williams, who can break it open any minute as a ball carrier or kickoff return whiz.

Packers' rebuilt offensive line with Bob Hyland at centre and Gale Killingham at guard teamed up with veterans Forrest Gregg, Jerry Kramer and Bob Skoronski, handled the Rams' Fearsome Foursome with room to spare last week. Dallas provides greater protection for Meredith with Ralph Neely having proved last year he could handle Willie Davis.

Defence—Up front the Cowboys' Doomsday Defence centres on tackle Bob Lilly with help from Willie Townes, Jethro Pugh and George Andrie. Packers front four of Willie Davis, Ron Kostelnik, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge about even with Dallas. Linebackers of Packers are superior and Green Bay's deep defence is better.

Kicking—Don Chandler more consistent than Danny Villanueva in field goals, but season figures show Villanueva the edge over Donny Anderson in punting.

Summing it up, the Packer new find, Travis Williams, Starr's ability to keep it moving and veteran Green Bay defence and the home field edge in bitter cold weather suggest this score:

Green Bay 27, Dallas 17

AFL

Offence—Oakland has overcome loss of Clem Daniels' with a solid air game directed by Daryle Lamonica pitching to Hewritt Dixon and Billy Cannon. Oilers eke it out along the ground with Woodie Campbell and Hoyle Granger doing the heavy work while Pete Beathard wings the ball. Houston's offensive line does a good job protecting its passer, but Lamonica often has to unload in a hurry.

Defence—Oilers have done superb job with fine first-year effort by linebacker George Webster. When two clubs met in regular season game Dec. 15, Raiders had to go to George Blanda for four field goals to pull it out in second half 19-17. A bruising battle up front, but Oakland's linebackers appear to have the edge. John Wittenborn and a Blanda in the field goal league where Raiders have the good 29 times.

Summing it up, the Raiders are at home and Al Davis, the general manager and former AFL president, is aching to get shot at NFL in the Super Bowl. Superior offence against Wally Lemm's stingy Houston defence suggests this score:

Oakland 30, Houston 17.

Senior Scoring

Galand Holds Lead!

GALT (CP) — Moe Galand of Toronto Marlboros leads the scoring race into the second half of the Ontario Hockey Association senior league series.

Goaltending Norm Defelice of Galt Hornets has a wide edge in the goals against race with a 2.11 average in 18 starts. He also leads with three shutouts.

Galand has a five-point lead in scoring with 18 goals and 76 assists for 46 points. Dave McComb of Collingwood Kings is second with 16 goals and 55 assists for 41 points. Corby Adams of Barrie Flyers holds third place with 17 goals and 21 assists for 38 points.

To Your Good Health

There Are Few Symmetrical People

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently I made a date for my daughter who is going on 15. Hemming the sleeves, I noticed that her right arm was a half inch longer than the left. Since then we have noticed that her right foot is a half inch longer than the left.

Neither is noticeable, but I was wondering if this is normal, and if so how is this possible? I have heard it may be caused by the joints not joining at the same time during growth. — Mrs. A. B.

It's probably a lot more "normal" to be a little lopsided than the other way around. No taller, fitting a man's suit, would think of marking the length of only one sleeve. He marks both.

Shoe clerks will tell you how many people have learned that one foot is harder to fit than the other.

Photographers for years have had fun taking only one side of a person's face, then reversing the negative to produce the other half of the picture. A face assembled from two right sides is so markedly different from one made from two left sides that sometimes it looks like another person.

Have you ever noticed how many people carry one shoulder higher than the other? How many cock their heads slightly to one side instead of holding the head straight up? How many mouths have a quirk at one side?

There are mighty few symmetrical people.

Doubtless some small defect in the union at the bone ends could account for the difference in arm length. We also long have had reason to surmise that very mild, unrecognized cases of polio leave small flaws. Possible minor accidents and trivial illnesses play a part.

So I'd forget about the unnoticeable difference in arm length — and if your youngster has any tendency to be self-conscious about it, remind her that you and she didn't realize it until she was going on 15. Nobody else will see it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I get up two to four times a night because of prostate gland trouble. Is there a medicine I can take, or do I have to have an operation? Which would you recommend? — J. T. W.

Little if anything can be accomplished with pills (except when acute infection has to be suppressed). Massage and other treatments are sufficient in some cases; in others, surgery is the only solution. The different forms of prostate trouble are described in my booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," so I advise that you get and read a copy. Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me, Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 4866, Dundee, Ill., for it. As for an operation, that is for your doctor to determine.

Dear Dr. Molner: Have you ever heard of a deformed duodenum? I have been told that years ago caustic were used in quack or amateur efforts to "burn away" such cancers. It is easier, quicker, safer, more comfortable and far less disfiguring to remove them by modern methods, surgery being preferred in most cases. Take your mother to your doctor.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother, 57, has skin cancer in the early stages. I remember you had an article about a cure for this in some form. I would like to find out what this is as soon as possible. — Mrs. M. P.

Sorry, but you are mistaken. I have mentioned that years ago caustic were used in quack or amateur efforts to "burn away" such cancers. It is easier, quicker, safer, more comfortable and far less disfiguring to remove them by modern methods, surgery being preferred in most cases. Take your mother to your doctor.

Today's cancer treatment is the formation of scar tissue following the healed ulcer. It requires no treatment unless ulcer symptoms (discomfort or pain) recur.

Television Staging Minor Comeback with Original Dramas

NEW YORK (AP)—The year 1967 has not been the greatest in U.S. television history. It has been notable primarily because broadcasts of motion pictures originally made for theatres dominated the schedules of the three major networks, consistently attracted large audiences and generally raised bob with the popularity of TV programs which were opposite them.

Some may speculate that the popularity of old movies results from the perennial problem in television of maintaining a steady supply of satisfying, meaningful drama. ABC's Stage 67, which started out so optimistically in 1966 to help fill this void, limped painfully into oblivion at the season's end.

But in the last year CBS Playhouse did make a promising start with an occasional prestige dramatic show, although it was able to turn out only three programs during the 13-month period. The determination to develop once again original television dramas may yet prove to have been the most interesting event of the year.

The project was actually started two years ago when the top CBS executives had their first look at the taped production of Death of a Salesman. They realized it would cause excitement, and decided to try to develop some original plays.

"We decided that dramas had to start at the typewriter," recalled CBS Vice-President Michael Dann. "We couldn't do a weekly dramatic show. From past experience we knew that about one out of eight shows would be really good, and today a weekly series with that average couldn't last six months."

CBS set aside $500,00 for scripts, particularly earmarked for new writers. To the network's surprise, the project has had the effect of luring back to television writers of its most illustrious dropouts.

CBS Playhouse pays $25,000 for each drama, about double the usual amount, and gives the authors all subsequent rights to the property, makes no demands as to length, is careful about the placement commercials and signs big stars to pl y the leading roles.

The result was that some of the writers who had quit the medium in frustration and despair, once again became interested. Reginald Rose and Loring Mandel have had their plays broadcast and are working on second dramas. Ted Mosel, Gore Vidal and Paddy Chayefsky—long gone from TV —are commissioned for future productions. CBS has lined up its-first $500,000 and now is busy signing its second $500,00.

"Most of the money went to new writers," Dann said, "but the surprising thing is that we found very few. Pinters and Albees are hard to come by. But we are still working with about 14 of them. But even Mandel worked over his drama five or six times before it was produced."

Three original dramatic productions in two years of work is almost insignificant a medium with such a voracious appetite, but CBS Playhouse now is tooled up, has many projects in the works and two more shows will be coming along soon —Robert Crean's My Father and My Mother Jan. 8 and Mel- ser's Secrets early in February.

What is needed about the project is that it has drawn audiences of respectable size, received good notices and satisfied the network and the sponsor.

Phoenix Stops Portland

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix roadrunners defeated Portland 3-1 in the only Western hockey league game played Thursday night to spoil the Buckaroos' hopes of regaining a share of the league lead.

Seventeen penalties were levied in the game, 10 against Portland. A total of 5,638 fans saw the contest.

The first three goals came on power plays.

After a scoreless first period, Sandy Hucul of Phoenix and Dick Van Impe of Portland traded second period goals. Brian Smith's goal at 15:23 of the third period was the winner and Tom McVie added the insurance marker into an empty net with six seconds left in the game.

Bantams Defeat Peterborough

The Belleville Kinsmen bantams racked up their 15th win in seventeen starts (one tie) Saturday defeating Peterborough 6-2 in an exhibition tilt.

The Peterborough team recently won the grand championship of the bantam tournament held in its city.

Belleville took a 2-1 lead in the second frame and raised the win away with four tallies in the final frame.

The bantams took all ten penalties handed out, all minors.

Hodway and Thackeray scored for Peterborough.

Ski Team Off to Europe

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's national ski team left Montreal Thursday night for Europe to train for next February's Olympic Games in Grenoble, France.

Head coach John Platt said on departure that the team is the fittest and best prepared in Canada's history.

"They've got more ski miles under their feet than ever before."

The squad, 11 men and five women with the reinstatement of veteran Gerry Rinaldi who was cut from the overseas team last weekend, will be pared to eight men and five or six women for the Olympics which open Feb. 6.

CO-ED DANCERS

The June Taylor Dancers have gone co-ed—six male dancers have been added to the formerly all-feminine group, bringing the total number to 23.

Same Uniform Unifies Nothing Asserts Sailor-Airman Philip

Harold Morrison, chief of the London bureau of The Canadian Press, interviewed Prince Philip at Buckingham Palace. This is the first time a Canadian correspondent has interrogated that privilege. The story that follows developed from a discussion of Philip's experiences as a qualified pilot.

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Prince Philip, a keen wartime sailor and an experienced airman, says a unifying the uniform doesn't necessarily unify the forces. Unification, he suggests, should be devoted to the plans and tasks common to all services but not to the services themselves.

"The idea that all the services should wear the same uniform does not unify anything," he said. "It merely makes people think the same but that does not iron out any administrative problems."

The prince, who holds ranks of admiral of the fleet, field marshal and marshal of the air force, touched on unification in issue as an offshoot of an unusual 75-minute interview dealing mainly with his fondness for flying and views emerging from his air experiences.

The interview took place in his comfortable second-storey study in Buckingham Palace, an 18th-century gloomy, high-ceilinged office that stands like a rock amid turbulent changes in Britain's world life. The only other person present was a British Airways editorial representative.

Unlike other parts of the palace interior, with its emphasis on baroque and gilded lavish decoration, the keynote of Philip's study is simplicity and comfort. The furniture is modern. Books line the walls. An eye-catching wall recess contains caricatures or plaster of such famous persons as Sir Winston Churchill, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Earl Attlee and others.

Philip wears a charcoal-grey business suit with a darkish plaid weave, white shirt and grey silk tie with white polka dots. His blondish hair has thinned but, as the women say, he still cuts a dashing figure.

Throughout the interview Philip responded with familiar outspokenness. A qualified pilot, he has logged more than 1,500 hours at the controls of about 40 aircraft. He, but mainly the Queen, signed Andover, the four-engined Heron and the heavy Whirlwind helicopter. He loves flying and flits it into his business travels wherever possible. But he suspects the public considers this is just a gimmick.

He said there is a sort of residual attitude amongst people who don't fly that anybody who's idle is much too stupid to do anything like that and "therefore" they think that this is a great sort of publicity gimmick."

It was with this same outspokenness that Philip touched on the unification issue. He has suggested the formation of a joint services pilot corps to maintain a high standard of experienced military pilots who would have no administrative duties. Their promotion and ranking would depend entirely on their professional competence.

His proposal would apply to helicopter pilots as well.

"After all," he asked, "why shouldn't a chap fly military helicopters for 40 years?

"He doesn't have to become a member of the air staff. It's ridiculous."

When it was suggested he was offering a practical step to unifying the services, Philip replied: "No, unifying the business of the professional pilot."

This correspondent observed that Canada has unified or is trying to unify its forces.

"Yes," said Philip, "but you have not done it along this line."

The whole field of unification, he said, is "getting rather confused because the idea that all the services should wear the same uniform does not unify anything . . ."

What was taking place in Britain and elsewhere was a "rationalization as between things like transport and training in certain respects and supply personnel."

". . . What you want to rationalize, what you want to unify are those areas which are common to the services. But the services are not common because they are doing different jobs.

"In exactly the same way that, when you have a campaign of any kind on land, you put together a group of specialist units for the purpose of that tactical exercise.

"The bigger that tactical exercise the more groups you add to it and the more different services you add to it. If it is a purely land air system, you put together a particular group under a command and drawn from specialist elements and you stick them together and you put one administrative staff over it.

"If you have a bigger command and it is an amphibious operation, well, then, you have the three services in it. But you are still going to have specialists to make up the building block, see. That is the point."

Another point Philip made is that governments tend to take a wasteful approach in development of expensive military planes.

The British tactical strike reconnaissance aircraft—known as TSR-2—was an example. The British Aircraft Corp. had the contract for construction.

Millions of pounds were spent building the plane before the present Labor government applied the axe. Hundreds of workers were thrown out of work.

The government should establish a central military airframe design centre, Philip said. All design work should be completed at this centre. Designing would be continuous. Then the government decided on production contracts.

Under this proposal, governments would not have to pay the companies subsidies and could be assured of always having military design staff. The companies would have their own designers for commercial aircraft.

He said he doesn't believe any country can afford to encourage a government design agency of the kind he has in mind though "the French come nearest to it, I suppose."

"The Canadian situation is slightly different. Although out there I think there was a time when it looked as if they felt they ought to have Canadian military aircraft and leave the airliners to decide where they were going to shop for their aircraft, which, I am sure, is the right principle."

". . . As the military sense . . . the more expensive the individual unit becomes the less you are prepared to use it. The cheaper the thing is and the more you have of them the more you are prepared to use them and to lose them. And it seems to me that in any military equipment concept it is this ability to lose which really matters."

Philip traced his own flying career in his personal diary when he was a member of the royal family of Greece. He dreamed of joining the Greek Air Force but the family insisted he join the navy.

"But having got married and then having been given commissions in the three services, it seemed only right and proper that if I was going to wear the uniform of an air force officer, I ought at least learn to fly. This was how it originally started."

He had his troubles. Each time he moved through a different phase of air training, the British air staff had to have a meeting. When he was in signal flying, "there was absolute pandemonium." But Philip made the point to the air staff that if flying was safe enough for regular air cadets, it was safe enough for him.

"I feel very strongly that flying . . . is a method of transport which, it seems to me, is as safe as any method of transport in these days."

His hiking proclivities. He is happy to fly solo in good weather near airfields but never would dream of undertaking a long-distance flight without a co-pilot and navigator.

He enjoys the quicker long-distance trips, such as hopping over to Toronto via Iceland and Goose Bay, using the twin-engined Andover.

He has flown at fast commercial jets in Washington and similar places but whenever he goes to a place for a week or so he likes to pilot his own plane and take a couple of days to get there—"It doesn't make all that difference," and it does away with the nuisance of a rapid time change.

As for the supersonic Concorde which Britain and France are jointly producing, Philip said he has no intentions of learning to fly that plane. He doesn't believe the Concorde will become part of the Queen's Flight—"I shouldn't think, not in my time."

Sunday School Lesson

Robbery in the Church

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

A thief was robbing the safe in a Boston church parsonage. Hearing a noise, a priest went to investigate. As he entered the room, the robber wielded, and covering the priest with his gun, ordered him to stop. In a shrill voice, the priest said, "Brother I mean you no harm." Then the priest asked the thief what he needed to do with the money. The thief snarled that it was none of his business. "Maybe," he said "you think," but before you take it, let me tell you what I am going to do with it." And he explained some of the church's work with its missionary and building plans. When the priest finished, the robber threw the money at his feet, and kneeling the priest covered, backed out into the night, and was gone.

> The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 31, 1949 is entitled "Is God's Gift," Malachi 3.

The thief never forgot that interesting service. He did not reform at once, but later, while he was serving a prison sentence for another crime, he became converted to the Christian faith. He became a great Christian leader, and through his speeches and books, led many to a deeper commitment to the Christian life.

The author of Malachi, in the last book in the Old Testament, makes a grave accusation. He accuses people of robbing God. (Malachi 3:8) When they do not, they are robbing God, he gives this explanation. They accept the blessings of God, but not by nothing to Him in return. They may never break into a church safe, or hold up a pastor or priest, but, says the prophet, they rob God of money that belongs to Him as surely as if they took it at gunpoint.

The basis for such a drastic accusation lies in the faith that God is the Maker and Giver of all things. "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof" (Psalm 24:1 RSV) "The cattle on a thousand hills" are His. (Psalm 50:10 RSV) The "silver and gold in the earth are His. (Haggai 2:8) What He gives is men, their lives, their earning power, their possessions, are given as a trust. One day, as the true Owner of all things, God will demand an accounting of how they have been used. (Matthew 25:14-30)

When the Julliard String Quartet plays in the Library of Congress, in Washington, D.C., the gifted musicians play on priceless Stradivarius' instruments. Actually, these instruments do not belong to them. They are owned by the Library of Congress whose board permits them to reveal the marvelous quality of these valuable instruments to the listening public. When the concert is over, these instruments are returned to their owners who see that they are kept at the right temperature and humidity to safeguard their quality for generations to come.

According to the Bible, the world and everything in it, belongs to God. He gives them to men. He gives them their talents and the world's natural resources as a trust. He expects them to use them wisely and well.

What a person possesses is not his to use selfishly. Some of it (the Bible suggests nine-tenths) he needs for the benefit of himself and his family. Some of it (the Bible suggests one-tenth of it) should be used to further God's work in the world. To refuse to use it for God's purposes, the second prophet insists, is really to rob God.

WHAT GOD COULD DO IF..."

A friend admired a man on a wealthy man's estate. The rich man explained that he had sent him to transplant that tree and to care for it properly. The friend said to himself, "I'll bet goes to show what God could do if He had the money."

Thousands of churches and charitable organizations exist in the world to try to serve the will of others. They are concerned about more than the life of a tree. They are concerned about the lives of men. They seek to serve handicapped, or impoverished, or emotionally lonely people. Many churches and charitable organizations exist on a meager budget. They try to do God's work in the world by ministering to the needs of others. They depend for their service and outreach on voluntary gifts of concerned and unselfish people. What they could do . . . Malachi would say, what God could do through them — if they had the money. If the world spent more on such organizations and less on war, on social service projects and less on pleasure, what a different world this would be.

GOLD OFFER BALLOONED

TAIPEI (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese, stepping up their psychological war against Red China, are launching leaflet-carrying balloons toward the mainland, offering rewards in gold to defectors. The rate is the equivalent of about $275 for an enlisted man and $1,750 for an officer—$35,000 if a division of troops comes with him and $3,500,000 if he brings along a light cruiser.

House Parties Increasingly Popular This New Year's Eve

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

House parties appear to be more popular this New Year's Eve in Canada, partly because it falls on a Sunday and partly because some popular spots will be closed, forcing up cost at other establishments.

However, hotel and restaurant operators will not be at a loss for customers.

Liquor restrictions—because the night falls on a Sunday—are cited by many operators as the major problem this year.

In Ontario and Manitoba, liquor may be served until 1 a.m. but only at licensed eating establishments.

In Quebec, intoxicants and dancing will be pretty well free-flowing throughout the night, but bars must close at 12:30 a.m. Patrons will be permitted to continue festivities until 3 a.m.

Because of the bar restrictions, however, one operator in Montreal said only low-priced entertainment was being engaged.

In British Columbia, Joe Filippone, president of the B.C. Cabaret Owners Association, said that although there has been no formal announcement, the government has indicated that licensed cabarets and night clubs will be able to sell drinks from 10 p.m. New Year's Eve to about 3 a.m.

In New Brunswick, liquor may be served with meals only from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Despite restrictions, most establishments across the country report solid bookings with prices ranging from about $3 a person cover charge in Charlottetown, P.E.I., to a high of $30 a couple for dinner and drinks reported at the Bonaventure in Montreal.

Police throughout Canada will be on the lookout for drinking drivers.

In Toronto, police have conducted their annual spot-check blitz with an extra traffic squad in an all-out attempt to stop drinking drivers.

Of 17,800 drivers stopped in 23 days since the blitz began, 6,420 were charged, most for mechanical defects on their automobiles. A total of 459 persons were charged with impaired driving.

In Alberta, the provincial motor association is discouraging organizations from driving intoxicated persons home because insurance does not cover them.

Liberal Chiefs Busy Sampling Party Opinions

OTTAWA (CP) — Only a corporal's guard turned out for Wednesday's cabinet meeting.

Some 10 cabinet ministers are expected to run for the Liberal leadership and most of them are allegedly on holiday inhaling vigor for the campaign ahead.

But it's a busman's holiday for some of them. They are busy taking political soundings among convention delegates in their home ridings and elsewhere to try to determine their voting strength, if any.

A few cabinet ministers are expected to announce their candidacies in the next few days.

Ministers who will or may run are: Finance Minister Sharp, External Affairs Minister Martin, Transport Minister Hellyer, Health Minister MacEachen, Registrar-General Turner, Trade Minister Winters, Agriculture Minister Greene, State Secretary LaMarsh, Manpower Minister Marchand and Justice Minister Trudeau.

The April 44 leadership convention here promises to be the first real contest the Liberals have had in 40 years. Louis St. Laurent was a shoo-in in 1948 and Lester Bowles Pearson an even easier winner—over Mr. Martin—in 1958.

The objective of Liberal candidates is to reach peak strength on voting day, not a week, or a day, or even a few hours before.

Era of Noose Ends Today

OTTAWA (CP) — The era of the noose all but ends in Canada today with the proclamation of a new law severely limiting capital punishment for murder.

Only the deliberate slaying of a working policeman or prison official can bring a murderer to the gallows between now and Dec. 29, 1972.

That date will mark the end of a five-year trial period for the law, which won parliamentary assent after a passionate debate this fall.

Officials said Thursday the new law will apply in cases that have not reached the indictment stage.

In Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Ontario, this is reached when a case goes before a grand jury. In other provinces and the territories, it occurs when a Crown attorney signs an indictment form.

The outgoing law, by which death is the mandatory sentence for deliberate murder, will be applied in cases that have gone beyond the indictment stage.

Altogether 701 persons have been hanged for murder since 1867. The last man refused mercy by the cabinet was Ronald Turpin, executed Dec. 11, 1962, in Toronto for the murder of a policeman.

The present Liberal government took office six months after the Turpin executions and has commuted till 28 death sentences to come before it since April, 1963.

The group includes Georges Marcotte, who machine-gunned two policemen to death in Montreal three days after the Turpin execution, and Reginald Colpitts, who stabbed a prison guard to death in Dorchester Penitentiary.

There are 18 men still on death row, some for the slaying of a prison guard or a policeman. This makes commutation of their sentences likely, in view of government policy and the spirit of the new law.

The 701 to die on the gallows since Confederation have included a dozen women, one in her 60s, less than 20 teen-agers in the 1838-67 period alone, and historic figures like Louis Riel and Patrick Whelan.

Whelan was publicly hanged in Ottawa for the murder of D'Arcy McGee, a Father of Confederation.

Sexual Revolution A Myth

Contraceptives Do Not Increase Promiscuity

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists today presented findings from new studies of human sexual behavior, listing among general conclusions:

—There has been "no sexual revolution" strictly speaking, rather more a continuation of long existing trends.

—College co-eds continue to equate their first sexual intercourse with love, whereas men continue to be opportunistic.

—There is a definite trend, especially among young women, for the first sexual intercourse to be a pleasurable event.

—Never contraceptive devices do not seem to have prompted any rise in the percentage of women having intercourse before marriage.

—Use of birth control devices doesn't seem to lead to increased sexual activity as much as to increased enjoyment.

The scientists addressed session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Paul H. Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University—founded by the late Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, described first results from a 1967 survey among nearly 1,200 men and women in colleges across the U.S., compared with findings from similar questioning of about as many college students in the 1940s and early 50s.

So far, he said, "all this sounds like a continuation of the trend toward sexual equality with the female being regarded both by males and by herself as less a sexual object to be exploited, and more as a fellow human with her own needs, expectations, and rights."

The 1967 study was conducted under direction of Dr. William Simon of the Institute of Bloomington, Ind.

For college co-eds in their first experience, "love was involved in 70 to 90 per cent of cases"—similar to the earlier findings.

Among males, 11 to 14 per cent in the new study said they had first intercourse with girls they intended to marry. This compared with only one to five per cent reported in the earlier surveys.

Young men now rarely have their first experience with prostitutes—only two to seven per cent in the new study compared with 20 to 25 per cent previously.

Dr. Ira L. Reiss, University of Iowa sociologist, told of studies from which he concluded "there has really been no sexual revolution in a strict sense because the change has been gradual and continuous, and also because the adult institutional control structures of churches, parents, laws and schools have changed much slower than the youth culture."

While definitive studies are lacking, he said, still "it does not seem that newer contraceptive methods being available has led to any noticeable rise in the permissiveness of women choosing to have premarital intercourse."

Dr. Alton Shiloh, University of Pittsburgh anthropologist, described initial or pilot studies among women, covering 13 to Planned Parenthood Clinics of Pittsburgh.

After women began using some birth control technique, they reported a slightly increased frequency in sex relations a week, and a "greatly increased personal pleasure from sex relations as measured by her changed feelings about sex relations and her enjoyment of sex relations."

Man With Half a Body Has Trouble Sleeping

EAST LONDON, South Africa (Reuters) — A South African with only half a body faced the future with optimism today and told reporters his only complaint is he finds it difficult to sleep.

"Being like this gives you an awkward feeling," said Christoffel Strydom, 21, who had his body amputated from the waist down in November. "I find it a little unpleasant at night."

"Is that when you think about your future?" a reporter asked.

"Good heavens no," he said. "That does not worry me at all. I will just have to learn another job, that's all."

Strydom, a railway brakeman, was crushed between a locomotive and a truck Nov. 9.

Doctors at the Frere Hospital decided they had no option but to amputate at the waist.

A team of surgeons and nurses worked for five hours on the operation, termed "an outstanding achievement by all concerned," by Dr. J. G. Steyn, hospital superintendent.

Artificial aids were fastened to relace the patient's bladder and bowel.

The operation was disclosed by the hospital Wednesday and reporters and cameramen came to see the patient Thursday.

Since the operation, Strydom has undergone skin grafts to build an artificial bottock. They also are trying to work out some means of self-propulsion for him, possibly a type of oversize roller skate.

Doctors said his insomnia resulted from general discomfort and was not regarded as a problem. His position is changed every two hours and within a week or two he is to start hydrotherapy treatment in a bath.

Strydom said he enjoyed going to the operating theatre for examination when he is put under sedation.

"It's the only time I get a bit of sleep," he said.

Canadian University Students Asked to Aid U.S. War Protest

TORONTO (CP) — University students in Canada will be asked to support 10 days of opposition to the Vietnam war planned for April on campuses across the United States.

Syd Stapleton, a staff member of the Student Mobilizer, said the group also hopes to stage an international student strike, possibly on March 19, the anniversary of the first demonstration in Saigon against American intervention in Vietnam.

Speaking to a student assembly at the University of Toronto, Mr. Stapleton said the committee is represented on 600 campuses in all 50 states.

The assembly attracted students from universities and colleges in every province but Newfoundland plus representatives from several city high schools.

Meanwhile, a brief and orderly demonstration in front of the Canadian Industries Ltd. building on midtown Bloor Street sparked only a little sidewalk debate. The demonstrators, carrying signs which read "CIL—Merchants of Death" and "End War Profits," charged that the company sells war materials to the U.S. for use in Vietnam.

In a prepared statement, CIL said its commitment to sell arms to the U.S. arose out of the 1958 defence sharing agreement between Canada and the U.S.

Four Deserters From U.S. Navy Request Sweden for Asylum

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Four young U.S. Navy deserters, who left their aircraft carrier in Japan to protest American involvement in the Vietnam war, arrived from Moscow today to ask for political asylum in Sweden.

Swedish officials said their fate probably would be decided late in the day.

Police took the bearded young men into custody as soon as they stepped from a Scandinavian airliner, shoved reporters and photographers aside, and took the quartet to a police station to check their papers.

Informants indicated that the four probably would be accepted by Sweden, but there was a chance they might be returned to Moscow.

Authorities said the youths left Moscow without applying for visas. They are Richard D. Bailey, 19 of Jacksonville, Fla.; John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., and Michael A. Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

The Americans quit the aircraft carrier Intrepid in Yokosuka, Japan, in October while it was there on leave from Vietnam duty. Japanese pacifists smuggled them out of the country, and they arrived in Moscow early in November. They criticized U.S. actions in Vietnam in appearances on Soviet television and with the Soviet press, but Western newspaper men in Moscow were not allowed to interview them.

A member of the diplomatic colony in Moscow who certified the sailors by chance said they were "fed up with Russia" and were anxious to reach Sweden.

The Swedish Comitee for Vietnam, which opposed American participation in the war, said the sailors had appealed for help and that temporary housing had been arranged for them with Swedish families.

The four do not have American passports but have been issued Red Cross documents.

Bailey told reporters what he intended to do in Sweden:

"I'm not going to continue to work for peace."

Asked whether this meant attempting to persuade others to desert, he replied: "Yes, we will ask others to do like we did. It is the honorable thing to do."

However, the deserters are unlikely to get a chance to use Sweden as a platform for protest. The Swedish Aliens' Law forbids political refugees from engaging in political activities in the country.

Pep Pills Enhance 'Pot' Effect

TORONTO (CP) — Hippies seeking to heighten effects of marijuana are taking "pep pills" before smoking the drug, Michael Rees-Evans, the federal government's chief narcotics inspector in Toronto, said Thursday.

Police began noticing about 10 months ago many teen-agers arrested for marijuana possession also had the pills, obtained in many cases through forged prescriptions, he said.

He said use of the pills cannot be curtailed effectively until federal drug legislation is amended to make possession of stimulating drugs an offence.

"Canada is one of the few countries where possession is not an offence. Now, if a person is picked up for possessing marijajuana and also has methamphetamine in his possession, you legally have to return the methamphetamine to him."

St. Lawrence Hall Opened

TORONTO (CP) — Majestic St. Lawrence Hall, glittering under a $1,175,000 face-lifting, was officially re-opened Thursday night by Governor-General Roland Michener at a black-tie affair that attracted 400 of the city's elite.

Speaking from an ornate balcony, Mr. Michener said the restored, 117-year-old showplace "not only preserves one of the ornaments of a century ago but also preserves an age that was more leisurely and perhaps more orderly."

In a surprise announcement, Mayor William Dennison told the assembly that the federal government has declared the building a national historic site. He read a letter from Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing which contained praise "for reviving an important piece of Canadiana."

The hall opens to the public New Year's Day.

Cambodia Surprises U.S.--Changes Attitude

The way it was . . .

WASHINGTON (CP) — Prospects of neutralizing Cambodia to enemy forces taking sanctuary there from South Vietnam are regarded cautiously by U.S. officials pending clarification of what Poland or the Soviet Union may do.

The U.S. is not ruling out the possibility either that the latest statement of Prince Sihanouk of Cambodia, much more moderate in tone, may sound more co-operative than he is prepared to be. Inquiries are being pushed.

Officials know Canada's readiness to co-operate in more use of tri-nation International Control Commission.

Prince Sihanouk has suggested again the ICC be built up for that purpose. The U.S. is willing to supply needed equipment such as helicopters but the views of India and Poland on the commission are needed.

Poland in the past has rejected a similar proposal. The Soviet Union and Britain are involved as co-chairman of the Geneva conference founding the ICC.

The U.S. hopes Sihanouk is asking Moscow, Poland, India and other nations directly and that the answers are more favorable.

Cambodia is the most topical issue as Americans review 1967 and look ahead to 1968. They say there is no great military pressure for "hot pursuit" across the Cambodia, Laotian and Thailand borders.

More broadly, they emphasize, there simply is no point in talking about bombing pauses or even wider halts in the fighting as suggested tentatively recently by Prime Minister Pearson.

It is strictly up to Hanoi to give some acceptable signal first, the officials insist.

Life goes on in the U.S. and abroad despite Vietnam, they say.

The U.S. says it believes Moscow still really wants to settle the Vietnam war but is locked in by lack of leverage with North Vietnam and by Communist realities such as the rift with China.

Vincent Massey Dies In London Hospital

A Proud Grandpaw

President Lyndon Johnson watches closely as his grandson, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, begins to take a step during a meeting this morning at the LBJ ranch with heart transplant surgeon, Dr. Christian Barnard. Young Lyn, son of Pat and Luci Nugent, is six months old. (AP Photo)

LONDON (CP) — Vincent Massey, who as the first native-born Governor General of Canada carried the name of the sovereign to every nook and cranny of Canada, died here today. He was 80.

The brother of famed actor Raymond Massey, the Canadian elder statesman was 65 when he was appointed governor-general in 1952. He served until 1959, and during that span of time he travelled 180,000 miles or more, using every means of transportation including dogsled.

Massey, pioneer of Canadian international relations, was his country's minister in Washington from 1926 to 1930, after a period as president of Massey-Harris.

He became high commissioner in London in 1935 and served until 1946, a powerful representative of Commonwealth solidarity with beleaguered Britain during the Second World War.

From 1947 to 1953, he was Chancellor of the University of Toronto. The Massey report on the Canadian arts marked a milestone in the development of his country's culture.

Anna Massey, his niece, had planned to spend today in the country here but she like many other members of the late diplomat's circle of relatives and friends were expected to gather quickly to share their shock and bereavement.

VINCENT MASSEY

She said Massey telephoned her before Christmas about a possible meeting with her during the holiday but then became sick with what seemed to be a cold.

Massey, immensely versatile, wrote many books, including a powerful retrospective look at his own part in Canadian history, What's Past is Prologue.

Published in 1963, this was followed two years later by Confederation on the March.

He was passionately dedicated to the challenge of being Canadian and of the interdependence of national neighbors in the modern world.

Academic tributes in the form of honorary degrees were heaped upon him during his years of public service. The work of the Massey Foundation also won wide praise.

Massey earned degrees from the University of Toronto and Oxford.

He served in the First World War and was a resident of Port Hope, Ont.

"A governor-general should travel," Massey once remarked. He did just that in chalking up his remarkable more than 180,000 miles during his record of more than seven years in office.

He used every means of travel, even dogsleds in the North.

He carried his office with quiet dignity and humor, ever mindful of tradition and history, but he broke with tradition in one way.

The previous 18 governors-

Truce Extended

U.S. Heeds Pope Paul's Appeal

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Vietnam, the United States and their allies have decided to extend their New Year's Day truce by 12 hours, the government announced today.

A communique said the truce will be extended to 36 from 24 hours "in the spirit of His Holiness Pope Paul's appeal of Dec. 15 that New Year's Day be observed as a day of peace throughout the world."

The truce will begin Sunday at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) and end at 6 a.m. Tuesday (5 p.m. EST) New Year's Day.

The communique truce is still only half of the three-day New Year truce announced by the Viet Cong over their clandestine Liberation radio hidden in jungle near the Cambodian border.

The Viet Cong also offered three days at Christmas while South Vietnam and its allies announced only 24 hours.

The Viet Cong said Saigon's truces were too short to allow any one to enjoy the festivities. Saigon says the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese only use long truces to regroup and gather supplies.

The move followed a surprise helicopter flight by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker to a forward American base Friday to catch up with President Nguyen Van Thieu to discuss what was described as an "urgent matter."

81 Wounded

Marines Lose 48 in Clash

SAIGON (Reuters) — North Vietnamese soldiers killed or wounded 173 U.S. marines in two of the sharpest clashes of the war in recent months, a U.S. military spokesman announced today.

In return, the North Vietnamese lost 60 in the two battles—about 80 miles apart—on and near the coast of the South China Sea.

"Fighting was hard and up close," the spokesman commented.

A total of 48 marines were killed and 81 wounded as a battalion of the 1st Marine Regiment belly-crawled over flat, sandy ground to attack the coastal village of Thuy Tham Knc about 400 miles north of Saigon.

They killed 27 North Vietnamese regulars in taking the heavily fortified and cannon flaged series of bunkers around the village after a 16-hour battle which ended at first light Thursday.

At one point the marines and North Vietnamese exchanged withering machine-gun fire from positions estimated to be about 100 yards apart.

So close were the two sides that U.S. jet fighter-bombers and artillery had to stop supporting fire for fear of hitting their own men.

At dusk, the marines pulled back and fired flares to keep the village illuminated while heavy naval guns poured fire on the North Vietnamese positions all through the night.

When the marines attacked again at dawn they found the village deserted. The spokesman estimated the inter-connecting system of bunkers was defended by two companies of North Vietnamese.

His Party's Over

. . . well not really, although for Kevin Hebor it's the end of an auspicious year. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hebor, Church Street, he was Belleville's first born in 1967 — the city's Centennial Year baby. Now the flag-waving is almost over and Kevin seems a little perturbed by it all.

CINCINATI, Ohio (AP) — Prisoners rioted in a cellblock at the Hamilton County jail Friday night for the second time this week, breaking furniture and windows until police restored order early today with the help of tear gas.

When Guerrero, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, refused a transfusion, doctors decided to put him into the pressure chamber of the type used to treat divers suffering from the bends.

The chamber, owned by the U.S. Navy, contains 100-per-cent oxygen at a pressure twice that of sea level. The effect is to force 14 times the normal amount of oxygen into Guerrero's skimpy supply of blood.

Oxygen Instead of Blood--It Works

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — On religious grounds, Cruz Guerrero refused blood transfusions. So to keep him alive, doctors have placed him in oxygen under pressure.

Doctors at Harbor General Hospital put the 26-year-old father of two into a pressure chamber Wednesday after he lapsed into a semi-coma from a severe loss of blood. He had under gone surgery to remove a benign tumor from his stomach.

Dr. Jack Thompson, chief of surgery at the hospital, said the cost of having doctors and nurses in the tank with Gerrero around-the-clock, plus navy personnel to operate the chamber and other costs will total $15,000 to $20,000. A blood transfusion costs $75.

Prison Guards Protest

TORONTO (CP) — A squad of 30 city policemen today moved into the Don Jail, joining supervisory personnel to guard prisoners as guards left their jobs to protest provincial government takeover of the jail Monday.

About 15 guards scheduled to go on duty at 7 a.m. set up picket lines in front of the main entrance of the jail and were joined shortly afterwards by 40 guards coming off the night shift.

They are protesting that the taking over the jail by the government will cost them their Canadian Union of Public Employees membership and make them members of the Civil Service Association.

Government Policy

Maximum NHA Mortgage Rate Increased to 8 5/8 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — The maximum rate for mortgage lending under the National Housing Act will be raised Jan. 1 to 8¼ per cent from 8¼ per cent, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced Friday.

This new maximum rate will apply for the first three months of 1968 under the new flexible formula that ties NHA lending to yields on federal government bonds.

The new rate compares with 7¼ per cent a year ago and reflects the government's policy to make the government-insured mortgage field attractive to such big institutional lenders as banks, trust companies and life insurance companies.

For the first time in its history, CMHC will extend direct loans at less than the current ceiling. These loans to home-buyers will continue at 8¼ per cent "for the time being," CMHC said.

This is being done because private lenders established an effective rate for new homes of eight per cent or less during the last three months of 1967 when the permissible ceiling was 8¼.

It is current government policy to keep the NHA rate as high as the act allows. The ceiling for January, February and March depended on government bond yields in December which fell a fraction of a percentage point short of 8.50 per cent which would have meant an NHA rate of 8¼ per cent.

At the federal-provincial housing conference Dec. 11-12, the federal government said CMHC would concentrate on public housing programs in 1968 and count on the NHA rate to draw institutional lenders into the mortgage field in strength.

During 1967 the NHA rate changed with each quarter starting at 7¼ per cent, dropping to 7 per cent and then rising to 7¼ and to 8¼ per cent as interest rates in the capital market shot to some of their highest levels in decades.

CMHC claims that only in apartment and other rental accommodation did private lenders take full advantage of the 8¼-per-cent rate during the last quarter of 1967. It says most lending for new homes by the chartered banks was made at 7¼ per cent.

Sales Boom as Customers, Merchants Discover 13th Month

Pre-January, post-Christmas or 13th Month sales—call them what you will — are getting to be a trend of the times.

And the public is learning to save up a bit of pre-Christmas money to take advantage of the sometimes attractive price cuts.

That is the feeling expressed by a number of local merchants who this week were offering post-Christmas sales instead of waiting for the normal January sales events.

Over at Canadian Tire, the immediate post - Christmas event is called a 13th month sale.

"This is the third year for us and the sale has been gaining momentum each year", reported the store manager.

The procedure is to offer price cuts on a dozen or more seasonal items such as room heaters and sports goods, with a few specials thrown in.

And the idea seems to have a certain appeal for the buying public.

Downs Men's Wear on Front Street, this week has been staging an immediate post Christmas sale with considerable success.

Here the mild fall weather resulted in slower sales for men's outer wear, so with extra stock on hand they simply advanced their normal January sale.

"We're getting a number of interested people and also people with Christmas gift certificates," said the store manager.

Here the store manager felt that the public was being educated to save some pre-Christmas money to take advantage of the post - Christmas and early January sales.

But another downtown merchant pointed out that the public has less choice of goods at the post-Christmas sales.

"What they are being offered is the left overs", he said.

Looking at it from a merchants viewpoint he suggested also that if the post-Christmas sales were promoted too strongly the public would hang off and wait for the after Christmas events.

One women's wear store on the east end plaza has been offering discounts on a limited number of items.

Walker's have been running a 30 per cent post Christmas discount sale for several years with encouraging success.

No Inquest In Highway Fatality

NAPANEE — No inquest will be held as a result of Thursday's accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Jack (Marjorie) Walmsley, 48, of Napanee, Coroner R. A. McLellan has decided.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Wartman Funeral Home. Rev. E. Irvine Johnston officiating.

Larry Thompson, 17, of R. R. 7, Napanee, injured in the same accident, is still recovering consciousness in Kingston General Hospital, and a report from the hospital to the Napanee Police Department states that his condition is satisfactory. He has a broken femur and head injuries. Eric Wilde, 18, also of R. R. 7, Napanee, driver of the second car, was treated in hospital in Napanee and released.

Woman Found Dead

NAPANEE— Mrs. Leta King, 71, of 25 Mill St., was discovered dead in her bed Friday morning by her son-in-law, Gerald Peters of R. R. 4, Napanee, who had dropped in to see her. It is believed that she had been dead for about two days; Wednesday's daily paper was on the table, but Thursday's was still at the door.

Dr. John Paidra, her physician, said Mrs. King had had a long-standing heart condition and that death might have occurred at any time. Coroner Dr. Robert A. McLellan said there will be no inquest.

Stop - - - This Is Illegal

Provincial Police say that what this hunter is doing is illegal — he's supposed to get off the snow cruiser. The regulation is that it is illegal to hunt from a vehicle. Also snow cruisers being used on the highway have to be licensed and must be driven by a licensed operator.

No Doubt About It 1968 to Slip In

New Year 1968 should cross the threshold of the Quinte district in fine style — if it doesn't trip on a deep pile carpet of snow.

Heavy snow flurries belted across the Lake Ontario shoreline early today, cutting visibility, making road conditions hazardous in spots.

By 10 a.m., the weather office at Canadian Forces Base Trenton had recorded a two-inch snowfall — and the duty forecaster predicted more on the way.

In Prince Edward County, earlier bogged down this week in a 16-inch snow drop, the flurries were even heavier.

The situation should ease tonight, tapering off to irregular flurries during the holiday weekend.

The weather compounds traffic movement on provincial highways already heavier because of holiday travel.

However, provincial police patrols in the area reported no serious accidents Friday night — when traffic reached a peak with celebrants heading for out-of-town friends, families and ski resorts.

With the snow, warmer winds have taken the bitter edge of chilly temperatures.

A high of 27 was predicted today for the Trenton-Belleville area with a low tonight of 15

$2,000. Theft Still Unsolved

TRENTON — Police are still seeking a solution to the reported disappearance of $2,000 in cash and cheques from Trenton Cleaners sometime earlier this week.

The money, half in cash, was locked in the office safe last weekend.

Tuesday it was discovered missing. Police said the safe was still locked.

Former Governor General Dies

general since Confederation usually chided away from controversial issues in public speeches. Not Mr. Massey.

He lashed out at use of slovenly language, criticized Canadians for having neglected their links with the past and warned of the threat to individual personalities in too great a use of mass-media entertainment and education—through radio and television.

"Sometimes it seems that what is conveyed by this language is not received through the mind at all but is absorbed by the pores!" he said.

As a grandfather, he devoted much time to his five grandchildren and to the thousands of Canadian schoolchildren he visited on his travels—always granting them a school holiday in the name of the Queen.

Massey, slightly built, with a lean, craggy countenance, was equally at home among the nation's great and those of lesser station. He mingled with Eskimos and Indians, farmers and fishermen, workers in all walks of life.

He sensed the loneliness of those in remote areas and made a point of visiting outposts: Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island, the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; British Columbia's Cariboo country. In 1956 he made a 10,000-mile tour of the northland, becoming the first governor-general to fly over the North Pole.

Midway through his record tenure of office Massey said he had found Canada's link with the Crown growing closer and more secure.

"The Crown is a unifying force, vital to Canadians. I believe the Crown is symbolic of all that is best in our lives. It is one thing that places everybody in the same relationship."

But he also urged Canadians toward a greater awareness of national character and greater self-confidence and self-reliance. Towards the end of his stay at Government House, he told friends:

"I feel deeply that Canada's national consciousness is more powerful than it has ever been. We have become more self-reliant; we have greater pride in our country. We shall maintain our identity as long as we remain loyal to our traditions and keep doing things our own way."

Massey's appointment as first minister to Washington—from 1926 to 1930—brought criticism that Canada was "moving away from the Empire; but Massey contended the move would in fact strengthen Canada's position in the Empire and strengthen the Empire, establishing Canada as a major power in international politics.

During his 11 years as Canadian high commissioner to London from 1935 to 1946, he and Mrs. Massey became known to thousands of Canadian troops entertained at the Beaver Club in London, a $1,000,000 hostel provided by the wealthy Massey men in the early years.

Massey made Canadian products more familiar to Britons by launching an energetic advertising campaign with the "Canada Calling" slogan flashed on screens, buses, billboards and underscored in the pages of British newspapers.

He described his chairmanship of the two-year royal commission on national development in the arts, letters and sciences as "nothing less than an examination of the foundations of Canadian life".

The commission travelled 10,000 miles, held more than 200 sessions, heard more than 1,000 witnesses and received almost 500 briefs. Its massive 150,000-word report, much of it written personally by Massey, became a government "best seller." Thousands of copies were bought by the public.

The commission's main recommendation—setting up a Canada Council with public funds to aid projects that would help give Canada a more distinctive culture—was implemented some years later with a $100,000,000 parliamentary grant.

While Massey attained much success, he also had his failures. In 1925 he stepped out of industrial life at invitation of the late Mackenzie King, to join his Liberal cabinet as minister without portfolio. His political career was short-lived. He was defeated in Charlie's Durham constituency in the general election that year and never again sought elective office.

He loved animals and books. Almost constantly at his side was George, a golden-haired retriever given him by his wife in 1943, a year before her death. Five years later George died and was succeeded by Duff, another retriever given as a birthday gift by his son, Hart.

Duff couldn't follow his master to official functions but at Massey's side he mingled with guests at many private receptions and dinner parties.

One of the most striking photographs taken during Queen Elizabeth's 1957 visit to Ottawa showed Duff carrying the Queen's purse as she, Prince Philip and Massey left the Hill through the Government House grounds.

Three books were published under Massey's name. Two were collections of speeches he made in the U.S. and Britain—Speeches delivered and Other Addresses in 1931 and The Sword of Lionheart and Other Wartime Speeches in 1943.

The third, On Being a Canadian, published in 1948, became a widely-quoted book on the development of a Canadian consciousness. Mr. Massey planned a fourth book after retirement, a collection of his memories of Washington, London and Ottawa.

As governor-general he prepared and delivered more than 500 speeches, some in fluent French. His private joy was writing verse. He brought laughter to private dinner parties by reciting speeches in rhyme.

Temporary Layoffs Begin

Community of Point Anne Faces Belt Tightening Period

POINT ANNE — Workers began trickling from the Canada Cement Company plant here yesterday — the advance guard of a workforce for which the New Year tolls temporary unemployment.

Within 10 days, slightly more than 130 men will be laid off for at least two months as the big Point Anne production centre bows to declining markets and enforces a shutdown.

The atmosphere might have been as cheerless as the end-of-December day in which the shutdown began. But the outlook was far from foreboding.

From the company, yesterday's phasing out of its workers brought continued reassurance that the closedown wasn't permanent.

For the men, it signalled a reduced standard of living while awaiting recall, but no bitter economic victimization.

For the layoffs of lost earnings is cushioned by a clause in a strike - won contract which guarantees them supplementary income.

Added to unemployment benefits, this guarantees the idled workers about 80 per cent of their take - home pay packages in happier times.

"It's not a happy event— but it's not as bad as it would have been years ago, say in the 30s," said one company official.

"One good thing about it is the supplementary income," agreed Ray Bradshaw, president of the Belleville and District Labor Council.

As a Canada Cement employee he was one of the first to be laid off as the deadline went into force yesterday afternoon.

He recalled the benefit was won by strike action in 1961 to offset the hazards of wage-earning in an industry prone to seasonal hazards.

"Anybody can visualize it as seasonal — it depends on the market," said Mr. Bradshaw.

Market - place fluctuations first caused the company to consider the move earlier this year as demand in the Toronto area — main sales centre for Point Anne production — began to decline.

The impending decision was preceded by a hometown rumor the company apparently is still trying to exercise.

This was roundly denied in the late Fall and again Dec. 19 when the layoff was finally confirmed.

However, it seemingly still persists — to the company's exasperation.

"We want to wipe out this impression totally — even to the public," was the official answer when the question was repeated once more yesterday.

His statement was confirmed by plant superintendent J. H. Legate.

Mr. Legate, busily engaged with labor-management meetings as the layoff neared in recent weeks, says 55 men will be idled by the New Year.

An additional 80 will go Jan. 8 and between times the two mighty kilns which pump out the company product will be gradually phased out.

"Anybody can visualize it as seasonal — it depends on the market," said Mr. Bradshaw.

A Thurlow township official reckons its current population around 5,000 — most of its wage-earners dependent on the cement works.

But their main shopping centre is Belleville. Their reduced earning power will exert further pressure on an economic pinch already leaving its initial marks in growing city welfare costs.

Point Anne: Idle Days Ahead

Lone worker contrasts with busy kilns pumping out familiar grey clouds from cement production centre at Point Anne. Soon, kilns will be idled as Canada Cement Company, hit by demand decline, lays off workers until March. Men will draw contract, unemployment benefits equal to 80 per cent of take-home pay.

Obituaries

MRS. THOMAS QUACKENBUSH
(Marmora)

The death occurred in Belleville General Hospital on Dec. 27 of Mrs. Annie Mabel Quackenbush, following a lengthy illness.

Deceased was born and educated in Bolton, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fox and was in her 83rd year. She was a member of Bolton Chapter LOBA No. 600 and of Marmora Pentecostal Church.

Mrs. Quackenbush was well known in the area having lived at Bonarlaw for some time where her first husband, the late George Neal and she resided. Thomas Quackenbush also predeceased her.

Surviving are one son Howard Neal of Marmora; four daughters, Mrs. Clifford (Edith) Gregory of Niagara Falls, Ont., Mrs. Harry (Jessie) Moffatt, Mrs. Arthur (Marjorie) Nobes, both of Marmora, Mrs. Roy (Yvonne) Moss of Barrie and 24 grandchildren, 21 great grandchildren and one great, great grandchild. She was predeceased by one daughter Gladys and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Woods.

The funeral was held on Dec. 28 from the Howden Funeral Home to Marmora Pentecostal Church with service by Rev. P. Ripley. Interment was in Mount Nebo Cemetery. Bearers were Harold Sandford, Carl Adams, [illegible] Preston, Stanley [illegible]ooks, James Green and Murray Young.

ANDREW C. ALEXANDER

The funeral of Mr. Andrew C. Alexander, who died as the result of a fire at his home in Madoc, was held this afternoon from the Mackenzie Funeral Home with service conducted by Rev. W. M. Sedgwick. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Friday evening an LOL memorial service was held at the funeral home in the presence of Quennsboro Lodge No. 437.

The bearers were George Gordon, Frank O'Rourke, Kenneth Cassidy, Allan Thompson, Raymond Decluir and Edward Alexander.

HUMANS REPLACED

PANAMA (AP)—Scientists at the Georgas Memorial Laboratory here report Panama monkeys may be replacing human volunteers in experiments with the most deadly form of malaria. Drs. James Porter and Michael Young say they have succeeded in growing malignant tertian malaria in the monkeys and their research indicates the animals can be used to study the disease and test antimalaria drugs.

WILBERT (BILL) LATCHFORD
(R. R. 5 Belleville)

In failing health for the past eight months, Wilbert (Bill) Latchford, Cloverleaf Drive, Thurlow township, died in Belleville General Hospital on Friday evening. He was in his 69th year.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latchford, he was born at West Huntingdon and was a life resident of the area, having lived on Cloverleaf Drive for the past 35 years. He worked as a carpenter with T and C Construction in Belleville.

He is survived by his wife, the former Lillian Thelma Rushworth, and two sons Terrence of Toronto, and William H. of Belleville.

There are two brothers, Charles of Toronto, and Orlick of Belleville and two sisters, Mrs. Fred (Bessie) Smith of Belleville, and Mrs. Charles (Pearl) Pidutti of Bismarck, North Dakota.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home with service in the chapel at 3 p.m. conducted by Rev. L. C. Mann. Cremation will be at the St. James Crematorium in Toronto.

MRS. JOSEPH ROLLINS
Madoc

Ill for the past two years, Mrs. Annie Mary Rollins, widow of Joseph Rollins of Madoc, died suddenly at her residence on Friday. She was in her 74th year.

Born at Eldorado, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Law and had lived for the past 23 years in Madoc. Previously she had lived at Cooper and Roslin.

She was a member of Trinity United Church at Madoc and, from health permitted was active in different aspects of church work.

Her husband was the last of her family and is survived only by nieces and nephews. Her husband, three brothers and two sisters pre-deceased her.

The funeral will be held Sunday from the Mackenzie Funeral Home at Madoc with service in the chapel at 2 p.m. conducted by Rev. D. W. Potter. Interment Cooper Cemetery.

The Case of the Missing Luggage

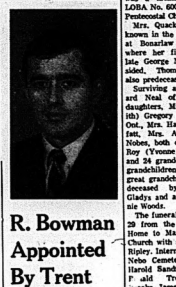
Stanley Holmes of Willowdale lost 4th New Year luggage last night but provincial police solved the case — and returned it — within a half-hour.

Holmes was enroute home from Montreal when he stopped at Napanee and noticed his suitcase was missing from his car roof.



At a loss, he told provincial police in Belleville it was somewhere on the Macdonald - Cartier Freeway — between the Quebec border and the Quinte area.

Discomfited, he continued on his way.

The OPP despatched a teletype message to all police offices in the region.

Within 30 minutes police at Cornwall reported they had the suitcase secure.

By the time Holmes reached home the OPP were on the phone from Belleville to confirm his luggage was being forwarded — collect.

R. Bowman Appointed By Trent

The appointment of Richard Bowman as student aid and high school liaison officer has been announced by T.H.B. Symons, president and vice-chancellor of Trent University.

Mr. Bowman will deal with applications for student loans and provide secondary schools with information about admission requirements and courses available at Trent.

A graduate of Carleton University, where he specialized in history, Mr. Bowman is a native of Belleville and received his elementary and secondary education in Trenton. Before his appointment to Trent, he taught history at Sarnia Central Collegiate and most recently was guidance counselor at Cobourg District Collegiate West.

Mr. Bowman coached track and football teams at Sarnia and Cobourg.

Big Prize List Awaits First New Year's Baby

Sometime in the next 48 hours a lucky mister and his missus in the Belleville area will receive their most precious New Year's gift.

It'll be the first bouncing bundle of babyhood delivered in 1968.

Its arrival in turn will precipitate a bumper shower of gifts, bright as the sparkle in a parent's eye.

It's all due to the merchants of Belleville.

For another year, they're helping to make the birth of the first baby to arrive in the area an even more memorable event for all involved.

Once again they have contributed a gift package that would demand a motor-powered baby carriage to carry back home.

Among the items:
40 quarts of milk.
Diapers. . .
A variety of baby clothes.
More diapers. . .
Gift vouchers.
Still more diapers. . .
And one month's free diaper service, to wrap things up.

Neither are the proud parents left ignored.

Mum's presentations include a cosmetic set.

It's all as indicated on pages in today's Intelligencer — to be read with expectation.

But a quick reminder that there are qualifications.

These include the need to have a physician certify the time of arrival and residence in the Intelligencer's readership area.

If you qualify you must send your entry to The Intelligencer offices before 5 p.m.

Meantime, keep an eye on the clock. The contest begins midnight Sunday.

No Fire Deaths YET Brings Year-end Plea

Belleville fire department has little more than 24 hours to go before it can record a year free of fire fatality.

But those hours include a peak hazard period — New Year's Eve night.

This sees a time when hundreds of parents will be away from home observing the traditional celebrations.

Responsibility for fire prevention in the home — and the safety of youngsters — will rest on the young shoulders of baby - sitters.

With this in mind officials of the city's fire prevention bureau reminds parents to "hire only competent baby - sitters" during party time.

They also suggest all parents leave a telephone number where they may be contacted, plus numbers for a doctor, police and fire departments.

Youth Shot in Stomach

TRENTON — Provincial police today still are investigating circumstances surrounding the accidental shooting of a teenager as he hunted rabbits with friends near here.

David Morgan, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, R. R. 4 Trenton, is in Trenton Memorial Hospital after he was wounded in the stomach with a .22-calibre bullet.

Police say the youth had earlier been hunting on a neighbor's farm and had just left a group of his companions to walk home when the mishap occurred.

OPP from Brighton today were still questioning the other youths in connection with the incident.

The New Year

As 1948 approaches the world faces any number of problems — war and rumors of war, over-population and famine, pollution and diseases like cancer that so far have defied solution.

Canada also has problems as it enters its second century as a nation. Politically, it is a very significant and interesting time as the two founding races ponder the issue of unity or separate statehood for Quebec.

In Belleville a new council will shortly confront the problems of growth that will absorb local government for years to come. Some are already pending — like the Dundas Street bridge project and the arena and community centre.

Somewhere a balance must be struck between long-term communication and recreational needs and the ability of the community to pay for such ventures.

These are all matters for careful and detailed study, and ultimately for the democratic decision of council and public. Rome was not built in a day.

Aside from the pressures of the day it is salutary to pause and reflect that it is good to be alive. Some are not so fortunate — like the young Toronto social worker killed in a train crossing accident the other day, and countless others who are handicapped in one way or another.

In 1968 we should resolve simply to build a better world — and to begin right here in our own community.

Self-Education

Self-education is the goal of a group of young people in Vancouver who have abandoned what they regard as the negative disciplines of formal schooling for a curriculum and building of their own.

The Vancouver Sun describes them as 22 young unconventionals, and they are public school students — which makes them younger than most of today's young dissidents.

The students have taken over an old 12-room house in Kitsilano and engaged volunteer teachers from the Company of Young Canadians. This in itself may be a clue to their philosophy. The CYC, modelled originally on the U.S. Peace Corps unfortunately has become something very different, advertising itself more with political radicalism rather than with meeting the needs of poverty in Canada or the underdeveloped countries.

Be that as it may the young people at least are making a positive approach to the problems facing them. And they are avoiding the futility of dropping out. Courses include most of the basic school subjects. However, as one of the CYC says: "It's not so much an academic education but an education in being with people and learning with people."

One of the volunteer teachers said it was "the negative . . . everything from the existence of classes and irrelevant subjects matter down to rules about behavior and dress" that drove students to the breakaway project.

While similar breakaways from formal school systems obviously are not recommended, there is no reason why a group of young people displaying initiative of this kind should not achieve something positive. They eventually may run into problems finding jobs without the customary exam qualifications, but they have a long road to travel before encountering that difficulty head-on.

Conformity and even regimentation are familiar facets of the school system for thousands of youngsters. Similarly, rebellion in one degree or another is part of the makeup of all young people. And this Vancouver situation is one of more than usual interest.

Travelling College

The idea of Indian members of the Company of Young Canadians taking education to their people by means of a travelling rail college is a good one.

Presumably this North American Indian Travelling College is in the same nature as Frontier College which provides learning for bush and other seasonal workers in remote parts of the country, with vacationing students as teachers.

Chief Walking Buffalo, chief of Alberta's Stony Indians, would have liked this new concept in Indian education. The chief, who died the other day at the age of 97 referred to the outdoors as God's University.

Like the majority of his race, Chief Walking Buffalo felt close to nature. He believed that if man understood nature he would understand himself and bring about the brotherhood of all mankind.

In this plan to upgrade Indian education there lies fresh hope for a greatly improved future for the first citizens of this land.

Pearson A Shadow P.M. as Colleagues Eye Leadership

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA —Watching Prime Minister Pearson in these last weeks of the year, it is impossible to tell whether in his secret heart he feels delighted or dismayed.

Of course, in public, he has been putting the best possible face on it.

For he insists that in the next three twilight months of his five years as prime minister he'll be exercising "as much or perhaps even more authority" than he did before announcing his April retirement.

"I'll be operating at full capacity," he adds, "for I don't expect to function as a 'lame-duck' prime minister."

But seeing is believing, and as he looks around him, he must know that already he has become a shadow prime minister.

If he hears what people have been saying — including a sizeable majority of Liberal parliamentarians — he must feel something like a ghost.

And hear them he must have, for he could scarcely be deaf to the continuing chatter in the Liberal lobby of the Commons in the days before the House adjourned for Christmas.

Then hearing them, you could almost see him mentally pinching himself for re-assurance that he, suddenly, hadn't become a disembodied spirit.

For they were talking of this PM in the past tense, as if he already belonged to another political age like former Liberal King and Louis St. Laurent.

He may shuffle the cabinet, post people to the Senate, dispense top federal jobs and make any number of decisions in these next three end-of-career months — but with no guarantee that any of it will stick, that it won't come unstuck at the hands of a successor.

So they are writing off him as if he already has left the political stage.

They are talking warm "do you remember" stories about him.

Even his severest critic in the Liberal caucus, acid - tongued Ralph Cowan of Toronto, who simply could not abide him before, has been talking of him affectionately.

Cowan almost quit when these past five years, in bitterness that baffled everybody, he lashed about "Pearson," as he called him, making the name sound almost like a curse.

Now he has been almost purring about the PM, speaking fondly (for him) about "Mike."

He still, in his heart, probably can't stand Liberals now with the time for goodbyes only 13 weeks away, the cutting edge of sharp dislike has been turned into grudging regard.

So they have all been busy now telling each other "good old Mike" yarns.

Just as if he already belonged to the history books and wasn't standing there, bemused, listening to it all.

What has seemed to appal most has been the Pearson talent for the wry touch.

Like his self-deprecation of his World War One record . . .

". . . my overseas service was just about as distinguished as it could be — I stayed alive — but one medal I should have got, not in war but in peace, was the Purple Heart in 1918."

(That was the awful year of John Diefenbaker's Dublin victory that buried Lester Pearson and his 47 Grits under 208 Tories.)

Then there is the delightful tale the retiring prime minister tells of his attendance, representing the external affairs department, at the coronation of George VI . . .

"My aide in Westminster Abbey, unlike those of my fellow-Canadian ushers, was away off in the back behind the chair where I saw nothing of the ceremony itself — but as compensation had a perfect view of those temporary lavatories which a paternalistic government had so thoughtfully provided for its peers and peeresses."

And this story with a straight face.

Leadership Race And Commons Business May Clash

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the major decisions the government has to face in the new year is how long to keep the Commons in session.

Some cabinet ministers say there would be serious public criticism if Parliament's business were suspended during most of the campaign leading to the Liberal leadership convention here April 4-6.

Others—mainly those who will run for the leadership—say they doubt there would be any widespread criticism.

The Commons is scheduled to reconvene Jan. 26. By then, presumably, all candidates will have announced their intentions.

Prime Minister Pearson has said that he expects all cabinet ministers seeking the leadership to pay strict attention to their portfolios and to Commons business.

Some observers say it will be almost impossible for Mr. Pearson to hold these candidates in Ottawa during the leadership campaign if they don't choose to stay. Too much was at stake: both the prime ministership as well as the party leadership.

Other authorities here maintain that convention delegates will deal harshly with candidates who neglect their Ottawa chores and thereby put the government in a bad light.

This is a new Canadian problem.

In past years Parliament lived to be in session for about half the year only. Now it is in almost constant session, barring special adjournments such as that for last summer's centennial events.

This puts the government in an awkward position when the party in power has to change leaders, especially as now, when there is a backlog of important legislation.

There is a good deal of dispute about how much real power a prime minister retains after he has announced his intention to retire.

Mr. Pearson is said to be concerned about the impression the government will leave with Canadians during the leadership campaign and is therefore reported in favor of keeping the Commons in session until late March.

How he would or could deal with cabinet-minister candidates who ignored his wishes is another matter.

Mr. Pearson has refused to comment

Story of Fall Reveals Bias Against Sex

TORONTO (CP) — Why is the tempter in the story of Adam and Eve a serpent?

Because it's a phallic symbol says Rev. J. Edgar Bruns, chairman of the theology department at St. Michael's College, and it illustrates the anti-sex and anti-woman element of the Old Testament.

"The narrative of the fall in Genesis reveals a decidedly anti-feminist bias, an association between woman and the acquisition of knowledge, and an association between knowledge and sexuality," he says.

Father Bruns, who analyzes the Christian sexual heritage in a book entitled The New Morality, edited by another St. Michael's professor, William Dunphy, says the Old Testament is filled with anti-sexual and anti-feminist taboos and he lists a number of "thoroughly evil women" who figure in the biblical narratives.

There was Potiphar's wife who tried to seduce Joseph; Delilah, who was Samson's barber and his undoing; and Jezebel, who has become a synonym for the thoroughly hateful woman.

And he adds, if Christianity is to rid itself of this anti-sex hangover it must construct a meaningful sexual morality for today.

Father Bruns rejects the Bible as a reliable ethical guide because of the contrast of moral precepts—some of which are "only valid at a particular period because of the historical circumstances which created them," and others which "remain valid independently of time and place."

Some biblical passages express a wholesome and realistic view of both sex and marriage, he says, but they are those passages in which the prophets used the image of marital intercourse to describe the relationship of God to His people.

Usually, he says, "where womankind is spoken of in general in the Old Testament it is almost always disparagingly."

Even homosexuality, he says, is based on scorn for women.

He suggests that the original sin of Sodom and Gomorrah was not homosexuality but "inhospitality", which all Eastern peoples regarded as a serious offence, and was later changed by rabbis who were alarmed by the Greek propensity toward homosexuality.

Homosexuality was probably condemned strongly by the Israelites because it threatened to expose the male to feminine scorn, and this was an intolerable indignity "in a society where the dignity of the male was of primary consideration," he says.

The positive value of sex is celebrated in the Song of Songs, he says, and describes this Old Testament book as "an abrogation of the curse imposed on woman."

But, he says, the problem facing the modern Christian moralist is to disentangle mere taboo in the Bible from those moral values which are truly eternal.

Mormons Get Lost Papyrus

NEW YORK (AP) — A batch of ancient Egyptian papyrus documents, linked to some scriptures of the Latter-Day Saints Mormon Church and long believed lost in a fire, are back in church hands.

President N. Eldon Tanner, of the church's three-member first presidium in Salt Lake City, Utah, expressed "excitement and great appreciation" at recovery of the material. He called it "most valuable."

The collection, turned up in Egyptian archives of the Metropolitan Museum of Art here, includes the ancient original of a facsimile drawing accompanying some of the church's scriptures, the Book of Abraham.

Whether the papyri script, in Egyptian hieroglyphic and hieratic symbols, contains any of the text of the book will be determined by intensive study by experts, President Tanner said.

The documents are a fractional portion of ancient papyri obtained by the church's founder, Joseph Smith, in 1835, along with four Egyptian mummies purchased by church members in Kirtland, Ohio.

All of the material had been thought destroyed in the Chicago fire of 1871, church leaders said, until Dr. Aziz S. Atiya, a University of Utah authority on Middle East antiquity, happened on some of it in the museum here.

The Book of Abraham is part of the Pearl of Great Price, one of four volumes of scriptures accepted by Mormons, the elders being the Bible, the Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Covenants.

In a foreword to the Book of Abraham, Smith says its text was translated from ancient papyri records from Egyptian tombs, hand-written by the Biblical patriarch of Israel.

The book tells of a stay in Egypt by Abraham, and of his being saved through prayer from sacrificial execution by idol-worshippers. No mention of such a period is made in the Old Testament account of Abraham.

Dr. Henry G. Fischer, curator of the museum's Egyptian department, and church officials said much of the script is from the Egyptian Book of the Dead, with which mummies commonly were buried. The material dates back possibly 3,000 years, Dr. Fischer said.

Church officials said that after Smith's death in 1844, his widow sold the Egyptian material, and that at least two of the four mummies were burned in the Chicago fire. It was assumed all of the documents had perished.

Dr. Fischer said the museum obtained the collection in 1947 from the late Alice Heusner of Brooklyn, daughter of the housekeeper of the family to which Smith's widow had sold the material.

CBC Is Praised By Paris Paper

PARIS (CP) — The CBC's French-language broadcasting services have received a pat on the back from elements in France anxious about the worldwide progression of their mother tongue.

One commentator here, sociologist Evelyne Sullerot, lauds CBC efforts to maintain the quality of spoken French in areas of Canada that served as the mother tongue.

"Daily use of English, necessary for work, (and) the inadequacy of grammatical knowledge had corrupted not only the vocabulary (of French-Canadians) but also the syntax," the sociologist writes in an article appearing on the radio-TV page of the Paris newspaper Le Monde.

Television, she says, has reversed a tendency for experts concerned about the purity of French in Canada to become separated from the mass of people.

Keeping French "uncorrupted" is a long-established cause in France, with special emphasis on countering undue proliferation of English terms in the language.

One guardian of the tongue is the Academie francaise, made up of the nation's 40 most venerable brains.

Faced with foreign linguistic incursions, the academy publishes regular announcements about the foreign terms it approves or rejects as candidates for entry into French.

One recent declaration in this series approved the word "sandwich" but urged use of native equivalents for "marketing" and "fuel oil." Yet "pipe line," with an appropriate French pronunciation, received academy approval.

Backing the 40 academicians in their undertakings is a Paris-based association called Defense de la langue francaise.

The association, which apparently keeps close tabs on French in Canada, joins in the praise for the CBC's linguistic efforts but laments evidence presented to it of English-style phrases replacing classical French terms for various legal procedures.

Clocks Mark the Passage Of Time Into the New Year

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The year ticks away on many kinds of clocks. This ormulu clock made about 1890 is decorated with three color Wedgwood jasper medallions.

(Buten Museum of Wedgwood, Merion, Pa.)

Clocks mark the passage of time and the new year. Many beautiful clocks have been made since the first household clocks were made about the 15th century. The early clocks were driven by hanging weights. The spring driven clock was made after 1500, and by 1525 it was a popular mechanism. Clocks made by this method could be housed in a smaller case.

The first pendulum clocks were made in Venice during the mid-17th century. The shape of the clock case was changed to accommodate the long pendulum. Tall case or grandfather's clocks became the style of the day.

A short pendulum was developed in England about 1658. Table size clocks became fashionable.

At each century the clock design has been determined by the mechanism running the clock and by the style of the furniture in fashion.

Happy New Year!

Q. See no evil, speak no evil, hear no evil, the three monkeys who cover their eyes, ears, or mouths are being made. Have they been made for many years?

A. The three charming monkeys date back to about the year 800. A Japanese Buddhist priest engraved the monkeys with paws covering the ears, eyes, or mouth as part of a koshin. The koshin was a stone tablet placed at a crossroads. Words of wisdom or prayers in praise of God were inscribed on the tablet.

The three monkeys were found in many other places in Japan including shrines. The monkeys may be illustrating one of the sayings of Buddha. Copies of these monkeys can be found in all parts of the world.

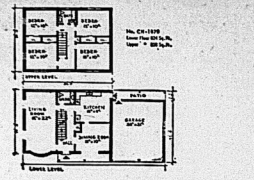
Q. What is the patina on an old piece of silver? Will any form of cleaning harm it?

A. The patina on an old piece of silver is really a thin layer of tiny scratches that softens the color of the silver. Most collectors consider old silver to be more beautiful because of the patina which gives the silver its sheen and color. The tiny scratches are made by constant use and polishing with acceptable silver polishes.



Never use a harsh abrasive such as kitchen cleanser or steel wool. The commercial polishes for silver are all acceptable except those called instant cleaners. They remove the oxidation from the silver and leave the piece a tin-like color.

SIR JOHN A. HUMAN

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — A University of Alberta educationist says it took the Centennial to show students "that Sir John A. MacDonald was a human being rather than a drunken Scot." Prof. Earl Buxton said children for years have been learning "dates and voyage routes" instead of the "courage and personalities" of Canadian leaders.

Canadians Reluctant to See Centennial Year Come to End

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The centennial Year will end quietly across most of Canada on Dec. 31, almost as if Canadians don't want to admit the year-long birthday celebrations are over.

New Year's Eve will seem sadly reserved compared to the enthusiasm and excitement generated a year ago.

A Cross - Canada survey by The Canadian Press showed that the most impressive year-end ceremony will take place at Parliament Hill in Ottawa.

It will include a nationally-tele-ised address by Governor-General Michener and a public party.

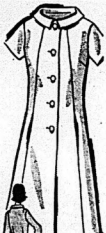
will lead the official party to the stage and later to the Centennial flame for the snuffing out and relighting.

The audience will light up sparklers, the Hill carillon will chime, the flag on the Peace Tower will be unfurled and everyone will sing O Canada.

Ten minutes of fireworks will follow and then the year will end with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Centennial Year will be ushered out quietly in Newfoundland with inter - faith prayer meetings at St. John's and Corner Brook.

Many of the 50 communities on Prince Edward Island will have bonfires.



Nova Scotia is not planning a year-end ceremony. Neither is Saskatchewan.

An inter-faith service in Winnipeg Auditorium will include slides of the year's highlights and selections by the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra will highlight year-end celebrations in Manitoba.

A gala fireworks display near a downtown Edmonton bridge on New Year's Day is the highlight of year-end activity in Alberta.

A ceremony called Welcome Century Two will be held in Vancouver. A time capsule containing 200 souvenirs, including several 1967 Canadian newspapers, will be buried under a concrete slab near the legislature buildings.

Ann Landers

Teen-ager Regrets Past Mistakes

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teen-ager who is not writing for advice. It's too late for that. I am writing in the hope that you will print my letter for other teen-age girls who think putting out is the sure way to hang on to a boy-friend.

ANN LANDERS

Bill and I started to go steady on my 16th birthday. It wasn't long before we were doing things we had no right to do. His theory was, "If a girl loves a guy she proves it by holding nothing back." My theory was, "This is the way to make him mine. It will keep him from going with other girls because if I fill all his needs he won't want anyone but me."

After six months Bill began to act as if I was a burden to him. He started to complain because I complained when he went to the hockey games with his buddies. He said I was trying to own him and he couldn't stand a girl who was bossy. So we broke up. Then I learned he had been seeing another girl behind my back. I also learned he had told a few of his "good friends" about some of our private moments.

If any of you girls wonder what it is like to give in to your boy friend, I can tell you in a few sentences. The few minutes of pleasure are soon replaced by terrible feelings of guilt. You walk around scared that you might be pregnant. You pray for forgiveness but you have a feeling God isn't listening because you have failed Him so many times in the past. You wish you could stop, but you're afraid your boy friend will leave you if you refuse him, and you couldn't stand that because by now the guy is your whole life. Then one day he gets tired of you and you lose him anyway. And who do you lose him to? A girl who knows how to say "No." — TOO LATE FOR ME

* * *

DEAR TOO LATE: Thank you for sharing your bitter experience in the hope that it might help someone else. And now, if you have learned something from it, it will not have been a total disaster.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past ten years my husband has been too sick to work. I never leave him for more than an hour during the day. Since I do all my own housework I am plenty busy. Once a week my husband and I go to a movie together or we play bridge. This is the extent of our evening socializing.

I don't want to give the impression I am a martyr. My husband is a pleasant person and I don't resent having him around all the time. We have been happily married for 28 years and I hope God gives us 30 more.

The problem is this: I love to play Ma-Jongg and I get invited to play about three evenings a week. I have two teenagers at home so my husband is never alone. He always puts on a long face when I leave. Do you feel I should pass up these Ma-Jongg games to please him? — MIAMI MRS.

DEAR MRS.: Ordinarily I would not advise a wife to leave her husband three evenings a week but since the man is at home 100 per cent of the time, that's a lot of togetherness.

I say you are entitled to crack, bam and dot three evenings a week if you want to, dear. And may every hand you pick have at least 10 flowers.

Confidential to FRUSTRATED MARTHA: Tell Ivan he must go to a doctor and learn if there is enough hearing left so that age aid might help him. If he can't hear you, write it on a piece of paper.

Redneršville W.I.

The December meeting of Redneršville W.I. was held at the Glenburnie Motel.

Following the banquet, the meeting was opened by the president Mrs. C. McFaul, who thanked Mrs. H. Montgomery, centennial convener, for her work on centennial projects during the year.

Mrs. L. Bedford, social convener, assisted by Mrs. C. Smith and Mrs. W. Pulver, presented the program. Following readings and solos, a Christmas contest was conducted.

Lester Pearson Top News Figure of Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Almost everything a prime minister does and says is newsworthy. Lester Pearson did and said a lot in 1967 and, in the view of Canada's newseditors, was the leading Canadian news figure of the year.

He beat easily such newsworthy political personalities as Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, Jean Drapeau and the prime minister's long - time political opponent, John Diefenbaker. All three were closely grouped for second spot but the Montreal mayor got the nod by a whisker.

And the most noteworthy Canadian not in public affairs the editors chose Dr. Gordon Murray, 73-year-old Toronto surgeon who claimed his operation on a paralyzed man had achieved regeneration of the spinal cord. The claim later was disputed by Toronto General Hospital, where Dr. Murray was senior surgeon, on the grounds that it had not been proved.

President Charles de Gaulle of France was an easy winner as the year's most newsworthy world figure. His controversial "Free Quebec" statement during a July visit to Canada, his Common Market veto of Britain and every thing he did and said got him first place by more than a 2-to-1 vote over President Lyndon Johnson, a close second in 1966 to Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

The selections were made by editors representing CP member newspapers and radio and television stations served by Broadcast News Ltd., a CP subsidiary.

Mayor Drapeau, who was given much of the credit for the success of Expo 67 and made plans for its continuation as a Montreal exhibition in future years, was the No. 2 Canadian spot by a half vote over Mr. Stanfield. Mr. Diefenbaker, No. 1 in 1966, was one spot behind the former Nova Scotia premier.

Well back was Premier Daniel-Johnson of Quebec, followed by Pierre Dupuy, who gave up the ambassadorship to France to become commissioner-general of Expo. After them came such prominent figures as Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, who resigned as Archbishop of Montreal to go to an African leper colony, Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia, Secretary of State Judy La Marsh and Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp.

In the category of the most newsworthy Canadian not in public life, Cardinal Leger was No. 2 — by one vote over Percy Greene, the Rossland B.C., girl who won the World Ski championship.

The ordinary Canadian taxpayer was mentioned three times and Bobby Gimby, whose Canada was born the big hit of Centennial Year, got a couple of votes.

Mr. Dupuy tied for No. 4 position in this category with Steven Truscott, whose murder conviction was confirmed, in a Supreme Court of Canada review. Young Truscott was No. 1 in 1966.

In world affairs, Charles de Gaulle and Lyndon Johnson were followed by Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Dr. Chris Barlard, who performed the heart-transplant operation in Cape Town on Louis Washkansky, ran close to Wilson. Washkansky, the patient who died after 18 days, received the same number of votes as the doctor.

The world taxpayer got one vote.

Stone Church UCW Hold Last Meeting

The December meeting of Stone Church UCW was a sad occasion, for it marked the last gathering of a group of active and dedicated women of the church. Stone Church has been closed and its UCW disbanded.

The meeting was in the form of a chicken dinner at the home of the president, Mrs. Omar Chisholm. Mrs. Knister conducted the worship service with a Christmas theme. The second part of the program posed the question of individual reaction if the Master should come today. Mrs. W. Tufts, secretary, read the minutes for the last time, all bills were paid and several donations made.

Young People Given Cooking Advice

By MARY MOORE

1967 was our best vintage year and I am reluctant to see it go. No more Expo. And Canada entering a second century makes me feel older and that I do not need at all.

However, we are all surrounded by young people whose hearts are gay and whose experience is short. Their short cooking experience is my concern and my laments are being turned right now to resolves.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Corned Beef and Cabbage; Mustard Pickles; Creamed Potatoes; Relish Tray: Celery and Carrot Sticks, Ripe Olives; Banana Meringue Pie; Tea.

I have set up a tentative program to help young people with the basic principles of cooking.

For instance I know a teenager — several really — who does not know how to poach or fry an egg. One even thinks that when you make toast if you burn it you just scrape off the black part in the sink. Another one — and this is incredible — thinks bread is made in slices and put together in a loaf shape and held together by the wrapping. Still another has the trifling chore of buying milk in a 3-quart jug and bringing it home. How the cows get it into that little hole in the top is a complete mystery. Baking powder looked like salt to an 11-year-old so she added 1 tsp. baking powder and 4 tsps. salt when she was making tea biscuits. Her father and mother loyally ate them but not her brother. Oh no! He rushed to the kitchen and spat out his first big mouthful.

You may laugh or cry but their mothers have not been hovering where they should be.

Mothers! It is up to you and me and others of my ilk to encourage our girls — and boys —to learn how to cook. Teach your daughter one simple thing at a time. How to make porridge; how to poach or fry or scramble an egg to perfection; how to fry or broil bacon; how to make toast; how to make the perfect cup of tea or coffee; how to make a sandwich; how to mash potatoes perfectly smooth; how to heat plates so hot food is not chilled by them; how to broil simple meat cakes; how to cook green vegetables to retain crispness; how to make a simple cake (a 6-year-old can start with a mix); how to clear the dining-room table without dropping silverware en route to kitchen; how to wash and dry dishes and clear and clean up all the counters.

I will back you up all the way but your steady hand and loving presence and praise (for even the failures!) will have to be my intermediaries.

Remember Drapeau and Expo. 1968 could be our best cooking year.

Haiku Messages for the New Year

Dear Doris: You use poetry sometimes and, as a fellow journalist, I thought your readers might enjoy some of my Haiku.

Haiku is a poem of three lines with 17 syllables, preferably five in the first line, seven in the second, and five in the third line. This exquisite form originated in Japan centuries ago.

It consists of two parallel thoughts, usually one taking you away from reality, and the other bringing you back. Here are two samples I have written:

The end of the year
Is love, and the beginning.
Love is eternal.
All slates are wiped clean
At the dawn of the New Year,
Ready for white chalk.

Dorothy Cameron Smith.

Dear Dorothy: Exquisite. There's promise for us all in that clean slate.

Dear Doris: My husband's ex-wife has tutored the girl child to stay at home on Daddy's visiting day unless Daddy asks ex-wife to go out with them. In the summer she booked a beach cabin and sent him a letter: "You are welcome any time." So he spent a weekend there with her and his boy and girl; says it was just to see the children.

The truth is she still loves him and wants him back. She sent a telegram on what would have been their 17th anniversary, signing it "Love, Your Wife."

He is crabby and living with him is a real problem. He is drinking heavily. Since he works overtime at a one-man technical job we have no social life at all.—Pull of Doubts

Dear Doubts: She has him on the ropes, and no mistake. Complications are to be expected when there's been divorce, and children, and a second wife. But that anniversary telegram is really The End, according to me.

No second wife should have to endure playing second fiddle to an ex-wife-turned-siren. If your husband doesn't know his own mind it's high time he found out.

A letter won't solve this. You need emotional and moral support to clear the fog. Seek professional counselling.

Dear Doris: My older daughters are 25 and 22 years old. They want to be attendants at their sister's wedding (who is 21). I think they are too old. What is your opinion?

If it is proper for them to be attendants, what do we call them: matron of honor and bride's matron? — What's The Word?

Dear What's: Custom has it that the matron of honor be somewhere in the bride's age range; not "considerably older". As for the bridesmaids (and that is the word, whether they are married or not), they should be contemporaries, with not more than two or three years between them.

I'd say this rules out the sisters. Not that their appointment to such honors would make the ceremony illegal; but the choice would lie with the bride.

What are her own close friends doing for her?

(There are Canadian resources to help solve your problem. Write to Doris for direction, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

De Gaulle Visit Selected as Top Canadian News Story in 1967

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

French President Charles de Gaulle came to Canada in July for what was to have been a centennial goodwill visit. It promptly stirred a storm with his cry of "Long live free Quebec," was rebuked by Prime Minister Pearson, cancelled a planned trip to Ottawa and went home.

That, in the opinion of Canada's news editors, was the top Canadian story of 1967. They also rated Gen. de Gaulle the most newsworthy world figure of the year for there hardly was a week when he didn't muddy international waters with controversial pronouncements.

The de Gaulle story made the No. 1 spot by a half-dozen votes over Expo 67, the 185-day world's fair in Montreal which developed into a super-success that few Canadians had anticipated before its April 28 opening.

Well behind for third place was the year-long story of the Centennial itself—the celebration of 100 years of Confederation in which the entire country participated.

On the world scene, the No. 1 story to Canadian editors was the Middle East war. In six days last June, Israeli forces destroyed the air forces of four Arab countries, trounced the armies of three of them and occupied territory more than four times the size of Israel itself.

The war was a 5-to-1 choice over the story of the world's first heart transplant operation, a medical success even though the patient died. Louis Washkansky—who also got some votes as a newsworthy world figure—was dying of an incurable heart ailment in a Cape Town hospital when he got a new heart Dec. 3 from a young woman fatally injured in an automobile accident. He lived for 18 days. Death came from lung complications but the new heart did its work to the end.

Britain's devaluation of the pound in November tied for third place with the story of the Torrey Canyon, the 61,263-ton oil tanker tha' foundered on a reef off England's southwest coast March 18. Before the ship was destroyed by RAF planes, thousands of tons of crude oil spread to English beaches, polluting an area 120 miles in extent.

The selection were made by editors of CP member newspapers and radio and television stations serve' by Broadcast News Ltd., a CP subsidiary.

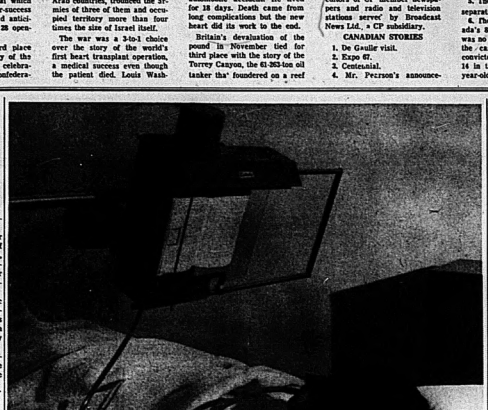
RC's Sanction Mixed Marriage In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — A Roman Catholic man and a United Church woman have been married before a United Church minister here in a ceremony recognized as valid by the Roman Catholic Church.



Rev. D. J. C. Elson, dean of St. Stephen's College at the University of Alberta, officiated Thursday at the marriage of his daughter, Mary, 20, and Michael Foell, 23.

No Roman Catholic clergymen were involved in the ceremony performed in a chapel of the college. Dean Elson said the marriage was pre-arranged with Roman Catholic authorities.

Rev. Gerald Doyle, chancellor of the Edmonton archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church, said Pope Paul had granted dispensation from church law for Mr. Foell to be wed in the Protestant church by Dean Elson.

He said the Roman Catholic Church usually does not recognize marriages of its adherents in churches other than Roman Catholic and officiated over by a priest.

Father Doyle said the dispensation was granted because Dean Elson wanted to officiate at the ceremony.

32 Hospitalized In Montreal Fire

MONTREAL (CP) — A five-alarm fire ripped through the lobby of the posh Chateau Champlain hotel early today, sending 32 persons to hospital and forcing the evacuation of 150 guests.

The blaze was believed to have started in the kitchen area of one of the restaurants on the main floor although hotel officials said the restaurant, le Tournebroche, had been closed for more than two hours when the fire was first reported at 2:04 a.m.

Acrid black smoke swirled through the 36-storey structure, waking anxious occupants. Others were roused by police and firemen who entered the rooms with master keys to warn residents of the blaze.

The guests, most wearing only pyjamas and overcoats, were led down the stairs. Many appeared dazed from the smoke and at least three fainted from their beds and brought down into the near-zero temperatures.

All 32 persons taken to hospital, including nine firemen, were believed to be suffering from smoke inhalation. There were no serious injuries in the blaze.

The restaurant and the lobby were blackened. Rich velvet drapes hung like charred rags, burnt chairs lay in the snow outside and a grey film covered the elaborate glass chandeliers and marble walls.

Abortion to be Topic of Debates

OTTAWA (CP) — Amendments to abortion law are unlikely to reach debate before the Commons health committee has heard the views of Roman Catholic bishops and hospital spokesmen on the subject.

The bishops are to present their brief Jan. 22, when Parliament resumes sitting after a Christmas recess.

The Catholic Hospital Association of Canada brief is to be heard Feb. 8.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre), a committee member, said in an interview Friday the parliamentary schedule probably will allow these and other groups to be heard before Commons debate on the proposed law begins.

Mr. Knowles said the abortion changes are not likely to come up for second reading before broadcasting and Keneddy Round tariffs debates are completed.

The health committee recommended last week that abortion be made legal where a woman's life or health endangered.

Two days later Justice Minister Turner introduced legislation to this effect in an omnibus bill amending a number of areas in the Criminal Code.

Priest: Occasional Drink Constructive

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Total abstinence from alcoholic beverages does not keep people out of trouble, a Roman Catholic priest told 650 teen-agers Friday.

Speaking at a conference on alcohol education for teen-agers, sponsored by Toc Alpha, the youth section of the Ontario Temperance Federation, Rev. Josef Denys, 27, of St. Joseph's parish, Windsor, said "taking a drink occasionally can be constructive."

He said if an individual decides to drink here or home he must be prepared to take the consequences and the responsibility that go with the drink.

Norman McKibben, co-ordinator of alcohol education services in Winnipeg, said both total abstinence and responsible drinking were "viable answers" to the alcohol problem.

Total abstinence is the "safest position" to avoid an alcoholic problem, but many people, because of their ethnic background, find it difficult to bringing want to use alcohol. He said the "seeds for alcoholism are in these groups of people."

Teen-agers in the five-day conference have been registered in two hotels—one for boys, the other for girls. The boys' hotel is out-of-bounds to all girls except for organized discussions which they have been assigned to.

Peter Bennett, Toc Alpha's youth director, said in an interview strict rules are necessary, otherwise many parents would not allow their teen-agers to attend the conference.

Robert E. Smith, director of the Council on Alcoholism in Rochester, N.Y., told delegates legislation governing the use of alcoholic beverages in the U.S. varied from state to state and from county to county within individual states.

He said beer and liquor cannot be served in some states after sundown while in others it can be served until 4 a.m.

Mr. Smith said he favors a uniform legal drinking age limit for all of the U.S., but did not care whether it was 18 or 21.

N. S. Takes Over End of an Era at Sydney Mill

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — The end of one era and the beginning of another will be enacted at the gates of the big steel mill here at about midnight New Year's Eve.

Walking out of the mill after the eight-hour night shift will be about 300 men, the last steelworkers to put in a shift at the 67-year-old mill for the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp.

Walking in will be the graveyard shift of about 300, the first men to work in the mill for the new provincially - Crown corporation set up to extend the life of the plant.

"It'll probably seem strange for a while," says Donald Steele, Secretary-Treasurer of Local 1064 of the United Steelworkers of America. "But let's hope 1968 is a little better than 1967."

A troubled year, marked by an announcement Oct. 13 by Dosco that it was getting out of Sydney, will come to an end as the new Sydney Steel Corp. (SYSCO) takes over operation of the biggest single industrial employer in Nova Scotia and the backbone of the economy in this city of 34,000.

Dosco management will stay on for a time to operate the mill under the eye of the new corporation, headed by Robert Burns Cameron, 44-year-old Nova Scotia industrialist.

The new provincial corporation was established under legislation passed by an emergency session of the legislature earlier this month, summoned to approve government take over of the mill. The price tag has not yet been determined but unofficial estimates have placed at about $23,000,000 the cost of the mill, its equipment and inventory—such items as scrap metal and iron ore.

The agreement was hammered out by a committee headed by Premier G. I. Smith, who was told of the Dosco decision less than a month after he succeeded Robert Stanfield. The committee worked with little sleep for 40 days before ending the hard bargaining with Dosco and its parent Hawker Siddeley (Canada) Ltd.

Although the agreement gives new life to the mill, Mr. Smith and his committee have stressed that the arrangement to operate the mill for 12 months past the original closing date of next April 30 is not a long-term solution.

In a year-end statement Friday night, Mr. Smith said "the respite must not lessen our sense of urgency" as efforts to find new, independent operators continue.

Mr. Smith, who was chosen by the Cape Breton Post as Nova Scotia's man of the year for his battle to save the mill, said:

"We had to face up to a severe shock . . . a remarkable concentration of brains, talent and determination is being brought to bear upon the problems of Cape Breton . . ."

One worry of the new corporation has been the fear that it will be considered a stop-gap measure and that some key personnel will leave the plant. However, a union spokesman said no such trend has yet been noted.

Dosco, which has abandoned many of its coal mines in Nova Scotia and its limestone and iron ore operations in Newfoundland, told its shareholders Dec. 4 that it saw no hope for the mill.

Labor Minister Thomas McKeough disagrees. He says top brains in the steel industry in the United States are convinced there is a future for Sydney steel.

Dr. McKeough, a physician from nearby Sydney Mines, was named Cape Bretoner of the year by the editorial staff of the Post for his part in the fight to keep the mill in operation.

Mr. Smith says the financial cost to the province, although not yet worked out, will be great.

But the cost of any alternative would be even greater," he told the legislature. "Indeed, it seemed to the government that closing the plant suddenly would result in such a social and economic cost that it could not be accepted if there was any way to avoid it."

Lawyer Claims Case Tried by News Media

KINGSTON (CP) — Lawyer Stuart Willoughby said Friday in magistrates' court a case he is defending has been tried by the news media and he may seek a change in venue.

Mr. Willoughby is defending Raymond Wemp, 21, of Amherst Island, Ont., on a criminal negligence charge arising from an accident Dec. 22 when Wemp's car and another collided near Collins Bay, Ont.

Killed in the accident were Leslie Hyland, 59, and his wife, Dorothy, 53, of Amherstview, Ont.

Mr. Willoughby told Magistrate James B. Garvin he would demand radio and television stations provide him with copies of newscasts dealing with the accident.

Magistrate Garvin reserved judgment until Jan. 9 on Mr. Willoughby's request to have the criminal negligence charge against Wemp quashed.

Christmas--New Year

Fires Take 38 Lives

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 38 persons have died in fires across Canada since the beginning of the Christmas-New Year's holiday period.

A national survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. local times Dec. 22, the start of the Christmas holiday weekend, to 6 p.m. Friday shows that 19 were children.

Quebec reported 10 fire deaths, including nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Giroard. Fire raged through their 11-room home Friday near Mont Laurier, 125 miles northwest of Montreal.

Dead are Carmen, 18, Marie Claire, 17, Bernard, 12, Jeanine, 10, Raymond, 7, Mariette, 6, Clement, 5, Chantal, 4 and Solange, 3. All were sleeping in upstairs bedrooms.

Nine were killed in fires in Ontario, three of them children burned in a single fire in Hamilton Friday. Killed in that fire were Margaret Maracle and her son Mark, 7, and daughters Justine, 5, and Margaret, 2.

Firemen said all were trapped on the second floor of their two-storey home. The fire was believed to have originated in a kitchen stove.

Six persons were killed on Boxing Day in a fire in Alberta, the province's only fire fatalities. Dead are Olga Nielsen, 30 and her five children, Arthur, Ronnie, Brenda, Beverley, and Barbara. The children, ranging in age from 18 months to 10 years, were trapped in the home at St. Edouard, about 100 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Four fire fatalities have been reported each in Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan.

In Halifax, four persons were killed when fire destroyed a three-storey tenement building on Christmas Eve.

Killed in the fire, which broke out in a ground-floor store, were George Vetman, 62, Ernest Boring, about 70, Robert Stewart, 54, and Joyce Singer, 23.

Three children at Caldwell Siding, two miles east of Grand Falls, N.B., were killed Boxing Day when an oil stove exploded. The dead were Billy Cormier, 11, and his brothers, Leo, 5, and Mario, 4 all children of Mrs. Simone Cormier.

Pinch Hitting

By Garry Alexander

Staff Sportswriter

Well how about that sports fans, there you are before your lids the biggest books and that rookie we see coming over the hill will never make Gordie Booth a rich man via endorsement.

All he's wearing is a Raquel Welch-type "bang" with "1968" the inscription.

Of course the little guy doesn't have the same effect on us that Raquel does (37-22½-25½) and by cracky I'm not dead, it's just a broken leg) but he did make an offer.

"O.K. sheet staff, now that you have proven Fred Astaire need lose no sleep and I'm feeling a bit sorry for you, make a few wishes for the coming 365 days and see what happens," offered the lippy youngster. "Even you can't break your neck doing that."

Insulting little creature, isn't he? I took a closer look to make sure I didn't recognize the sponsor's name on his jacket — but nope this guy seemed sincere and straightforward.

"Man, what an offer. Any wishes I like and you'll see that they come true?" I stammered, my thoughts immediately shifting back to Raquel and some of her pin-up pals.

Well, he must be a mind-reader too. "Keep it in the line, Jim, Mac, and I didn't say I would make them came true, it's just to see how that little mind of yours operating (ouch, that word hurt) while your setting on it."

Even I could see when I was licked. There's no point in calling with two pair when you are starting at three balls so I decided to go along with young Mr. 1968.

"Here goes, Junior, make this happen:

The Mo-Hawks play up to potential, starting immediately.

The return to power of my beloved New York Yankees and another pennant this year for Mick the Stick. (Did you know he led the Yanks last summer in homers (22) and was second in RBI with 74?)

Give Clifford Belch Jr. a well-deserved boost up the OASA executive ladder at the St. Catharines softball convention come April. (P.S. — Send me his wife's address in time for me to be there, too.)

How about sending another championship or two back for the many fine youngsters that take part in Belleville minor hockey, softball and baseball?

Clear the way for a new arena in the city, one that will supply ALL the needs and at a price the taxpayer can afford. And also, most important, make sure the running and control of such a building is in proper hands a must if it is to serve all properly and on a sound financial basis.

Add another NHL first-place finish for the Chicago Black Hawks but with this time threw away their playoff letdown.

This one is kind of personal, Mr. 1968, but there's a young guy by the name of John MacKillop in town I'd like to see BGH that could use some good "breaks" to make up for four bad ones in one leg last year. It's been a long time from August until only the doc knows when. And by the way, John, keep those delightful student nurses on their toes, won't you?

While on individuals, '68, you might toss in: Another 50- goal-plus year for Bobby Hull ah well as a healthy share of scorers for our other Quinte Hawks, Gerry Geyer and Dennis Hull; help and co-operation for our hard-working Gary St. Carver; the ability, just once, for a couple of guys by the name of Claude Tice and Dick Payne to bet on the right teams (Oh see he is the miracle clinic, I know); renewed baseball interest for "Moe" Hunter and his senior Lombards.

As always, when one starts wishing, it is tough to get stopped so we'll try and round up "success and luck" for fellows and organizations like Pete Crosby and his secretariat; the Quinte Sports Council and the ruling men's numerous baseball, softball, hockey and minor-fry teams and the bowlers; the district's many fine secondary school teams; the archers, trap-and-gunners and handgunners; the harness racing and badminton gents; the dart and shuffleboard players; the boat and yachtsmen; the figure-skaters; Chief Leahy and the handful of others who keep intermediate basketball alive the lawnbowlers.

And last, but far from least, send guidance, understanding and plenty of ability to the unsung heroes, the referees, umpires, linesmen and executives who can — and often do — make or break a sport.

Have a run at that list, Mr. 1968, and while you're at it, bring back some common sense, control, organization and sportsmanship to what was once a top senior softball area.

Mo-Hawks Chop Down Oaks In Third

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Sports Editor

The Mo-Hawks felled the Oakville Oaks 7-4 here last night but they didn't yell "timber!" until the third period.

The victory gave them a two-game win string and vaulted them into eighth place, one point in front of the Oaks and Orillia.

They hit the road for Collingwood Tuesday night and play host to the Barrie Flyers next Friday.

It was a close hard-checking game with the Mo-Hawk defence still showing refinence in using their bodies on incoming foemen.

This was noticeable in the second period when they blew a two-goal lead, the Oaks whipping home three goals in six minutes to grab a 4-3 edge.

Up to this point the teams had battled to a 1-1 tie in the first period with the Mo-Hawks striking suddenly for two quickies in the second frame.

They regained their momentum in the dying seconds to square the count at furall.

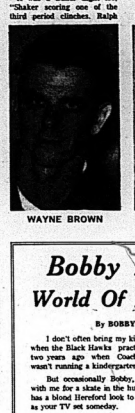
Came the "graveyard" third period and for six minutes it was anybody's ball game.

Then Mickey Chereveky who earned a chief's toga with a superb effort all night triggered the blow that failed the Oaks and the Mo-Hawks went on to ram home two clinchers to salt away the win.

"Peace on ice" was evident throughout, the Oaks spending three of the four minor penalties handed out by Referee Gordon Feverseau.

Chereveky thrilled the crowd of 1,200 paid sweaters with an outstanding hat-trick performance. (He's twenty bucks richer this morning.) He also drew an assist.

Minnie Menard, with a fan club cheering him on, broke his scoring fast and fired the tying goal with seconds to go in the second period.



Wiener Brown had a goal and two assists, his sizzling ice-burning slapshot breaking the 1-1 tie in the second. The red light flashed another Brown goal but they dug Wiener out of the net instead of the puck.

It was Baker night too, "Shaker scoring one of the third period clinches. Ralph Plane got the opener.

The Oaks shared their goals LaBelle, Bettiol, Holmes and Bishop scoring. LaBelle had an assist, O'Brien two, B. Cossburn, D. Cronsburn and Price also drawing helpers.

Larry Holmes in the Mo-Hawks nets and George Tracey for the Oaks came up with some stellar saves, both turning back opposing forwards and two or three occasions.

The Mo-Hawks outshot the Oaks 41-36 on the night's play having the edge in the second and third periods.

Some of the Mo-Hawks are still carrying their wounds. George Godson was not dressed, out with a swollen elbow. Lionel Botty was nursing a puffed wrist and Bernie Gould's shoulder was under heavy wraps.

Coach Floyd Crawford has been working out with the club but a gimpy knee is still giving him trouble.

Fuels Reach Semis

Belleville's Smith Fuels moved into the semi-finals of the all-Ontario Centennial Peewee Hockey Tournament in Toronto today with a 4-1 record.

They met their first setback yesterday dropping a 4-3 squeaker to the Toronto Nationals, later whipping West Ferris of Port Arthur 8-1 for their fourth victory.

They meet the Toronto Wexford team this afternoon at three o'clock in the semi-final round and if they win will enter the finals, likely against the Nationals unbeaten in five, at seven o'clock tonight.

The names of the Fuel scorers were not available at this writing.

Canadians Lead Ahearne

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Drummondville Eagles of Canada defeated AIK of this Swedish capital 4-2 Friday night to maintain their hold on first place in the annual Ahearne Cup international hockey tournament.

The victory, the Eagles' second straight triumph, gave the Quebec team four points.

An Eagle, pace-setter was Roland Leclerc, a 20-year-old winger who has seen action with Springfield and Providence in the American Hockey League. He scored two goals.

Sweden Turns Back Nationals

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Sweden's national hockey team closed out its exhibition tour of Canada Friday night with a 6-3 victory over a select team of London Nationals from the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League and 11 Senior A players.

The Swedish team previously defeated Canada's eastern national team and Sherbrooke Bravers from the Quebec Senior League.

Hakan Wickberg scored twice for the Swedes Friday night. Roger Olsson, Bjorn Palmquist and Arne Carlsson scored the other goals for Sweden.

Bobby Hull's World Of Hockey

By BOBBY HULL

I don't often bring my kids to the rink in Chicago when the Black Hawks practice, not since that time two years ago when Coach Billy Reay told me he wasn't running a kindergarten.

But occasionally Bobby, Jr., who is five, comes with me for a skate in the huge Chicago Stadium. He has a blond Hereford look to him, going to be as wide as your TV set someday.

The moment Bobby tagged along and put on his skates before we worked out. During the practice he sat in a corner of the players' box, sort of peeping over the top of the boards.

Every once in a while he would beckon me over: "Psst, Dad. You think they'll let me skate later?"

"Oh, I think so," I'd say. "Mr. Reay's in a good mood today."

We finally finished and clumped back into the dressing room. Bobby went out on the big ice by himself, chasing a puck with a stick cut down to his size.

I got tied up more than usual this day, 45 minutes or so to shower and talk to some hockey writers. I came out with one reporter and said, "Got to pick up little Bob. If my boy is still skating after all this time, he's got a chance to be a hockey player or something successful."

"Suppose he's not skating?" the reporter asked.

"If he's sitting down somewhere, I'm going to boot him in the bottom."

Bobby was still skating like I'd hoped he would be. One man, a painter eating his lunch, was watching him from the stands.

He skated up, a trifle breathless. "See that man, Dad? he said, pointing to the painter. "I was playing for him, and he clapped his hands."

Moments like that make my parents want to puff a little with pride.

TODAY'S CUE FOR KIDS: Skating isn't everything about hockey, but good skating makes everything else easier. Skate all you can where you can, even if you only have an audience of one.

Kings Bow To Brockville

Brockville Braves leading the Central Junior "A" Hockey League defeated the Belleville Oil Kings by a 6-4 score in the eastern city last night.

The Braves took a 3-0 lead in the first period, the teams each scoring twice in the second frame and the Oil Kings getting a 5-4 edge in the final period.

The game was a rugged affair the Braves drawing eleven, one a misconduct, of the 20 penalties assessed.

J. Woodcock had a goal and an assist for the Oil Kings, H. Bryant, Jerry Jones and P. Kellar also scoring. Collins drew an assist.

Shepard, McAninch, Teeple, Ellis, Ferguson and Reilly were the Brockville goalgetters.

Their next game is scheduled for January 7th when they meet Napanee in Tweed at 3 p.m.

Marlies Nip Kings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Veterans made the difference in two tightly-fought Ontario Hockey Association Senior series games Friday night.

In Barrie, a blueline screen shot by veteran defenceman Byrle Klinck provided the goal that gave Woodstock Alcans a 3-4 victory over the hometown Flyers.

In Toronto, veteran Earl Balfour's overtime goal gave the Marlboros a 2-1 win over Collingwood Kings.

Wayne Miller's goal gave Toronto a 1-0 lead in the second period but Collingwood's Dave McComb scored midway through the third period to force the overtime. Collingwood outshot the winners 36-28.

Jerry Harrigan and Dave Del Papa each scored twice for Woodstock. Barrie's scoring was shared by Mike Dubeau, Jon Weeks, Dave Nicholshen and Ron Vermette.

Defence Strategy May Be Key In Packers - Cowboys Clash

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Packers should feel right at home Sunday with the prospect of snowflurries, bonechilling cold and cutting wind for the National Football League title game against Dallas Cowboys.

Although the surface of Lambeau Field will be heated to 50 degrees by 14 miles of electric wiring beneath it, the temperatures in the rest of the stadium are expected to be in the middle teens by game time at 2 p.m. EST.

The rematch of last season's title game, which ended dramatically in a 34-27 Packer victory will be carried on CBS) radio and television with the Green Bay area blacked out on television.

The CBC will televise the game nationally in Canada.

Dallas flew in Friday afternoon a few hours after the Packers completed their heavy work in another closed session. Both teams were to do little more than limber up until game time.

"I feel it will be a defensive game," said coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys, the Eastern Conference champions. "I don't anticipate another 34-27 score. I think this one will be tougher.

"I look for defence to predominate because both of us have had less time to get ready for this one."

Vince Lombardi, confident of another fine performance by his Western Conference champs made no prediction.

"I just hope it is a good ball game," said Lombardi, whose Packers are shooting for an unprecedented third straight league playoff crown.

The big prize, in addition to the prestige of the NFL title and an approximate $7,800 winning share or each player (the losers will get about $5,200), is a crack at the $15,000 Super Bowl jackpot in Miami, Fla. Jan. 14 against the American League champion.

The Packers already know how sweet the Super dough can be, having beaten Kansas City Chiefs last January in Los Angeles.

Summing up the differences between the defensive strategy of the two clubs, Landry said, "Green Bay is a containing team. They let you bend them a little with the run, but keep you away from the goal line. We try to shut off the run."

Both coaches expect Bob Hayes, the former Olympic sprint champ to be a more important factor than last year, when he caught only one pass.

"Anything Bob does will be an improvement over last year," said Landry. "He'll be more ready this time. He had a good year. When he didn't start well last year, Don Meredith looked elsewhere. I think he'll be alming at Hayes a few times Sunday."

A sellout crowd of 50,861 is due to cram the city-owned stadium to cheer the Packers, who have won six Western Conference crowns in nine years since Lombardi moved west from New York, where both he and Landry were assistant coaches.

If the score is tied after the regulation 60 minutes, the teams will continue in a sudden death overtime, in which the team scoring first will win.

Marlboros Juvenile Champions

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Toronto Marlboros Friday won the all-Ontario centennial minor, juvenile hockey championship, making a clean sweep of five games in the six-team tournament.

The Marlboros shut out Sarnia Legionaires 5-0 in the final game Friday after, defeating Smiths Falls 6-2 in a morning game.

Sixteen games were played in the series among the teams from Toronto, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie, Smiths Falls, Atikokan and Kapuskasing.

In other games Friday Kapuskasing defeated Sault Ste. Marie 7-3 and Sarnia defeated Atikokan 8-2.

After 16 games Sarnia had three wins one loss and one tie, Sault Ste. Marie lost four and tied one, Atikokan lost four and won one, Smiths Falls has two wins and three losses and Kapuskasing three wins and two losses.

Americans Defeat Reds 5-1

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Bob Barlow scored two goals and Red Armstrong added a goal and three assists as Rochester Americans whipped Providence Reds 5-1 Friday night in an American Hockey League game.

Also scoring for Rochester were Bryan Hextall and Bob Taylor. Bob Leduc scored for Providence.

Oilers-Raiders

"The Best Laid Plans Of Mice..."

OAKLAND (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, the thinking man's quarterback, thinks he knows how to beat Houston Oilers Sunday and win the American Football League championship for Oakland Raiders.

"The game is pretty well organized in my mind," said Lamonica, who emerged from backup man at Buffalo to starting star with the Raiders. "Now it's just a matter of execution."

Lamonica brings an engineer's approach to every game he plays, carefully sketching it out on paper before hand. Sunday's blueprint is complete, and now it's up to the AFL's most valuable player to make it work.

The Raiders lost only once all season and that was way back in October. They carry a 10-game winning streak and a best-ever 12-1 won-lost record into Sunday's sudden-death game against the Eastern champion Oilers, who finished 9-4-1.

A sell-out crowd of 53,000 is assured for the game, which will be nationally televised by NBC, starting at 5 p.m. EST. The winner advances to the Super Bowl against the National League champion.

Victory will be worth between $8,000 and $7,000 a player—an AFL record—as well as the Super Bowl berth and the promise of even more cash.

Lamonica, who passed for 30 touchdowns and 3,228 yards said both figures achieved pre-season goals.

"I wanted 30 TDs and 3,000 yards, but the only statistic that really counts is the won-lost column," he said.

The Raiders defeated Houston 13-7 during the regular season but the game ranks as a sore spot with Lamonica. It was the only time all year that he failed to throw at least one touchdown pass.

"We learned a lot from playing them during the regular season," he said. "Their personnel had changed drastically since our pre-season game. It was like playing a different team.

"Now, we know what to expect."

Brawl Now, Pay Later

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, announced Friday that fines totalling $1,450 have been assessed against Oakland Seals and the Bruins for a brawl in Thu. third period of Boston's 6-3 win Christmas night.

Bert Olmstead, Oakland coach, was the big loser. He incurred an automatic $50 fine when he jumped on the ice to go to the aid. of one of his players being attacked by an irate fan. And Campbell added an additional $200 to Olmstead's levy Thur.day.

Eleven Oakland players were each nicked for $50 for leaving their bench to join the general fight. and a dozen Bruins were given the same news.

Only last week Campbell hit Toe Blake, Montreal Canadiens coach, with fines totalling $250 for an incident in Boston Dec. 13. Blake was hit with an automatic $50 assessment for jumping on th. ice to argue with referee Bill Friday and an additional $200 by Campbell for coaching his club from the stands after being ejected from the game by the referee.

Hoot Mon, It's Hogmanay

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Sunday nicht's the nicht in Scotland.

It's New Year's Eve—Hogmanay in Auld Scotia.

And the wee Scots will be celebrating the world over.

You could tell this plus-sixty grey-thatched war veteran came from the mist-shrouded lochs and the dewkissed heather of the land of the Mack.

He had the vocal burr of the lowlands and the pride of the Shetlands in his mien.

He is as Scottish as the famous Mountain Dew, that makes the thirst of gilshaw philosophers.

He marched to World War One in the "skairlet" of the Highland Light Infantry.

He came back to the skirl of his beloved pipes in blood-spattered kilts and a proud war record.

He is "Scotty" Johnston, well-known to all habitues of the city's watering places especially the Legion branch here and a Front street oasis called "Benny's Hideaway".

But merely as a tapman. It's a job.

"Aye, laddie," he sighed, "I wish I were in bonny Scotland come Sunday nicht.

"In Glesgy they'll be tossing the wee bottles o' beir at Rabbie Burns statue. The law landers will be the losers.

On t'other side, the highlanders will be massed in case some Billy Boy throws a ball one by mistake and misses auld Rabbie.

"In the hoose, the cities and the countryside, the castles, houses and cabins will be spick and span as De Gaul dress shirt of a chieftain.

They'll be dancin' the shirt of the pines and the virgin o' the auld Scottish toons".

"Then a few minutes before the arrival o' the witchin' hour, silence will fall like a blanket on the heather."

"The men and women o' the hoose will gang around opening windows, no matter the weather, be it rain, hail or snaw."

That's tae let the Auld Year oot and the New Year in."

"In the middle of the food - laden table will be a proud bottle o' whusky, standing there like auld Rabbie on his statue."

"Then everybody waits for the sound o' the first foot."

"The first dark - haired man that crosses the threshold is the hero o' the nicht. He is escorted to the table where in solemny ceremony he opens the flagon of Hieland Dew, and drinks a silent toast."

"Why a dark - haired mon, ye'll ask", he said.

"Och, its an auld Scottish tradition datin' back to the times when the blonde wasi like Norsemen over - ran the glens, mountains and moors o' the auld country."

"Even in those days the chieftans and the clans observed Hogmanay. The castles and houses were open to all."

"But any fair - haired man was considered one of the Norsemen enemies. "He was not welcome."

"That is why the first dark-haired mon tae set the first foot inside the house is regarded as the hero o' the evenin.'

"Hogmanay" is the night when the young sweethearts go a' callin' and asking for presents, Scotty said.

"At midnight when the "first dark - haired" is crowned, the fun begins again. The New Year is here and as the Sassanachs put it, the "welkin rings loud".

"How long does the fun last", Scotty was asked.

He shook his head.

"I dinna can tell ye that, mon," he said.

"I never could remember when the pairty was over."

Bailey Beaten

Crothers Captures 880

SASKATOON (CP) — Tom Horrow, a three-mile specialist from the University of Oregon at Eugene, turned miler Friday and ran away from the field in the invitational one-mile event at the Saskatchewan Centennial Winter Games.

Morrow, competing in his first indoor meet of the season, said after his victory that he was trained for it simply by training for the three-mile.

It worked. He made his move with three laps to go, and soundly trounced Ray Maxwell of University of Alberta, and Dave Bailey of Toronto.

"I had run against Haswell before," he said, "so I watched him. I sort of played Bailey by ear."

Morrow's time was 4:07.7, a fair time on the steeply-banked track which is 12 laps to the mile.

The third place finish was a disappointment for Bailey, Canada's premier miler. He is the only Canadian to break the four-minute barrier, a feat he has accomplished twice. His best time is 3:57.7.

Another Canadian, Bill Crothers, of Markham, Ont., fared better, easily winning the invitational 880-yard event.

Crothers ran with the crowd for the early part of the race, was third with four laps to go, moved into second with two laps to go, then sprinted into the clear entering the last lap.

At the finish he was five yards ahead of Jesse Trentadue of University of Southern California, and opening the gap.

Darryl Taylor of the Pacific Coast Track Club in Long Beach, Calif., was third. The winning time was 1:53.7.

Minor Hockey

Wings and Dukes battled to a four-all tie and Rangers shut out the Bruins in BMHA novice games last night.

Beere, Hagerman, Whalen, Willman and Fralick scored for the Rangers.

Blatchford scored twice for the Dukes with Garvin and Routley also counting. Coates and Sturgess drew assists.

Siddal had three goals for the Wings with Hamilton getting the other. Siddal, Pollard and Rutledge had assists.

Nothing Blue About St Loo When Plager Gang Breaks Loose

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

St. Louis Blues, hoping for better National Hockey League results in the New Year than they had in the first half of their initial season, may have a sleeper in their midst.

One of the many brother acts in this year's league roster, Barclay Plager strutted his stuff in setting the Blues on the road to a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh Penguins Friday.

Plager, whose brother Bob also is on the St. Louis defence, gave St. Louis a lead with just 26 seconds left in the second period when he took a pass from goalie Seth Martin and dashed the length of the ice to beat Pittsburgh goalie Les Binkley.

Earl Ingarfield had recovered his own rebound to score mid-way through the period for the Penguins and Gerry Melnyk won it for St. Louis with the only goal of the third period when he poked home a rebound off Ray Fortin's original shot.

The goal was only Plager's first in the NHL while for both Ingarfield and Melnyk it was number four before the 8,286 fans.

But Plager proved in the past that he knows his way around the net and now to get there as one of the better rushing defencemen when he played in the minor leagues.

He joined the Blues in late November, in a deal with New York Rangers that brought him and Red Berenson to the club. The pair came from the Rangers and Plager from Buffalo Bisons of the American League.

Wife and Bill, Barclay is the third Plager to play with the Blues this season. Bill also a defenceman, now is with Memphis Wings of the Central Pro League.

Along with an impressive number of other NHL players, they are natives of Kirkland Lake, Ont.

Barclay the oldest at 26—Bob is 24 and Bill 22—turned pro from Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey association Junior A Series in 1961-62 with Hull-Ottawa of the Eastern League where he set his style with eight goals, 16 assists and 102 minutes in penalties.

But by far the biggest year of his career so far was 1963-64 with Omaha Knights of the CPHL where with 14 goals and 51 assists for 75 points and 208 penalty minutes he was named the league's outstanding defenceman.

With Martin and Glenn Hall playing outstanding goal and a solid defence that also includes Noel Picard and Fred Hucul limiting the opposition to just 84 goals so far, the St. Louis problem has been getting the goals themselves.

Only Oakland Seals, last in the six-team Western Division have fewer—84—than the Blues' 86 goals so far this year.

But even at that the victory Friday was their third in a row and they'll be looking for number four tonight in Toronto when they play the Leafs.

Three other games tonight will take most of the interest as Chicago Black Hawks visit New York, Boston Bruins are in Minnesota against the North Stars and Los Angeles Kings play host to Philadelphia Flyers.

The Hawks and the Bruins are tied atop the Eastern Division four points ahead of Toronto while the Kings and Flyers are co-leaders of the Western Division, four points ahead of the Penguins, at home tonight to Detroit Red Wings.

The sixth scheduled game has Oakland at Montreal against the Canadiens.

The Flyers and the Kings have a return engagement Sunday in Philadelphia while the Maple Leafs are in New York, Boston is at Detroit and Oakland is in Chicago.

A number of lineup changes will be effected for tonight with Mike Byers called up from Rochester Americans of the AHL to replace Toronto right winger Brian Conacher, out with the flu and Camille Henry in for New York left winger Don Marshall, also flue-ridden.

Henry was called up earlier from Buffalo.

Nancy Off For Europe

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Skier Nancy Greene from Rossland, B.C., will win three gold medals in the 1968 Winger Olympics in Grenoble, France, says Verne Anderson, her coach.

The 110-pound sweetheart of the slopes, along with the national ski team, left for Europe Thursday.

Nancy bounced back in the final meets of the World Cup events last year to take the title at the last meet of the season after she skipped a number of races to compete in Canada.

And after doing that Anderson figures she has to take it all this year.

"It all depends on her own attitude," he says. "If she wants to stay on top she can.

"She has always had this complex that the Europeans were better than she was. I had to keep telling her 'you're better, you're better.'

"Finally she beat them and now she says: 'By gosh, I am better.'"

Toronto Leads Midgets

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP) — Toronto won two games Friday to take the lead in the third day of the centennial midget hockey tournament here.

Steve Boyle scored three goals to pace Toronto to a 6-3 win over Sault Ste. Marie, another one-place team in the tournament. Toronto's other win was a 5-0 shutout over Cornwall.

Oshawa beat Sault Ste. Marie 6-2, and also battled to a 2-2 tie with Port Arthur.

Scarborough defeated Cornwall 6-5.

Toronto plays Scarborough and Oshawa meets Sault Ste. Marie in the semi-finals today. The championship game is at 7:30 p.m.

Results:

Toronto 6 Sault Ste. Marie 3; Toronto 6 Cornwall 0; Oshawa 6 Sault Ste. Marie 2; Oshawa 2 Port Arthur 2; Scarborough 6 Cornwall 5.

With The Trotters

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ozark Peter, six-year-old gelding co-owned by Bill Duffy and Al Hazelwood of London, Ont., captured the featured $2,800 mile trot Friday at Windsor Raceway.

Dale Duffy was in the sulky as Ozark Peter paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.60.

The fifth race quinella yielded $17.80, and the exacter returned $14.40. In the seventh, the quinella paid $25.80.

MAIL TAKEN

CASABLANCA (AP) — A propaganda-laden Communist Chinese ship was ordered to leave after customs officials seized the mail the ship was delivering to the Chinese Embassy. Sources said the ship carried several tons of Communist books, including the book containing thoughts of Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The government did not say why the mail was seized.

Rose Bowl

Southern Cal. Favored

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Illness and injury, sometimes strong allies, seem to be working against Southern California, Tennessee and Alabama, each favored to win a major college bowl game Monday.

In the most recent development, Richmond Flowers, Tennessee's star halfback, was stricken with a virus late Friday. He is not expected to start against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Southern Cal, the nation's top-ranked team, will be without Mike Scarpace, its star right guard, in the Rose Bowl game against Indiana at Pasadena, Calif. The big, 250-pound senior end-sweet surgery Friday for a torn right knee ligament suffered in a practice earlier this week.

And tha. tide might be swinging away from Alabama, too, because eight members of the team, including star passer Ken Stabler, are bedded with the flu.

The Crimson Tide, 8-1-1, takes on Texas A and M, 6-4, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

In the fourth big game, Wyoming, 10-0, meets Louisiana State, 6-3-1, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

The college action actually got underway today when four games were played.

They were the Gator Bowl game in Jacksonville, Fla. matching Penn State, 8-2, and Florida State, 7-3-1; the Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Tex. between Pittsburgh, 8-2, facing the University of Texas at El Paso, 5-5; the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala.; and the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco.

Monday's big four will be put on the home screens, the Rose, Sugar and Orange Bowls by NBC and the Cotton by CBS.

Air times, all Eastern Standard, are 1:45 p.m. for the Sugar and Cotton Bowl games, 4:45 p.m. for the Rose and 7:45 p.m. for the Orange.

CBC will carry the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl on national television.

Tennessee, Alabama and LSU are one touchdown favorites while Southern California, 9-1, is a two-touchdown choice to beat Indiana, 9-1, playing in its first Rose Bowl game.

The odds might drop, though, if the patients' temperatures go up.

Near Miss For Ottawa

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ottawa 76s lost another game Friday night, but rose to great heights in doing so.

The hapless 67s, deep in the basement of the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, opened the new $8,900,000 Civic Area built under Ottawa's Lansdowne Park.

Cheered by 9,000 fans in the 10,000 - capacity rink, the 67s put on a stellar performance before bowing 4-2 to fourth-place Montreal Jr. Canadiens. Ottawa led 2-1 in the third period before narrowly missing getting its third victory in 28 league games.

In other Friday night action, Kitchener Rangers moved into second place by trouncing Toronto Marlboros 6-3, St. Catharines Black Hawks clopped Hamilton Red Wings 3-1 and Niagara Falls Flyers edged Oshawa Generals 3-2.

At Ottawa, 500 fans were turned away because some seats were not finished in time for the first hockey game played in the new area. The 67s had been playing their home games at Hull, Que.

Paul Lessard scored two goals for Montreal and Arthur Quoquochi and Andre Gaudette added the others. Pierre Jarry and Bob Fawcett scored for Ottawa.

The Rangers, playing before 5,288 hometown fans, got three goals from defencemen Mike Robitaille who now has 13 goals and 16 assists. Other Rangers' goals went to Lee Inglis, Jim McCrea, and Jim Kukrulicki.

Campbellford Defeated By Picton

Picton defeated Campbellford in OHA intermediate hockey action last night. The score was 8-5.

Fred James scored twice for Picton to spark the win. Other scorers were Bruce Neil, Ron Weese, Roland Berry, Lance Pero, Carl Stacey and George Jacklin.

Details of the Campbellford scoring were not available.

Ontario Golf

Kern Top Amateur!

TORONTO (CP) — Ben Kern of the Credit Valley Club in Cooksville was named Friday dlumber one amateur golfer in Ontario for 1967 by the Ontario Golf Association.

In their annual amateur rating, the OGA named six players to the top 10 for the first time and dropped last year's leader, Gary Cowan of Kitchener, to second spot.

Kern, who represented Canada on the Americas Cup team, led the newcomers to the rankings after advanc : to the third round of the Canadian Amateur, placing second in the Willingdon Cup team trials with 433 then seventh in the Willingdon Cup national team championships with 145.

He also tied for fifth place in the Ontario Amateur with a score of 285, then lost in a playoff to Bill Wakelam of Weston in the Ontario Open after both finished the match with scores of 288.

Also in the rankings for the first time are Ian Thomas, a golfer from London, Ont., and Bill Doohan of Forest, fourth and fifth; Ken Doig of the Seaforth Club, seventh; Peter Mc, 85 and 80.

Turner of the Summit Club at Oak Ridges, tied for eighth—and Bob Jarvis of Tomhjil's Lookout Point Club, 10th.

The veterans with Cowan are third-ranked Dick Wesloick of Port Credit, Tom Woodall of Weston, Ont., sixth and Wayne McDonald of Oakville, tied with Turner for eighth.

MacDonald, who won the Ontario best-ball championship paired with Turner, moved up from 10th place in 1966 ratings. Woodall was eighth in 1961.

Weslock is the real veteran of the group, having been first in the province four times—1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965—while Cowan had previously been number one in 1960, 1961 and 1966.

Cowan has been ranked second five times while Weslock has been second twice and third twice.

FINAL 72 WINS

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Tony Harderer of Miami fired a par-35 on the front nine and coasted home with a final-round 74 Friday to win the 72-hole Orange Bowl international golf tournament with 286. William Morrison of Toronto finished far down with a 233 on 81, 76, 76.

KENNETH GORDON McLEAN ROSS, Q.C.

is pleased to announce the transfer of his office for the practice of law from 219 Front Street, Belleville, to Toronto-Dominion Bank Building, 202 Front Street, Belleville, Ontario. Telephone 962-3478 As of Monday 1 January, 1968.

Chuvalo May Retire

TORONTO (CP) — Indications are that George Chuvalo of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, may hang up his gloves.

His manager, Irv Ungerman, Friday revealed that the fighter has agreed to manage a local night club purchased by a group headed by Ungerman, who has long said it was his hope Chuvalo would retire to this sort of life.

Chuvalo, who suffered a broken cheek in a fight earlier this year with Joe Frazier of Philadelphia, has been ordered by the Canadian Boxing Association to put his title on the line with Bob (Pretty Boy) Felstein of Toronto.

Underman said no decision has been made concerning the fight.

Assumption Captures Tournament

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Assumption High School Purple Raiders of Windsor, 1967 all-Ontario regional basketball champions, successfully defended their title in the annual University of Windsor invitational tournament Friday night by whipping Walkerville College Tartans 52-27 in the sudden-death windup of the two-day event.

Assumption qualified for the championship game earlier in the day by trimming Hill Park Secondary School Rams of Hamilton 58-38. Walkerville clipped St. Charles College High School Cardinals of Sudbury 56-46 in its semi-final test.

WINGER MISSES ACTION

Warmer Than Horseback...

Montreal police who officially take over policing duties at the Expo '67 site next week, are riding four new snow tractors on the site, and they're delighted. "You're a heck of a lot warmer in those than you are on top of a horse" said one constable. Const. Roger Charbonneau uses one of them to check the locale around the Iran pavilion. Bell Telephone pavilion is at left. (CP Photo)

Lake Ice Conditions Unsafe

TORONTO (CP) — Ice is forming on Ontario's inland lakes, but ice fishermen were warned Friday to be cautious until continued cold weather has thickened it.

Ice fishing for whitefish, herring and perch is reported from the southern part of Lake Simcoe, although the ice is still watery.

Ice conditions in Kempenfelt Bay and Lake Couchiching are reported unsafe.

Conditions are better in the Bancroft area, where some fishing for the trout is expected over the New Year's weekend on Lake St. Peter and for speckled and rainbow trout on Raglan Lake.

Lands and forests officials warned, however, that fishermen should stay near shore and avoid driving vehicles on the ice.

Don Keffer of Keswick, operator of a rental business on Lake Simcoe, said ice-fishing shacks will not be installed until about Jan. 7, when most agencies catering to fishermen expect conditions to be better.

Direct Effect on Worker

British Economy to Undergo Surgery

LONDON (Reuters) — The financial, economic and sociological structure of Britain is about to undergo major surgery to make certain that devaluation of sterling is given the best possible chance for curing the economic malaise of the nation during 1968.

For generations, the average Briton has regarded the British economy and its financial structure as a mysterious world which really had nothing to do with him personally.

But almost imperceptibly the world was changing its sense of values, and suddenly in 1967 it dawned on the worker that no longer was high finance the exclusive concern of governments and bankers but something which had a direct effect on his own pocket and his way of life.

The final realization came to him on the night of Nov. 18 when the Labor government devalued sterling by 14.3 per cent as the first step to a complete reorientation of the national economy.

This was the signal for some new thinking, not only by government but also by industry.

For two weeks after devaluation the prospects looked encouraging. Sterling perked up and exporters waxed enthusiastic over the prospect that British goods had become more attractive in overseas markets because devaluation meant that they could be bought with less foreign currency.

Optimism, however, was short-lived. International gamblers—some of them suspiciously close to foreign governments—launched a new attack on the U.S. dollar.

Speculators undermined the stability of the dollar and sterling by raiding the gold stocks which back the value of the two currencies. In the bullion markets of London, Paris and Zurich they indulged in a massive buying spree while the seven-nation international gold pool—by then deprived of the participation of France—calmly depleted their stocks to feed the speculators.

This is the picture at the year's end. But Britain and the United States have every intention of changing it within weeks—possibly days.

On the gold front, the United States with its huge stockpile of bullion locked in Fort Knox, Ky., is in a much stronger position than the speculators if it comes to a long fight.

In Britain, government ministers are nearing the end of a drastic review of public expenditure. Public services, including some of the much-loved Socialist ideological theories such as nationalization and the welfare state, could be hit. Defence spending will be slashed.

Devaluation will certainly change the pattern of British life and habits during 1968. Its impact will come right into the home and will be used by the government as its main weapon for restoring a flagging economy.

"It's up to you," said Prime Minister Wilson in a year-end message to Britons.

Golds Strong

Canadian Stock Markets Have Good Week

By SEAN FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The last week in 1967 was a good one for Canadian stock markets, as most major groups on the Montreal, Vancouver and Toronto Stock Exchanges made gains.

The only major group to decline in Toronto was western oils, which lost .25 to 218.52 on speculation arising from oil discoveries in the Rainbow area of northwestern Alberta.

Analysts said the index loss reflected a technical adjustment in the market.

Golds have been rising steadily since Nov. 17, when the British government devalued the pound. The gains result from speculation that the United States government will increase the price of gold, now pegged at $35 an ounce.

Washington has made repeated assurances that the price of gold will not be raised, but the statements appear to have little effect on the gold market.

Dome made the largest gains over the four-day week, climbing 3¾ to 61¼. Campbell Red Lake gained 2¼ to 57, Giant Yellowknife 20 cents to 9.50 and Kerr Addison ⅝ to 18¼.

Base metals traded quietly, gaining 2.62 points to 106.56 on index.

Uranium producers remain investors' favorite issues; Denison gained 3¼ to 82¼ and Rio Algom 1¼ to 34¾.

Falconbridge climbed 3¾ to 87 and Inco ¾ to 126. Nickel producers are regarded by stock market analysts as good long-term investments as demand for nickel is expected to increase in the future.

In banks, price gains were fractional. Analysts, however, predict annual profit growth for chartered banks at rates up to 20 per cent.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For December 31

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 20): This day will be unique today in communicate, to provide transportation, to bring together people of common interests. Attend to daily an honor — but, also an extra burden. Goals.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Make serious resolutions, but don't commit yourself to promises which can't be honored. Be practical. Combine idealism with reality. Get in touch with one at a distance.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Expenses at party or celebration should be shared. Don't try to carry entire load. Romantic interests accented. You may try things you normally would shun. Be sensible.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): You meet people, ideals and egos. There could be numerous contradictions. Don't overdo today, tonight. Ery is to maintain balance. Don't go overboard, be moderate.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Get routine tasks out of way early. Be extra careful. Watch yourself about excesses. Obtain hint from Cancer tonight. Try to control temper. Ery, so don't rush it by actions tonight.

To Your Good Health

Corneal Transplants Are Effective

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I would appreciate any information on a "cornea transplant."—Mrs. E. Y. L.

The cornea is the outer covering of the eyeball. When, because of scarring or injury, light is distorted or impeded in passing through the cornea and then the pupil of the eye, eyesight is disturbed, or the person may become for all practical purposes blind.

Assume, that the rest of the eye is still in healthy condition, the damaged cornea can be removed and replaced with the cornea from another eye. This is a corneal transplant, and many people have had their sight restored by that method.

These replacement corneas are obtained from people who have died, leaving instructions that their eyes be given to an eye bank.

The operation can be done very successfully, but the problem is to get enough eyes from which the corneas can be taken. This is why a person for a person waiting for the operation to be told to be ready to go to his hospital immediately as soon as donor eye is available.

Donors must be remembered as quickly after death as possible, and the relatives of eyes often are flown considerable distances, as the transplanting should be done with rapidity. Only the cornea is used; the entire eye is not and cannot be transplanted.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Years ago when I was in school I heard that if you drank a raw egg mixed in some liquid, it would cure a cold. Is this true? Do you happen to know what liquid?

I also heard recently on television that the first cold in a submarine will result in no more colds for the year. Also that after the first cold at the North Pole, a person will have no more colds. Is either statement true? — Mrs. R. J.

The thing about the raw egg is utter fantasy, as is the rest.

The other two statements are true, within limits.

The point is that we catch cold from encountering various cold viruses. Having the cold confers a temporary immunity to that particular type of cold — but we can catch a cold from some other virus.

Whether it is in a submarine or at the North Pole, or in the middle of a desert or deep in a jungle, if a group of people are isolated, they can catch colds depending on what viruses are present. In such a group, Once they've had "locked up" and developed immunity, they are safe from more colds until in some way new cold viruses are introduced.

This has happened repeatedly among men at remote Arctic stations. First they get the colds. Then, no matter what the temperature, no more colds until a small or supply party arrives—bringing some new varieties of cold viruses. Then another round of colds.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two years ago I spent five weeks in the hospital with high blood pressure, a heart condition and perhaps a slight stroke. I am 70.

The doctor remarked that my head was worse than my heart. Recently I find myself dropping off to sleep, while I'm reading. I experiencing slight strokes? — Mrs. F. J.

I doubt that you are having slight strokes. Nothing you say indicates it. Increasing sleepiness is not unusual in advancing years.

The circulation to the brain may not be as brisk as it used to be, because of arteriosclerosis. I infer that this is what your doctor meant by your head being worse than your heart.

to sleep to him — and he may prescribe medication to overcome it.

U.S. Drug Firms Convicted Of Anti-trust Violations

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major drug firms have been found guilty of anti-trust violations in the manufacture and distribution of $1,700,000,000 worth of antibiotics.

The conspiracy case against the American Cyanamid Co., Bristol Myers Co. and Chas. Pfizer and Co. marked a significant confrontation between the U.S. government and the multi-billion-dollar U.S. pharmaceutical industry.

A U.S. district court jury of 11 men and a woman found the three firms guilty of restraint of trade, conspiracy to monopolize and actual monopoly. The panel returned the verdict Friday night after beginning deliberations Thursday.

Maximum penalties on the charges are fines of $138,000 against each defendant. The convictions also open the way for civil suits from major purchasers. The Sherman Anti-trust Act provides for treble damages against violators.

The complexity of the legal issues involved was reflected in the fact that Judge Marvin E. Frankel took three hours to deliver a 118-page charge to the jury Thursday.

Frankel gave the defendants until Jan. 12 to file motions for acquittal and retrial.

The trial occurred as growing federal involvement in the health field through medicare and other programs has generated increased concern over the cost and quality of that care.

The drug industry has been undergoing increasing scrutiny by federal government.

Clifford D. Siverd, president of American Cyanamid, expressed surprise and disappointment in the verdict and said the firm would "take all possible steps in the federal courts to have this adverse decision set aside."

A Pfizer spokesman commented: "We disagree with and are deeply disappointed by the verdict of the jury. There are still questions to be ruled upon by the trial court and we shall therefore not comment at this time beyond saying the charges against us in this case are unjustified."

During the trial the government inspector said Pfizer and Cyanamid realized "enormous" profits on the antibiotic called tetracycline.
